GENERAL NEWS.

Explosion at Albany, N. Y.—In addition to the news of the explosion of the hog factory at Albany, we learn that the house of Mr. Francis Boyd, adjoining the factory, was blown down and crushed some two or three stories down into the cellar. The house of Mr. Boyd, the former, was also blown down and crushed down and trampled upon by the explosion, causing a loss to the flight-hands, her house, wagon and barn, by injury and removal, of about $1,000. The part of the house occupied by Mr. Boyd was not injured. The house was owned in her own right by Mrs. Boyd, who was married in her residence, No. 63 Britton street, where she resided some years after the close. Her daughter is in the Lunatic Asylum at Utica. The house in question was the residence of the children and family of the former, who died a few years since. All the remaining part of her head was burnt off, and her neck, face and shoulders were severely scorched. She resided at No. 13 Britton street, where she was taken to after the fire, and died about two days after. Donnelly and his right arm dislocated. A young lady living in River street near Aequith, had her nose broken and her face otherwise injured by falling and being trampled on by the excited crowd.—Baltimore Clipper, July 6.

At Saugerties, Mass., the morning, a salute was fired in honor of the great event, when, as Thomas Seaman, a carpenter, having a family, and a young man named Cutting, were ramming a charge, the stick was left vent removed his thumb, which joined a premature discharge. Seaman was blown into the air and fell 30 rods, and was quite a pile of stones. His abdomen was literally mutilated, one of his thighs broken, one side of his face shattered to such an extent as to render amputation necessary. Cutting escaped with only the loss of his thumb.

Prince Poniatowski, of the royal house of Poland, died in Paris on the 1st ult. He was the last of the male descendants of the first family of ancient Poland, and members of his family have been in the highest consideration in the imperial family at Russia, on account of services of all kinds rendered to the Protestant religion, for more than one hundred years. Prince Poniatowski was an honored guest, who had taken refuge in France, where he managed to escape, and has finally come to this country to become a citizen of the Great Republic of the West.

On the 3d instant, in Boston, Conn., a man was found suspended by a rope from a small tree near the public highway, in a decayed state. An inquest was held, and determined that it was a case of suicide, trading further investigation to an identity of the person, as being a boy German, who had applied for something to eat among the villagers on the 27th inst. He was buried near the spot where found.

The medal of Sir B. was conferred, at George's Hospital, on Wednesday, July 6th, on Sergeant Marshall, of Maryland; Robert Lowe, of Virginia; Thomas Hewell, District of Columbia; James F. Neale, Maryland; James O. Martin, Louisiana; John B. Gardiner, Maryland; Frances X. Ward, Maryland; Clement B. Lancaster, Pennsylvania; and Peter S. Brand, Louisiana.

A most accident occurred at Bellefont, Ch., on the day, P. M. Crane, a boy leading a team, neglected to cast out, which caused the premature discharge of the piece, mutilating both hands badly. The ram-rod one and a quarter inches in diameter, passed through the palm of the right hand, and grazed the right temple. Drs Newton and Hall are in attendance, rendering the accident as relieved as possible.

An eyewitness, gentleman from the country, informed us last Wednesday, that the property of Fred. Stops were never better. There is only one obstacle that can prevent the crop in this county from being the best ever made in a long time, and that is the weather. Everything looks promising for the farmer. The weather, on Monday last, was somewhat cooler than on previous days.—Centreville (Md.) Enquirer.

An enterprising Scotchman has trained a couple of mice to turn a small reel for twisting twine. The mice run about ten miles a day, and have consumed hundred of ton hundred and twenty-five pounds of twine. Half-a-dozen of the twine, five weeks, and the clear annual profit for each animal, per year, is computed at all shillings. The beats the industrious bee.

The Reveille (Ala.) county Journal says the rise in the price of strawberries have been not to market from that county this season, at the rate of twenty dollars, which gives $300,000 as the valuable product from the county, of which, $60,000 has been paid to pickers. The yield has been so great that thousands of baskets have rotted on the vines.

Mr. Thomas Williams, of Salem, New York, finding that some bird or animal was making sad havoc with his poultry, set a trap a few nights ago for the purpose of detecting the marauder. On visiting the trap the following morning, he found the thief an owl of enormous proportions. The bird measured four feet nine inches from tip to tip of the wing.

On the 1st instant, the hog-pens attached to the distillery at George Coes, in Tiskilwah, fell with an immense crash, precipitating four thousand hogs into the Mississippi Valley, a distance of thirty feet, and drifting in the mud, at least $30,000 worth of stock. The loss will amount to several thousand dollars.

Trial of Rifled Cannon.—In accordance with an order issued by the Secretary of War, a board of officers will assemble at Fort Monroe, Virginia, on the 20th instant, or as soon thereafter as practicable, for the trial of such rifled cannon as may be presented by the Ordnance department.

Mr. Tiwold, who works for the Hartford Carpet Company, at Thompsonville, Connecticut, has a wife and six children left to the unfortunate train at South Bend, all, but one of whom were killed by the fearful accident.

A startling figure-cut, falling from Cincinnati, was dunked in a pond by the citizens of Stanford, Ky., a few days ago, for gross insults to young ladies, who happened to attend his gallery, accompanied by a gentleman.

The match game of base ball played at Pittsfield, Mass., between the students of Amherst and Williams Colleges, resulted in favor of the former by a score of 73 to 52.

Bronze Detecting Gun.—Some ingenious Yankee has invented a machine, to discover bronze, and it is said to succeed admirably, but to be inexpensive looking little engine.

Mr. Wm. Johnson, of Dallas, Ala., his overseer, one slave, and six mules, all died, while a dozen negroes were very sick together from settling recently from near Selma.

Arrival of the Overland Mail.—The overland mail from California has arrived with the Tennessee mules to the 15th of June. We give the principal items of interest.

Arrival of the Upper Steamer Europe.—The steamer Europe, Capt. Lecky, left Cairo on Saturday, June 25, and Paducah on Sunday morning, with her mail, passengers and freight, all complete, intending to return to Brookbridge, within twenty days with a cargo of lumber, she need in building the hotel at that place, and grain for the use of the Minnesota Stage Company. It is said that grain of all kinds can be purchased to better advantage at the 2nd River settlement than 50 transport it by wagon from St. Cloud.

For eight taken left St. Cloud during the past week, all with the exception of six teams, destined for the Red River country. The six teams were loaded for the neighborhood of Alexandria, in the Sauk Valley. The above does not include Colonel Mahler's expedition, which left on Monday last, 20th instant.

The crop of small grain in the Sauk Valley were never more promising than at the present moment, and the corn and potatoes, notwithstanding the recent cool weather, are growing rapidly. The good will be abundant from present indications, and there will still be the settlers in the upper Mississippi valley with a large surplus for exportation before St. Paul.—Pioneer, June 25.

A Treasure Discovered.—At the Tremont House, yesterday, a man named Solomon, Hank Harvey, whose home is at Hambolds, Lowe, Ky., was visited by a citizen of McLean county, Ky., who, with two others, returning from Iowa, had a personal talk of some leaving little note by the way, and with a suspicion, substantiated by the loss of both hands and feet, Harvey had lost the bore bulk of a hundred dollars in money, for safety, in a leather wallet, and, in crossing the prairie, the wallet was lost. It was thought the money was never recovered, and fearing the loss of the fortune would not be able to endure the journey, it was resolved he left that at a small town, and started home across the prairie. The money was found by a traveler, and he lost his way. The money was dried and returned to the owner.

Pass Land River.—William K. McFarlane, Esq., of Minnesota, left Pass Land River on Sunday last, and reached St. Cloud on Tuesday, accompanied by Mr. Cloud, superintendent of the Stage company. Items of intelligence from the Red River country. From him we learn that the Red River mail arrived at St. Cloud on Friday evening, 24th instant, bringing intelligence that the mail messenger had arrived at Pass Land River, with the welcome but not unexpected news that the steamer Freighter had been rifled totally out of the waters of the Minnesota River, and at the time of the messenger's departure, was still floating in the water of Lake Traverse, and, if not, in the past, and the freighter was hourly expected to arrive at the landing.

The steamer Anson Northrup left Fort Abercrombie on the 6th inst. for Pembina, with her machinery, sails and fixtures, all complete, intending to return to Brookbridge, within twenty days with a cargo of lumber, she need in building the hotel at that place, and grain for the use of the Minnesota Stage Company. It is said that grain of all kinds can be purchased to better advantage at the 2nd River settlement than 50 transport it by wagon from St. Cloud.

Those who have lived long in the West need not be told that a prairie storm on the prairie, is a fearful thing. Some years ago, a storm of unusual violence, and of more than ordinary duration, swept over the Illinois prairie, and, at the time of the messenger's departure, was still floating in the water of Lake Traverse, and, if not, in the past, and the freighter was hourly expected to arrive at the landing.
