A Canine Funeral.

[For The Press.]

Since reading the paragraph headed "Canine Dentistry," I have been induced to send you the enclosed, which was cut from a Boston paper, a day or two ago. I should have pronounced it a hoax, had not my friend told me she was one of the many who had the curiosity to go and see it. The dog belonged to a Mrs. Coolidge, who has owned him fourteen years, and he had been to Washington six times with her. He was bitten three weeks ago by another dog, and his mistress had him in her chamber, and attended by three physicians, who were unable to restore him.

It is said that over five hundred persons went to see the dog in its coffin, and the next afternoon the lady, with her colored servant, took the coffin in a carriage to Mount Auburn, and, as soon as possible, a tombstone will be erected.

The above suggests canine undertakers, you no doubt will say. It certainly goes ahead of anything I have ever yet heard, and goes to prove that all the fools are not dead yet.

A CONSTANT READER.

A CANINE FUNERAL.—For a long time past a lady living at the western part of the city has owned a pet companion of the canine species, which has been carefully nursed, tended, watched, and beloved by its mistress with the utmost possible care and affection, and been made the recipient of every doggish comfort and luxury that love and strong regard could suggest. Notwithstanding all this, however, the unhappy pet, in an evil hour, encountered a vulgar and evil-disposed creature of its own species, and being rudely assaulted, was torn and injured to such an extent that he died of his wounds, and now his disconsolate and affectionate mistress has provided for his remains a handsome mahogany coffin, bound his head with a wreath of laurel, and to-day in solemn funeral procession will follow his body to Mount Auburn where it will be interred. Like every other dog, he has had his day.

The Cleveland Plaindealer talks plainly enough as follows:

"We learn by the Washington papers that the reply of Attorney General Black, or Bennett, to Judge Douglas is being sent through the mails from that city by the cart load; under the frank of that Cabinet officer. The law is explicit, and forbids any officer of the Government entitled to the frank from franking anything but what relates to the business of his office. A member of the Cabinet or head of a Bureau is required to place upon the envelope 'Official Business.' That, with the name of the officer, entitles it to a free pass through the post offices. The Attorney General, therefore, in sending of his manifesto against Judge Douglas, has to endorse them 'official business.' Is that the very conscientious old fogy of a postmaster at Washington permits them all to pass, notwithstanding he very well knows that the endorsement upon the package is an infamous fraud, and contains not a word of 'official business.'"

A STEAM FIRE ENGINE FOR LANCASTER.—We understand that the Empire Hook and Ladder Company, at the solicitation of some of our leading citizens, have been induced to renew their efforts to raise the means to purchase a steam fire engine similar to the "Hope," of Philadelphia. We are informed that several gentlemen are willing to give $100 each, and with a few contributors of that kind the necessary amount could soon be raised. We trust the movement will be successful. Let, then, the introduction of steam fire engines, here and elsewhere, is only a question of time. Their superior efficiency is so apparent, that there can be no two opinions on the subject. We therefore wish the "Empire" success in their undertaking.—Lancaster Express.

CHALLENGE TO THE WORLD.—We were waited upon yesterday afternoon by Mr. Wm. Harding of this city, who desires us to make public a challenge which is only equal in its liberality by its oddity. The proposition of Mr. Harding is to back Benjamin Smith—also a resident of Cincinnati—aged eighty years, to run a foot-race with any man in the world of a similar age, for one hundred yards, for the sum of $5,000. The person upon whom Mr. Harding is anxious to risk his money is well known here, and of a class of people "remarkably young for their age"—in these days of fast living and fast dying a class very scarce and in its numbers.—Cincinnati (Ohio) Commercial.

EXPLANATION OF A SENSATION ROW IN A THEATRE.—A few evenings since, while the curtain was down between the acts of the play at Laura Keene's Theatre, New York, a woman rose in the dress circle and proceeded to address the house, exhorting them to repentance, and going on in a way to lead the audience to believe that she was demented. She was quietly led from the theatre and peace was restored. It now turns out that she was not crazy at all, but that she undertook the preaching feat to win a wager of $25. The winner of the bet is said to be a Mr. John Hawkins.

A BLIND CHESS-PLAYER.—Perhaps the only instance on record of a blind man displaying a proficiency in the game of chess is that of a Mr. Pawley, an Englishman, who, has lately been astonishing the English clubs by his skill. He has only been playing for about two years and a half, and yet he can fearlessly chess-blindfold two strong chess players at one time, after a contest of four hours and a half, terminated in his favor.

A YOUNG lady, aged about sixteen, of considerable intelligence and prepossessing appearance, is now residing with the sheriff of Ottowa county, Ohio, preparatory to her removal to the lunatic asylum, who became insane from viewing the Aurora Borealis a short time ago, which she was induced to believe betokened the approaching end of the world.

RECEIPTS OF THE NATIONAL FAIR.—The total receipts at the national agricultural fair held in Chicago, were $33,000.—The receipts at the national fair held at Richmond, in October last, were $7,464.50.

FRESH FRUIT JARS.

Those who wish to avoid the uncleanliness attended upon putting up fruit, &c., by the use of the old style Jars with metal covers and cement, will be pleased to learn that the whole operation of preserving can be performed in less than one half the usual time, by the use of BARTLE'S ALL-GLASS PRESERVING JAR, pronounced by physicians, housekeepers, and to be the safest and most reliable jar ever made. A single inspection will satisfy any one of their incomparable superiority over all others.
Manufactured under the Patent.

THORLEY'S FOOD FOR CATTLE,
(As Imported from England.)
For Horses, this food is indispensable in promoting and sustaining all the animal functions in health and vigor. For Milch Cows it is unrivalled, increasing the quantity and improving the quality of milk. For Sheep and Pigs it has effected results in one month ill exceed all expectation.
The addition of this food may be attended with a saving of one-third of other food, to the extent of its virtues, thereby rendering its application one of economy, while at the same time it materially increases the nutritive powers of every animal, in extracting a larger portion of nourishment from the ordinary food, which would otherwise be lost to the system, and thus the improvement in the interior of those organs.
