SCENES IN AN ENGLISH CHURCH.—The riotous troubles at St. George's in the East, London, continue without change. A correspondent of an English religious paper thus describes the scene on Sunday, January 8th:

"The hisses, yells and groans during the prayers, and even the Absolution, and which completely drowned the reading of the Lessons—the roars of laughter at the responses, the eating of oranges and cracking of nuts, the fighting and playing of children from six to twelve years old, the standing on the seats and climbing on the pews, and singing disunting hymns after the sermon, which was continually interrupted by nearly the whole congregation rising up simultaneously, and evidently meditating a serious riot—all these demonstrations, and more than I have time to enumerate, formed a scene so terrible, that even the descriptive power of a Macaulay could not exaggerate. I will add here that the majority of the congregation were boys and girls, and that upon an average there was not more than one adult in each pew."

LOCAL DE QUINCY—CONFESSIONS OF A BUFFALO OPIUM EATER.—Yesterday morning, a man of prepossessing appearance stepped into one of our drug-stores, and asked for two ounces of laudanum, which the clerk put up for him in a vial. He then asked for a glass of water, which request being complied with, he poured out part of the water; emptied the contents of the vial into the tumbler, and deliberately drank it off. The affrighted clerk immediately called in a policeman, and had the man taken to the chief's office. The laudanum-drinker only laughed at their fears, and said he was in the habit of taking it, and was obliged to do so; that he could eat four ounces of opium without being in the least affected by it. The last we heard of him, he was sitting quietly in Chief Best's office, cracking jokes with the policeman, to whom he seemed an object of peculiar interest.—Buffalo Courier, Feb. 7.

CITY ITEMS.

PHOTOGRAPH OF MR. GUINNESS.—We have already called attention to the fact that a photograph likeness of the Rev. Mr. Guinness, now preaching in this city, true to the life, was being furnished by Mr. Gutekunst, Arch street, above Seventh. The picture, by all who has seen it, is pronounced the most life-like and natural of any that have been taken of this popular pulpit orator, and we advise all who are desirous of obtaining a truthful portrait of him to secure the Gutekunst picture.

[From the Christian Advocate and Journal, New York, August 4, 1859.]

THE HOUSEKEEPER'S FRIEND—SPALDING'S PREPARED GLUE.—Small conveniences for general family use are often of more value than what are called "great inventions." It is estimated that in the United States there are at least five millions of households, in all of which the annoyance of squeaking, ricketty chairs, sofas, tables, &c., is constantly experienced, and so long as furniture is in this condition there is always danger of a "smash-up." The experience of the city housekeeper, with May-day before her eyes, will readily suggest the value and convenience of a really trust-worthy prepared glue, that can be instantly brought in requisition where repairs to furniture and other household wares are needful. The want of such an article is so constant and universal as the family, and hitherto it has been a want unsupplied. This, however, only too truly said no longer. Spalding's Prepared Glue seems to be all that has been desired in this direction. It is kept soluble by chemicals, retains its strength and tenacity, is convenient and always "up to the sticking point," is put up in a bottle with a brush, and sold at twenty-five cents. No housekeeper in city or country can well afford to be without a bottle of Spalding's Prepared Glue. It is just the thing for the library and schools, where books are constantly in need of repair. feb8&12&19t.

THE "CHARLES HEIDSIECK" CHAMPAGNE.—This is the purest article of Champagne now in the market, and is called "Charles Heidsieck." GEORGE WHITELEY, No. 138, South FRONT street, is the agent. feb 9 3t

CONUNDRUM.—Why do the "dull times" have no effect upon business at Eshleman's celebrated Cravat Store, 625 Chestnut street?

D'yo give it up?

Because their salesmen are always WAITING ON CUSTOMERS.

THE CHINA FOR THE "CONTINENTAL."—Passing up Chestnut street, our attention was arrested by a display of china ware in a window, decorated expressly for the above hotel. It had upon it, executed very tastily, indeed, the school hat, pistol, bugle, &c., belonging to the date of 1776. As we passed, by with our hands in our empty pockets, we thought of changes. Those implements, that dress, and the circumstances that marked those times, have passed away; instead of the cumbrous "hunting pistol," we have the little "Colt's;" instead of the uniform of the knee-breeches, we have the fine-fitting clothing sold at the "Keystone Palace" Clothing store, located under the "Continental;" and though the clothing is not uniform, the choice is. No deviation from the marked price on the goods—the only first-class house in this city conducted on this admirable plan.

THE COMMITTEES OF CONGRESS.—Speaker Pennington has announced the Standing Committees of Congress. By some strange oversight the formation of a very important committee was omitted until yesterday. This was the Committee on Habits, which has very properly been filled by the appointment of Messrs. Rockhill & Wilson, of the Brown Stone Clothing Hall, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. This committee will see to it that the wearing of bad habits is not encouraged by them.

FEMALE COSTUME, as a sanitary regulation, is attracting some attention in the Old World, where the health of women is generally much better than in the United States. In a report read and adopted at a meeting of the Ladies' National Sanitary Association, held in London, in July last, the following language occurs: "Believing that a great part of the weakness and disease which the Association aims to prevent is caused by improperly made clothing, the committee are preparing a complete set of patterns for every part of the dress of women and children, with special reference to health and comfort, with an explanatory text, which can be cheaply sent to any part of the country." Were similar attention paid to gentlemen's dress in this country, we should expect to read resolutions advising all men to wear the gay and elegant costumes of Granville Stokes, the National Tailor, of 607 Chestnut street.
