HIGHLY IMPORTANT FROM UTAH.

The Return of the Peace Commissioners—The Peace Fallacious.

A correspondent of the New York Times, writing from Great Salt Lake City under date of July 16, communicates the following important information:

The Peace Commissioners left here quite suddenly on Sunday last, on their return to Washington. They had been much annoyed prior to their departure by fiving rumors, industriously circulated by leading Mormons, to the effect that they had agreed to conditions of peace which had been violated by the army.

Governor Powell had been waiting two or three weeks for the report of his speeches in the conferences with the church leaders. When he obtained it at last, a week ago, he found it so badly mutilated as to be quite beyond recognition—whole paragraphs ascribed to him which he had never uttered, and many things which he did say were lost altogether. By a strange fatuity, Mr. Carrington, editor of the Deseret News, who had charge of the reporting, had only a day or two before quite publicly intimated his expectation that Gov Powell would leave out of his speech, in revising it, his expressions pledging the Government to certain conditions of peace. Upon looking over the report he refused to attempt its revision, but republished it altogether, determined not to leave matters here in such shape that disagreeable "fire in the rear" might be successfully directed against him.

Governor Powell addressed a note to Brigham desiring an interview. This he sent by the hands of Major Clarkson, of California, with the request that he would deliver it in person. The Major proceeded to Brigham's palace, stated that he had a note for him, and after waiting some time for the return of the servant who carried in his name, was requested to send the note in. The Major replied that he was no lacquey, and that he desired to deliver the note in person. Upon the return of the servant a second time, he was requested to go around to the back gate, and replied that gentlemen were in the habit of entering at the front door, and he saw no reason why he should depart from the rule.

He succeeded at last in obtaining an interview, and arranging for a meeting between Brigham and the Commissioners, at which the parties drew up a paper, all joining in its signature—Brigham included. This paper, I am informed, sets forth, in brief, the chief facts in connection with the peace conference, stating them almost in the precise language of the report which the Commissioners had already made to the President. This, of course, effectually sets at rest the story that the Commissioners had agreed to conditions of peace, other than the acceptance by the rebels of the President's pardon, and their agreement to receive the Federal officials and yield obedience to the laws of the Union.

As a fair example of the truthfulness of the leaders in the Mormon church, let me say that only the evening before one of the most intelligent and respectable of them came to me in the presence of a witness, boldly declared a state of facts directly the reverse of that set forth in the document above alluded to, requested me to adopt his statement in my correspondence, and make it the basis of an attack upon the Commissioners. I then suggested that he might be in error, but he assured me that he had the evidence in the handwriting of Governor Powell himself, but of course he was not at liberty to show me the correspondence.

The commissioners presented a dignified silence while here in regard to their own impression of the people; but if I am skilled in observing the teachings of an emotional race, they both left this city with sentiments of profound disgust. I predict that in their personal interviews with the President, they will assure him that the present peace is fallacious, and that this community is not likely ever to make good civil safe citizens of the United States. They know full well that the people have a higher regard for the law of the church than that of the Union, and that all their protestations of love for the Constitution are idle whenever Brigham's edict stands in the way. They could not investigate specifically the many changes said to the door of this people; but I do not doubt that if they are induced to express themselves at all upon the subject, they will admit their belief that they are capable of the Jesuitical system of crime, long laid to their charge. It will be remembered, however, that I speak not by authority, but express only my own convictions as to the views of the Commissioners.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The Kirkpatrick Poisoning Case.

VERDICT OF THE JURY.

[Reported for The Press.]

QUARTER SESSIONS—Judge Allison.—The jury in the above case came into court yesterday morning, and upon the usual question being put to them, if they had agreed upon a verdict, the foreman answered they had, and handed in the following verdict: We find Robert B. Kirkpatrick and Sarah Kirkpatrick guilty on the twelfth and thirteenth counts of the indictment, which charged assault and battery with intent to kill, and not guilty on all the others; and we find Josiah Jones and Elizabeth Yardley, not guilty on all the counts of the indictment. This verdict, although carefully justified by the evidence, caused very considerable surprise to the defendants' counsel, the defendants themselves, and their friends, who had calculated, with apparent reason, on the jury not agreeing, from their statement on Saturday last. But for the determination displayed by Judge Allison on that occasion, we might have had the public time taken up by the trial of this case again. The legal effect of the above verdict is the same as if the defendants had been found guilty on all the counts of the indictment. There was a motion made, on the rendition of the verdict, by Mr. Brewster, for time to prepare reasons for a new trial, and to allow the prisoners to depart upon bail, both of which were granted by the court. The termination of this case upon any terms has given universal satisfaction, and we have heard bystanders of the jurors have expressed their determination to avoid, by all possible means, being empanelled as jurors, for the rest of their natural lives.

QUARTER SESSIONS—Judge Ludlow.—John Johnson was convicted of larceny. Sentence deferred.

Jacob Edwards was tried on the charge of burglary, in entering the dwelling of Mrs. Reed in the night time. Verdict guilty.

Felix Daily was tried on the charge of assaulting a man with intent to kill, by stabbing him in the back.

Edward Rouke and John Lynch were put on their trial on the charge of assaulting a man with intent to steal. Rouke made an attack upon the man and Lynch stood by looking on. Under instruction of the District Attorney, the jury rendered a verdict of guilty as to Rouke, and of not guilty as to Lynch.

John Edwards was tried on the charge of robbery, in stealing a watch, in connection with Robert Orr. The prosecutor was on Broad street near the Baltimore depot, at 11 o'clock at night, when the defendant made an attack upon him, taking his watch by force. Verdict guilty.

John Schand, a German, was tried on the charge of arson, in setting fire to a house at Third and Poplar streets. Acquitted.

CITY ITEMS.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT.—At this season, more than any other, it is of the utmost importance to keep the pores in an active condition, as the arrest of their functions now, for even a short period, is liable to produce serious consequences. The grand secret to be observed for the preservation of this essential health element, is found in regular and judiciously taken ablutions; though at this particular season the salt water bath is vastly preferable to fresh. Conscious of this, hundreds are now daily making their way to the seashore; four-fifths of whom go prepared with one of John P. Sloan's cel-brated bathing suits purchased at his store, No. 800 Market street, the other one-fifth preferring to patronize this gentleman on their arrival at either Cape Island or Atlantic City.

"DECIDEDLY RICH."—This expresses the common opinion respecting the fine confectioneries manufactured and sold by Mr. Stephen F. Whitman, No. 1210 Market street, entertained by all who have tried them. Whitman's sugar plums, burnt almonds, and luscious lozenges, are not only familiar as household words, but their tongue affinity has in most cases induced a still more intimate acquaintance. We confess never to have enjoyed any confectionery equal to that produced at this well known establishment.

THE COST OF SENDING MESSAGES.—We are frequently asked what the cost will be of sending a message to England by the submarine telegraph. We have inquired, and we learn that it will cost just twenty-seven dollars to send to London the following despatch: "The best clothing in the Union is made at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth, Philadelphia." This price may seem high, but it is really very cheap, when the value of the information is taken into consideration.

THE QUESTION SETTLED! A uniform guage triumphant! peace is once more restored, and men breathe deeper and freer, as they wend their way from all sections of the city to the "Old Franklin Hall Clothing Emporium" of R. H. Eldridge, No. 324 Chestnut street. His vast stock of ready-made Summer Clothing is being sold at wonderfully low prices to make room for fall and winter goods. Call for bargains!

COMMISSIONER REED—CHINA.—By advice from Hong Kong we learn that Ching Wan, the brother of the sun, half brother of the moon, and first cousin to the stars, has determined to take the Hon. W. B. Reed's advice and wear, in future, only the graceful and becoming summer styles of Granville Sickes, the great American fashioner, No. 607 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA CATTLE MARKET, Aug. 9, 1858—The offerings of Beef Cattle were very large this week; in all, about 2,300 head, including 800 at the upper yard. The market ruled dull, owing to the large number on sale, and prices fell off fully 50c from the quotations of last week. The bulk of the sales were at $3@3 50 the net 100 lbs. The following are the particulars of the sales at Wardell's Avenue Drove Yard:

43 J. Kahn, Ohio	$3 00 a 3 50
153 C Murphy, Virginia	3 00 a 3 00
235 Alexander & Co	3 00 a 3 00

53 Mooney & Baker, Fayette co	3 00 a 3 75
40 R. McCurdy, Ohio	3 00 a 3 75
40 Isaac Abrahams, Ohio	3 00 a 3 00
33 King & Huffner, Indiana, inferior	3 00 a 3 60

About 7,400 sheep were offered at this yard, and all sold at $2 4 each, equal to 5@6 dressed; the market was brisk.

Some 220 Cows and Calves were at market, selling as follows: Extra fresh at $30 to $40; middling quality, $20 to $30; dry cows, $15 to $25.

Of Hogs, 10 arrivals at Phillips's yard were 1,095 head during the week, most of which were sold at $6 50@$7 the 100 lbs net.
