THE PULPIT.

GRIEVING THE SPIRIT.

A SERMON BY THE REV. JAMES CAUGHEY, DELIVERED AT THE ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH, ON WEDNESDAY EVENING.

[illegible]

His text on Wednesday evening was taken from the fourth chapter of Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians, at the 30th verse:

"And grieve not the Holy Spirit of God."

His discussion of this theme was entirely extempore, and in some respects his illustrations especially, quite original.

He opened on this occasion with an allusion to the weather, stating that the theme he had chosen was one that had been forcibly impressed upon his mind, and as it had given the day's reflection. The inclemency of the weather had tended to reduce the numerical magnitude of his congregation; but he would not, on that account, substitute another subject instead of the one he had prepared, as he thought those who came out to listen to a sermon on a rainy night were, of all people, most entitled to the very best the preacher could give them. His criticism upon ministers who have one style of sermon for large congregations and another for small ones, was pointed in terms, and they should think, correct in principle. Taking up the subject of his discourse he said that the text which he had read led to, and he thought, justified the following inquiry: "When may a person be said to be grieving the Holy Spirit of God?" In answer to this question he answered, first, that a person might be said to grieve the Holy Spirit when he indulges in procrastination in the matter of salvation, when he ought to be actively engaged in seeking to obtain it, for in this the creature was manifestly sinning himself up against his Creator. He next called the attention of his hearers to the fact that there were two kinds of procrastination—one active, the other passive. In the exercise of the former, the subject cogitated within himself about his duty in the matter, and then deliberately concluded that he would defer it for the present, but would give it his attention by and by; whilst the other, the victim of passive procrastination, was he who moved on with an utter indifference upon the subject, and who never in his thoughts recurred to the matter of his salvation at all. Now as to the philosophy of these two phases of procrastination, the speaker held that the former sprung from the first approaches of God's spirit to the heart, whilst the latter was the dire consequence of the Spirit having been effectually grieved away. In the first case there was action, and more or less inward commotion, caused by the approaches of the Spirit. Just as, for example, a tree might well move to and fro when the wind is among its branches, or the masts of a ship bend when the gale is upon it, or the sea swell when the storm sweeps over it, even so it was when the spirit of God moved upon the heart of a sinner; but alas for that soul who resisted this power and thus fell into the stupefying arms of a passive procrastination!

But, in the second place, a person might be said to grieve the Holy Spirit when he indulges in any sinful habits. There were many who, in their natural, unregenerate state, he knew, could indulge in the most sinful practices imaginable without remorse; but when they were once awakened they were naturally called to forsake those things, and no man whose conscience had been quickened could proceed in a course of sin without realizing the pains of remorse, and so because he was fighting against God's Holy Spirit. It was this saying within a man's self, "I know it's wrong, but I'll do it," that placed him in a hostile position to his Lord. He did not wish to be unduly severe, or boisterous, for he read in the kind faces of his congregation what told him that that was unnecessary, but he would relate a few instances of his experience in illustration of the point under discussion. The substance of his first illustration was as follows: A good class-leader had once, to the speaker's own knowledge, tried long and faithfully to impress the heart of a young lady in his class with religious convictions, but without success. The indifferent subject of his pious efforts was accustomed to adorn her head and person with a profusion of flowers and ornaments altogether unbecoming a place of worship. At length the leader, at the verge of giving up all hope of moving the heart of the young lady, frankly told her, that if she did not take those trashy trinkets from her head, forthwith, he believed she would be lost. It was in half earnest. Upon this seemingly abrupt appeal, the person to whom it was addressed immediately arose and left, and the officers of the church were inclined to censure the class-leader for his severity. But it had not been many minutes before back came the young lady, totally divested of her ornamental frippery, crying and sobbing for mercy, and imploring the leader to pray that her sins might be forgiven. The Spirit had come upon her heavy like thunder. The end was a speedy and effective conversion. So much, said Mr. Caughey, for a faithful man's having had the courage to do what he felt to be his duty; and no one who knew the circumstances ever thought of accusing that class-leader of having acted too severely after that, and to this day, the young lady referred to looked upon that uncouth speech as the most fortunate event in her whole life.

In the third place, a person grieved the Spirit when they disobeyed the promptings of the Spirit, rather than grieve some friend. This was a matter of daily occurrence. Men were persuaded of their religious duties, but felt that their performance would incur the displeasure or perhaps the contempt of some friend. Virtually, such conduct was placing a "friend" in the place of God, than which nothing could be more grievous to the Spirit. Among other illustrations employed to impress this upon his hearers, the speaker narrated the case of another young lady, who, though convicted of duty, had refrained coming forward for prayer for fear of "disgusting her lover," for which impious forbearance God had consequently turned away the heart of the young man from her, and not only given him a Christian wife, but made him, not long after, a rejoicing, sin-forgiven convert, whilst the foolish damsel, who had dishonored God by her cowardice, had been left to carry sorrow with her. [illegible] pray for her at the altar [illegible] rejoice. To the honor of God, he said, that God had [illegible] rose, but would [illegible] man of God [illegible] matters. Jesus said, "If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and even his own life also, he cannot be my disciple." This was severe language, he knew, but then it was the language of the Son of God, and should, therefore, be plainly spoken. If there were any inquiring whether the word "hate," in this passage, was the same word as that which we now use to express bitterness of feeling, he would say no. The Greek would have been more correctly rendered by making the word in the English to signify less love—the idea being, not of hating, but of loving them less than Christ. The idea was, that inasmuch as Christ died for us, we ought, in return, to serve him even to the death. It was this kind of fidelity that made the martyr spirit in the days of martyrdom.

But again, a man grieved the Holy Spirit when he indulged in hypocrisy—i. e., when he professed an indifference which he did not feel. This was, indeed, an unusual thing. Men professed to have no concern about their souls, when, in reality, they were ill at ease within themselves upon this very subject. Now, said he, we always suspect a ship that sails under false colors. This was just what people did when they used disrespectful language about religious things, when, at the same time, their own conscience upbraided them for it.

Another frequent source of this offence against the Holy One was men saying, "It's time enough yet; it's time enough yet." Now, what was this, when God awakened a sinner, other than saying to Jehovah, "You have mistaken the proper time to call; when I am ready I'll give the subject attention." Since his preaching in the pulpit which he then occupied, a young man had left the church and made one of the speaker's illustrations a topic of laughter among his shopmates. Within a few days that same young man had been borne to the grave. He did not want those present who were familiar with the case to suppose for a moment that he was judging the young man in question—not at all; he would only say that within the past few weeks Christ had been presented to him, and he had gone away mocking.

Then, also, persons were said to grieve the Holy Spirit when they take a wrong method to obtain salvation. Under this head the speaker classed those who did not come forward to the altar for fear of excitement. It was curious to notice how sensitively fearful of excitement some people become when it was to have anything to do with religion. They could cheerfully endure the excitements incident to politics, the theatre, and scientific lectures, but they had a perfect horror of it when it came to religion. Now, by the grace of God, it was their purpose to have just as much excitement in religion as in anything else; for what was excitement, after all, but emotion? And what was repentance but emotion? And what was love to God but emotion? Sundry illustrations were here introduced, showing the beneficial results of coming to the altar, whether persons really felt like coming or not. It was the surest, most direct, and clearest way to obtain that degree of emotion which the speaker held to be indispensable in the act of conversion. Not but God could, if He would, convert sinners anywhere and everywhere, in just such a way as He saw fit, but his own experience in these matters confirmed him in the belief that to obtain a speedy and clear conversion, coming to the altar for prayer was a powerful help. You may come without this, said the speaker, but you are more likely to have a long and tedious time of it. Experience had demonstrated that the surest way to get religion was for a person to place himself in such a relation as would facilitate emotion. A man ought to go to God on his knees, and while there in prayer feel that the bridge over which he had come was broken down behind him, and that he now stood before the world committed on the side of Jesus.

The Spirit, however, might also be grieved by persons coming forward from wrong motives; but of this we might rest assured, that God had no respect for such an one, except that he knew as his friends. Jesus Christ required from His disciples some open confession that they are on His side. He did not want people to sneak into the church, or slip into heaven under a mask. His own matchless sufferings had been open before the world, and in like manner (those who desire His salvation) were required to confess Him openly. The Saviour's own declaration respecting this matter was, "Whosoever, therefore, shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father, which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father, which is in heaven." This might be set down as an article [illegible] the greatest blessing. The [illegible] all, therefore, to come forward and [illegible] the Saviour. [illegible]

[illegible]

Without making any pretensions to superior eloquence, His speech, although considerably marked with his native brogue, is entirely intelligible to the American ear, and his power to hold the attention of an audience we should think more than ordinary.

VOICE OF THE PRESS.

From the New York Independent.

The VERY BEST BOOK ON SLAVERY YET ISSUED. Sound, judicious, kind, Christian, and most timely and faithful. The author rehearses in a graphic way the measures of violence which "SOUTHERN AGGRESSION" has of late so systematically pursued; and while condemning the crazy zeal of John Brown, he shows that his herald pail-denial for the oppressed puts to shame the coward fury of the South for oppression. Yet the tone of the book, while candid, frank and manly, is always kind and gentlemanly.

NOT SECTIONAL, BUT FRATERNAL; not partisan, but Christian. He points the South to the simple remedy for existing evils, by substituting wages for the lash, free labor for compulsory toil.

From the New York Tribune.

Its animated descriptions, and the frankness and cordiality of its tone, are adapted to give it a favorable reception, even with readers who differ most widely from him in opinion.

The topics to which this volume is devoted, and the spirit in which they are discussed, though they may arouse a tempest of opposition from those who regard silence as the only guarantee of safety, will secure it a wide circulation among

THE FRIENDS OF FREEDOM throughout the country.

From the Atlanta (Ga.) Confederacy.

It is a CONTEMPTIBLE ABOLITION PRODUCTION, written in a very readable style, and well calculated to taint the minds of the young.

From the Detroit Christian Herald.

OXYGENATED BITTERS,
OXYGENATED BITTERS,

A remedy sufficient to cope with and conquer disease in its direst and most afflictive form. The best test is experience, and we submit the testimony of those who have experienced an entire cure by the use of the remedy.

The high character of the testimonials in favor of this remedy is a sufficient guarantee of its astonishing power in the above diseases.

OXYGENATED BITTERS,

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

FROM HON. JOSEPH HOXIE,

President of the Commonwealth Insurance Company, No. 6 Wall street, New York.

Messrs. SETH W. FOWLE & Co.—Gentlemen: Having suffered many years from repeated attacks of Dyspepsia in its worst form, and almost exhausted my hopes of being able to obtain any permanent relief, I was induced to have recourse to the Oxygenated Bitters, prepared by Dr. George B. Green, for which you are agents. It gives me great pleasure to say, that its effect upon me has been highly beneficial, eradicating the disease and restoring me to good health; and I sincerely hope that all who may be suffering from that dreadful disease will be induced to give the medicine a trial, fully believing they will not be disappointed in the result.

JOSEPH HOXIE.

Such testimony as the above is entitled to the confidence of Dyspeptics, and proves the efficacy of the Oxygenated Bitters. Mr. Hoxie is well known as a highly respectable citizen.

RELIABLE TESTIMONY.

We call the attention of the reader to the following letter from President Smith, of Wesleyan University:

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Feb. 28, 1859.

SETH W. FOWLE & Co.—Gentlemen: I first made use of the OXYGENATED BITTERS some seven or eight years since. Having suffered for twenty years from a form of DYSPEPSIA, which was attended with a nervous headache, on an average of not less than one day in a week, I was induced by the unpretending recommendation of Dr. Green "to try one bottle, and if no benefit was received to discontinue the use."

The use of one bottle warranted a further trial, to the extent of some three or four, with a careful observance of the accompanying directions. The result was an almost entire relief from the usual dyspeptic symptoms, and their depressing, painful consequences. I believe these bitters produced an entire change in the habits of my system, and upon the active energies of the digestive organs. I now deem myself as exempt from dyspepsia as most persons. These bitters have also been of service to other members of my family.

Very respectfully yours,

AUGUSTUS W. SMITH.

FROM THE LADY OF JOHN JONES, Esq.,

Well known and much respected in the southern part of New Jersey:

SEAVILLE, N. J., Jan. 17, 1860.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & Co.—Sirs: I have taken more or less of the Oxygenated Bitters for the last three years, and have been much benefited by their use. I have been much troubled with Dyspepsia for many years past, and found nothing that afforded me any relief until I used the Bitters. I do most cheerfully recommend their use to all who are afflicted with that complaint.

Respectfully invites the attention of all those suffering from the inconvenience of bad-fitting pantaloons, to his superior method of cutting and fitting that important garment. This is, in fact, an almost universal complaint. The truth is, however, that the fault generally lies with the unskilled cutter, who has never searched for nor made himself master of the true method. Having, in a measure, made this department a specialty, I invite all who are interested to give me a call. EDWIN CLARK'S

HIGHLY IMPROVED and newly Patented Combined Grinding and Bolting, or MERCHANT FLOUR MILL,

Daily in operation at No. 235 RACE STREET, BELOW THIRD, PHILAD'A.

This unrivalled Flour Mill, including the complete grinding and bolting machinery, occupies a space of only 4 feet wide, eight feet high, and twenty-nine feet long; manufacturing within this small compass, at a single operation, and with but little more than six horse power, family extra, extra, superfine, and all of the lower grades of flour, and the different kinds of offal; producing flour equal in quality to the best flour made from a given amount of wheat, by the best Merchant Flour Mills in the United States, or in Europe. Its average rate of grinding is two barrels of superior flour per hour.

This new, compact, complete, and celebrated flour mill has been carefully examined by many of the most experienced millers in this country, and they unanimously bestow upon it the highest commendations; and have given their testimonials of its intrinsic superiority, and its immense utility.

Millers, mill-owners, merchants, capitalists, speculators, and the public in general, are respectfully invited to call and examine this highly useful and justly celebrated flour mill.

Information concerning the purchase of the Patent Rights for States and counties, and the mills, for every portion of the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, and other Agricultural countries, will be given to all persons addressing their letters to

PURE GEORGIA ARROW ROOT.

The special attention of physicians and families is called to the superiority of this article. It is rapidly supplanting all other kinds, and all those who have used it give it the most decided preference. The following extracts from certificates in the hands of the manufacturer, "Col. HALLOWES," will show the high estimation in which the Georgia Arrow Root is held by those gentlemen of the medical profession who have fully examined it.

One pound, 62½ cents, or two pounds for $1.

Complete instructions accompany each package, showing how to make the most delicious articles for the table.

FOR SALE, WHOLESALE AND RETAIL, AT FREDERICK BROWN'S DRUG AND CHEMICAL STORE, N. E. CORNER FIFTH and CHESTNUT Streets, PHILADELPHIA, AND AT FREDERICK BROWN, Jr's, DRUG AND CHEMICAL STORE, S. E. Corner of NINTH and CHESTNUT Streets, Under the "Continental" Hotel, PHILADELPHIA.

"I have examined and prepared some Arrow Root, manufactured by Col. Hallowes, of St. Mary's, Georgia. It has the best quality of that variety of fecula I have met with, being superior to any Bermuda or other Arrow Root I have seen.

"SAMUEL JACKSON, M. D., "University of Pennsylvania."

"I have examined a sample of Arrow Root, manufactured by Col. Hallowes, of St. Mary's, Georgia, and exhibited at the last fair of the American Institute by Mr. Burkhalter, of this city. The article is of the very best quality, and, from the experiments made upon it, I find it to contain as large a proportion of nutritious matter, and to be in every other respect fully equal to the best quality of Arrow Root obtained from Bermuda.

"It being of vital importance to invalids that such delicate articles of diet be pure, I feel glad of the opportunity to speak so favorably of the Georgia Arrow Root.

TAPE WORM—TAPE WORM.

JAYNE'S SPECIFIC FOR TAPE WORM

Has never been known to fail in a single instance to remove this troublesome animal. It is as easily taken as an ordinary purgative, and is followed by no unpleasant effects. The worm is usually expelled in from three to eight hours after the medicine is taken. It is put up in doses, with directions for its use.

By writing to Dr. D. JAYNE & SON, 242 CHESTNUT Street, Philadelphia, enclosing two dollars for each dose, the medicine will immediately be forwarded by mail to any part of the world.

READ THE FOLLOWING CERTIFICATES:

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 23, 1857.

Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir: I received the package of your Specific for tape worm, and took it according to the directions. About four hours after I had taken it, I passed a tape worm measuring full fifty-two feet in length. PETER VAN VORST, Engineer on N. Y. and Erie Railroad.

RICHFIELD, Mo., Jan. 15, 1858.

Dr. D. Jayne—Sir: I have for eight years been afflicted with that terrible disorder—the tape worm. During that time I had tried various remedies, and the best medical skill in this and the adjacent counties, without obtaining any relief. I was advised to send for your Specific. At that time I was almost reduced to a skeleton, unable to attend to business, and my suffering was beyond description. I took two doses, and then passed fifty feet of the worm. I am now strong and in good health. MASON FRAKES.

Mr. Perry Brewer writes: "FORT GIBSON, Ark., Feb. 3d, 1858.

"After taking your Specific for tape worm, it had the effect to expel a worm measuring in all twenty-four feet."

Extract of a letter from Mrs. George E. Houk, dated CANDOR, Tioga Co., N. Y., Feb. 9, 1858.

"About a year since we received from you a dose of the Tape Worm Specific, which my husband took according to directions, and the result was, that he passed nearly sixty feet of the worm."

PHILADELPHIA, March 21, 1859.

Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir: I had been for some four years afflicted with that horrible disease, tape worm. Having tried various remedies without success, I was at last compelled to use your SPECIFIC. I say compelled, for I had great repugnance to advertised medicines, as I considered them all humbugs, so it was with great difficulty I was induced to try your remedy. I took three doses, and the result has been the complete ejection of my tormentor. I have passed some eighty feet—the last eight or ten feet tapering gradually until it was no thicker than sewing cotton, with a head as large as the head of a pin.

I believe if I had taken your medicines in the beginning, before my stomach became accustomed to drugs, one dose would have been sufficient.

Feeling it to be a duty I owe, not only to you, for having saved me from an early grave, where my disease would have inevitably placed me, but also to those who are afflicted as I was, I make public these facts.

Yours gratefully, LOUIS WAGNER, Fifth and Chestnut streets.

ELIZABETH, Ills., June 17, 1859.

Gentlemen: Your TAPE WORM SPECIFIC has been administered according to directions. First dose at seven in the morning. At three in the afternoon the worm was expelled entire. Your SPECIFIC has sustained its pretensions, and I have no hesitation in recommending it to the public. JAMES B. LEWIS, M. D.

PORTERSVILLE, Tenn., July 12, 1859.

Dr. D. Jayne & Son—Dear Sirs: A little girl about seven years old was suffering with tape worm, and had been under medical treatment for some time, without benefit. Your SPECIFIC was given according to directions, and in about three hours fifteen feet of the worm came away, which, from the description, I think must be the entire worm. R. McDILL.

DEERFIELD, N. Y., Aug. 15, 1859.

Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir: I took your TAPE WORM SPECIFIC according to directions. Eight hours afterwards I discharged (without pain) his wormship, who measured twenty-eight feet in length, and contained more than 800 links. LUTHER MYERS.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 15, 1859.

Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir: Last week Mr. Myers made inquiries of me about your TAPE WORM SPECIFIC, and immediately wrote to you for some. This morning he called upon us with a bottle containing the tape worm. WARNER & RAY, Druggists.

NEW BALTIMORE, Mich., Sept. 21, 1859.

Dr. D. Jayne & Son—Dear Sirs: I took your TAPE WORM SPECIFIC according to directions. The worm was expelled in six hours; length twenty-six feet. Yours, &c., LOUIS STIER.

BRUNSWICK, Mo., October 7, 1859.

Dr. D. Jayne & Son—Mr. Riley Price has been in bad health for some years, subject to spells of sickness at the stomach, and continued emaciation. About a month ago he threw up about twenty-five feet of tape worm. It broke, a part remaining in his stomach. We procured some of your TAPE WORM SPECIFIC, which he took according to directions. He soon discharged about sixteen feet of tape worm, and thinks he is now free from it. Yours, &c., BLUE & DOUGLASS.

DAVENPORT, Iowa, Oct. 26, 1859.

Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir: I took your SPECIFIC for tape worm, according to directions, and in four hours the worm was expelled. HERMANN TEGEUNDE.

COMPO STEO, California, Oct. 31, 1859.

Dr. D. Jayne & Son—Dear Sirs: I do not hesitate nor do I delay to give my testimony to the great excellence and superiority of your "TAPE WORM SPECIFIC." I lately had an occasion to have the virtue of this medicine tested, the result of which was the expelling of a tape worm of enormous length, which had worn the patient down to a skeleton, but who is now looking fleshy and healthy. I am at liberty to give the address of the lady from whom this troublesome animal was expelled; but a quarter section of it now on exhibition at my office, is ocular proof of what I have written. It has been witnessed by hundreds who have called to see it.

Yours, truly, E. G. SCHRACK.

HILLSBOROUGH, Ill., Jan. 25, 1859.

My daughter, long afflicted with a tape worm, was entirely relieved by one dose of DR. JAYNE'S TAPE WORM SPECIFIC. HENRY HILL.

CAUTION!—ASTROLOGY!—LOOK

OUT!—GOOD NEWS FOR ALL!—The never-failing Mrs. VAN HORN is the best; she succeeds when all others have failed. All who are in trouble, all who have been unfortunate, deceived by false promises, fly to her for advice and comfort. In love affairs she never fails. She has the secret of winning the affections of the opposite sex. It is this fact which induces illiterate pretenders to try to imitate her, and copy her advertisement. She shows you the likeness of your future wife, husband, or absent friend. It is well known to the public at large that she is the first and only person in this city who can show the likeness in reality, and can give entire satisfaction on all the concerns of life, which can be tested and proved by thousands, both married and single, who daily and eagerly visit her. Come one! come all! to No. 1536 LOMBARD Street, between Juniper and Broad. ap5-6t*
