THE COURTS.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

[Reported for The Press.]

QUARTER SESSIONS—Judge Thompson.—Captain E. W. Power was put upon his trial, charged with committing an assault and battery upon Genl. John D. Miles. The prosecutor testified that, on the 22d of August last, I was talking to Mr. Yearsley, when Mr. Jones came up to me, and we were talking, when Mr. Power came up; then I left, and crossed to the Spring Garden side, to Col. Mather; while we were conversing, Mr. Jones was talking about the raising of a Democratic flag, and said leave it to the General; Gen. Power said this d—d thing; and I said I want nothing to do with one not my equal; I then received a spit in my face, and, simultaneously, I felt a blow; and then blows were repeated; the defendant hit me on the nose, and I got my thumb in his eye; I was beaten to a jelly in the face; my hands were bound; I soon made room in the crowd, when the defendant bounced upon me, but was stopped by Officer McCulley; there were twenty or thirty persons there; it was at the Democratic Convention, held at Thirteenth and Spring Garden streets.

Cross-examined.—There were thirty or forty persons around us; most of them were there before we came; they were there to see about the Democratic Convention; they were not with the defendant; I do not know what the difficulty was with Jones; he did not then attempt to strike; he was about two feet from me; I was talking to Colonel Mather; I said my impression was, that I was struck at the same time as the spitting; I said before Alderman Clark exactly what I say here; I did not swear before the alderman that I struck Power as soon as he spit in my face; as soon as he spit at me, he put himself in an attitude of defence; he was pretty severely beaten; he rushed on me; Captain Power did not rush back and say, "He did not want any thing to do with me;" I did not strike the defendant before he struck me; I tried to make him let go of my nose; the getting of my thumb in his eye was accidental; I judge that I hurt him very much at that time; I did not know that my finger was in his eye, except from his letting go of me quickly; I pushed my finger when it got there; I am certain he bit me; I did not try to hit him; the wound on his wrist looked like a trifling scratch; I can't say that I produced it; I don't know that he kicked me; when I was arrested, my friends did not interfere to take me away; the mob did not attempt to rescue me.

Col. Mather testified as to being at the Convention; that he and Miles were talking; that he saw Power coming, and spoke to him, when Power said I want nothing to do with that thing; that Miles said I care nothing about his opinion, when Power spit in Gen. Miles' face.

Cross-examined.—Gen. Miles struck as soon as he was spit on; Miles struck first; there was a crowd with Power, or people acting in concert with him.

William Keighter testified that he was at the Convention, and saw the fight between the parties; that he went to part them, when friends said let them alone; and let us see the best man; that they fought one or two minutes, and I said go on, Power, give it to him, Captain; that he did not see the beginning of the fight, but lost a shirt by the operation; that he did not think Miles had any friends there.

In number of other witnesses testified to the same state of facts, and as to hearing exclamations during the fight, such as "Go in, Captain," "Give it to him, General."

Lewis Kugler saw the fight, and, in trying to separate the parties, was severely kicked by the crowd.

Henry White, lieutenant of the Eighth district of police, arrested the parties, but had great difficulty in doing so, as they were tightly clinched.

The defence acknowledged the assault and battery, but, in extenuation, alleged great provocation on the part of the prosecutor. The defendant also proved a good character. Verdict guilty, and recommended to the mercy of the court. Sentence deferred until Saturday. Lewis C. Cassidy and Edward C. Quinn, Esqs., appeared for the defence.

Mary Fow, a young and prepossessing girl, was acquitted on two charges of assault and battery. Geo. C. Collins, Esq., volunteered in her defence, and conducted himself gallantly.

Joseph Devlin, a young lad, was convicted of carrying concealed deadly weapons. Geo. R. Smith appeared for the defence. Sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

DISTRICT COURT—Judge Stroud.—The City Bank vs. Israel L. Ritter and Benjamin Ritter, late trading, &c. An action on a promissory note. No defence. Verdict for the plaintiff for $255.17.

Thomas Jackson vs. Joseph M. Thomas and Samuel B. Thomas, late trading, &c. An action on a promissory note. The defendant set up that there was a less amount due than was claimed. Verdict for the plaintiff for $182.23.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to the use of John E. Woodward, to the use of Byron Woodward vs. George Magee, late sheriff of the city and county of Philadelphia, and his sureties. An action to recover damages for non-performance of duty in improperly returning a writ. Verdict for the defendants.

George W. Roberts vs. Amanda E. Coyle, administratrix of Alexander C. Coyle, deceased. A scire facias upon a judgment. Verdict for the plaintiff for $341 89.

DISTRICT COURT—Judge Sharswood.—The Carroll Building Association vs. John Donnelly with notice to terre tenants. Two cases. These are actions brought upon two scire facias sur mortgages. Verdict for the plaintiff for $2,055 66, and for $1,166 63.

☞ REV. H. GRATTAN GUINNESS, FROM Dublin, will preach as follows: THIS (Wednesday) EVENING, at 7½ o'clock, in the First Baptist Church, Broad and Arch. (Rev. Mr. Cuthbert.)

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, at 4 o'clock, in the Fifth Baptist Church, Sansom, below Ninth.

FRIDAY EVENING, at 7½ o'clock, in Penn Presbyterian Church, (Rev. Mr. Ladd's,) Tenth street, below Girard avenue. 1t*

☞ AT AN ADJOURNED MEETING OF the Junior Anti-Slavery Society of Philadelphia, held November 12, 1859, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That inasmuch as slavery, in its essential nature, is a perpetual warfare upon the rights and persons of its victims, as well as an outrage against the moral sense of the world, its existence must necessarily create a spirit of rebellion in the breast of all true minds.

Resolved, That the simplicity of purpose, undaunted bravery, self-sacrificing devotion, and moral heroism displayed by John Brown, as well as his clear and intelligent appreciation of the conflict in which he is engaged, entitle him to the sympathy, respect, and gratitude of every lover of freedom.

Resolved, That the brutal haste, and unblushing disregard of legal forms, which have marked the so-called trial of John Brown and his companions, while they have transformed what is assumed to be a judicial investigation into a deliberate murder, that fills the soul of every honest man with horror and indignation, furnish still another illustration of the unmitigated villany of that system in the support of which these enormities are perpetrated.

By order of the Society.

JAMES G. THOMPSON, President.

☞ AT A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE Board of Managers of the HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY of the City of Philadelphia, held this evening, Nov. 5, 1859, the following communication was received and read:

To the Board of Managers of the Home Missionary Society of the city of Philadelphia:

DEAR BRETHREN: I find my business becoming so extended that, in justice to you, as well as to myself, I must hereby respectfully submit to you my resignat on as an agent, and as a member of your Board.

In doing so, allow me to assure you that I still feel a deep interest in the future prosperity of your institution, and will cheerfully render it any assistance I can.

Very respectfully, JOHN STREET.

October 28, 1859.

Whereupon it was resolved, that the resignation of our able and efficient Missionary and Agent, the Rev. John Street, who has served the society so long and so faithfully and satisfactorily for the last eighteen years, be, and the same is hereby, accepted.

Mr. JOHN P. ARRISON was appointed to take the place of Mr. Street; and he is now waiting upon the public, solicitating contributions for the use of the Society.
