☞ We shall notice the Gazette's "most forcible feeble" article in regard to the Depots of the Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad in a day or two.

On motion, the proceedings of the committee were directed to be published in the Morning Post.

THE GAZETTE ON SWINDLING.

We find that the Gazette has again taken the field against the Democratic Canal Commissioners, charging them with "swindling" the people by issuing free tickets to their friends, to entitle them to pass over the public works. But not one word is said in reply to our interrogatory respecting the number of similar tickets granted by a late Whig Canal Commissioner. This would not suit the purpose of the pious? and truth-loving editor; and consequently we hear nothing upon the subject. But it is a pity that whilst thus attempting to villify Democratic Canal Commissioners, he has not sense enough to see that he is most soundly belaboring his friend and volunteer witness, Mr. T. J. BIGHAM. Indeed; it is rather strange that as Mr. BIGHAM is called a lawyer, he did not consult with him about a matter so deeply affecting both of them. But hear what the sapient editor of the Gazette says, in reply to our several articles of the last few days. After asserting the FACT of the present Commissioners having "issued free tickets to the members of the Legislature and others," he says that we have "not broken the force of the [Gazette's] statement in the slightest degree; but the Canal Commissioners lie at this moment under the imputation of a most dishonorable and unlawful act; and if either they or their defenders were possessed of a particle of honorable principle, they would push the matter to a full investigation, unless conscious guilt restrained them."

If the Canal Commissioners have been guilty of an "unlawful act," they are undoubtedly liable to punishment of some kind: for laws are of but little moment unless there is a penalty attached to their violation. In this case the friends of the Commissioners can scarcely be expected, by any human being—even though very pious—to push forward a prosecution. Such things are left, by all the usages of society, to those who are indifferent to the accused; to the officers of the law; or to those who are at enmity with the alleged violators of the law.

But where does this statement of the Gazette place Mr. BIGHAM and the late Canal Comissioner referred to? If the act spoken of be unlawful when done by Democrats, it surely must be equally unlawful when performed by Whigs; and we think that Mr. BIGHAM himself could have told his learned and pious? and patriotic, and just, and truth-loving friend the Deacon, that he who participates in the pecuniary benefits derivable from an unlawful act is no better than the actual perpetrators of the act: that "the receiver is as bad as the thief:" and that consequently, Mr. BIGHAM stands forth before the People as a self-convicted "swindler;" and, in accordance with the universal sentiment of Mankind, he is to be viewed as one of the worst of the criminals; because, having shared their confidence, and participated in the benefits of their unlawful acts, he proves himself to be one of the most despicable of all characters a public informer.

Now what value is to be attached to such testimony, and to the arguments, or statements, given by the Gazette to sustain it? Just such value, in the public estimation, as would be attached to the volunteer declarations of any member of a band of "swindlers," who might seek to expose his fellows, either through pique, or spite, or a desire speedily to enrich himself, by descending to the lowest point of degradation.

But the astute editor of the Gazette appeals to "honest Democrats," and tells them that "agents of the State, chosen by your votes, have violated their oaths, and the law—that they have perpetrated a most contemptible swindle upon the Commonwealth in this matter, of giving free tickets to members of the Legislature and to travelling politicians:" and asks them—referring to our exposures of his own and his witness' rascality, if they are "going to accept of defamation as an offset to facts."

Now we utterly deny that we have resorted, in any way, to defamation in this matter; unless, forsooth, it be defamation to expose the villainies of a thief; to place in its true light the statement of a most embittered, reckless, and unprincipled partisan, against men of high honor and integrity; or to contend for the same measure of justice to be extended to each party to a controversy, where both, (if either) stand convicted of equal guilt. If a firm, and positive, and decided course on any such point as either of these is to be regarded as defamation; why, then, we are prepared to admit that we have deserved the editor of the Gazette for his commendation.

volunteer witness, T. J. BIGHAM, Esq., and the Whig party in general; but under no other circumstances can we be induced to make the admission.

HON. JAMES BUCHANAN.

Our neighbors of the Washington Examiner have raised the name of this distinguished statesman as a candidate for the Presidency in 1852, subject, of course, to the decision of the General Democratic Convention. Washington county has been regarded, until recently, as doubtful on the Presidential question; but the Convention which met a short time since unanimously recommended Mr. BUCHANAN to the country; and the editors of the Examiner, in a very well-written editorial, reflect the will of the Democracy of the county.

THE BUTLER HERALD.

We perceive that this excellent Democratic journal, conducted by our friend Capt. ZIEGLER, has been enlarged and greatly improved. We wish much success to the proprietor; and as he is a candidate for the House of Representatives of this State, we hope he may be doubly successful. May he be elected by an overwhelming majority; and may all who vote for him subscribe and pay for his paper.

BARNS BURNT.

We learn from the Norristown (Montgomery county) Register, that, on the 16th instant, the barn of Mr. CHRISTIAN BERGEY, in Lower Salford township, and that of Mr. JOSEPH P. CONRAD, in Whitepain township, were both struck by lightning, and the former entirely consumed, at a loss to the owner of about $800, without any insurance.

Neither of the barns had lightning rods attached to them; but the damage sustained by the owner of the latter would alone have more than paid for lightning rods for both barns. What strange improvidence!

☞ The "Empire State," Capt HAZARD, was literally thronged last night with mighty good looking people. The Clerk was wearied in taking money for fare. It is well the EMPIRE is so long, or she would have to go twice in order to carry away one load, in these days of railroads.—Cleveland Herald, July 22.

☞ The above confirms what we have said heretofore in regard to the immense business transacted on the Cleveland, Columbus, and Cincinnati Railroad. Nearly all the travel that passes over that Road to Lake Erie starts from Cincinnati and comes from points South and South-West of that place. By making the Railroad from Pittsburgh and Steubenville, there to connect with the Steubenville, and Indiana Railroad, our city will secure an immense amount of business and travel she has now lost. Should not this fact induce every citizen of Pittsburgh to use active exertions to bring about a speedy completion of the important link in the great chain of Railroads we have alluded to?

☞ The Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Telegraph, says:—"Chaplin, the slave stealer, whom the abolitionists have made a martyr of, has forfeited his bail to appear in the criminal court at Washington, and has taken to his heels. It is quite in character that a man who would commit a theft should hold his honor so light as to sacrifice his sureties." We think the Telegraph does Mr. Chaplin injustice. From a slight knowledge of the individuals who became his bail in Washington, we do not doubt that they advised him to go away before his trial: and that they are willing to run the risk of having the amount of their suretyship made up to them by the abolition party. Whether they will be made whole in this regular business transaction among abolitionists, is a question yet to be settled. We very much doubt whether they will ever get a cent of remuneration from their party for any loss they may sustain on account of this affair.

BEDFORD SPRINGS.

Among the names of the visitors announced at the Bedford Springs we see those of the Hons. JAMES BUCHANAN, J. Glancy Jones, Ellis Lewis, J. S. Black and Wm. Dock; Cols. H. C. Laughlin, of Philadelphia, and S. W. Black, of this city; Majors Levi G. Reynolds, of Chester, and A. D. Ditmars, of Lancaster; Wm. S. Campbell, Esq., and our old friend and neighbor, Chancellor Richardson, Esq., of the Merchants' Hotel, in Philadelphia.

THE BOUNDARY.—Brevet Capt. Hardcastle, of the Corps of Topographical Engineers, in charge of the Boundary Commission on the Pacific, (says the San Diego, California Herald) is now about finishing the work on this end of the line. All the monuments designating the boundary between this place and the Gila river, have been placed, and Capt. H. is now erecting the splendid white marble monument at the initial point. A great portion of the most laborious and active duty connected with this work has devolved upon this accomplished officer, and he has acquitted himself in a manner alike creditable to himself and the profession he adorns.

☞ Maj. Hobbie, of the Post Office Department, has returned from Havana and the Pacific. At Havana and at Panama he succeeded in making arrangements by which the American Consuls are made postal agents, who will attend to the forwarding of all letters passing through those cities for other countries, so that letters can be sent through Havana and Panama as freely as from one State to another. Maj. Hobbie also reorganized the mail service in California, and established daily mails between the principal cities.

☞ The Stockbridge Indians are about purchasing two townships of land in Minnesota, on which to locate. For twenty-five years these Indians have resided at Green Bay. They number about 300, and are the descendants of an ancient tribe of that name, often mentioned in the history of the early settlement of Massachusetts.

☞ A clerk in one of the Departments at the City of Washington, has sent to the Agent of the Washington monument $100, to be appropriated to building that great work. He says that he received this sum for services rendered to others out of the regular office hours; but he could not conscientiously devote it to his own use, because such a course he thinks would lead to official corruption.

ODD FELLOWSHIP.—At the recent session of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania resolutions were passed altering the time of the semi-annual sessions from the months of January and July to May and November, and also giving the Lodges power to elect representatives to the Grand Lodge, instead of Past Grands merely, as heretofore. All action in reference to the proposed establishment of a widows' and orphans' asylum was postponed.

☞ AARON BURR is buried in the cemetry at Princeton, N. J., and while costly monuments mark the resting place of his father and other relatives, his grave is unmarked by any token of memory or respect. It is only known by being pointed out by the guide who may be showing a stranger the tombs of other men whose names are connected with our early history.

☞ Major BELL has been assigned the command of the Allegheny Arsenal, as we learn from the Republic at the City of Washington.

☞ Among the inventions of modern science, few confer a greater benefit on the community than that contribution of Chemistry to the healing art, known as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. In our advertising columns may be found the evidence of distinguished gentlemen, that shows their confidence in its peculiar efficacy to Scribblings and Clippings.

— Mr. Daniel Saylor, of Schuylkill Haven, Pa., has two acres of wheat land, in that borough, from which, last week, he cut 1851 sheaves, making 185 shocks. The wheat stood very thick and the grain was very large. It has been admitted by good judges that it will thrash 6 bushels to the 100 sheaves, thus yielding 111 bushels, or 55½ to the acre.

— Mr. George Sumner, in a letter from Paris to a friend at Providence, says: "You ask about France—pray be re assured. All is going on well. There will be no revision—no re-election of Louis Napoleon. The Republic will stand—the constitution will be respected. Two good candidates will be brought forward before next May, and retrogrades and progressistas will try their forces."

— A swarm of bees hived in the hole of an old tree on the mountain at Westfield, Ct., from which, soon after, an immense number of black snakes, of all sizes, were seen to emerge and spread themselves along the limbs of the trees. The neighbors assembled in crowds and shot some of the serpents, many of them measuring over six feet in length.

— Boston contains 98 churches, of which 26 are Congregational Unitarian, 1 Quaker, 13 Baptists, 14 Orthodox Congregational, (Lyndie street and Meloden,) 6 Universalist, 11 Roman Catholic, 12 Methodist, 1 Christian, 1 Swedenborgian, 1 Lutheran, 1 German Protestant, 1 Second Advent, 1 Free Will Baptist, 1 Jewish Synagogue, 1 Presbyterian.

— In Watertown, Wisconsin, Mr. Farewell, a money lender from Vermont, while on his way to his boarding house at night, was shot, the ball entering his forehead directly above one eye and penetrating the head two inches. He cannot recover. He had about $230 in his pocket, which was secured by the assassin.

— The Winchester Virginian says that George H. Burwell, Esq., of that county, will make, this year, 16,000 bushels of wheat. We hear of another crop, below Brattletown, supposed to reach 10,000 bushels. The wheat this year, in lower Clarke and towards Millwood, is of full average abundance, and of excellent quality.

— "Tom," said an impudent wag to a conceited fop, "I know a beautiful creature who wishes to make your acquaintance." "D——— glad to hear it—fine girl, struck with my appearance, suppose eh?" "Yes, very much so. She thinks you'd make a capital playmate for a little poodle dog!"

— Among the passengers by the Pacific, we notice the name of Anna Cora Mowatt, the distinguished actress and professional engagement in England, where she she made hosts of friends, both in public and private, by her excellent talents and her amiable character.

— Under the late law for the re-organization of the State Department, three of the older clerks have been given increased salaries, their duties continuing as heretofore. Mr. Markoe receives $3,000 instead of $1,600 as hitherto; Mr. Chew, $2,000 instead of $1,400; and Mr. Hamilton Derrick, $1,600 instead of $1,200.

— Capt. Frazier, of the revenue service, has only been suspended, not dismissed, as was at first stated.—One charge against him was, that he had left his station on the coast of California, and taken the cutter on a pleasure trip to the Sandwich Islands.

— An egg merchant of Palmyra, N. Y., has bought, packed and shipped to New York market by the canal, the present season, 1,037 barrels of eggs, averaging 70 doz. to each barrel, making 72,590 doz. or 912,960 eggs—costing $7,228.25—with which there were packed 3,000 bushels of corn meal.

— The Monmouth (N. J.) Inquirer states that Mr. John S. Whitlock, of Raritan township, in that county, has succeeded well with his admirable strawberry patch of fourteen acres. He has cleared from it, by sales, this season, $2,200 over and above freights, carriage, and all expenses.

— Mr. Barton Searle hang himself in his barn in Cranston, R. I., in a fit of religious excitement. And Mr. James Garlin executed himself in the same manner in Wakefield, N. H., "after eating his breakfast as usual."

— The editor of the Savannah (Geo.) News has partaken of a water-melon which weighed fifty-four and a half pounds. It was grown at the Cedar Grove plantation, near White Bluff. How can they be fire-eaters in these parts?

— Catalina, an old and valued Mexican servant of Col. H. L. Kinney, who accompanied him during the war, was murdered by the Indians in June last, while carrying the mail from Corpus Christi to Intercha. This is the third mail rider killed on this route during the year.

— At two o'clock on Monday morning, a block of modern buildings on West street, adjoining the freight depot of the Syracuse and Rochester Railroad, in Syracuse, N. Y., were destroyed by fire, with most of the contents. The buildings were owned by the Syracuse Company.

— The Ice Trade is becoming a feature at New York and Boston. During June there were shipped from New York about 8,665 tons of ice, which makes an aggregate, since the 1st of January, of 58,484 tons. The bulk of it was sent to Mediterranean and East India ports.

— The Mexican Government invite proposals until the 20th of Sept. for the construction of a railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico, thence to the Pacific—15 years to be allowed for the completion of the work.

— An exchange paper says that "the editor of the Albany Express has had legal proceedings commenced against him for libel. He cannot have been single. Only a few weeks ago he was married."

— The Grand Lodge of this State of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows has under its jurisdiction about 420 lodges, numbering about 20,000 members. The increase of members during the past year has been about 5000.

— The poultry of the United States is valued in the statistics at $20,000,000—the State of New York having over two millions invested in it. In the egg trade the city of New York expends nearly a million and a half of dollars annually.

— It is reported that the Telegraph and Express, Boston vessels, and the Franklin of Webster, have been seized in the Bay of Chaleur for fishing too near the shore. They are worth $16,000.

— Vieuxtemps, the famous violinist, at a grand concert in Paris lately, played a piece twenty-five minutes long. In honor of the Americans abroad, he performed Yankee Doodle, with variations.

SLAVERY.—There are now in Delaware, according to the last census, 2,289 slaves. In 1840 there were 916 more than this number. During the year previous to the taking of the census, there were 174 manumitted, and 19 ran away. One was manumitted to every 13, and one ran away out of every 120. Should manumission go on at the same rate, the State will in a few years be rid of slavery.

It will be seen from the following that slavery is decreasing in this State much more rapidly than in Maryland and Virginia:

"The number of slaves in Maryland is 90,368 or 873 more than ten years ago, in 1840. In 1810 there were 111,502; in 1820, 107,398; in 1830, 102,294. During the year previous to taking the census, there were manumitted 216 slaves, and 135 were manumitted. In Virginia there are 472,026 slaves, and in one year there ran away 89, or one to 5,134, and 211 were manumitted, or one to every 1,942."

☞ The Russian Peasant, as he is falsely called, says a letter from St. Petersburg, is bought and sold with the land on which he lives, and is a being no way superior to Mons. Cuffee, although his skin is white or rather brownish, with beards that were never visited by that companion of civilization, the razor; his person is the impersonification of filth, and his countennance the mirror of ignorance. The depression and poverty of these poor creatures is really pitiable; and next to some parts of Ireland! I must give to this class of humanity the uncuviable position of the most miserable part of the human family to which we all belong.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Monday evening last Miss MARGARET LOGAN, daughter of Mr. John Logan, of this Borough, met with a serious accident, in the following manner. He father had just driven up to the door of his residence, with a pair of spirited horses, when Margaret passing close to the head of the near horse he suddenly raised his fore feet striking her violently on the temple, and laying her upon the ground apparently lifeless. She lies in a very critical state, though slight hopes are entertained of her recovery.—Washington Com.

☞ The Lowell American says that a few days ago, a freight-car loaded with property valued at more than $20,000, passed over the Salem and Lowell Railroad, and from Lowell was despatched to Meriden Connecticut. The freight consisted of ivory. Nearly all the ivory brought to this country, comes into the port of Salem, and Meriden is the chief seat of the manufacture.

☞ Persons desirous of sending letters to any of the ships of the United States on foreign or distant stations are informed that there is a mail department connected with the Naval Lyceum at at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, where a bag is kept for each squadron, and the letters are despatched by every opportunity. Letters must be prepaid and enclosed to the "Naval Lyceum, New York."

☞ The Rochester Times says we could never understand the reason why the man who sells a yard of cloth, or a hoe, or an axe, or a pair of shoes is regarded by the community as a better or more respectable man than he who made it; nor he who sells a barrel of flour, or ships it off to another country, than he who raises the wheat

THE USE OF FRUIT.—Instead of standing in any fear of a generous consumption of ripe fruits, we regard them as positively conductive to health. The very maladies commonly assumed to have their origin in a free use of apples, peaches, cherries, melons and wild berries, have been quite as prevalent, if not equally destructive, in seasons of scarcity. There are so many erroneous notions entertained of the bad effects of fruit, that it is quite time a counteracting impression should be promulgated, having its foundation in common sense and based upon the common observation of the intelligent. We have no patience in reading rules to be observed in this particular department of physical comfort. No one, we imagine, ever lived longer or freer from the paroxyms of disease, by discarding the delicious fruits of the land in which he finds a home. On the contrary, they are necessary to the preservation of health, and are therefore caused to make their appearance at the very time when the condition of the body operates upon them by deteriorating causes not always understood, requires their grateful, renovating influences.—Boston Med and Surg. Jour.

☞ We see by the Cleveland papers that "M. R. Delany, the colored Physiologist, from Havard University whose lectures have received the appropriation and recommendation of a large number of the medical profession and citizens of Cincinnati and elsewhere," was advertised to have delivered a Lecture in Cleveland on Thursday evening last on the Comparative Anatomy and Physiology of the Cranium of the Negro and Carcasian races.

[From the Louisville Journal, May 29th, 1851.]

Dr. J. S. Houghton's Pepsin, for Dyspepsia, Prepared from Rennet, or the Stomach of the Ox.

☞ On the 7th of May, 1851, Rev. M. D. Williams, Pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, in Louisville, Kentucky, was and had been for a long time confined to his room, and most of the time to his bed, with Dyspepsia and Chronic Diarrhœa, and was, to all appearance, on the very verge of the grave, and acknowledged to be so by his physician, who had tried all the ordinary means in his power, without effect, and at the above named time, the patient, with the consent of his physician, commenced the use of Dr. Houghton's "PEPSIN," and to the astonishment, surprise and delight of all, he was much relieved the first day. The third day he left his room. The sixth day, which was excessively hot, he rode ten miles with no bad effect; on the eighth day he went on a visit to the country; and, on the thirteenth day, though not entirely restored to his natural strength, he was so far recovered as to go alone a journey of five hundred miles, where he arrived in safety, much improved in health, having had no disturbance of the stomach or bowels, after taking the first dose of Pepsin. These facts are not controvertible, and that this is a case which ought to convince all skeptics that there is a power in "PEPSIN." Let physicians and dyspeptics investigate.

☞ The Tail of the Comet is forty degrees in length, but so thin in substance that stars are visible through it. The marvellous tales of some nostrum mongers are nearly as long, and quite as easily seen through.

The proprietor of Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla, however, has no occasion to resort to such tales in order to attract public attention.

The actual cures performed by the article, wherever it is introduced, is the basis upon which the reputation of this remedy is founded, as the hundreds of certificates of renewed hopes—health and life, that are continually flowing in upon him, will prove.

Burning Fountain for a time, has a remedy that possesses rare medicinal virtues to establish the reputation that Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla has established wherever it has been used.

☞ THE professional merits of JAMES S. CRAFT, Esq., have pointed out such general attention to his name as the candidate most certain to be successful in the election to the Presidency of the Common Pleas—that it has been hitherto deemed unnecessary to present his name through the Press for nomination by the Democratic Convention. As a practical man of business he has no superior in the State, as may be known by his measures in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, in the disastrous winters of 1839, '40 and '41. His experience in mercantile and manufacturing lawyer, insurance agent, and solicitor and master in chancery, and familiar acquaintance with legal practice and revolution to study, gave him in 1845 the almost unanimous recommendation of the Pittsburgh Bar for the Supreme Court, and entirely qualify him for the office in question, which require his peculiar working abilities to fill.
