dollars, for violating a city ordinance in driving his horses and carriage on the sidewalk.

—The re-building of the St. Charles Hotel, at New Orleans, is decided on, and arrangements are made to commence the work immediately. It is to cost $230,000. The old lessees have agreed to pay $40,000 rent per annum.

—We learn from the Elmira Republican that the New York and Erie Rail Road Company are erecting a repairing shop in that place 400 feet in length.

Monroe County.—Another large public meeting has been held at Danville, at which resolutions were passed unanimously, denying the right or authority of the Legislature to remove the county to Columbia.

Improved Conjugation.—A fruit seller, a few miles from B——, was asked by a lady, if he could spare her a few bushels of apples for the winter. He replied, that he could not, as he had "spore" all that he could, already!

A MILITARY man in his last moments opening his eyes beheld three doctors in consultation over him. Said he, "Gentlemen, I surrender if you propose to fire in platoons," and extending his limbs, breathed his last.

LEGISLATIVE.

SENATE, March 3.—The Speaker laid before the Senate several reports and memorials.

A large number of petitions and remonstrances were presented.

Among them one asking for an act of incorporation to construct a railroad from the New York State line to Pittsburgh.

Mr. Sanderson read a Bill in place to continue the law graduating lands on which purchase money is due to the Commonwealth.

On motion of Mr. Sanderson, the bill incorporating the Canton and Athens Railroad company was taken up and passed finally.

HOUSE.—A large number of petitions were presented, and without transacting any business of importance, the House adjourned.

SENATE, March 4.—The Speaker laid before the Senate the Annual Report of the Schuylkill Navigation Company.

Bills Passed.—To rebuild three county bridges in Berks county. To incorporate the Western Clinical Hospital of Philadelphia.—To incorporate Duffs' Mercantile College of Pennsylvania.

SENATE, March 5.—Mr. Sanderson presented several remonstrances from Susquehanna county, against the proposed removal of the county seat of said county; also, a petition from citizens of Susquehanna county, in favor of a repeal of laws prohibiting the circulation of small notes of other States; also, for a change in the license laws of this State; also, from Bradford in favor of the new county of Penn, out of parts of said county; also, a remonstrance against the same; also in favor of the erection of a new county, out of said county, to be called Channing; also, from Wyoming county, in favor of the repeal of the law prohibiting the circulation of small notes, and for the establishment of a system of free banking.

Free Banking.—The bill having been referred to the Judiciary Committee, a majority of that Committee have reported that the provisions of the bill do not, in their opinion conflict with the twenty-fifth section of the first article of the Constitution of this State.

HOUSE.—The vote on subscribing for 300 copies of Browne's work on Hair and Wool, was reconsidered this morning, by yeas 53, nays 36. The bill then passed, yeas 46, nays 42.

Mr. Reckhow presented thirty-one petitions against and four for the removal of the county seat of Susquehanna county; also, for free banking; also, six for the extension of the Lenox and Lake to Thomson township; also, from Mary Lindsey for a divorce; also, to leave read in place a bill to divorce Mary Lindsey and James D. Lindsey.

SENATE, March 6.—The bill providing for a General System of Banking, based on State Stocks, was taken up and discussed till the hour of adjournment.

SENATE, March 7.—Free Banking—The bill establishing a system of General Banking based on State Stocks, was taken up. Various amendments were proposed and discussed until the adjournment.

HOUSE.—Mr. Reckhow read a bill in place to incorporate the Great Bend Depot plank road co.

Particulars of the Explosion and Burning of the Steamer Oregon

CINCINNATI, Friday, March 7.

The Steamer Oregon bound down from Louisville, while passing through chute of Island No. 82, at 1 P. M. on the 27th inst. burst her boiler with a tremendous report, carrying away the forward cabin, and upper deck, killing and wounding 60 persons. She was heavily laden, and had from 80 to 100 passengers, who had just finished dinner, and were generally collected in the bow and forward guards at the time. She took fire after the explosion and burnt to the waters' edge and being in the channel of the River under way at the time, would have consumed all on board but for the assistance of the Iroquois, which was proceeding within an mile of the Oregon. Upon seeing the explosion, Capt. Lee of the Iroquois, gave orders to put her head out and alongside the Oregon. The flames had just burnt through the hurricane roof. Men, women, and children, were collected together on the after part of the boat without the means of getting away, but by jumping into the River. The shrieks of the women the phrenzy of the men, ready to leap overboard to avoid the more horrible death by fire and the groans of the scalded and doing and the piteous lowing of the cattle baffles description. Captain Lee ran the bow of the Iroquois, aft of the Oregon and ladders being placed from the upper deck of the Oregon to the lower deck of the Iroquois; all on board the burning vessel able to walk got off, the Iroquois being all the time in great danger of taking fire. Capt. Montgomery was the last man to leave the wreck, which he did just as the Iroquois was backing away and the parting of the boats caused the ladders to fall, precipitating Capt. M. into the river, but he was rescued with several bruises. The clerk's office was entirely blown away, together with the books and papers of the boat. The writers in the cabin were at dinner and all killed except the steward. Eight white firemen were killed. It is impossible to give a correct idea of the loss of life nothing having been left whereby to ascertain names. The floor of the Iroquois presented an awful sight. The Oregon was scuttled but it proved useless, as the burning of the upper works caused her to rise faster than the holes could allow the introduction of water to sink her. The "Bulletin" came up soon after the accident occured, and endeavored to extinguish the flames by means of her engines which, however, proved abortive. The passengers of the "Bulletin" afforded much aid, and remained aboard the Iroquois until they reached Memphis, when the sufferers were taken to the Hospital, many of them in the agonies of death. The Iroquois had on board 25 of the scalded, 11 of whom died before reaching Memphis.

The late Tragedy in Kent Co.

We take the following accoun tof the horrid tragedy lately enacted in Kent county from the Kent News:

On Thursday night last the 27th instant the family of Mr. Wm. Cosden, consisting chiefly of himself, his wife; Miss Cosden: his sister on a visit, (aged about 17 years;) Miss Webster, (his wife's sister;) two small children, (one an infant, the other a few years old, and capable of talking;) a white lad; a colored boy; and a negro woman, and a kitchen servant, were living in peace and quiet, unsuspecting harm from any one. The white family were at tea between six and seven o'clock. Mr. Cosden having finished turned his chair to the fire, when deliberately shot down by some one from the farm yard, through the window—an ounce ball having penetrated his body. The wretches, three in number, immediately beat down the panels of the door with the butts of their guns and entering the room, when they shot Miss. Cosden but she made an effort, and run into the yard and was found dead, having a ball through or near the heart, and two stabs upon her person. One then shot dead Mrs. Cosden, in bed, where she had been confined by sickness for two weeks—she implored him to spare her life told him it money was his object, all she had was in her trunk, to take it but to spare her life—the monster deliberately raised his gun and presented it, when she raised her feeble arm to protect her person from the merciless savage; the ball, in its course tore off the greater portion of her arm, exposing the larger arteries, and forcing itself through her body; four slugs were also found in her bed, which was set on fire by the discharge of the gun, or by this demon. Another of these villians repaired to the kitchen, and shot down the negro woman the ball passing through her body. The white and colored lads made their escape and run to Georgetown 2½ Roads, a distance of two and a half miles and gave the alarm when the citizens immediately repaired to the place, and secured the neighborhood, but could get no clue to the murderers. Mrs. Cosden and Miss Cosden were killed. Mr. Cosden lived till near ten o'clock—between two and three hours. He talked freely to the neighbors; he did not know either of the monsters—to him they were strangers. He stated that he did not know that he had an enemy in the world, and that he had no feelings of an enmity to a human being and could not divine the motive of the deed.

Miss Webster, who, it is feared is shot through the lungs, and supposed mortally, she did not know the man who shot her she described him as having black whiskers. Her clothes and money remained untouched, and plunder does not seem to have been the motive of the deed.

Late from Mexico

NEW ORLEANS, March 4.—We are in the receipt of advices from the City of Mexico to the 15th. There is nothing of importance to communicate from that Republic.

Some lawless band of Americans had been committing great outrages in Chihuahua.

Yucatan was in a most desperate position. The war between the Whites and the Indians is still being carried on, but the Whites lack the means to carry it on successfully.

From California.

The new steam ship North America, arrived off the Hook at midnight, and reached her dock at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, having been compelled to lie to on account of fog. She left Chagres Feb. 25, arrived off Kingston at 7½ o'clock on the morning of March 1. Running time from Chagres, eight days six hours. The North American arrived off Chagres, on her outward trip, at 11 o'clock on the evening of Feb. 16, making the passage from the Hook in eight days three hours.

The North America brings $450,000 in gold dust in freight and in the hands of the passengers. She has also 255 passengers.

There has been no choice of U. S. Senator in California. The choice lay between Fremont and T. Butler King. The election was to take place in two or three days. It was thought that Fremont was gaining ground.

We have received the Alta California to Feb. 1. Buisness seems to be reviving: the gold diggings continue to yield very well for the season. There had been no new arrival from Gold Bluff but the Chesapeake was expected in a few days, with a freight of the black sand.

Battle with the Indians.

SAN JUAN, Sunday, Jan. 18, 1851.

An express rider from Mariposa county arrived in this evening. He has brought intelligence of a battle between four hundred Indians and a party of fifty or sixty Americans under the command of Captain James Barney. The dispatches containing this intelligence are dated at "Agua Frio," and they state that the Indians were strongly entrenched in one of their villages. Their position was attacked at the dawn of day, on or about the morning of the 9th instant by the Americans, led on by Capt. Barney. The battle was a hard fought one and lasted three hours. The result was that the Indians were driven from the village, with a loss of sixty killed and from ten to twenty wounded. Eight Americans were wounded, two of them mortally. One of the latter was Lieut. S. Keane, and the other a Mr. Little. The deceased are particularly noticed in the dispatches as having behaved with courage and intrepidity. After the battle the Americans burned the village and retreated. They were pursued and costantly fired upon by the Indians, during a retreat of ten miles.

But the most horrible intelligence contained in the dispatches is that of the massacre of seventy two men by the ruthless savage's. The massacre took place near Rattlesnake Creek. The men were working in a gulch or chasm and had stacked their arms not apprehending any danger. The Indians came upon them by stealth, and having secured their arms massacred them one by one in detail!

A petition for aid signed by fifty or sixty citizens of Mariposa County, has been presented to the Executive. The Indians appear to have commenced a war of extermination.

It is rumored that the Standing Committee of the Senate, on Indian affairs, have had a special and extraordinary meeting this evening. It is stated that the subject matter under consideration was the information contained in these dispatches. I predict that the Governor will send in a special message to the Legislature to-morrow, and that in accordance with the 8th Artical of the Constitution of this state, he will recommend the Legislature to authorize the issue of proposals for a loan for the purpose of "suppressing insurrection" and "repelling invasion."

Gentlemen and Ladies!

I WISH to call your attention to the arrangement I have made which is intended for your benefit as well as my own. On account of the increase in watch repairing I am not able to do it all myself and as I propose employing more of my time the coming season in trade, I have engaged a first class workman in New York to spend his time with me after about the first of April. In speaking of his capabilities I cannot say that (like the 77 year old goose who found she could not take steps on the ice) he has worked in Liverpool so long that he cannot get further employment and is obliged to go into the country and work at half price to get work, but I can say that he comes recommended by men of the first class in the business, and as I have to pay him large wages I expect to have the major part of the good work to do. So let us hear from you as soon as you find you have not the TRUE time and you shall be satisfied that we can do full as much as we say we can or no charge.

N. B.—I shall be on hand about the same time with the best stock of fancy goods that has ever been offered in this place, of which you shall hear in due time.

Lever Watch, and Minute Automaton Mechanism.

J. A. SINGLETON (Pupil of Litherland, the Patentee, and late with R. Roskell, Liverpool,) CHRONOMETER, and PATENT LEVER WATCH MANUFACTURER

In compliance with numerous influential, and earnest solicitations to remain in Montrose, I have consented, on condition that I meet with that encouragement and approval which it shall be my constant study and interest to merit.

In addition to the Manufacturing Department, J. A. S. undertakes effectually to REPAIR every description of Geneva Musical Tableaux, Repeating and other watches; together with Automata Mechanism, however complex. The disagreeable jarring so prevalent in spiral music, and so justly complained of, thoroughly eradicated, more particularly so in Musical Boxes.

It must be admitted that, in connection with, and in addition to theoretical knowledge, or a speculative acquaintance, it is indispensibly requisite the artizan should be practically familiar with the complex nature of that delicately minute description of machinery referred to.—This qualification, and this only, renders the artist competent to accomplish with mathematical accuracy.

If upwards of forty years' assiduous and practical perseverance in the construction of various approved escapements for the more accurate means of measuring Time, in conjunction with unique specimens of Automata now in his possession, together with the high patronage enjoyed, preponderates in the scale of scientific approbation then J. A. S. unostentatiously presumes he has some pretensions to the confidence of those honoring him with the recommends.
