THE NEWS.

The U. S. Supreme Court has closed its term, having disposed of 78 cases during its session.

J. M. Patrick & Co., and A. A. Smithwick & Co., of Memphis, Tenn., have suspended.

A terrific gale at Sandy Hook, on Saturday, caused an unknown schooner to founder, with all on board.

Thomas C. Rockhill, a much esteemed merchant and citizen of Philadelphia, died early on Saturday morning, at his residence in that city.

The election of members of the Legislature of Kansas will take place about the 15th or 20th of March. The Free State Squatter fears that the first Legislature will be pro-slavery.

Hon. Ellis Lewis, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, received the degree of L. L. D., from Jefferson College, at the commencement, the 10th inst.

A fire at Tomkinsville, Staten Island, on Friday night, destroyed four dwellings and three stores, the most substantial in the town. Loss about $30,000. The fire caught in a grocery store, from the explosion of a camphene lamp.

The commencement of Jefferson Medical College, of Philadelphia, took place on Saturday last. Judge King, the President of the Institution, conferred the degrees upon the unusually large number of 265 graduates.

Ex-Senator J. Clemens has fallen heir to a respectable sum of over thirty thousand dollars, in the recent passage of a land claim to certain Alabamians, by Congress, being the amount agreed upon for his services in the event of the measure succeeding.

Wm. M. Biddle, Esq., an eminent lawyer of Carlisle, Pa., died in Philadelphia a few days ago. His death was announced in the Supreme Court, sitting in banc in that city, and eulogistic remarks upon his character were made by Hons. Wm. B. Reed, Wm. M. Meredith and Chief Justice Lewis.

The Louisville Courier, of Monday, says that that city seems "infested with a class of negro stealers, who are becoming very obnoxious. On Saturday morning a valuable negro woman, the property of J. M. Lamb, of Mason county, was decoyed from the steamer Telegraph. Mr. L. offers a reward of one hundred dollars for her committal to the jail in this city."

Gov. Wright, of Indiana, and the Secretary of State, are at loggerheads. The latter has refused to issue commissions to sundry appointees made by the Governor, since the adjournment of the Legislature, to vacancies which that body failed to fill. The Secretary contends that the Governor has no power under the Constitution to make the appointments.

A Native American Opera Troupe has been lately performing in Baltimore, at the Holliday Street Theatre. The prima donna is a miss Josephine Durand, [illegible] American as possessing a soprano voice of great power and compass, combined with much flexibility and softness. What has become of Ole Bull's proposed Native American Opera?

The friends of the parties on the sloop-of-war Decatur, are fearful of their safety. The Decatur sailed from Norfolk on the 14th of last June for the Pacific station, arrived at Rio Janeiro, August 27, and sailed thence for her destination on the 21st of September following. A furious hurricane occurred shortly after, in which she must have gone down. She carried 16 guns, and was built at Brooklyn in 1839.

A fire at Princeton, N. J., on Saturday night, destroyed the College building known as Nassau Hall, with all the furniture, books, clothes, &c., of the students. Loss $50,000. Nassau Hall, so called in honor of the Prince of Orange, was founded in 1738, and has ever since maintained its reputation as being one of the best seats of learning in this country. Among its graduates were Thomas Jefferson, John C. Calhoun, and Nicholas Biddle.

A correspondent of the New York Evening Post says "when Colonel Benton was being tried in the furnace of affliction, the President called on him and tendered to him a home and the hospitalities of the White House. This was too much for the stern old Roman, who could defy a world in arms against him, but melted to tears at such consideration and kindness from the President. He declined, with suitable expressions of gratitude, accepting, however, the proffered use of the library and manuscripts."

The United States steamship Susquehanna, during her cruise round the world, visited the following ports, viz: Madeira, Rio de Janeiro, Cape of Good Hope, Isle of France, Johanna, Zanzibar, Ceylon, Penang, Singapore, Macao, Hong Kong and Whampoa, (numerous times;) Cumsingmon twice, Amoy three times, Manila, Shanghai twice, Chinkiang-foo, Nankin, Woohoo, Woosung, Fuhohan, Bonin Islands, Loo Choo Islands twice, Japan three times, Sandwich Islands, San Francisco, Benicia, Acapulco, Valparaiso and Rio de Janeiro. The Susquehanna is the first steamer that ever steamed round the world.

A new Sunday Law went into operation at Louisville on Sunday last. The Democrat of Monday says: "The general, if not universal obedience of the law, must have gladdened the hearts who love a quiet day of rest. We were over a large portion of the city, and do not recollect having seen one coffee-house or tavern open. This obedience to the law speaks well, we think, for the general character of the people." The Democrat also states that the saloons on the steamboats were liberally patronized, and that on the Jacob Strader the drinkers were about four deep, all day, guzzling, and falling back.

A few years ago Doctor Harriet K. Hunt was considered an anomaly; but this feeling is wearing rapidly away, upon the principle, we suppose, that "if is nothing when one is used to it." It was no longer ago than Saturday last, Mrs. Emeline Horton, of Cleveland, O.; Miss Emily A. Varney, Vermont; Miss Samantha S. Nivision, N. Y.; Mrs. Phila O. Wilmarth, Mass.; Mrs. Eliza L. S. Thomas, Ohio; Miss Mary E. Smith, N. Y., had the degree of M. D. conferred upon them, by Prof. C. D. Cleveland of the Female Medical College of Philadelphia. During the winter there was an average of 40 students, many of whom attended merely to acquaint themselves with medical science. The institution is said to be in a flourishing condition, and much good has resulted from it. Some of the Graduates, it is stated, have become successful practitioners, and are in receipt of larger fees than can be obtained for any other kind of female labor or attention.

THE ATTEMPTED RESCUE.

The attempt on part of the negroes of our city to take from Mr. Boyd his slave, last week, has aroused no slight degree of indignation among our citizens. It was a lawless mob;—an attempt to kidnap a woman who was content to abide in the family where she had been raised and well treated. If the character of our city for good order, industry and obedience to the law is to be destroyed by a secret association of negroes, banded together to raise a mob every time a southern gentleman passes through our streets, it is time the people should know it, and decide whether they will submit to it.

Millions of dollars have been invested in our railroads and canals; and it is proposed to invest millions more in the improvement of the Ohio river. The aim of this outlay is to bring through our city and State a large share of the travel and trade of the South and West. These efforts to increase our prosperity will be useless if travellers are to be assailed by lawless mobs, and forced to fly from the city to escape personal violence, and prevent the kidnapping of what they hold as their property under the laws of their States. One such case of lawless violence would deter thousands from visiting this city. Shall our prosperity and reputation as a community be given over to the control of an irresponsible mob of negroes, who do little for the prosperity of the city themselves?

Mr. Boyd, we are informed, designed to remain some days in the city, and make some purchases of carriages and other goods. A household servant, well content with her position in his family, and desiring to remain there, is sought to be kidnapped, and forced against her will into that condition of precarious subsistence which is the fate of so many others of her race and color in this State. The law offered a peaceful means by which her title to liberty could have been tested, had she or her friends desired it. But a mob and force is preferred, because that would leave her no choice; and take her forcibly from a comfortable home and kind friends. Does any one believe her condition here would have been better, or half as good, as at her home in Kentucky? Is it not kidnapping in the worst sense to tear a female from her home and friends, and compel her to live among strangers and in poverty? Is such a mob law to be endured in our city under the specious pretence of a love of liberty? Yet white sympathizers can be found to applaud this outrage upon a peaceable traveler, and upon the good order and prosperity of our city. They are not numerous however. That such mobs injure the business and prosperity of the city, no one can doubt. To call this a venal view of the case is as absurd as it would be to call it venal to build a railroad or improve a river, in order to attract travel and trade this way. We are glad to find that the editor of the Gazette, notwithstanding his strong anti-slavery proclivities, takes a similar view of the matter. No good citizen can do otherwise. The character of our city should not be stained, nor its business injured by negro mobs. Its business has suffered severely enough from other causes within the last year, without adding the curse and disgrace of negro riots. We hope the next riot of the kind will be suppressed by the strong arm of the law; or be met with plenty of well charged revolvers in ready and resolute hands.

We are no friends of slavery. But to take a young female from a comfortable home and kind friends, and cast her among strangers and poverty and vice is no achievement of freedom. The Allegheny city case some months ago is not yet forgotten, and should not be. A colored woman in the care of white friends was on her way to freedom in a northern State. She was kidnapped by the negroes of Allegheny city, and taken from her friends and turned out to suffer among strangers, or find a precarious subsistence from charity. Slaveholders will not bring slaves to this city who desire to escape from their masters; and every forcible rescue in this city, will probably be against the will of the slave.

[illegible] of yesterday, denying that the attempt to kidnap in the case of Mr. Boyd was authorised by him. The Doctor is evidently delighted with the notoriety he is gaining by these riots. We take the liberty of ordering "tea and toast for Dr. Delaney, immediately."

NEW BOOKS.

THE HISTORY OF THE HEN FEVER. By George P. Burnham Philadelphia: T. B. Peterson, Bookseller and Publisher, 102 Chestnut street.

This is a copiously illustrated work, representing a period of which the author might say with a truth: "All of which I saw and part of which I was." The Tulipmania of the Dutch was extraordinary in its day and generation; but, unlike the Hen Fever, it was confined to one nation—Holland. So, too, were the ravages of "Morus Multicaulis" confined to a single people. On the contrary, the thirst to possess unequalled Cochin Chinas, Shanghas Pootras and Shanghais, pervaded all classes of Europe as well as this country. Mr. Burnham was one of the earliest victims of the epidemic. He was the Grand Master of the Hen Sellers and knows all about the business. His description of the Fever is very amusing, and should be read by every one who had been at all "predisposed to an attack."

THE CONSTITUTION. By W. Hickey.

We are indebted for a copy of this really valuable work to the politician, to Hon. Augustus Drum, of Westmoreland county. He has our unqualified thanks.

STATE ELECTIONS.—Yesterday was the day of the State election in New Hampshire. There are four candidates for Governor, viz: the Democratic, Know Nothing, Whig and Free Soil candidates. Three Congressmen are also to be elected, besides a legisture, which has the selection of two United States Senators.

The 13th of March is also, we believe, the day set apart for an election of members of legislature in Kansas. That legislature will decide the question of slavery in the territory. If it should declare in favor of legalizing "the peculiar institution," the effect of the voting in Kansas territory yesterday may be very powerful in the next Presidential canvas.

Virginia will not hold hers until May. She, too, will probably indicate which way the wind blows, in the South.

N. B.—It will be seen, by reference to the telegraphic column, that Sam has "gone in and won."

POOLE's death is still town talk. The body is lying in state, at his late residence, in Christopher street, and had been visited by hundreds during the day. An Association called the "Poole Society" has been formed, the object of which, is, first, to raise money, to build a monument to the memory of the deceased, and so-end, to carry out politically the "American principles" proclaimed on his "death-bed." That is the talk.—Letter from New York.

What next? We expect soon to hear of the formation of a Society to celebrate the Life and Virtues of Jack Shepherd, or to erect a monument to perpetuate the name of that illustrious highway gentlemen, Richard Turpin, Esq.

WHIGGERY IN KENTUCKY.—Most of the Whig papers in Kentucky are opposed to making any nominations this year, or even of calling a convention, in view of the fact that the party of Henry Clay is now in a "powerful minority." The Louisville Courier gives as a reason that, "it is a maxim of the law and of common sense, that no man is required to do a vain thing. Such a convention would be a vain thing." We are inclined to think it would be a vain thing" to look for a Whig anywhere next fall.

☞ We invite attention to the notice, in another column, of the removal of Mr. Kleber's music store, where we understand he intends opening with a handsome display. His many friends will be glad to find he has secured so central a location as that next door to Masonic Hall.

APPOINTMENT.—Governor Pollock has appointed Milton M'Clelland, Esq, of our city, one of his Aids, with the rank of Lieut. Col. We saw the commission, and it is all right. The appointment is a good one, and Mr. M'C. will be found ready to do his duty when the Governor needs his Aid, right gallantly.

THE ERIE TROUBLES.—Cleveland, Painesville and Ashtabula Railroad Company vs. the City of Erie: A motion was made by St. George T. Campbell, W. L. Hirst and W. M. Meredith, that the answer of the defendants having been filed, the complainants have leave to file a replication thereto, but that the demurrers therein, so much thereof as denies the right in law of the complainant to make the railroad and the connection with the Erie and North East Railroad Company, as in said bill is averred, be heard upon the third Monday of March, which motion was granted by the Court, and so ordered.

The Commonwealth vs. the Erie and North-East Railroad Company: The counsel for the railroad company submitted the following motion, to wit: "To extend the time of taking up the road at Harbor Creek until further order; the writ of assistance to continue in force; or that the Court order that the writ of assistance be extended to the new road as laid down under the decree of the Court." Mr. Griscom opposed the extension of the time, and the Court held the motion under advisement.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial]

Pittsburgh is illuminated weekly by the appearance of two papers of peculiar brilliancy and power, which are antipodes in sentiment, though both published by the same printing office; and they are known to the world as "The Chronicle" and "The Young American." The Young American is the Know Nothing organ, while the Chronicle is published with the approbation of the Catholic Bishop. What language can describe the astonishment and consternation of the readers of both papers, when, on Wednesday last, the leading article in each sheet was discovered to be a bitter attack upon itself? The foreman of the printing office had managed to make an "exchange" of "matter," and, at the same time, to perpetrate an awfully splendid joke.

TOO FREQUENTLY TRUE.—Doesticks thus sums up the objects of a charity fair: First—To give ladies an opportunity to show their new clothes, and to talk a multitude of unknown gentlemen, without any preliminary introduction. Second—To beg as much money as possible from the gentlemen aforesaid, under the pretty formality of bargain and sale, which sale includes the buyer, who is really the only article "sold" in the whole collection. Thirdly—To give some money to the ostentatiously poor, if there is any left after paying expenses, and the committee don't spend it in carriage hire.

Woods on Fire.

PHILADELPHIA, March 13.—New Orleans papers of Wednesday are received. Extensive fires are prevailing in the woods in Southern states, that tremendous fires are raging all around us, in and about Lexington. Houses, mills, fences, and a vast amount of property has been destroyed. By the last accounts the town itself was threatened with destruction.

On Charlotte road the woods for miles are on fire. Many saw mills and dwellings have been burnt. The railroad itself is burning and travel has been interrupted.

In Camden the Railroad, a number of houses and the telegraph poles have been consumed, thereby preventing communication with the north on the South Caro ina road. The woods on both sides of the track are burning. A car loaded with cotton was consumed near Gadsden yesterday, and it was feared that the track would also take fire. The woods are also burning on the Greenville road. There was a tremendous gale yesterday and all efforts to stay the flames were fruitless.

The Savannah papers also say that fires are raging extensively in the pine woods between that city and Macon. The Railroad was in great danger, and the Cotton trains had ceased running.

Marine Disasters.

BOSTON, March 13.—There were numerous disasters during the gale on Friday night at Cape Cod. Amongst them was the ship Hudson, from Savannah for Boston, which went ashore at Brewster's Flats with twelve feet water in her hold. Yesterday the vessel was pretty bad off. The schooner Hutokok, from Norfolk for Boston, went ashore near Race Point. All hands were drowned. The vessel and most of the cargo are a total loss.

☞ Piles, neglected, often prove fatal, lead to consumption; anoint the parts three times a day with DALLEY'S PAIN EXTRACTOR. If recession form in the rectum, the insert the "Pile syringe," filled with Extractor, and gradually discharge it as the syringe is withdrawn. It never fails to cure cases of any age or virulence, nor to give entire ease instantly to all, frequently curing by one application.

Piles are known by the heat, itching, and pain of the anus. Bleeding piles are caused, sometimes, by the falling of the whole bowels, which then press the intestinal canal tight against the back bones, and keeps the blood from returning up the vessels, similar to the blood being kept at the top of your finger when a string is tied tight around it; such is frequent, and for scrofulous humors and ulcers to form therein, then procure a perfect abdominal supporter, and wear a compress to the rectum, and continue to use the salve as above; also, rub it well over the loins and abdomen for some time, and the natural bells that support the bowels will be contracted and made strong, and your life will be cured. If properly applied every case will be cured. It never fails.
