The prospective railroad station is giving new impetus to business in Benezette, already preparations are making for several new buildings, an oil well, and a tannery are in contemplation. Benezette is a stale old town of slow growth, but there is yet some enterprise in her people, more especially among the young people as the frequency of matrimonial connections clearly indicates, and when the arrangement is made all obtacles are overcome and the programme is carried out at all hazzards, as was demonstrated on the 19th ult., at the office of A. It is firmly established as one of the leading weaklies of the Union, with the largest circulation of any paper in the West. Its success may in no slight degree be attributed to its method of distributing premiums which is permanent with this paper, being held annually. Its distribution last year gave general satisfaction. Their list of premiums is fine and secures to every subscriber for 1873 a premium either in cash or some one of the valuable articles mentioned in the list. We cheerfully recommend the paper. Their plan of distributing premiums is a notable part of their well conducted enterprise, and our readers need have no doubts as to their being fairly dealt with. The paper is a financial success.
