LIVES are frequently lost by noxious gases in wells. This may be prevented by the adoption of the following very simple means: Take some pieces or carpet, or common sacks, and make them up into a loose bundle, nearly as large brick to give weight, and attach to the bundle a rope of sufficient length to reach to the bottom of the well. Throw this bundle down the well, and haul it up again as quickly as possible. Repeat this operation rapidly for ten miautes, and the atmosphere of the well will become quite innoxious, as may be proved by letting down a lighted candle. The bundle, it is easily understood, carries before it a quantity of fresh air from the surface, and this, of course, displaces the foul and dangerous air from the bottom.

KILLED BY A TREE.-Mr. George

Lender, a young man about 20 years of age, met with a fatal accident on Friday, trees on a log job of Mr. J. L. Me-Pherson, in Pike township. During the forenoon he cut down a number of THE Commissioners of Elk county trees, in company with others. After others having quit work for the day and gone to town. In the evening Mrs. French, the lady with whom he was boarding, went to the cutting to call him cluded he had gone to the ridges for whortleberries. As night approached Adirondack mountains and lakes, which his return was anxiously looked for by Mrs. F., and her husband, the latter at a later hour. Not having come home during the night, on Saturday morning Mr. French went to the cutting in search of Lender, and about 9 o'clock he found M. E. A tender and elequent full-page picture illustrates a poem called "A Good Dog." The remaining illustrations, all fine works of art, are "Group of Deer." by Specht; "The Explanation," after Herpfer; "Vot Doesh You Peddles?" a humorous sketch by W. M. Cary; "Shoo Fly;" and "Picking Flowers. The literary contents of The Alpuss keep peca with its game of "The Crow's Requiem," by Erckmann-Chatrian, and "A Graven Image," by Clara F. Guernsey. The miscellaneous articles are "Across the Atlantic in an Old Liner." from the pen of that graceful sketch writer, pleasantly written by Elizabeth Stod-lard: Oddities," by Gath Brittle. Music, Art, and Literature receive, each, careful attention. The poems in this number are, "Found Wanting," by Mary E. Bradley; "An Uncollected Sonnet of Edgar A. This is the era of railroad decisions. Here is another: George Van Kouten brought suit in the Cass county (Ind.) court against the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railroad, to recover 85 -000 damages. Van Kouten had entered a car of the company's and refused to deliver up his ticket until the MERCHANDISE conductor furnished him with a seat. The cars were crowded and no seat was to be obtained, so the conductor just stopped the train and put Van Kouten Nothing daunted, he caught on last car and was put off a second time, and his baggage flung off with him. The case was entered in Cass county, and under change of venue was taken to James Jutton & Co., publishers, 58 Maiden Carroll county, and the plaintiff was awarded $2,000 by the jury as compensation for the broken contract.

Klennen, cashier of the Hoboken Bank for savings, stole only $38,000 of its funds, but the bank closed its doors as soon as the "defalcation" was discovered. The New York Commercial Advertiser says Klennen was "permitted to do as he pleased, and so far as ascertained, he is entitled to credit for his moderation." It may occur to some that the less of $38,000 is rather a small amount to cause the ruin of a respectable banking institution, but possibly the directors of the Hoboken have concluded that it is a bad time to "bank." The Atlantic, swamped by Taintor; the Market Savings Bank, crashed by Conkling; the Bull's Head, driven to the wall by thieves; the Wallkill, ruined by Graham and Horton; the Brooklyn Trust Company, swindled by Mills. All these constitute a rather po- CHEAPER tent argument against becoming responsible as "directors" for other people's money and permitting it to be stolen by cashiers and presidents. Indeed, it may at last strike' the dull apprehension of bank directors that to accept the care and custody of Jone's almost as bad as to parcel it out among themselves and retire from business.
