THE CITY POST.

SATURDAY MORNING.....MARCH 18.

OHIO AND PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.—The Allegheny Councils held a meeting Thursday evening, at which Mr. Ashworth, presented a report from the Select Committee appointed to confer with the Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad Company on the subject of the proposed extension of the road to this city.

The report stated that the committee had met several of the Directors and the Chief Engineer of the road. The latter stated to the committee that several routes, all of which were designated in the report, had been surveyed, and found practicable. The railroad company, however, preferred either the Aqueduct or Point route, these being considered preferable to all others. If the city offered no objection the company would adopt the Aqueduct route, as being calculated to advance the interests of the road; but if opposition to this scheme were still manifested, then the company would adopt the Point route. In taking the latter route the company would be compelled to abandon the Federal street Station, and also to build, at great expense, a bridge over the river at the Point. This, it was stated, might interrupt the free navigation of the Allegheny, as the bridge could not be built at a greater height than the grade of the road would permit. The company, therefore, considered the former route, occupying Federal street and passing through the private property along the canal to the West end of the Aqueduct, as much the best, and would therefore have the line run that way if the city passed its objection.

The committee was continued, and a resolution passed Councils to the effect that the city would allow the matter to remain precisely as it was, when the committee was appointed, until the company would make a proposition defining the route they wished to have, and asking permission to use it.

DR. SEVIER.—We learn that this gentleman so successful in treating diseases of the Throat and Lungs has concluded to remain in the city a few days longer, to give those who have not already consulted him an opportunity of doing so. The fearful fatality of these diseases is owing to a great measure to delay and neglect of the first symptoms. This being the fact, and none will deny it, we hope those who have short breath, pains in the breast, coughs, and who become easily tired on making exertion, will take warning and lose not a single day until they consult a physician of experience and success in treating this class of diseases.

Dr. S. is still at the Monongahela House.

FRANKLIN NOTE.—Kennedy's of the bank Note Review, have issued the following description of the fraudulent note on the Commercial Bank of Glenn's Falls, New York:—No altered from 1—"Geo. Scott, a shield supported by two females, and an eagle on the top; a mermaid sitting on a dolphin on left end. The right end of the genuine note is cut off and replaced by another, (which is a little wider than the rest of the note,) on which it "twenty" once, and 20 twice. The "Glen" in the President's signature is forged, and written in a bolder hand and darker ink—the lettering of denomination line is slightly imperfect.

COUNTERFEITERS ARRESTED.—Officer M'Vicker, of Mayor Adams police, on Thursday evening arrested Ab. Allegheny city, two men named O. R. Hill and J. Brandon, on a charge of uttering and paying counterfeit money. The offence was committed in Salem, Ohio; and the parties were arrested on an information lodged by the father-in-law of Hill. The officer found two trunks belonging to them; in which were discovered implements for carrying on the business of counterfeiting. The two men were committed for a further hearing to-morrow.

A CHANCE.—Robert P. Glass, Esq., late clerk in the Post Office, has been appointed Manager of the National Telegraph office in this city; vice Col. John P. Glass, resigned. The appointee is fully competent for the situation. He gained the good opinion of citizens by his obliging conduct as clerk in the post office, and we feel confident he is sure of them in his new capacity, as manager of the telegraph line.

CADETS.—The President has selected John G. M'Connell, son of Thomas M'Connell, Esq., and George H. Grossman, Jr., a grandson of the late W. W. Foster, Esq., as cadets, from the two congressional districts of this county. They are instructed to report themselves at West Point, in June.

A LARGE LOT of new and second handed Gold and Silver watches and Jewlry, among which are Double Time Pieces and Hunters. Also, one excellent Twist Fowling Piece will be sold at McKenna's Auction House this evening at early gas light.

We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. Bown & Tetley in another part of to-day's paper. They are both practical workmen, and are fully competent to warrant, as they always do, all articles they sell to the public. Give them a call.

STANDARD and recent works from the English and American press, are comprised in the extensive sale of books, this evening, at David' Auction Room; also, surgical instruments.

ERROR.—We are requested to correct an error which occurred in our paper of yesterday. It was not the mate of the steamer Tri City, that was stabbed in Cincinnati, but the bar-keeper of the same boat.

NEW FERRY.—Capt. Valentine Short is now running a new ferry boat between Manchester and the foot of Penn street; it is called the Capt. Walker, No. 2.

EXAMINATION.—The examination of the pupils of the Fourth Ward Public School in Allegheny, took place last evening.

CONSTABLES.—There were but two commitments to jail yesterday, for drunkenness. Both by Mayor Volz.

$1500 REWARD!

ON FRIDAY NIGHT, 10th inst., at about 7 o'clock, JOHN HARPINGS, Collector of this Port, was struck down by two or more ruffians, within a few rods of his dwelling, in Allegheny City, and his pockets rifled of a Gold Watch, the Key of the Vault of the Custom House, and $22 in money, to wit: two $100 bills, two $50 bills and one $20, all on the Merchants and Manufacturers' Bank of Pittsburgh. The robbers afterwards entered the Custom House, and took from the vault Two Bags of Gold, each containing $5000, chiefly in $20 pieces.

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD

Is hereby offered for the arrest and conviction of the robbers, or any of them, and

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

Additional, for the recovery of the money, or a proportionate reward for whatever amount may be recovered of the money stolen. JOHN SAYLOR,

Deputy Surveyor.

NICHOLS' GREAT WORK.

MARRIAGE: ITS HISTORY, CHARACTER, AND RESULTS; ITS SANCTITIES, AND ITS PROFANITIES; ITS SCIENCE AND ITS FACTS—Demonstrating its influence as a civilized institution, on the happiness of the individual; and the prosperity of the race. By T. L. NICHOLS, M. D., and MARY S. GOVE NICHOLS.—In one volume, 18 mo. cloth; 420 pages.

"The Book of Marriage is very different from any other ever written on its profile and suggestive theme. It is a serious and scientific investigation, showing the connection of the great central social institution, with the actual state of human society, and demonstrating the true laws and conditions of the love relations of the sexes, which are fundamental to all moral culture, and social harmony, or the highest condition, and greatest happiness of man.

"The Book, thirty, and thousands of the curious and important facts, will soon be published from the.....

CONTENTS.

PART FIRST.—Hygienic Relations.—By T. L. Nichols, M. D.—Introductory; Definitions and Explanations; Marriage, in the Old Testament; Marriage, in the New Testament; marriage, its further history; the facts of marriage; conventional moralities; marriage in civilization; marriage as it is; marriage and slavery; marriage and other institutions of civilization; the argument in favor of marriage; marriage and woman's rights; monogamy, polygamy, and mormonism; free love, or the doctrine of the promiscuists; marriage, by one of its defenders; love, marriage and divorce; the love doctrine of Fourier; the wrongs of marriage.

PART SECOND.—Narrative and Illustrative.—By Mrs. Mary S. Gove Nichols.—Woman as individual; illustrations of law; fidelity to the law of love; a true life; illustrative cases; facts and illustrations; the murders of marriage; faith and love; attraction and repulsion; conclusion.

PART THIRD.—Theological and Scientific.—By T. L. Nichols, M. D.—Liberty and humanity; principles and laws; human rights; the relations of the sexes; the duration of love; plurality of loves; society destroyed; jealousy, what will it do with us; woman's rights to love and maternity; variety in love; what is monogamic; what is promiscuity? what is freedom sale; freedom a guarantee of crime; the law of marriage; what we ought to do; the functions of government; the results of freedom; the loves of the future; one case in a million; the social conditions of freedom.

APPENDIX.—Institute of Heterodoxy; Institute of Hygiene; promise of the future; Fourierism; Communism; conclusion.

"The civilized marriage demands the light of free discussion more than any existing institution, because it is more intimately and more vitally connected with the problem of our future destiny. The organization, birth, education, development and happiness of the individual, and the conditions of the social state, are all involved in the question of the nature of the marriage relation. Being the foundation of life, it is closely connected with all of good or evil that belong to our animal nature.
