THE POLICE.

[Before Mr. Alderman Beitler.]

Heavy Forgeries.

A young man giving the name of Charles H. Craig was arraigned at the Central Station on the charge of forgery. It seems that he has been very extensively engaged in the business, and was taken in his first trick. The following evidence was elicited:

Chief Franklin testified that, from information received from the police authorities of Baltimore last night, he arrested the defendant, who had assumed the name of Charles H. Norton, and who is charged with having issued forged drafts, in the name of F. Granger Adams, Banker, at Chicago, to the extent of $6,000. The residence, No. 918 South Fifth street, was searched, and a large number of papers connected with the business in which the defendant appears to have been engaged were recovered.

Among the papers were a number of protests from various banking houses in Baltimore, stating that the drafts of F. Granger Adams, on the firm of Taylor & Co., H. Norton, had been protested, or returned. The draft book was also recovered. Also, a check for $1,459 drawn by Taylor & Bro., of New York, on the Marine Bank of that city, to the endorsement of Messrs. Lindsay, Chittick, & Co., of that city. The signature of the check was genuine, but the endorsement was a fraud. This check was advanced on a forged draft in the name of F. G. Adams, drawn on the house of Jay Cooke & Co., of Philadelphia.

Mr. J. Taggert (detective) testified to the arrest of the accused and the recovery of the official documents.

Wm. J. Chittick, of the firm of Messrs. Lindsay, Chittick, & Co., testified that the endorsement on the check of Taylor & Bro. is a forgery.

R. Clarkson, cashier of the banking-house of Jay Cooke & Co., testified that the Philadelphia Bank had presented the draft of F. G. Adams for collection; Mr. Adams keeps no account with our house; the draft is a forgery; the transaction was simply an exchange for a check drawn upon the Merchants' Bank, N. Y., by Taylor & Bro.

Chief Franklin desired the defendant held to await the appearance of the gentleman who lithographed the drafts.

The defendant was committed in default of $5,000 bail to await a further hearing.

There are several statements respecting the doings of the accused, but as they are not well authenticated, we refrain from giving them a place in this column. It is supposed that the amount of all the drafts he had out will reach a hundred thousand dollars, on which he had not obtained a single cent.

In the Tobacco Business.

Nathan S. Faxon was arraigned before Alderman Beitler, yesterday, on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretences. It seems, according to the evidence, that he proceeded to the store of Mr. C. Woodward and purchased a box of tobacco in the name of Mr. R. McDermot & Co., stating that he was in the employ of this firm. He then took the tobacco to the store of Mr. D. S. Keller and sold it, giving him a receipt in the name of Mr. R. McDermot, signed by Nathan S. Faxon. The process he placed in his pocket. He then succeeded in obtaining 1,000 cigars, for $14.50, in the name of Mr. McDermot, and disposed of them in like manner. He was committed in default of $1,000 to answer.

[Before Mr. Recorder Enen.]

Again Postponed.

The case of Major Somers, Messrs. Blake and Mackey, charged with illegally arresting A. W. Potter of his liberty, came up before the Recorder yesterday, but was postponed until next Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. A warrant has been lodged against Major Somers, charging him with illegally arresting Gustavus Rosenhall. The defendant was required to enter $1,000 additional bail on this charge.

[Before Mr. Alderman Plankinton.]

Stabbed with Scissors.

Eliza Chesterfield alias Winters was charged yesterday with stabbing a woman named Jane Ryan in the back with a pair of scissors. The wound is somewhat dangerous. The accused was committed to answer.

Charged with Arson.

Last evening a colored girl, about ten years old, named Emily Fisher, was charged before Alderman Beitler with arson. The evidence showed that at the house where she was servant, No. 29 South Second street, she, on Wednesday night, went into the cellar, and getting a basket of chips, lighted them near the coal bin. The smoke soon aroused the family, and the fire was soon extinguished. The girl has of late shown a marke for lighting fires purely for destructive purposes. She was committed.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

District Court—Judge Sharswood.

Snyder vs. Malone. An action on a promissory note. Before reported. Verdict for defendant, $285.

Wm. J. Seely and Lemuel B. Justice, administrators of Joseph Justice, deceased, vs. John G. Williams. An action on a judgment note. The defence set up was that real estate was conveyed to Joseph Justice at the time of the judgment note as a collateral security for its payment, and that the property was subsequently taken as payment. Verdict for defendant.

Thos. W. Price vs. Philadelphia City Passenger Ry. An action to recover for blank books furnished to the Receiver of Taxes, City Commissioners, and Health Office. Verdict for plaintiff for $1,066 57.

Patrick Lafferty vs. Thomas Cain et al., trading as Cain, Hacker, & Co., owners of a boat, to recover a bill of freight, and also damages for the sinking of a canal boat at Kelly's Mill, near Manayunk, which was the effective construction of the wharf where the boat was moored. The defence set up was that the sinking was caused by the plaintiff's own negligence in moving his boat too close to the wharf, so that when the tide fell it careened over and sank. Joseph Thomas, Esq., for plaintiff; Geo. W. Biddle, Esq., for defendant.

District Court—Judge Hare.

Margaret Dougherty et al. vs. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company. An action to recover damages, &c. Before reported. Verdict for defendant.

Hagan et al. vs. The Philadelphia and Trenton Railroad Company. This was an action brought by the widow and minor children of John Hagan, deceased, to recover damages for injuries sustained by his death, caused, as is alleged, by the negligence of the defendants. Mr. Hagan was killed on the 28th of January, 1861, at the intersection of Richmond lane and Ann street, on the line of the Philadelphia and Trenton Railroad. He was struck while crossing the track and knocked down by the train coming down to the depot, and instantly killed. It is alleged, on the part of the plaintiffs, that there was no whistle blown, or bell rung, or anything done to warn persons crossing the street of the approach of the train. The defence, on the other hand, alleged that the whistle was blown and the bell rung, and all the usual precautions taken. Before reported. Verdict, for Dougherty, Esq., for plaintiff; E. Ray and G. Mallery, Esqs., for defendants.
