A Genuine Specimen of Federal "Decency."

The following communication was published conspicuously in Monday's Gazette:

GEORGE M. DALLAS.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

I wish to say a word to my fellow citizens on the arrival of this extraordinary man among us. Who, men of Pittsburgh, is George M. Dallas, and what has he done to entitle him to your respectful attentions? In the name of all that is sacred, are our people prostituted in principle, that they could in any way delight to honor one who has betrayed them? In the great crisis of our old State's welfare, it depended on that man to say whether she should prosper, or whether her great energies should be prostated and paralysed, and he decided for the latter, to win a chaplet from other hands. He struck the blow at your great interests, and let him be forever execrated by all men, of all parties who claim the tie of kindredship to this dear old Commonwealth.

Men of the workshops! mark this man! and should his brazen impudence bring him among you treat him with that heartfelt, silent contempt which all must feel towards those who have been trusted, and who betrayed their trust. What would any other State say, would South Carolina say, and what would the people from the vallies and mountains say to one of their own citizens, who had violated all the solemn pledges he had given in obtaining office, broken all—aye, aimed at the very heart's blood of his state, and shed it freely, knowing—wilfully and deliberately knowing—the destruction he was accomplishing, all for his own private and selfish purposes? What, I ask you would South Carolina say? Why, sir, a voice of execration would burst forth from the plains, and be re-echoed from the hill-tops—one universal shout of wrath, that would cause such an individual to call upon the rocks to bury him, or the wild beasts of the forests to devour him. Men of Pittsburgh! the Tariff is your heart's blood—it is the moving, acting principle of your business circulation, and take it away, and your industry will drop and languish forever. Recollect then, one and all, that George M. Dallas had the casting vote in favor of your Tariff—in favor of the Tariff of your state—and that he cast it away to subserve his own individual incrests.

A PENNSYLVANIAN.

We trust our readers will pardon us for giving publicity to such an infamous production as the above. We put it on record, for the purpose of exhibiting to our readers a genuine specimen of Federal "decency." The Editors of the Gazette fully indorse the production, and give it a prominent place in their columns. These gentlemen but recently came amongst us, and our citizens, who are proverbial for their kindness and attention to strangers, have extended to them every courtesy and respect, they could reasonably expect or desire. Suppose that upon the arrival of EBENEZER BROOKS & Co.* in Pittsburgh, we should publish publish an article in our paper, making an appeal to our citizens to insult them wherever they appeared—to treat them with "silent contempt," became of their "brazen impudence?" Would not humanity, and decency, and common sense, revolt at the scandalous proposition? No Democrat possessed of the slightest modicum of respect for himself, or the ordinary courtesies of life, would ever dream of approving of such a wicked, unnatural suggestion. But these editors of the Gazette, claiming to be "bright particular stars" in the ranks of the party that arrogates to itself "all the decency, and 'all the morality" in the land, recommend to the citizens of Pittsburgh, among whom they have but recently taken up their abode, to insult—basely, wantonly insult, the second officer in the United States! If a spirit of this description was sanctioned and pursued generally by the people in this country, it is fearful to contemplate the results. Family ties would be cut assunder—the social relations would be destroyed—and the worse feelings of human nature would be permitted to run riot!

And what has GEORGE M. DALLAS done that should entitle him to the disgraceful treatment that is suggested by the organ of the Whig decency of Pittsburgh? Will any man of intelligence and veracity put his hand upon his heart, and say, that any act of the Vice President has, in the slightest degree, proved injurious to the interests of the people of Pennsylvania? No man, who has the least regard for his own reputation, will rise up in this community and say, that the Tariff of 1846 has thus far operated injuriously to the interests of Pittsburgh. Under the operations of that law, the agricultural, manufacturing and mercantile interests of the country, have prospered beyond all precedent. Permanent and substantial prosperity smiles upon this fair land throughout its length and breath; and all the sad predictions of the croaking, panic Federalists, have, happily for the country, never been realized. The great mass of those who were attached to the Tariff of 1842,—Democrats as well as Whigs,—are free to acknowledge that the existing law has thus far exceeded their expectations—while it has injured no branch of industry, it has benefitted all classes and all interests alike. In the Tariff of '46, the true principles of the Democratic party are happily exemplified—in it, the beautiful sentiment of the patriotic JACKSON is fully expressed—"The blessings of Government, like the Dews of Heaven, should be dispensed alike upon the Rich and the Poor, the High and the Low, unseen and unfelt, save in the Freshness and Vigor which they bestow."

The Post seemed to distrust us when we said that breadstuffs had fallen one-half, here is additional evidence of the fact:

The highest price at which best American flour has been sold in London this year, was 54s per barrel, which is about 100 per cent. above what it was last year. At the last accounts it was 26s. Gazette.

☞ The above is another specimen of the fairness of the Gazette in conducting an argument. That paper asserted that the Tariff of 1846, caused breadstuffs to fall one half in price. We proved to the satisfaction of every reasonable mind, that this was not true: we gave the present prices of leading articles, and showed that at no period during the operations of the Tariff of 1842, were prices double what they are at this time. Flour is now selling readily at from $4,87 to 5,25 per barrel, in the Pittsburgh market. Will the Gazette dare to say that flour was worth $10 per barrel, during the time the Tariff of 1842 was in existence? Wheat just now brings 90c per bushel in this market, and if it sold for $1,80 while the Tariff of 1842 was in full blast, it is certainly news to us. Reckless as the Gazette has shown itself to be, in some matters, it will scarcely assert so foolish a falsehood as this.

We have nothing to do with the prices in England. They may be high, or they may be low. From the Gazette's own showing, they are precisely the same now that they were last year, during the Tariff of 1842. We are speaking of prices in our own country; and we now repeat that instead of prices falling one half, in consequence of the Tariff of 1846, better prices are now obtained by our farmers and manufacturers, than they received while the much lauded Tariff of 1842 was in existence. The Gazette shall not escape from this issue!

MICHIGAN.—The Michigan Democratic State Convention, which assembled at Jackson, on the 9th inst., nominated the Hon. Epaphroditus Ransam of Kalamazoo, for Governor; and William M FOSTER, of Gennessee, for Lieut. Governor. The Free Press says these nominations require no eulogy—"they are known throughout the state, and were emphatically the people's choice." Among the resolutions passed by the Convention was one recommending CINCINNATI as the place of holding the national convention of 1848.

MORE FEDERAL "RUIN."—The way the manufacturers are rushing on their "ruin," under the destructive Locofoco tariff, is wonderful. The Springfield (Mass.) Republican gives us a fresh instance. That paper says: "A company with a capital of $100,000, to be increased one-half another year has purchased land of the value of $30,000 in that town, on which to erect an extensive range of shops for the manufacture of railroad cars and locomotives. This addition to the business of Springfield will, it is supposed add 1000 to its population."

PRIME, WARD & Co—The liabilities of this house are set down at between one and two millions, a large part of which, it is understood, is held by the Barings. Their suspension was caused by the recent failures of Giles, Son & Co., and Alexander & Co., of London.

☞ A large number of the members of the Illinois State Convention held a meeting at the State House on the evening of August 30th, and unanimously nominated General ZACHARY TAYLOR for the Presidency.

☞ The citizens of the town of Fredericksburgh (Va.) have presented a sword to Lieutenant Dabney H. Maury, for his gallantry displayed at the battle of Cerro Gordo, where he received a wound which almost deprived him of his left arm.

☞ Sprague, of the Second Presbyterian Church Albany, and the Rev. Mr. Wagoner, of the Universalist Church at Troy, delivered sermons on the death of Silas Wright, on last Sunday week.

☞ The Massachusetts Western Railroad goes on with a steady enlargement of its business and profits. The Boston Post says that its increase of receipts since December first now amounts to $231,786—of which $90,673 accured since June first.

The greater portion of this company have been organized nearly six years, and in that time have travelled over the immense space of Forty Thousand Miles of Territory!

Their Concerts, in the mean time, invariably crowded to suffocation by the beauty and fashion of the various cities, who have bestowed the highest eulogiums upon their talent.

This band have just arrived from the Queen City, with a strong recommendation to the patronage of the Iron City as crowded houses and unbounded applause of intelligent and discerning audiences can give.

The company will perform but for the time above specified, and will immediately start for Buffalo, Albany and New York, from which place they will embark for Europe.

They also take great pleasure in stating that from the valuable acquisitions lately made to the Band, they are now enabled to give the celebrated laughable burlesque on the
