On Saturday last, some scoundrel, for the purpose of venting his malice upon the company, set fire to the bridge on the Steubenville and Indiana Railroad, near the village of Urichsville, by boring holes in the large timbers, filling them with turpentine, and setting the spirits on fire. The fire was under headway and the sides of the bridge in a blaze when the freight train came along at its usual speed. The engineer and firemen put the brakes down, and jumped, expecting to see the train and bridge all go down together, in common ruin, to the bottom of the creek. But the bridge, luckily, although enveloped in smoke and flames, proved competent to the burden, and the train passed over in safety to the "other side of Stillwater," where, the brakes being down, it soon stopped. The fire was speedily put out, and the bridge saved, though in a slightly damaged condition.

A monument is to be erected to the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth—cost from $300,000 to $400,000. It will be built of granite, one hundred and fifty-three feet high, eighty feet at the base, with sitting figures from thirty-eight to seventy feet high. It is to be completed in twelve years from August, 1858. Thirty-six thousand dollars have been subscribed, principally in Massachusetts. The society for building the monument have purchased all the estates immediately around the veritable rock, and also a site for the monument, embracing ten acres of land, commanding a fine view of the harbor, and the locality of the rock.

On Monday of last week, Mr. Michael Schriver, an aged and venerated citizen of York, Pa., died very suddenly of disease of the heart, while sitting in his chair. The deceased was well known throughout the county, and highly esteemed for his social qualities, and his warm and devoted friendship. He was one of the three survivors of the volunteers from this county in the "whiskey insurrection."

John R. Cribbs killed his father while drunk two years ago, in Gibson county, Tenn. Ever since he has been wandering about like Cain, seeking rest and finding none, and gave himself up to the law a week ago. He is but 19 years old.

Miss Emma, daughter of Mr. Hugh Evans, was frightened to death in Thirty-fourth street, New York, on Sunday evening by a servant girl unexpectedly crying out "Hallo!" while she was in the dark, and her father was walking behind her.

At Mercerville, Va., on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, last week, a man named Jacob Barks drank a quart of whiskey, and laid down in the public road, where he died in the course of a half hour.

The bleaching establishment connected with the cotton factory of Messrs. B. D. Wood & Co., of Millville, was totally destroyed by fire on Thursday evening. The loss will probably exceed $10,000.

The large blacksmith shop, attached to the extensive works of Billmeyer & Small, near the railroad depot, at York, Pa., was burned to the ground last week.

CITY ITEMS.

THE LATE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.—We have just received a very neatly printed pamphlet copy of the proceedings of the Seventy-fourth Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Pennsylvania, held in St. Luke's Church, commencing Tuesday, May 25, and ending Friday, May 28, 1858. The pamphlet, which is really gotten up in superior style, contains 207 printed pages, and was executed at the establishment of Mr. J. S. McCalla, No. 237 Dock street. The contents are said to be a faithful transcript of the deliberations of that honorable body, and as such are worthy of a place on the book shelves of every one interested in the doings of that numerous congregation of Christians, as a convenient means of future reference. The readers of The Press have already been furnished with a full synopsis of these proceedings as they transpired, and which, as the public is aware, resulted in the excellent selection of the Rev. Samuel Bowman, D. D., of Lancaster, Pa., for the important office of Assistant Bishop of the Diocese of Pennsylvania. The several reports of the Clergy, amounting to over a hundred in all, are in themselves a valuable historic record of the doings of this branch of the Church in every part of the diocese.

MESSRS. WM. JOHNS & SON.—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the old established Shoe-Finding house of Messrs. Wm. Johns & Son, northeast corner of Fourth & Arch streets, is now prepared to meet the wants of the trade. The well-sustained reputation of this mercantile house—both for the extent of their resources, and their honorable mode of doing business—renders it one of the most inviting to the patronage of country merchants of any in this city or elsewhere.

A CERTAIN PREVENTIVE OF BALDNESS.—A certain promoter of the growth of the hair; a certain beautifier of the hair, rendering it soft, glossy, and inclined to curl. Jules Hauel's Eau Athenienne, or Hair Restorer, should be universally used. It has no equal. It is not a dye. It will not change gray hair and whiskers to their original life color. Sold by all druggists, and by Jules Hauel & Co., 704 Chestnut st. jy26-d6tw1t

HABITS.—Like flakes of snow that fall unperceived upon the earth, the seemingly unimportant events of life succeed one another. As the snow gathers together, so are our habits formed; no single flake that is added to the pile produces a sensible change; no single action creates, however it may exhibit a man's character; at the same time all men should wear the beautiful Summer habits of the style of Charles Stokes, No. 607 Chestnut street.

HOW TO DO IT.—The surest way to fill a private apartment, whether a printing office, a boiler manufactory, or a sausage shop, is simply to place over the door a placard bearing the inscription "No admittance." No person over read that prohibition over an entrance, without instantly being attacked by an ungovernable desire to rush right in. No such device is used, however, to cause the "rush" to E. H. Eldridge's Old Franklin Hall Clothing Emporium, No. 321 Chestnut street.

A MUDDLE.—A correspondent who had evidently been looking at somebody drinking, sends us the following: "This morning, about 4 P. M., a man with a heel in the hole of his stocking, committed arsenic by swallowing a dose of suicide. The verdict of the inquest returned a jury that the deceased came to the facts in accordance with his death. He leaves a child and six small wives to lament the end of his untimely loss." How much more sensible for the writer to have simply written "the handsomest and best garments made in the city are those sold at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth.

BATHING ROBES.—For the last few days the mercury has been gradually rising, and, by consequence, the stock of bathing robes at the house of John P. Sloan, No 806 Market street, has been gradually falling. Cause: People are leaving town for the seashore, and no one thinks of going there without being provided with one of Sloan's inimitable suits.

SUGAR PLUMS, and every other article in the way of fine confectionery, may be obtained in greater variety and richer flavor at the store of Messrs. E. G. Whitman & Co, Second street, below Chestnut, than at any other establishment. So say those who have tried all others.
