CAPT. W. J. J. BRACELAND, of the Independent Grays (Co. I, First Regiment of Artillery, Col. Frank Patterson), died on Monday, of consumption. Capt. Braceland left a sick bed to lead his company in the three-months service. He was beloved by his own men, and enjoyed the friendship of all his brother officers. At Edwards' Ferry, and as provost marshal at Sandy Hook, Md., he won the esteem of all with whom he came in contact. He was a good soldier and a genial man. His funeral will take place from No. 118 South Thirteenth street, on Thursday morning.

LECTURE BY DR. MORIARTY.—Very Rev. Dr. Moriarty is announced to deliver a lecture, in National Hall, to-morrow evening. His subject is "Hints for Patriotism." He will, no doubt, draw a crowded house.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS: My attention has been called to a leading article in the New York Herald of the 9th, headed "An Abolition Bible," in which the writer refers to Cassell's Illustrated Family Bible now publishing. He says he finds in this edition, in the ninth chapter of Exodus, and the thirty-second verse, the word "rice," which word (he says) does not occur in the chapter at all in any correct copy of the Bible. The writer further says that there will be abundance of time to make any further interpolations in matters relating to Southern slavery, rice plantations, cotton culture, &c.

I quote the verse referred to from Cassell's edition, Exodus ix., 32, "But the wheat and the rie were not smitten, for they were not grown up."

As the word "rice" does not appear in this verse, nor in any part of the chapter, it follows that the only charge the Herald brings against this beautiful edition of the Bible is NOT TRUE. How any sane man could found a leading article in a daily newspaper on a bare-faced lie, is a question which I leave you, Mr. Editor, to solve.

Respectfully, JOHN MCFARLAN.
Agent for Cassell's Illustrated Family Bible,
33 South Sixth street.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

THE MONEY MARKET.

PHILADELPHIA, December 10, 1861.

Another dull day was noted at the Stock Board to-day, with little change in prices. Reading Railroad shares sold down to 17¾, Camden and Amboy Railroad stock declined one dollar per share, and Pennsylvania Railroad stock advanced to 37¾—a gain of ¼.

The money market is steady and unchanged.

The stockholders of the Little Schuylkill Railroad Company had another meeting to-day, and another long debate upon the affairs and management of the company, the meeting being afterwards adjourned to the 23d inst., when the directors will present a reply to the report of the committee of investigation, and the report and the answer will both probably be given to the public.

The counterfeit ones and twos on the Farmers' Bank of Schuylkill county continue to be freely circulated, and we take occasion again to caution our readers against them.

Allegheny Councils held a special meeting on Saturday night, at which some important legislation relative to the railroad debt of the city was had. Our readers will recollect that some months ago a committee was appointed to confer with the bondholders, with a view of determining a basis for the settlement of their claims against the city. The committee entered on its duties with alacrity, and a long correspondence with Mr. Lanier, of New York, acting on behalf of the bondholders, followed. A few days since, Messrs. Lanier and Meyer, the latter a heavy stockholder, arrived in this city, and after a consultation with the committee, it was agreed on as a basis of settlement that the old bonds should be exchanged for new ones bearing four per cent. interest, the arrearages of interest now due to be thrown off. Mr. Meyer, we believe, was opposed to this arrangement, only so far, however, as regarded the bonds on which he had already obtained judgments. The Hon. Thomas M. Howe, on behalf of the committee, appeared in Council at its meeting on Saturday night, and made a verbal report of what had been done, remarking, however, that the committee was not prepared to recommend any action in the matter, or the adoption of any particular course.

After hearing Mr Howe's statement, an ordinance on the subject was read, which was prepared by the City Solicitor at the instance of the committee. It provides for the exchange of old bonds of the city for new bonds of like amount, bearing four per cent. interest, payable semi-annually, irredeemable, except at the pleasure of the city, otherwise than by the operation of a sinking fund. To create this sinking fund, a tax is to be levied annually sufficient to meet the annual interest on the new bonds at four per cent., and provide an additional amount of four thousand dollars as a fund for the gradual and ultimate extinction of the debt—the amount raised in this manner to be kept separate from other city funds, and applied to payment of said interest, the surplus being invested in bonds as often as once in every two years. The bonds which the ordinance proposes to exchange are those issued by the city to the Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad, and amount to $400,000, which, at four per cent., will require an annual tax of $16,000 to meet the interest. The ordinance was discussed at length, and, after some little opposition, was adopted by a decisive vote. A resolution was also adopted authorizing the Finance Committee to apply to the Legislature for such legislation as may be necessary to carry the provisions of the ordinance into effect. This is practically the first move towards a compromise that has been yet taken here, and no doubt those who desire to see the vexed question amicably settled will hail the movement as a step in the right direction.—Pittsburg Evening Chronicle.

PENNSYLVANIA, FORT WAYNE, AND CHICAGO RAILROAD.—The line of road hence to Chicago, when purchased at Cleveland, on the 24th of October last, was designated by its new proprietors with the above title. The new corporation, which will be created this month, under a recent law of this Commonwealth, to own this property, will be styled the "Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railway Company."

The Purchasing Committee, who now hold this road, were in session, in this city, several days last week, looking closely into its condition and management, and organizing the personale and fixing the policy for the future, so as to insure entire success from this time forward. J. E. D. Lanier, Esq., of the banking house of Winslow, Lanier, & Co., New York, the chairman of the committee, has given, recently, much attention to the affairs of the road, looking to the reorganization, and, from his known experience and standing in business and financial matters, submitted by a large pecuniary interest, stockholders have good reason to congratulate themselves on having the benefit of his valuable services. We learn that the committee adjourned with a higher estimate of the property than they had ever before had.

Since the sale, G. W. Cass, Esq., has been acting as general superintendent of the road, in addition to his other duties, which position he agreed temporarily to fill until some proper person could be had. The committee have been fortunate in finding the man in John B. Jervis, Esq., whose name and fame have been identified with the public works of this country for many years as a civil engineer and railway president. Mr. Jervis entered on his duties as general superintendent yesterday, and his office will likely be in Chicago.

The office of superintendent of the Western division, just made vacant by the resignation of Mr. J. N Du Barry, who goes upon the Northern Central road, of this State, as general superintendent, has been tendered to H. A. Gardner, Esq., now the engineer of the Hudson River road, and recently vice president of the Chicago, Alton, and St. Louis road. Mr. G. brings with him much experience in his profession and a good name.

The office of general manager (which assimilates to the office of president) has been created, and is filled by Mr. Cass, who is still president of the old corporation, and will, we presume, be the president of the new one, as soon as created.

D. Judge Hanna, of Fort Wayne, the vice president of the old corporation, are assigned duties appertaining to such an office at the present time; and from his long experience, business tact, and large interest in the road, we have no doubt will be the vice president of the new corporation.—Pittsburg Post.

CITY ITEMS.

AN APPEAL TO THE PATRIOTIC.—We have been called upon by Captain W. Milhouse, of the First Virginia Infantry, General Kelly's brigade, who is making a flying visit to this city on business. He informs us that the men of his company, numbering about one hundred, are suffering from the want of shoes, stockings, and mittens. They were furnished with these articles of an indifferent quality when they first entered the service; but most of the shoes have worn worn out inside of twenty days, and of course the stockings were rendered useless. In some respects, the brave men who have been fighting our battles in Western Virginia occupy a peculiar position. They are in a measure friendless; that is to say, while they are accredited to Virginia, which is not in a condition to provide very liberally for the comfort of her own soldiers, many of them are citizens of other States. This is true to a large extent of Captain Milhouse's company, the captain being himself a Philadelphian, as is also his superior officer, General Kelly, than whom no man is better or more favorably known to our merchants. Captain Milhouse will remain in this city a day or two, and is desirous of obtaining these necessaries for the men of his company, especially stockings, mittens, or gloves. Persons having goods of this class to contribute are respectfully requested to send them to Messrs. Wright, Smith, & Co.'s, No. 5 North Fifth street, before Friday next. We hope this privilege of contributing to the comfort and efficiency of a company of volunteers well known in this community will meet a prompt and liberal response.

"HINTS FOR PATRIOTISM."—This will be the subject of a lecture to be delivered in National Hall, Market street, below Thirteenth, to-morrow evening, by the Rev. Dr. Moriarty, one of the most eminent men in the Catholic church. The Doctor, always eloquent, will no doubt be unusually so on this occasion, both from the nature of his theme and the noble cause in behalf of which the lecture is to be given. The proceeds are to be disbursed by the "St. Vincent de Paul Society," for the benefit of the poor. He is sure to be honored with an immense audience.

NEW CLOTHING WAREHOUSE.—We invite attention to the card of Mr. E. H. Eldridge, clothier, No. 628 Market street, formerly at Chestnut and Eighth. In his new quarters, with a superior stock of goods, and one of the most skilful cutters in the country at the head of this department he may justly ask and expect a liberal share of patronage. We may also state, that in charges he is unusually moderate. He is prepared to do the finest and most tasteful work, while he has garments of every grade to suit the wants of the humblest. His old friends and the public in general, we are quite sure, will be suited exactly to their taste at his establishment, and at very reasonable rates. We wish him every success in his new quarters.

BUYING PRESENTS AT OAKFORDS'.—From what we saw at the magnificent saleslooms of Messrs. Charles Oakford & Sons, under the Continental Hotel, yesterday, we are led to believe that our citizens are this season adopting the wiser plan of buying their presents early, instead of leaving it until the last moment, when purchases are always sure to be made at less advantage. It must be admitted, however, that Oakfords' inducements for this pleasant class of shopping are extraordinary. There is no class of desirable presents for either children, ladies, or Gentlemen, that is not found in greatest variety and in the best taste in this famous old establishment. The Christmas season has evidently set in with them in earnest. They are still selling the choicest cut of ladies' Furs at prices much below those usually charged for the same qualities.

CHRISTMAS CONFECTIONERY.—For the richest and most exquisite Confectionery, prepared expressly for the Christmas holidays, our readers are respectfully recommended to the well-known house of Messrs. E. G. Whitman & Co., Second street, below Chestnut. Their present stock surpasses in richness, beauty, and suitable style for presents, and making Christmas happy in general, anything that we have ever examined. Hundreds are already flocking there daily and supplying themselves with these delicious edibles.

MCCLELLAN NECKING EVERYBODY.—The great regard entertained by the mass of our citizens for the genius young commander of our army is fittingly expressed in the extensive patronage of taste is buying and wearing the beautiful new McClellan Ties and Scarfs, lately invented, patented, and now being sold by Mr. J. A. Kehlmann, northwest corner of Chestnut and Seventh.

SEASONABLE FOREIGN FRUITS.—Mr. C. H. Mattson, dealer in fine groceries, Arch and Tenth streets, has just received a lot of fine Layer Raisins, of the celebrated "Crown" brand; also, the finest quality of figs, to which we invite attention.

ADVERTISING EXTRAORDINARY.—Three weeks ago the British Commissioners for the Exhibition of 1862 received offers for the use of the wrappers of the two-shilling satchels. Bennet, the watchmaker, was a successful bidder for the back pages of the catalogue wrappers, having paid for the two the sum of one thousand guineas. The Accidental Death Assurance Company obtained the last page but one at the price of six hundred pounds, and Rockhill & Wilson, the proprietors of the Brown Stone Clothing Hall, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth, Philadelphia, declined to pay $900,000 for a notice of their elegant suits for civilians and military men.

VERBAL STATISTICS.—Professor Max Miller, in his admirable lecture on the "Science of Language," tells us that, out of the 50,000 words or so in the English tongue, it has been found that a puzzle laborer only used 200. An ordinary educated man is supposed to use 3,000 or 4,000, while a great orator reaches 10,000. En passant, we might add that the splendid and well-made winter Clothing manufactured at the Fashionable Emporium of Granville Stokes, 609 Chestnut street, is used alike by the laborer, the educated man, and the orator, as the prices are fixed at such low figures as to render these superior garments within the reach of all.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THE DREAM.—

BY THE BARD OF TOWER HALL.

Said Simpson (an unlucky wight),
I dreamed I dwelt in chambers bright;
Superbly furnished were the rooms,
And filled with exquisite perfumes;
There was a radiance soft and clear
Diffused from many a chandelier;
It fell on paintings rich and rare,
And sculptured forms divinely fair.
Around the wide saloons I gazed,
O'erjoyed, enchanted, and amazed,
And by my fancy then deceived
In all that splendor I believed;
But on my unbecoming dress
I looked with sorrow and distress,
For while such frightful clothes I wore,
I felt a loafer and no more.
"Alas!" I cried, "this scene so bright
Is but a vision of the night;
Some spiteful wizard mocks my fate
And ridicules my low estate.
Why could he not the kindness show
To dress me well, from top to toe,
At TOWER HALL?"—that kind deceit
Had made my glorious dream complete.
