FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

The Money Market.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1859.

The demand for money continues to be fully met, and the first class paper that the banks do not absorb meets with a ready sale at seven to seven and a half per cent. There is less difficulty in disposing of second-class paper than there has been for some weeks, and the general tendency of the market appears to be toward a state of still greater ease.

The better classes of securities maintain their prices at the stock board, but the market is weak and inactive, and the transactions small in amount and unimportant.

Trade in most departments is at a stand. People are removing with their families to summer quarters, where they will leave off the cares of business as far as possible, until the recommencement of the fall trade in August.

The advices from the English money market are interesting as showing two things—first, that though gold will continue to go forward from this country to England in payment of our debts, it is not likely that the extraordinary demand for it for hoarding that we have just witnessed will be continued. The Bank of England has reduced its rate for money to three per cent. It had received a remittance of three-quarters of a million of dollars from St. Petersburg, and exchange was in favor of London with many of the cities of the Continent. The London Times of the 10th contains this style of case by its statement about the joint-stock banks. It says:

"The Union Bank and the Commercial have to day adopted a uniform rate of two per cent. for their allowance on deposits. The other joint stock banks continue to give two per cent. on all amounts without exception, save in the case of the London and Westminster, where the rate for sums under £500 is 1¼. The National Discount Company have reduced their interest to 1¾ per cent on money at call, and two with seven days' notice. The other discount establishments have abstained from notifying any alteration."

The second lesson learned from the financial news from England relates to the feeling of the people about the war and the combatants. There is evidently a want of confidence in the Emperor Napoleon, a lack of faith in his honesty, which engenders a fear that he will bring on a general European war that England will be forced to take part in, though her people are unanimously opposed to anything but strict neutrality and peace. This anxiety on this point has led many to mistake their sentiment for one of hostility to the objects of the war and a sympathy for Austria, which was the more likely to be the case from their commercial alliances with Prussia. But when the French Emperor took occasion to assure the Queen that he would not violate his pledges in regard to the extent of his undertakings, they began to feel better in England. As he has gone on in the campaign, showing steady good faith, wisdom, and bravery, they have had a revisiting of the kindly feelings they had when he was "our ally" in the Crimea; and when he wins his first great battle, they show where the real sympathy of the great British heart is in the contest by reducing the rate of discount and putting up consols. The financial barometer is your real test among "the nation of shopkeepers," and it shows now that the memory of Inkman is still green in England.

The Buffalo papers state that the banks in that city have been extensively victimized by the $100 counterfeits on the Brighton Bank. The Buffalo City Bank received $700, the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank $600, and the Marine Bank $2 200. Besides this, $700 in these notes were left to pay a note falling due at the Niagara River Bank, now removed to Lockport.

It is stated that the subscription at Berlin for the new Prussian five per cent. loan of the 4,500,000 at 96 is likely to be soon filled, the applications for small amounts being very numerous.

The farmers in Western Pennsylvania were in too great a hurry cutting down the wheat they thought to be ruined by the severe frosts. It is fast becoming the opinion of intelligent farmers through the country, that the cold did far more service in the destruction of the insect enemies of the wheat than to the great cereal itself. The Pittsburg Gazette says:

"We learn that the wheat fields in Ohio were not cut down, even those that were supposed to be ruined, present an improved appearance, and hopes are enter-tained that they may yet produce something. We also hear that a meeting of farmers took place at West Newton, on Saturday, and that, on comparing notes, it was found that there would be a much better yield of wheat in Lignelter valley than was at first anticipated. Altogether, the improved appearance of things has served to quiet the fears at first excited, although the local injury will, at best, be very severe. Many of the farmers who bought flour to wintry are now hardly to well satisfied as they expected to be."

The Cincinnati Gazette says:

"The Clermont farmers were quite as much concerned for the safety of the wheat and corn, after the frost of the 5th, as those of other sections from which discouraging reports were received at first; but they are now well satisfied with the prospects, with the exception of the fly in the wheat and hay. So far as regards wheat and corn, leaving out Northeastern Ohio, the prospects in Clermont, judging from reports received within the last few days, are a fair indication of the condition of the crops of the Middle Western States. With, in all probability, a smaller acreage, the crop of corn in Ohio and Indiana will be the largest ever grown; and in the aggregate, wheat will be a full average, if not a heavy yield in some places, with the increased breadth of land occupied, generally making up for the deficiency in the sections where the frost did most injury."

The operations of the United States Branch Mint, in San Francisco, from 1st to 21st May, inclusive, were as follows:

Deposits—Gold bullion, after melting, ozs.	$116 230 77
Coinage—Gold, double eagles	1,060,000 00
" Silver dollars	100 00
" " half dollars	10,000 00
" " quarters	20,000 00
Total coinage	$1,160,000 00

The importations of treasure into California, thus far in the 4th, exclusive of parcels received from British Columbia, have been as follows:

From Mazatlan	$49 128 00
San Blas	569 312 00
Manzanillo	16 000 00
Honolulu	1,000 00
Total	$635 036 28

The exports of treasure from San Francisco since the close of April have amounted to $4 757,199 99
Exported previously, 1859 14 109,651 00
Total January 1 to May 27 $18 866,850 99
Same period in 1858 19,614,311 00
Excess in favor of last year $147,559 01

The semi-monthly shipment of gold from California now on the way to New York amounts to $2,643,000.

Three dollar bills, purporting to be on the People's Bank of Roxbury, Mass., and altered from the exploded Wambesk Bank, of Minnesota, are in circulation in New York.

According to a statement in the Tallahassee Sentinel, within three years nearly two hundred miles of first-class railroads have been built within the limits of Florida, and are now in operation—besides two hundred miles more ready for the superstructure—and, considering the wonderfully small amount of cash capital expended, and the cheap rates at which this work has been done, such results are unprecedented. It may well be remarked of the progress made on public works, to the east of Tallahassee, that it is unparalleled.

In West Florida, too, something has been done. Beginning at Pensacola, they have a road actually graded, all the way, forty-five miles, up to the State line, the cross ties supplied, thirteen miles of their track laid, and the locomotive with the iron train proceeding out from Pensacola, daily, and the track steadily advancing in the direction of Montgomery; while, at the same time, with more than fifty miles out from Montgomery in operation, in Alabama, they are progressing rapidly towards Pensacola; and it seems to be confidently expected that the train will pass through within the coming year. But the road from Selma, in Alabama, is to form a connection within the time, and in less than two years these roads will be delivering upon the wharves at Pensacola, and to the warehouses, the marbles and the metals, and, most important of all, unlimited quantities of the very best of coal from inexhaustible beds in Alabama.

The manufacturing corporations of Massachusetts have been quite prosperous during the last year. As many of our readers are directly and indirectly interested in these institutions, we copy from the Boston Commercial Bulletin, the following statement representing their success:

"All their paid dividends in January will pay in July, and, in many instances, larger than at the former date. We learn of the following that have already been declared: Amoskeag, ⅞ per cent, payable 1 July—last dividend 8 per cent; Appleton, 4 per cent, payable in June, same as in December, 1858; Atlantic, payable in June, 4 per cent, same as the December, 1858; Cocheco, $31 per share, payable in July, dividend in January, $26 per share; Lowell, $40 per share, payable in July, dividend in January, $30 per share; the Manchester Print Works declared a dividend, 3 per cent in January of last year, and their earnings for the past six months are $180,000, equal to 7 per cent on the capital, but they will probably not declare over 5 per cent for the July dividend; Massachusetts, 4 per cent, same as in January.

"Among those of the principal corporations that do not declare dividends are the Pacific, Middlesex, and Bay State woollens. Of these, the Pacific, which is the largest, has been remarkably successful—showing net earnings for the past six months of $170 000, and for the previous six months, we believe, $130 000. These earnings are carried to the reserve funds.

"The Middlesex Company has made about $70 000 during the past six months, and, in view of the new issue of stock authorized by the Legislature has been most patient by the old shareholders. The affairs of this corporation are in a healthy financial condition, and its prospects never were better than they are at the present time.

"The Bay State Mills affair are in a satisfactory condition. The receivers have rendered to the Supreme Court their final account, and all persons are called upon to show cause, if any they have, on the 11th of July next, why the account should not be allowed. The report states that the whole amount received by said receivers is $2 055 456 73, and the amount of allowance prayed for is $288 586 38, leaving in the hands of the receivers $1,766,870 35."

Philadelphia Markets.

FRIDAY, June 23—Evening.

The weather previously noticed in the market for breadstuffs still continues. There is very little demand for flour, either for shipment or home consumption. Sales of Pennsylvania and Ohio family at $6 75@7 for extra and $7 for extra family. The only sale made public is 500 bbls Brandywine at $7 ⅜ bbl. The receipts have fallen off rapidly, but the market is dull. Rye flour is offered at $4 50, and Pennsylvania Corn Meal $4 ⅜ bbl. Wheat—The market is poorly supplied, and buyers are holding off; about 1,600 bus have been sold in small lots at $1 70@1 75 for good and prime red, and $1 77 to $1 81 for fair white. Rye is unsettled; sales of Pennsylvania are reported at 63@65c, closing at the former rate, which is a decline. Corn is also lower, and about 7,000 bus Delaware and Pennsylvania sold at 55c, afloat. Oats are steady; sales of 3,000 bus at 47c for Delaware, and 50c for Pennsylvania. Buckwheat is less inquired for. The last sale was made at $1 ⅜ bus. Bark is unchanged. 1st No. 1 Quercitron is firm at $28 ⅜ ton. Cotton is very quiet to-day, and a few small lots only have been taken at about previous rates. Groceries—Very little doing in the way of sales, and the market generally is dull. Provisions—There is a small jobbing demand for most kinds, without change in quotations. Seeds remain quiet. Prime clover is quoted at $5 50@5 75, and Timothy at $2 75@3 ⅜ bus, and but little offering or selling. Whiskey is in better demand, Pennsylvania bbls selling at 27c; Ohio and prison do 28c; drudge 26c, and hhds 26½c.

CITY ITEMS.

VALUE OF DIAMONDS.—In a paper read to the London Society of Arts, it was stated that diamonds are generally weighed by the carat, which is equivalent to four grains. A diamond of—

1 carat is worth	$40	10 carat is worth	$1,600
2 " "	160	20 " "	16,000
3 " "	360	30 " "	36,000
4 " "	640	40 " "	100,000
5 " "	1,000	100 " "	400,000

A perfect gem of a suit of clothes can be purchased at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth, for less than a one-carat diamond costs.

FIRE-WORKS FOR PRIVATE DISPLAY.—Now that the "Glorious Fourth" is coming apace, the knowledge where to find the most complete assortment of all sorts of patriotic combustibles will be important to our readers, and we therefore direct their attention to the splendid stock now offered by Mr. Stephen F. Whitman, No. 1910 Market street. He has everything in the way of handsome fire-works, suitable for private display, that has ever been invented.

INDIAN RELICS IN INDEPENDENCE SQUARE.—As some workmen were engaged in removing the stump of an old tree in the State House yard a day or two since, they found several old specimens of earthenware and a tomahawk, in the eye of which was a piece of rotten wood, a part of its former handle. The most astonishing part of the whole transaction is, that near these aboriginal relics was a piece of wampum, on which was inscribed in cabalistic characters, "buy your clothes of Granville Stokes, No. 607 Chestnut street."

THE NEW YORK WAVERLEY for the present week is freighted with entertaining and instructive reading matter. It also contains the sermons of the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, which are alone worth the price of a year's subscription.

You may at all times rely upon obtaining the very best of Paragon Umbrellas, Sun-shades, or Parasols, by visiting Mr. W. H. Richardson, 418 Market street.

Plain Dealing is a Jewel, but where can it be found? Where can the most honest goods be obtained? Where can I buy where there is no deception? Answers—Where the articles are sold at the price first asked! Where there is no fictitious value placed on goods, expecting the customer to beat down in price, and where they are honestly gotten up, and honestly sold. Where no misstatement, subterfuge, or trickery is resorted to. To be thus honestly dealt with, go to the great ONE-PRICE WHITE HALL CLOTHING EMPORIUM, S. W. corner FOURTH and MARKET Sts., where the lowest selling price is marked in plain figures on each garment. Not one price and that a high price, but ONE PRICE AND THAT A LOW PRICE. The garments are marked and sold at the lowest living profit. Our business is a large one; we can afford to sell low. (Many a little makes a muckle.) Our clothing is manufactured from sound, well-prepared materials, well made, well trimmed, and well cut; and are warranted to give entire satisfaction in goods, fit, style, price, and wear. Our aim is to sell not only once to a customer, but always. Our interest is to have them stick to us

New Publications.

PLUTARCH'S LIVES.

THIS DAY PUBLISHED, BY

LITTLE, BROWN, & CO.,

112 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON.

A NEW AND ELEGANT EDITION OF

PLUTARCH'S LIVES,

The Translation called Dryden's, corrected from the Greek, and Revised, with a new Life of Plutarch.

BY A. H. CLOUGH,

Late Professor of the English Language and Literature at University College, London.

In five volumes 8vo.

HANDSOMELY PRINTED IN LARGE TYPE.

Price.....$10.

A good edition of this ancient classic has long been wanted. This edition has been five years in preparation, and the editor has spared no labor and research to make it complete and reliable, by carefully correcting Dryden's Translation from the original Greek, making new translations when necessary, and in various other ways improving the text which has hitherto been in use; and it is hoped that it will be found to satisfy the wants of those who desire to possess the best edition of this standard work. je25-fm&w3t if
