HARPER FOR NOVEMBER: THE ARTICLES AND THE CARTOL—NEW WORKS IN PRESS—THE REV. DR. CHEEVER COMING TO THIS COUNTRY—PROFESSOR LOWE AND HIS BALLOON PREPARATIONS FOR A TRIP TO EUROPE—THE ATHENÆUM—OPERATIC DEBUTS, &c.

[Correspondence of The Press.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 20, 1859.

Harper's Magazine, for November, is nearly through the press. It will probably reach Philadelphia on Saturday. It opens with an illustrated article, by Richards, on The Rice Lands of the South. 2. The Volcanoes of Central America, by E. G. Squier, illustrated. 3. Tea Culture in the United States, by Charles Nordhoff. 4. Robert Fenton's Victory, a story, by Mrs. Katherine S. Williams. 5. Match Making, a capital tale, by Mrs. Alice B. Havens. 6. The Fall of Moabila, (a poetical account of a battle fought in 1540, between the Spaniards, under De Soto, and the Mobilians, under Tuscaloosa,) by Thomas Dunn English. 7. That Disagreeable Bigge, a humorous sketch by J. W. Watson, author of "What'll you Drink?" to which it forms a sequel. 8. One of the Nuns, by Edward H. House: a mighty clever young gentleman, connected with the Boston Courier. 9. Proposal—three verses of poetry, by Bayard Taylor. 10. A Man of Letters, by D. R. Castleton. 11. The Point of Dread, by Fitz Hugh Ludlow. 12. The Virginians. After which the usual departmental matters. The Virginians is concluded with the present number. It is not the intention of the publishers to commence another serial for some time to come. It is worthy of note, that since the commencement of the magazine, the Harpers have paid upwards of one hundred and twenty thousand dollars to artists for engravings published in its pages, and an equal amount to those who have furnished articles. Two hundred American authors have furnished contributions, and over six thousand engravings have been executed, for its pages. In these two particulars it has surpassed any magazine that has had an existence in the old world or the new.

Among other new works nearly ready for publication by the Harpers, are The Queens of Hearts, a novel, by Wilkie Collins. The Prairie Traveller, a hand-book for overland emigrants, with maps illustrations, and itineraries of the principal routes between the Mississippi and the Pacific, by Captain R. B. Marcy, of the United States army. The Government have already ordered one thousand copies of this work. Another readable volume, to be out in about three weeks, will be Preachers and Preaching, by "Kirwan." Fisher's River, North Carolina, by "Skitt," who was raised there." Illustrated by John McLennan; Women Artists in All Ages, by Mrs. Elliott.

The great gun of the Roman Catholic Church in Ireland—the Rev. Dr. Cahill—has written to a friend in Massachusetts that he proposes to leave Ireland on Saturday next, the 22d inst., or the following Saturday, for New York. He intends to make a tour of the States and Canada, to write letters home for publication, and to deliver popular lectures on Astronomy, not giving mere exhibitions. But rigidly teaching the science as far as, course of ten or twelve lectures can accomplish that object. He will bring with him apparatus and diagrams executed with artistic perfection.

Reservoir Square, the former location of the Crystal Palace, has been bounded up, to the height of about twelve or fourteen feet, in order to enable Mr. Lowe to exhibit the monster balloon with which he proposes to make an aerial trip to Europe. He proposes to-day or to-morrow to partially inflate it for the purpose of testing its tightness, and to keep it "blown up" in that condition for a week or so, for the entertainment of the public. After that, as soon as the weather shall be auspicious, he proposes to sail, without formal notice to the public. Six persons will accompany him, out of hundreds who have made application. Their names will not be made public until the time of their departure.

The operatic debut of the baritone, Ferri, and the tenor, Stigelli, last evening in "Ernani" was entirely a success. Both are superior artists, and add materially to the effectiveness of Ullman and Strakosch's troupe.

The Athenæum Club, of this city, have added a new feature to their fine establishment in Fifth avenue. A committee has been appointed to procure works of art for exhibition in the parlors of the club, and several fine specimens were on view last evening at the regular weekly reunion. These works are not purchased by the club, but are sent by artists that they may be seen and criticised by the authors, editors, men of letters, and gentlemen who meet on Wednesday evenings to smoke, chocolate, billiard, and enjoy one of those magnificent jaws that clubable men delight in, and which can scarcely be had at any other place than at "the club."

Weekly Review of the Philadelphia Markets.

OCTOBER 21st, 1859.

The operations of the past week have been of a limited character again, and without much change to note in any of the leading articles of Produce. The Dry Goods trade has also been quiet, the full business expected much over for the season. Boots and Shoes and Hardware remain without change, but the demand for both has been limited. Bark comes forward slowly, and is in steady demand. The Coal trade continues without change. Coffee, Sugar and Molasses are very quiet. Cotton meets a limited inquiry, but holders at the close are a little firmer. Fish are selling in a small way from store at quotations. Fruit is quiet, owing to the absence of stocks of foreign. Hides still rule dull. The Iron market is firm, but devoid of activity. Leather of prime quality is arriving more freely, but other kinds are neglected. Naval Stores and Oils, very little doing. Provisions are firm but quiet. Rice is very dull. Grain continued is in good request, at full rates. Teas are firmer. Wool commands full prices. Whiskey closed dull, but steady in price.

The Breadstuffs market has been without any material variation to note since the close of last week, and about 8 000 bbls Flour found buyers for export, at prices ranging from $5 12½@5 18¾ for straight superfine, the latter for selected lots; $5 25@5 37½ for choice, for home use, and for extra family, and $6 25 for fancy Flour, including 3,000 bbls choice Diamond Mills on on terms kept private, at the close; holders, if anything, are firmer in their views, the stocks and receipts being light for the season. The trade have been having to a fair extent at the above rates for superfine and extra and fancy lots, at from $5.50@5 75 per bbl, as in quality. Rye Flour continues scarce, and sells in a small way at $4 25 $ bbl. Corn Meal is also scarce, and selling at $3 for Pennsylvania Meal, which is an advance.

The following are the inspections of Flour and Meal for the week ending Thursday, October 20, 1859:

Half barrels of superfine	17
Barrels of superfine	13 533
" fine	225

" Corn Meal	139
" condemned	15
Total	14 273

SILVER WARE.

WM. WILSON & SON

Invite special attention to their stock of SILVER WARE, which is now unusually large, affording a variety of pattern and design unsurpassed by any house the United States, and of finer quality than is manufactured for table use in any part of the world.

Our Standard of Silver is 925-1000 parts pure
The English Sterling ..... 925-1000 "
American and French ..... 900-1000 "

Thus it will be seen that we give thirty-five parts purer than the American and French coin, and ten parts purer than the English Sterling. We melt all our own Silver, and our Foreman being connected with the Refining Department of the United States Mint for several years, we guarantee the quality as above (925), which is the finest that can be made to be serviceable, and will resist the action of acids much better than the ordinary Silver manufactured.
