Miscellaneous.

JACK RINK AND THE YANKEE.

Few communities are more strongly imbued with a passion for horse racing than the good people of Natchez, in New York, folks talk "so-er and engine;" in Paris, they talk opera; in Natchez, they believe in quadrupeds and nothing else. To own the fastest horse in Natchez, to enjoy the fee simple of an honor in comparison with which a member of Congress sinks into nothingness.

In October last, the "fall meeting" took place, and led to more than the usual quantity of excitement and brandy cock-tails. The last race of the last day was a sort of a "free fight," open to every horse that had never run a race; purse $500; entrance $25.

Among those who proposed to go in, was a Yankee pedlar, with a sorrel colt of rather promising proportions. He thus addressed one of the Judges:

"I say, captain, I should like to go in for that puss."

"What with?"

"That sorrel colt."

"Is he speedy?"

"I calculate he is, or I would not wish to risk a load of tin ware on the result."

"Do you know the terms?"

"Like a book—puss $500, and entrance fee $25—and there's the dimes."

Here Yankee drew out a last country wallet, and brought up two X's and a V. Among those who witnessed the operation was Jack Rink of the Belvue House. Jack say his customer, and immediately measured him for an entertainment. After the usual fuss and palaver, and horses were brought out, saddled and prepared for a single heat of two miles. There were eight competitors beside the Yankee. The latter was a smart sorrel colt, with a fine eye, and a lift of the leg that indicated speed and bottom.

"Bring up the horses," said the Judge.

The horses were brought up—the Yankee gathered up his stirrups. While doing this, Mr. Rink went to the rear of the sorrel colt and placed a chestnut burr under his tail.—The next moment the order to "go" was given, and away went nine horses of all possible ages and conditions. The Yankee's was ahead and kept there. "Fin Warp" was evidently pleased with the way things were working, and smiled a smile that seemed to say, "that pass will be mine, in less time than it would take a greased nigger to slide down a soaped liberty pole." For about ½ a mile he hadn't reckoned on that chestnut burr. The "irritant" that Jack Rink had administered not only increased the animal's velocity, but his ugliness. He not only ran like a deer, but he refused to do anything else. As the Yankee approached the Judge's stand, he undertook to pull up, but it was no go. He might as well have tried to stop a thunderbolt with a yard of fog. The Yankee reached the stand—the Yankee passed the stand—the Yankee went down the road—and finally, when last seen, the Yankee was passing through the "adjoining county" at a speed that made the people look at him as "that comet," that was to make its appearance in "the fall of 1854." When the sorrel colt "gin out" is impossible to say. All we know is, that the Yankee has never been heard of from that day to this, while his wagon load of tin ware still makes one of the leading attractions in the museum of Natchez.

A HENPECKED CARPET BAG.—Meanness occasionally meets with a check that is a lesson to all concerned, especially to the victim. On the cars, a day or two since, between Cleveland and Buffalo, was a stalwart man, going to New York to buy goods. He was not what might be called a stingy or a close man, but he was one, who, when there was a cent due him that swindling might deprive him of, would sacrifice a fifty dollar bill to save a copper. Our friend had started from Cleveland without any breakfast, and when Erie "hove" in sight, he gathered himself up for a general skirmish for any and all kinds of provisions. He had a carpet bag with him, and going into the dining-room at Erie, deposited his carpet bag on one chair, while he took another by its side. He was lost for about ten minutes—perfectly oblivious to any thing, save that he had a blessed consciousness of something rapidly and a greedily filling up his "inwards." About this time the landlord came around, and stopping by our friend's chair, ejaculated—

"Dollar, sir."

"A dollar!" responded the eating man—"a dollar! thought you only charged fifty cents a meal for one—eh?"

"That's true," said meanness, "but I count your carpet bag one, since it occupies a seat." (The table was far from being crowded.)

Our friend expostulated, but the landlord insisted and the dollar was reluctantly brought forth. The landlord passed on. After a while the victim deliberately arose and opening the wide mouth of his carpet bag, discoursed unto it, saving, "Carpet bag—it seems you're an individual—a human individual, since you eat—at least I've paid for you, and now you must eat"—upon which, he seized everything eatable within his reach, nuts, raisins, apples, cakes, pies, and amid the roars of the bystanders, the delight of his brother passengers, and discomfiture of the landlord, phlegmatically went and took his seat in the cars. He said he had provisions enough to last him to New York, after a bountiful supply had been served out in the cars. There was at least eight dollars' worth in the bag—upon which the landlord realized nothing in the way of profit. So much for meanness.

DOBBS IN THE LEGISLATURE.—Owing to a new phase in politics, Dobbs was selected to the Legislature. Though gratified, he was also a little intimidated by the honor, and for the thought that he was not necessarily obliged to speak, would have declined serving. As it was, he accepted. [illegible]

All things went on smoothly for a time.—Mr. Dobbs could vote on other people's motions though he couldn't make any himself—One unlucky day, however, the proceedings being rather dull, and Mr. Dobbs rather thirsty, he concluded to go down to Coverlt's and get a glass of lemonade. As he rose to leave the hall, he caught the Speaker's eye. The Speaker supposed he intended to address the House, accordingly announced in a loud voice—"Mr. Dobbs." Dobbs started as if he had been shot. The assembled wisdom of the State had their eyes fixed upon him. He pulled out his pocket handkerchief to wipe away the perspiration, and feeling it necessary to say something, blundered out—"second the motion." "There is no motion before the House," said the Speaker. "Then I—I—" The silence was breathless. "I—I—" Dobbs couldn't think of anything to say. But a bright idea came to him, and he finished the sentence—"I move we adjourn." The motion didn't go, but Dobbs did, and nothing more was seen of him for that day.

BACHELORS are not entirely lost to the refinement of sentiments, as will be seen by the following toasts, offered by one of the much abused fraternity, at a celebration; "Ladies—Sweetbriars in the garden of life."

WHEN MEN marry now-a-days, they got more wholesome than woman, and more coffee-bags than "tin."

YOUNG men should not loaf, chew, swear, plague the girls, steal hacks, nor "fret" old maids.

"PUNCH" says, "a secret warranted to keep in any climate, is a woman's age. Horrid Punch."

"TERRIBLE pressure in the money market," as the mouse said when a keg of specie rolled over him.

A VERY poor look out—a jail window.

MATCHES! MATCHES!!
JOHN DONNELLY, Manufacturer and Inventor of Sofy's Patent Sulphur Upright Wood Vesta Matches, No. 106 North Fourth Street, Philadelphia.
Matches having become an indispensable article in housekeeping, the subscriber offers a great saving of time and money to enable him to offer to the Public an article of unexceptionable Quality and Cheapness. The Inventor, knowing the danger apprehended on account of the flimsy manner in which Matches are generally packed in paper, has by the aid of now steam Machinery of his own invention, succeeded in getting up his Sofy's Patent Square Upright Wood Box; this box is far preferable in as much that it occupies no more room than the old round wood box, and contains at least Two Hundred more matches, which to shippers is considerable additional advantage; it is entirely new, and secure against moisture and spontaneous combustion, and dispels all danger of transportation by means of Railroad, Steamboat or any other mode of conveyance.
These matches are packed so that one grocer or more may be shipped to any parts of the world with perfect safety. They are the most desirable article for home consumption, and the Southern and Western markets that have ever been invented.
Jobbers and Shippers will do well to call and examine for themselves.
☞ Recommendations in BARNUM'S are superior to anything heretofore offered to the Public.

HERRING'S
Patent Champion Fire and Proof Safes,
With Hall's Patent Powder Proof Locks, which were awarded Six Silver Medals at the World's Fair London, 1851, and also at the World's Fair, New York, 1853 and 54. The subscribers are the sole manufacturers and proprietors in this State of the above unequalled Safes and Locks. The reputation of the genuine "Herring's Safes" is world wide, and for the last thirteen years the mercantile community have witnessed and borne testimony to their never failing fire proof qualities. More than 12,000 of these safes have been actually sold, and over five hundred have passed triumphantly through accidental fires. The public are assured that all Safes manufactured by the subscribers are not only guaranteed to be fully equal, but in many respects even superior to those which have been so severely tried by fire. You will forget their services in the burning of the "Tribune establishment" in New York, and at the Great Fire in Strawberry street, at the large fire last July, opposite the Girard House and still more recently in the fire at Fifth and Chestnut sts. in Philadelphia, in which these Safes came forth the acknowledged Champions, when many other securities failed. H. F. Hoover
Respectfully informs his customers of Pottsville, and the people generally of Schuylkill county, in want of Furniture, that they will find it greatly to their advantage to purchase at his Warehouse, where they will find a large stock of the most modern styles to select from. The subscriber begs to say that his facilities for manufacturing and buying his materials for cash, and having no Apprentices, but employing the best of workmen, enables him to offer great inducements to those in want of really good Furniture at low prices, as he much prefers the profitable revenue to the slow shilling." All goods bought at his Warerooms will be warranted, and if intended for the country will be packed with care and despatch.
