GENERAL NEWS.

THE LADIES OF PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON, BALTIMORE, AND NEW YORK.—"Burleigh," the correspondent of the Boston Journal, writing from Philadelphia, March 7, says:

"In no one thing do Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, so much disagree as in the appearance of the ladies as they walk out on the daily promenade. Boston and Philadelphia are somewhat alike. The dresses of the ladies are rich but not showy. In Philadelphia the staid Quaker look abounds. The ladies are intellectual-looking, but plain. They all have a pale, sallow look, as if raised in the shade; and, as a body, they are far from handsome. A pretty woman on the sidewalk of Chestnut street is a rare sight. But Baltimore is flooded with beautiful women. It may be in the climate—it may be from the style of dress—it may be because they—no matter what—but the ladies of Baltimore drift along Baltimore street in droves of beauty, while the decided showy and often gaudy colors worn attract attention; and this is not in one or two instances, but dozens and dozens pass you all of one style of beauty, and the eye is dazzled with the numbers. But the ladies of New York are heterogeneous. The crowd that floats along Broadway is immense; but no two look alike—no two dress alike. The rich, the poor, the belle, the domestic, the native, the foreign, the elegant, the homely—all mingle and blend the picture, so that one only sees a vast mass of moving creatures, having no distinct form or character. In dress, the New York ladies overload themselves, and the ornaments seem cumbrous and not elegant. If they wear plumes, they load themselves down like an ostrich. If they put on furs, they pile them up till they seem like porters carrying home goods. If they put on jewelry, they wear it as if their husbands manufactured the article, and it was needful for them to become a stand from which it is to be displayed. The same is seen in the dwellings, where the gaudiness of the steamboat and the tinsel of the circus seems to be the standard of taste adopted. The New York ladies could learn a lesson that would be of great service to them, from the ladies of Boston or Baltimore."

THE SENATE PLATFORM.—The Dubuque, Iowa, Herald, in commenting upon the platform which a majority of the Democratic Senators have adopted, says:

"No Democrat will object to the first three resolutions, but the 4th, 5th, and 6th resolutions will never be endorsed by the Charleston Convention. They are in direct conflict with the declaration of the whole party in 1856, as shown by the Cincinnati platform—in direct conflict with the declarations of the Democratic press from Maine to Texas in that memorable campaign—in direct conflict with the speeches of all Democrats who then addressed the people.

"And they are in direct conflict with the doctrines of more than twenty-five Democratic State Conventions held in 1860 for the appointment of delegates to the Charleston Convention. It is idle, therefore, to expect that the Democracy of the nation, and much less of the Northern States, will ever endorse the sentiments of this Congressional Senatorial platform. Not a Northern State can be carried for such a platform—not a corporal's guard can be found in any one of them to support a candidate standing upon such a platform. Even if every Democratic office-holder, politician, orator, and press in the Northern States should endorse it, the masses of the Democracy and the people will not support it. Much as the rank and file admire Stephen A Douglas—much as they are devoted to him, there is not sufficient influence in his great name to induce them to support him upon such a platform. It is a moral impossibility, and if madness should seize upon the councils of the Democracy at Charleston, and the Convention in frenzy should adopt such a platform as the Senatorial caucus at Washington has gravely, and yet impudently enunciated, there would be no Democratic party in any Northern State to receive its delegates on their return. We repeat, however, that we have no fear that this Senatorial platform will be adopted at Charleston. It is well, however, that the false teachers of Democracy should know whither their teachings would lead."

RATS HAVE A FONDNESS FOR GOOD TEETH.—Recently a gentleman from Ravenna stopped for the night with some friends in Huntington, Lorain county. As he retired for the night, he extracted from his mouth a set of one-hundred-dollar false teeth, and laid them on a chest by the bed. On rising in the morning, he was greatly surprised to find that the teeth were missing. After a brief and fruitless search, he apprised the family of his misfortune, and a general search ensued. They were about to give up the search in despair, when it was discovered that the room had been visited during the night by rats, which had left the prints of their feet, as they had access to a jar of preserves. It was then decided that the teeth must have been carried off by those mischievous creatures. Then followed the tearing off of window-casings, baseboards, siding, &c., which resulted in the recovery of the valuable masticators. They had been carried, uninjured, between the weather-boarding and the inside wall.—Cleveland Herald, 6th.

THE CHICAGO ELECTION.—At the late election for Mayor in Chicago, Wentworth, the Republican candidate, received 10,007 votes, and Gurnee, the Democratic candidate, 8,740. The Chicago Times complains that frauds were committed by the Republicans, and gives the following statement of the comparative increase and decrease of the votes of the two parties as compared with the election of 1859:

	Rep. W.'s inc.	Rep. W.'s dec.	Dem. G.'s inc.	Dem. G.'s dec.

☞ Manager Carr, of the Buffalo Theatre, who weighs nearly half a ton, the Republic says, was carried by Blondin up the tight rope from the stage to the third tier, on Friday night last. Carr must certainly weigh nearly three hundred pounds, while Blondin weighs only one hundred and thirty-five.

SINGULAR.—A gentleman from Cherry township, this county, informs us that one day last week a large bear entered a dwelling house in that place, and seizing a little child, which was playing about the floor, commenced caressing and fondling with it in the most tender and fondest manner. The child, as well as the bear, seemed highly delighted with each other, and, strange to say, this singular proceeding continued for several minutes, till the terrified mother—the only person about the house—seized upon the opportunity to bar the door upon the rough intruder while he chanced to be on the outside. Verily, the lion and the lamb have lain down together.—Sullivan County Democrat.

THE CHARLESTON CONVENTION.—Fears are expressed that Charleston will be unable to accommodate all the strangers who will rush to that city during the sessions of the Charleston Convention; and a correspondent of the Herald says:

"We have said that there would be twenty thousand strangers in attendance at said Convention. A cool-headed Democrat says that there will be at least thirty thousand strangers on the ground—that the Southern States alone will furnish this number—that the people of the South look upon this Convention as the crisis, the turning point in the history of this Union—that it involves the fate, not only of the Democratic and all other existing parties, but the fate of the country itself. 'So,' said the Southern gentleman in question, 'sir, you may count upon thirty thousand men from the South at the Charleston Convention, and especially if any desperate effort should be made to push through the nomination of Douglas or the Douglas platform. The Convention may be detained at Charleston for three weeks—it will hardly get through short of two weeks. If at the end of the first week, there should be any signs of an explosion, the streets of Charleston will be hardly large enough to hold the people that will rush in.'"

These steamers, built expressly for Government service, with double engines, under deck, every attention has been taken in the construction of the hull and machinery to insure safety and speed. The ships have five water-tight compartments enclosing the engines, so that, in the event of collision or stranding, the water could not reach them, and the pumps being free to work, the safety of the vessel and passengers would be secured. Recent experience has demonstrated the absolute necessity of this mode of construction.

The accommodations for passengers are believed to combine every comfort and convenience that can be desired.
