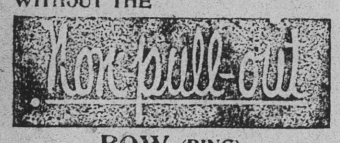
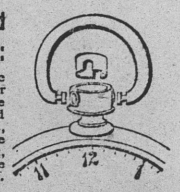
WITHOUT THE



BOW (RING)

it is easy to steal or ring watches from the pocket. The thief gets the watch in one hand, the chain in the other and gives a short, quick jerk—the ring slips off the watch stem, and away goes the watch, leaving the victim only the chain.

This idea stopped that little game:



The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (stem) and fits into the grooves, firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

Sold by all watch dealers, without cost, on Jas. Boss Filled and other cases containing this trade mark—

A watch case opener sent free on request.

REMARKS.

It has come to pass that the majority of the board of County Auditors has filed with the annual report of that body a rigmarole of so-called objections to the methods of doing business in the Commissioners' office. A whole week of the valuable time of these official nonentities was consumed in the formulation of this lying, slanderous and malicious tirade against the Commissioners' office. Political imbeciles, who are without mind or stamina of their own, should never be elevated to important and responsible public positions. Furthermore, the present board of County Commissioners has been uselessly surcharged $202.09, interest on money that was necessarily borrowed to meet the current expenses of the county, without reason or excuse for such surcharge, and without citing any law to sustain their reckless exercise of the surcharging privilege. This action will serve only to increase the expenses of the county by litigation that will necessarily follow to show these bumptious Auditors their inexcusable folly. Public accounts are always the legitimate subjects for correction and honest investigation; but they must not be contorted for the manufacture of political capital for any political faction. But this is not all. The report of the County Auditors held in the Prothonotary's office is in itself a mass of errors and bunglings that would shame a school-boy to be its unhappy author. On page 3 of the said Auditors' Report the total receipts by the County Treasurer of State taxes for years prior to 1897 is calculated to be $1,038.84, when in fact the amount thereof is $1,938.64. An error in favor of said County Treasurer of $899.80. On page 5 of said Auditors' Report there is an error of calculation in the grand total of taxes received by the County Treasurer amounting to $50.03 in favor of the said County Treasurer. On page 7 of the aforesaid report the Auditors have bungled the "total receipts for orders paid," which is unintelligible, to say the least. On the same page the Auditors strike their balance thus: "Balance due Wm. Winters, Esq., County Treasurer, $9,047.56." The true balance is $9,997.37; but this balance is not "due to Wm. Winters, Esq., Co. Treas.," but is due to the county of Somerset from Wm. Winters, treasurer. The apparent shortage of $949.81 in the credit to County Treasurer Winters is nevertheless liberally made up to that officer by placing to his credit the entire balance in his hands belonging to the county of Somerset, by which that worthy officer would gain, by the Auditors' Report, the munificent gift of $18,095.12, if the said report were previously correct; but the fact is that if this blundering piece of "auditing" were allowed to stand, County Treasurer Winters would actually gain $19,044.73 by the new peculiar Bowman-Rhoads-Hileman system of "book-keeping," which those worthies would fain impose upon the Commissioners' office. Not even the surcharging which the Auditors have transcended their authority to inflict upon the County Commissioners has been correctly done. On order No. 522 Wm. P. Meyers, the Commissioners are surcharged with $142.50, while the order itself calls for only $59.59. Lastly, in reply to the Auditors' solemn "objections" and "interpositions" we might retort: "Before you attempt to regulate the methods of business in the Commissioners' office, you should learn to audit." But this would be base flattery, because such an admonition would imply that a majority of that body could ever learn to audit. It is only justice to County Auditor Sipe to mention that that gentleman signed the Auditors' report under a misapprehension of its contents, and that his signature thereto was obtained by resorting to misrepresentations that would do credit to a gang of bunco-steerers.

SOMERSET COUNTY SS:

We the undersigned Commissioners of the county of Somerset, do certify that the foregoing report exhibits a true and accurate account of the receipts and expenditures of the county of Somerset for the year ending January 3, 1898.

Didn't Wait for Brains.

Henry Wallace, a delegate to the stock-growers' convention at Denver, told this story as an illustration of his argument that men should not go into the dairy business without the intelligence to conduct it successfully: "A Northern farmer determined to move South and farm. He bought the best farm he could find, introduced the tame grasses and went into dairying and fruit-raising. He secured as a sort of foreman a very smart darkey, who became a very enthusiastic advocate of his employer's new idea. The natives, white and black, ridiculed the idea of book-farming, and the darkey in disgust said: 'Go 'way; yuh's' nothin' but a walk-off.' A friend of mine heard it and asked: 'Sam, what is a walk-off?' 'Well, suh,' said Sam; 'when de Lawd fust made Adam an' Ebe he thought he done a good job an' were mighty pleased, and say da'll do pretty well, and he lay 'em down an' roll 'em ovuh, feel o' de bones and muscles an' say: "Yes, de'll do. I mus' make 'em some comp'ny." So he take some moh durt an' make a whole lot and set 'em up to dry 'till he could fin' somethin' to make 'em brains. Yuh see, colonel, brains wah mighty scace in that country, an' while he wah lookin' 'round fah somethin' to make 'em brains, de whole lot of 'em jes done walk off."
