DANGEROUS.—An instance of liberality on the part of the Messrs. Jones, the proprietors of the ferry line, has just become known, which is highly commendable and worthy of imitation of others in similar instances. Our readers are, doubtless, yet familiar with the circumstance of the explosion of the boiler of the ferry boat Gen. Adams belonging to the above gentlemen, which occurred a few months ago. The explosion was attributed to the carelessness or recklessness of the engineer; but he, poor fellow, paid the penalty of his fault by instant death. But other, and innocent persons were made to suffer; and it will not be forgotten that John Kinsey, a laboring man, was badly wounded, and lost two or three fingers by the explosion. From statements made by the friends of the parties, it appears that the Messrs. Jones have, in the handsomest manner, without legal proceedings, paid to Mr. Kinsey his claim for injuries to his person, amounting to one thousand dollars. They also paid three hundred and twenty five dollars to some poor Irishman, who was killed at Noblestown, for injuries inflicted at the same time.

DROWNED.—Wheeling papers state that a man named Little, a deck passenger on the steamer Courier, fell overboard last Friday night, while the boat was lying at Sunfish discharging freight, and was drowned. He was walking along the guards when he struck his foot against a rope and fell. A line and plank were thrown to him, and a boat sent after him, and every possible effort made to save him. He was rather an aged man, came on board at Bull creek, and said he was going to Pittsburgh, and is supposed to have friends residing somewhere in this neighborhood. He had a small side pan, and a small bundle containing one check shirt and a pair of blue drilling pantaloons.

DOGS.—The dog days are coming on rapidly, and the canine species are beginning to experience all kinds of persecutions and sufferings. No dogs are safe; from the high bred mastiff, down to the "mongrel of low degree," all are included in a common proscription, and all are summarily dealt with, by the relentless agents of the law. That some deserve the fate inflicted, there is no doubt, as the following circumstance will furnish proof: John Drumm appeared yesterday, before Ald. Major, to testify that a dog belonging to Wm. George, had attacked and bitten a small child of the prosecutor's, lacerating and injuring him very severely. The owner of the dog was arrested, but on stating that the animal had already been killed, was discharged.

A CHANGE.—We refer our readers to the advertisement of Mr. Geo. R. Pearson, in another column, from which it will be seen that this gentleman, who formerly conducted the Literary Depot on Third street, has discontinued business, and has transferred his subscription lists for magazines, pamphlets, newspapers, &c., to Messrs. Russell & Bro., No. 15 Fifth street, who will hereafter supply Mr. Pearson's subscribers with those publications. These gentlemen have lately made great additions to their establishment, and the reading public can now be supplied from there with any article in the literary line they may desire.

SERIOUS ASSAULT.—Some person whose name we could not learn, entered the house of Ludwig Reed, on Penn street, in the Fifth Ward, yesterday, armed with a hatchet, and commenced a violent attack on Charles Miller, with the instrument, striking at him savagely several times. Miller cried for assistance, on which the assailant turned and fled. Ald. Parkinson afterwards issued a warrant for the person supposed to have committed the outrage, but we believe he was not arrested.

MOUNT WASHINGTON NURSERY.—This is one of the best cultivated Nurseries in the neighborhood. Mr. James Lowrie, the principal, is a scientific horticulturist, and every graft or plant on his farm may be relied upon as being what he represents it. This is the Strawberry season, and we would invite those who desire to partake of this most delightful treat, to call at the South West corner of the Diamond and Market street, this morning at an early hour, and every other morning during the Strawberry season.

VAGRANCY AND DRUNKENNESS.—There were an unusual number of commitments to the county jail yesterday for the above offences, both from this side of the river and Allegheny. The warm weather has already had its usual effect, in creating a tremendous thirst' that can only be assuaged by a frequent resort to a "lemonade," and usually ending in a roll in the gutter and a commitment for twenty-four hours.

BEATING A WOMAN.—Patrick Lonegan made oath yesterday before Alderman Parkinson, against Alex. Irwin, charging him with having violently assaulted his wife, and, on being told to desist, striking Lonegan over the head with a brick for his interference. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Irwin.

A WARRANT was yesterday issued by Alderman Parkinson, for the arrest of a man named J. Kerns, who was accused by Richard Moore, with having thrown a brick which struck the plaintiff on the head, and injured him severely.

OFF THE TRACK.—Owing to the breaking of an axle of a car belonging to a freight train, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Conanaugh, a car containing hogs was precipitated off the track, broken to pieces, and a great number of the porkers killed.

THIRTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 21—House—Yesterday's proceedings concluded.

The Committee were discharged from the further consideration of the memorial contesting the right of Mike Walsh to a seat, on the ground that he is not an American by birth.

Mr. Hillyer introduced a bill fixing the first Monday of November for the meeting of Congress, instead of the first Monday of September.

The rules were suspended and the bill was passed, after which the House adjourned.

Senate—Yesterday's proceedings concluded. After Mr. Seward had finished, Mr. Clayton gave the floor on the vetoed Insane Land Bill. The subject was again postponed.

Mr. Benjamin reported a bill granting a register to the Russian built brig Amelia, by the name of "Abby French," which was passed.

The bill making provisions for paying all persons who, since 1836, have acted as agents for paying pensions, and prescribing the manner for the settlement of their accounts hereafter, was taken up. Mr. Toombs objected to the bill because it would leave all the deposite banks who paid pensioners to set up claims.

Mr. Dodge moved an amendment, excepting banks, bank agents and officers and private bankers from the benefits of the bill.

Mr. Hunter moved to lay it on the table.

Agreed to.

Nine House bills were received, taken up, and after a short executive session, the Senate adjourned.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 21—Senate—Mr. Seward gave notice of a bill to regulate navigation to the Coast of Africa in vessels owned by American citizens, being a bill to break up the African Slave trade in American vessels.

The Naval bill was taken up.

Mr. Hunter moved that the vote of yesterday, ordering it to a third reading, be reconsidered, and the bill was postponed in order to prepare certain important amendments.

The vetoed Land Bill was next taken up.

Mr. Clay, of Alabama, spoke against the constitutionality of the bill.

Pending a motion to postpone it, the Senate adjourned.

House—Messrs. Colfaxn and Churchwell came near getting into a fight, growing out of the personal explanations of yesterday.

The Minnesota Land Bill being under consideration, Mr. Churchwell said his colleague had made a false statement in regard to him in his published speech of yesterday.

Mr. Colfaxn, greatly excited, leaped over the desk, and rushed towards Mr. Churchwell, but was immediately seized by the surrounding members. He made desperate efforts to be free, shaking his fist at Mr. Churchwell he exclaimed, "you are a damned liar, and a damned scoundrel." Intense excitement ensued. Mr. Churchwell drew a pistol and cocked it. Quiet was, however, finally restored.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Advices from Montevideo, dated May 1st, are received.

Affairs at La Platte were quiet.

The Brazilian forces were positively to enter Montevideo on the 1st of May. It is rumored that President Pires has gone to meet them.

Brown died instantly. Mrs. H. lingers, but cannot live.

BALTIMORE, June 20.—The train from Philadelphia, while crossing the Susquehanna at two o'clock this morning, accidentally pushed Adams & Co's express car off the steamboat into the river, detaining the train until seven o'clock. The mail car had passed half over, but was drawn back.

CONCORD, N. H., June 20.—The Whig State Convention to-day was largely attended. Judge J. Perry presided, and made a speech strongly condemning the repeal of the Missouri Compromise.
