Last Hours of Senator Douglas.

At about eleven o'clock on Sunday morning, Bishop Dogan called at the request of friends to converse with Mr. Douglas, who was then, for the first time, perfectly rational. Mr Douglas immediately recognized the Bishop, and expressed his gratification at the visit Bishop Dugan soon asked:

"Mr. Douglas, have you been baptized according to the rites of any church?" Mr. Douglas replied:

"Never."

The Bishop continued: "Do you desire to have mass said after the ordinances of the holy Catholic Church?" The answer was:

"No, sir; when I do I will communicate with you freely."

The Bishop then turned to Mr. Rhodes and said: "Do you think he is fully possessed of his mental faculties?" Mr. Rhodes replied, "I do not know—perhaps you had better ask him again?" The Bishop repeated his question, to which Mr. Douglas answered in strong, full voice:

"You perhaps did not understand me. When I desire it, I will communicate with you freely."

The Bishop then remarked to Mr. Rhodes, "He is undoubtedly in his right mind, and does not desire any offices." He then withdrew.

During the day (Sunday) Mr. Douglas seemed to be much better, and strong hopes were entertained of his recovery; he slept most of the day, and in the evening seemed much refreshed. Mrs. Douglas and Mr. Rhodes remained with him during the night. At about four o'clock on Monday morning he seemed to be much worse, and sank rapidly; his friends were sent for, and, at the request of Mrs. Douglas, Bishop Dugan again visited him. Soon after the Bishop entered, he approached the bedside, and, addressing the patient, said:

"Mr. Douglas, you know your own condition fully, and in view of your approaching dissolution, do you desire the ceremony of extreme unction to be performed.

Mr. Douglas replied:

"No, I have no time to discuss these things now."

The Bishop then withdrew. After he had gone, Mrs. Douglas requested Mr. Rhodes to ask her husband if he desired the ministrations of any other clergyman. Mr. Rhodes then said to Mr. Douglas:

"Do you know the clergymen of this city?"

To which Mr. Douglas replied:

"Nearly every one of them."

Mr. Rhodes. Do you wish to have either or any of them call to see you to converse upon religious subjects.

Mr. Douglas No, I thank you.

Soon after this, about 5 o'clock, he desired to have his position in bed changed, the blinds opened, and the windows raised. Mr. Rhodes lifted him to an easier position, where he could look out upon the street, and drink in the fresh morning air. For a few moments he seemed to gain new life. Then he began to sink away; his eyes partially closed, and in slow and measured cadence, with considerable pause between each accent, he uttered:

"Death!—Death!!—Death!!!"

After this he seemed to revive slightly, and Mr. Rhodes asked him whether he had any message to send to his mother, or sister Sarah, or his boys, "Robby" "Stevie," to which he made no reply, evidently not understanding the question. Mrs. Douglas then placed her arms around his neck, and said:

"My dear, do you know 'Cousin Dan?'"

"Yes" he replied

Mrs. Douglas continued:

"Your boys, Robby and Stevie, and your mother and sister Sarah—have you any message for them?"

The dying man replied:

"Tell them to obey the laws and support the Constitution of the United States!"

At about five o'clock Dr. Miller came into the room, and, noticing the open shutters and windows, inquired:

"Why have you all these windows raised and so much light?"

Mr. Douglas replied:

"So that we can have fresh air."

At Mr. Douglas' request, Mr. Rhodes changed the dying man's position again in the bed for the last time. He now lay rather down in the middle of the bed, upon his left side, his head slightly bent forward and off the pillow. His wife sat beside him, holding his right hand in both of hers, while leaning tenderly over him, sobbing Mr Rhodes remarked to Mrs Douglas—

"I am afraid he does not be comfortable;" in reply to which Mr. Douglas said:

"He is—very comfortable."

These were his last intelligible words. From five o'clock he was speechless, but evidently retained his consciousness. When, a few moments before his death, his wife leaned tenderly over him, and, sobbingly asked, "Husband, do you know me? will you kiss me?" he raised his eyes and smiled, and though too weak to speak, the movements of his mouth evinced his consciousness. Just he was making an almost dying struggle to comply with her request.

His death was calm and peaceful; a few faint breaths after money's time, followed by a rattling of the throat; a short, quick, convulsive shudder, and Stephen A. Douglas had passed from time into eternity.—Chicago cor. Herald.

Affairs in Washington.

We clip the following items from the Washington Star of last evening:

RESPECT TO THE MEMORY OF JUDGE DOUGLAS.—The White House and all the public buildings are heavily draped with mourning to-day, as a mark of respect to the memory of Mr Douglas; the President is not receiving visitors to day, and the Departments are closed, also, to the same end. The municipal offices are also closed as well as the public schools, and the various flags throughout the city are at half mast.

THE MT. VERNON GEMS DOWN.—Yesterday the manor Mt. Vernon took on a larger gun than it carried before her repairs, together with a large amount of shot and shell, and proceeded down the river to Old Point.

THE MONITORS.—The steamer Monitor, having nearly completed her repairs, will probably leave to-morrow, that being the understanding among the crew. A few workmen are still engaged caulking her decks and finishing up the little jobs preparatory to her departure.

THE PENSACOLA GETTING READY FOR SEA.—The Monitor having hauled out from under the shears at the Navy Yard, the sloop-of-war Pensacola has swung back to her old berth, where she is now briskly preparing for sea. Her rigging is full of sailors, who are working rights and main, splicing braces, fastening shrouds, running up the topmasts, and making everything look decidedly ship-shape. This morning, in running up a topmast, a portion of the tackle gave way and dropped the heavy timber, with a loud "whack," to the astonishment of the sailor-lads in the vicinity, some of whom narrowly escaped being crushed. Long lines of laborers are hearing rigging from the various storehouses of the yard, and depositing it upon deck, from which it will soon be hoisted, to swing in the winds of Old Ocean.

NEARLY FOUR YEARS ago, a box about ten feet long and two broad was deposited by a stranger at the wine store of the late John H. Buhmann, of this city, with an intimation that it would be asked for in three days, if it was to be sent South. This box has remained in that establishment ever since, much to the annoyance of the former and present proprietors, who, when they had occasion to have it moved to make room for wines, were necessarily compelled to use a large force to effect a change of location, with the observance of all due caution, as hints had been thrown out that it might be an infernal machine. The other day, however, the top was removed, and disclosed a small brass model of a cannon, (similar in shape to the great gun sent through this city about a year ago,) with a railway, on which it was to be worked. No further investigation was made; but it is evident from its very great weight and the box that it contains something else relating to military matters, which it might be well for some scientific officer of the Government to examine.—Intelligencer.

Action of Maine on the Death of Senator Douglas.

Governor Washburn has issued the following order:

STATE OF MAINE.

HEADQUARTERS, ADJ'T. GEN.'S OFFICE, AUGUSTA, ME., June 4, 1861.

GENERAL ORDER, NO. 32.—The country mourns the loss of a statesman and a patriot in the death of Stephen A. Douglas. He departed this life at Chicago, the city of his residence, yesterday, at ten minutes past nine o'clock A M

Let party differences be hushed at the portals of his tomb, and let us remember only his undoubted patriotism, and his steadfast devotion to the Union.

In observance of this melancholy event, the Governor and Commander-in-Chief directs that Col. Howard, of the Third Regiment, shall, this day, cause the national flag at his encampment to be lowered, and this order read at the head of the regiment at 4 o'clock P. M.

By order of ISRAEL WASHBURN, JR.,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.
JOHN L. HODSON, Adjutant General.

GEN. GIDEON J. PILLOW, we are told, sent his respects the other day to Gen. Coombs, with the information that he intended very soon to pay him a visit at Frankfort; to which the General promptly replied; "Tell him to call and take breakfast with Gen. Prentiss, at Cairo, and then visit me, and I will give him quiet lodging for the night and as late as he pleases next morning."—Louisville Journal.

MAIL FOR KEY WEST, TORTUGAS, AND FORT PICKENS.—The Catoosa, Government transport, will leave New York for Key West, Fort Jefferson, and Fort Pickens, Fla., on Saturday or Sunday next. A mail will be made up at the post office, to be sent by the above vessel to those ports, and also to the fleet near Fort Pickens. An opportunity is thus offered for those who wish to send papers and other reading matter to absent soldiers and seamen. Colonel Tompkins, assistant quartermaster general, No. 6 State street, New York, will receive packages, &c., to be carried by the steamer.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

The Money Market.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7, 1861.

The business transacted at the Stock Board today was very limited, though all the better class of securities maintain previous prices. State 6ves sold at 77½; City sixes, new, at 95; and the Railroad issue at 87½; Pennsylvania Railroad first mortgage bonds at 97; and Reading, which was heavy, at 15½.

We have received the Bankers' Magazine, for June, 1861, edited by J. Smith Homard, Esq., which, besides the usual various and valuable information it furnishes its readers, contains a full list of the private bankers in every State, city, and town of the United States, their location, name, president, cashier, and capital, in May, 1861. This number completes the fifteenth volume of the Banker's Magazine.

Wilmer & Smith's European Times publishes the following:

"CAUTION TO SHIPPERS TO CANADA.—A very important bill has been introduced into Parliament, and will be carried. It is a measure for the prevention of frauds upon the revenue by means of fraudulent invoices. People in the United States (and some in England too), who sell goods to our merchants, have been in the habit of sending two invoices with them—one for the custom house, the other for the merchants' own books; the former is, of course, the smaller in amount The duties paid have, therefore, been calculated on the smaller value, and the revenue has suffered. Dishonest traders have by these means had an advantage over honest people. The new bill provides that, if double invoices are sent, differing from each other in the value, the seller in the United States or in England cannot receive payment from the buyer; he then runs the risk of losing his goods if he lends himself to fraud."

The American Railway Review says that the Western New York and Massachusetts roads cannot be materially affected by the war. Now that the West is placing its currency upon a specie basis, and that gold is being directed thither in exchange for the vast grain shipments which are daily coming forward, business in that quarter must favorably affect the roads People will get gold for their produce, and be able to buy anew, or pay up old indebtedness.

Of course, the Southern roads are seriously damaged. With the ports blockaded, there is no freight business South; hence the roads leading to New Orleans, Mobile, Norfolk, and Charleston, are likely to be idle for a time. The internal blockade must also affect the Southwestern roads, such as the Louisville and Nashville and the Mobile and Ohio. The Illinois Central loses its Southern freighting business, but the goods must be carried over the road for the European market via the free ports The Ohio roads will be improved in their business. Ohio, as the Cincinnati Railroad Record happily expresses it, "is the gateway between the North Atlantic and the unblockaded ports and all the Southwest. The produce which is turned back from the South must pass through Ohio, together with cotton, which did not before come through the West."

The great amount of work done for the Government by the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company, does not in any way interfere with their regular passenger and freight business, which their ample facilities enable them to attend to with all promptness and efficiency. This road is doing its full share of New York and Boston business, and the whole carrying trade between the West and Baltimore.

The anthracite coal brought down by the Reading Railroad this week amounted to 24,024 tons; same week last year 30,551 tons. The bituminous coal not yet reported will be about 3,500 tons. The Schuylkill Canal has brought down 36,900 tons; same week last year, 40,713.

The following is the amount of coal shipped over the Huntingdon and Broad Top Mountain Railroad, for the week ending Wednesday, June 5, 1861, and since January 1st, 1861:

	Week. Tons.	Previously. Tons.	Total. Tons.
1861	3,149	69,579	72,728
1860	4,006	72,549	76,551
Increase	1,143
Decrease		2,966	2,823

The following are the shipments of coal by the Barclay Railroad and Coal Company, for the week ending June 1st, 1861 ..... 1,795 00
Previous shipments 6,188 00

Increase over 1860 ..... 1,167 00

CITY ITEMS.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY TO BUY HOSIERY AND FANCY GOODS.—In another part of our paper to day will be found the attractive advertisement of Messrs. Wanamaker & Brown, Sixth street, one of the most extensive importers of and wholesale dealers in Hosiery, Trimmings, and Fancy Goods of every description. Their magnificent stock is selling off at their store, No. 469 Market street, RETAIL, at much below ordinary WHOLESALE rates. This presents an inducement to buyers of all classes, in want of goods of this description, such as is seldom presented. Not only the extraordinary low prices, but the freshness, extent, and great variety of this stock, recommend it worthy of the widest attention. They commenced this extraordinary retail sale on Thursday morning of this week, and will continue it daily between the hours of 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. Crowds of purchasers have thronged their handsome store since the sale commenced, and all who go are overwhelmed with the cheapness of the goods. Among other things, first-rate assortments will be found of the following articles: Cotton hosiery, gloves, lace mitts, zephyrs, Shetland wool, spool cottons, buttons, (of all descriptions,) needles, pins, hooks-and-eyes, skirt braids, tapes, braids, combs, brushes, perfumery, underwear, (silk, linen, and merino,) and a full and complete assortment of dress trimmings.

CURTAIN MATERIALS SELLING AT A SACRIFICE.—Among the first-class houses of Philadelphia, in any department, few have obtained a more enviable reputation among the masses of our people than the popular house of W. Henry Patten, No 630 Chestnut street. The character of his business, as our readers are aware, is curtain Goods, Window Shades, Furniture Coverings, and Trimmings, &c., all articles that are now especially in season. Our citizens housekeepers more particularly, will therefore be glad to learn that Mr. Patten, in order to keep pace with the spirit of the times, has reduced his unsurpassed stock greatly in price, and is now selling at retail positively below the cost of importation and manufacture. As this stock is a very elegant one, and as the inducements now offered in price will be but temporary, of course, buyers will do well to embrace the opportunity without delay.

GENTS' SUMMER HATS.—As usual, the well-known Hat and Millinery Establishment of Messrs. Lincoln, Wood, & Nichols, No. 76 Chestnut street, has turned off the palm in as well as the Leghorn, Chip, and Panama; in furnishing the handsomest and choicest variety of Gentlemen's Summer Hats of the season. The ladies of our city have paid them the substantial compliment of keeping them busy hitherto in their retail department, in supplying themselves with suitable head-gear, and we have no doubt that the sterner sex, who have not yet gone to the wars, will follow the good example of their superiors, by going to No. 725 Chestnut street, and doing likewise.

THE NEW OAK HALL CLOTHING BAZAAR OF MESSRS. WANAMAKER & BROWN.—There have been few new establishments inaugurated in this city which have, in so short a period, won their way to general popularity as the new retail Clothing house of Messrs. Wanamaker & Brown, S. E. corner of Sixth and Market streets. This is attributable to a variety of causes, among the chief of which is the fact that they keep on hand stock, both of garments ready-made, and materials from which to select, to order. In fact, for anything a gentleman may need, either in the way of clothing, or Gents' Furnishing Goods, he is sure not to be disappointed in the splendid stock.

THINGS GOOD TO EAT.—Messrs. E. G. Whitman & Co., the popular Confectioners, Second street, below Chestnut, have made a palpable hit in bringing out their Spring and Summer preparations for the palate. Such an array of delicious, tempting, wholesome, and nutritious good things, to please the eye and gratify the taste, they have never before offered (and of course nobody else has), and crowds daily throng their store to obtain them. This is, in fact, the luxury, of all others, which has not been made "contraband" by the times.

ECONOMY IN LIGHT.—At these times, when rigid economy is becoming the order of the day with everybody, we take the liberty of suggesting that by far the cheapest light (as well as the most convenient and cleanly) in use, is the Kerosene Oil Lamp manufactured and sold by Messrs. Witters & Co., No. 35 North Eighth street, corner of Filbert.

BROWN'S DANDELION COFFEE.—We commend to the notice of our readers the advertisement of the above coffee, with the assurance that it is only necessary to give it a trial to take the place of all other coffee The price being only one half the cost of the best Java or Mocha, independently of its being more wholesome, is an object in the present depressed state of the times

One-price gift military and civic clothing depot, 609 Chestnut street. Gifts, suitable for both ladies and gentlemen, presented to purchasers.

THE MILITARY CLOTHING DEPOT.—Rockhill & Wilson's Brown Stone Clothing Hall appears to be the leading house for the manufacturing of military clothing. In their upper stories they have some twenty cutters employed, and about seven hundred hands are constantly engaged in making up the work. Over three thousand coats were made up by this firm in ten days for the State, besides full suits for several companies of Home Guards, and for officers of the army and navy. The location of this well-known establishment is Nos. 603 and 606 Chestnut street, above Sixth.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

HAVING BEEN AUTHORIZED BY THE STATE Authorities to manage the details of the THREE MILLION LOAN, advertised below, we earnestly request the attention of the public to the propriety and importance of a prompt and liberal investment in the same. The foot of its being exempt from all taxation, and a special tax being levied to provide for the interest, and a liberal sinking fund for the redemption of the principal, makes this Loan a most desirable investment. All information relating to the Loan can be obtained by calling on the undersigned, who will take charge of any subscriptions made, and will attend to all matters connected therewith.

PROPOSALS FOR A LOAN OF THREE MILLION DOLLARS TO THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

In pursuance of the first section of an act of the General Assembly, entitled "An act to create a loan and provide for arming the State," approved May 16th, A. D., 1861, and the sixth section of the act entitled "An act to provide for the payment of the members, officers and contingent expenses of the Extra Session of Such an Assembly, approved May 16th, A. D., 1861, and by the authority of the same,

Notice is hereby given that proposals will be received at the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, until the expiration of the first week of the month of June next, for the loaning to the Commonwealth the sum of THREE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS, for the purposes set forth in the before named acts of Assembly. The said loan to be for any sum not less than five hundred dollars, per annum, payable semi-annually in Philadelphia, and the loan to be redeemable in ten years from date; and for the payment of the interest and liquidation of the principal thereof, a special tax of one mill on the dollar has been directed to be levied on all the property in the Commonwealth taxable for state purposes. The certificates of loan shall not be subject to taxation for any purpose whatever; and all certificates of the denomination of one hundred dollars, or less, shall have coupons attached; those of a larger denomination will be issued either as inscription or coupon bonds, at the option of the holder.

The proposals must state explicitly the amount proposed to be taken, and the rate to be paid. The State reserves the right to accept the whole, or any part of the amount offered to be taken, unless the proposer stipulates otherwise. No conditional proposals will be considered.

Upon the acceptance of any proposal, at least ten per cent. of the amount must be paid down, the balance, if preferred by the Commonwealth, in thirty and sixty days, when certificates shall issue for the same, bearing interest from the time of payment.

The proposals must be directed under seal to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, endorsed "Proposals for Loan."

The bids will be opened at 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the day above named, in the presence of the Governor, State Treasurer, and Auditor General, and such other persons as may see proper to be present, when, after examination of the same, the Governor will award the loan to the highest bidder or bidders.

By order of the Governor.

ELI SLIFER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH,
HARRISBURG, May 17, 1861.

FURTHER NOTICE.

The time for receiving proposals and opening bids for the above loan is hereby extended to the THIRTEENTH OF JUNE next, by order of the Governor.

ELI SLIFER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

DR. BELL, formerly Surgeon in the United States Army, gives the following opinion of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 14, 1856.

Some months since, while recovering from an attack of Remittent Fever, I was requested to try HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, as an article peculiarly suited to the condition of convalescents from fever. It is but simple justice to say that it restored the powers of my digestive organs, and at the same time kept my bowels gently open. I have no hesitancy in saying that, hitherto, in using it in my practice, it has, in every case where I have ordered it, acted like a charm. In thus speaking freely of it, I far from puff a patent med cine, an article at by no means claims to be.
