field, killing thirty-five. The fight only ended at 2 P. M. The troops were unable to cross until the morning of the 3d. They moved only without distance, Negley encamping on the battle-field, and Rosseau and Brannan on the bank of the river.

Gen. McCook in the meantime advanced to and occupied Winchester, Decherd, and Cowan. This morning, the whole force advanced to the foot of the mountain to find the enemy gone.

We lost not over 1,100 men by casualties of all kinds. The troops have suffered most from alternate heat and rain.

We have from 1,500 to 2,000 prisoners, and many deserters. The enemy is entirely out of Tennessee, and our communications intact. The railroad will be in running order to this point to-morrow.

General John Morgan Attacks Lebanon, Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, July 5.—At 7 o'clock this morning John Morgan, with 4,000 cavalry, attacked the 20th Kentucky Infantry, 400 strong, at Lebanon. After seven hours fighting he set fire to the railroad depôt and six or seven houses, when our force surrendered, and Morgan left in the direction of Springfield. There were six or seven killed on each side.

Thirty rebel guerillas crossed the Nashville road at Rocky Hill station, yesterday morning, burned the depôt, and went on to the Lebanon branch, nine miles from Lebanon, and fired into the train going down, killing one man and wounding another. They riddled one car, and then went towards Lebanon. In their way they encountered ten men of the 63d Indiana Infantry, who without any commissioned officer whipped the thirty rebel cavalry, killing four, when the rest decamped. No loss on our side.

Captain Arnest, of the 26th Kentucky, attacked a rebel company at Woodburn, on the Nashville road, and whipped them, capturing fifty horses and four prisoners and wounding several. The rebels fled in the direction of South Union. Colonel Murray's cavalry is in pursuit.

From Memphis.

MEMPHIS, July 3.—There is no news from below to-day.

Major General Oglesby has tendered his resignation, on account of ill-health.

A flag of truce, on a burial matter, appeared, from General Chalmers, to-day, at our outposts.

Speech of Franklin Pierce, at the Concord Mass Meeting.

CONCORD, N. H., July 4.—Over 25,000 Democrats of this State assembled here to-day. It was one of the largest mass meetings ever held in New Hampshire. Ex-President Pierce presided, and, upon taking the chair, made an address. He commenced by alluding to the day whose anniversary was being celebrated, and to the Union and the Constitution, eulogizing the wisdom and moderation of those who formed them both. They intended to form a practicable Government, and not a mere Utopian fancy. He lamented the present calamity, when, instead of a war against a foreign foe, the country was plunged into domestic dissensions. This, he said, was caused by the vicious intermeddling of too many of the citizens of the Northern States, with the constitutional rights of the Southern States, and the discontented people in the Southern States then cooperated with the intermeddlers in the Northern States, causing a total disregard of the Constitution by both parties.

Even here, in the loyal States, the misled hand of military usurpation strikes down the liberties of the people, and its foot tramples on a desecrated Constitution. Even here, in these free and independent States, it is made criminal for a citizen-soldier, like the gallant Edgerly, of New Hampshire, to vote according to his conscience; or, like that martyr of free speech, Clement L. Vallandigham, to discuss public affairs in Ohio. [Loud applause.] Aye! even here, the temporary agents for the sovereign people—the transitory administrators of the Government—tell us that in time of war the most arbitrary will of the President is sufficient for us, and we must obey it. The President himself announces to us that it is treasonable for speak or to write otherwise than he may prescribe. Mr. Pierce quoted from the letter of President Lincoln to the Hon. Erastus Corning, of Albany, Oct. 1863, in which the President claimed the right to arrest and imprison any citizen who should express a wish for a speedy and honorable peace.

Mr. Pierce quoted from the letter of President Lincoln to the Hon. Erastus Corning, of Albany, Oct. 1863, in which the President claimed the right to arrest and imprison any citizen who should express a wish for a speedy and honorable peace. He concluded his speech by urging moderation and a strict regard for all constitutional rights. He could not but believe that all the States would one day be again united. He lamented the casualties of this fruitless war—a war prosecuted on the basis of the proclamation of September, 1862. His advice and hope was to rely on the moral power of the people, and not on any of the coercive instrumentalities of military power.

Hon. D. W. Voorhees, of Indiana, followed General Pierce in a speech, which was received with great favor, and at the mention of the name of Vallandigham the entire audience sprang to their feet, and broke forth into prolonged cheers.

A series of resolutions were unanimously adopted, denouncing the policy of the Administration, and expressing a wish for a speedy and honorable peace.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—There has been recently a great advance in the leading Washoe stock, caused by the completion of the tunnels striking the Comstock ledge in the Gould & Curry claim, 350 feet deeper than the lowest point from which ore had been previously taken. The ore was extremely rich. This tunnel demonstrates the permanency of the Comstock ledge, and establishes the fact that it is one of the richest silver mines ever discovered.

The American ship Challenger was purchased today by an agent of the Peruvian Government. It is understood she will hereafter be employed in carrying Coolies from China to the Chinch Islands.

Several large ships had been detained about a fortnight, awaiting crews, there being a great scarcity of seamen. Money is easy. The receipts of treasure from the interior and northern coast since the sailing of the last steamer amounts to two millions two hundred thousand dollars, and there has been a considerable influx of gold from the Eastern States, seeking an investment. Currency exchange is selling at 35@40 per cent. premium on gold in New York. Sterling, 48@. Sales of pure spirits at 47½c. Rio Coffee, 28½c.

Key West.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The steamer Kensington, from New Orleans with dates to the 23d, and Key West to the 29th ult., has arrived.

The steamers Planter and Neptune, prizes taken off Mobile, before reported, arrived at Key West on the 29th. Several prize schooners had also arrived at the same place.

Captain Smith, late of the steam-frigate Mississippi, and others, are passengers by the Kensington. NEW YORK, July 5.—The Kensington, Key West, from New Orleans 24th, and Key West 30th ult., arrived to-night. The prize steamers Planter and Neptune and the gunboat Alabama were at Key West.

From Nashville.

NASHVILLE, July 4.—The water on the shoals is 14 feet, and still rising.

LOUISVILLE, July 4.—The morning train for Nashville has been ordered back to Louisville to-day, on account of an apprehended difficulty up the road. The up train, at the last advices, was at Bowling Green. The rumors of a fight at Glasgow Junction are incorrect.

From Bahia.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Bahia dates of June 2d state that the gunboat Mohican is in that port, and that the rebel pirates Alabama and Florida are also there, watching the movements of the Mohican.

Specie for Europe.

NEW YORK, July 4—P. M.—The City of Manchester sailed at noon for Liverpool. She took out $172,754 in specie. The Bremen sailed at the same time for Southampton, taking out $65,153 in specie.

These steamers will take out the late news from the seat of war near Gettysburg.

It is understood that Lord Lyons telegraphed important despatches a few minutes before the steamer sailed.

The Pirate Alabama off Kingston, Jam.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The Kingston, Jamaica, Gleaner, of June 16th says, a vessel arrived there reports meeting the pirate Alabama on the 14th, off that port, cruising close inland in the track of the Aspinwall steamers.

Arrival of the Bavaria.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The steamer Bavaria has arrived. Her dates have been anticipated.

Arrival of the Northern Light.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The steamer Northern Light has arrived from Aspinwall, with 150 passengers and $250,000 in treasure.

THE STREETS.—The Chief Superintendent of the City Contractor's Department has sent us a long letter, in which, though he does not contradict our statement that the streets of Philadelphia are not put into and kept in a clean condition, he declares that the Contractor is now at increased expense, from the augmented price of labor; that he has expended $5,000 more than he is to receive; and that, owing to the withholding of his signature by the City Controller, the bills of the Contractor "for work done in May and June are not paid by the City's official," and that said Contractor "has not received a dollar from the city since the first of April last."

Public Entertainments.

NEW CHESTNUT-STREET THEATRE.—The "Peep o' Day" promises to be the most successful play yet produced at the New Chestnut-street Theatre, an establishment, which spares neither pains nor expense to render its dramas popular and effective. In these exciting times no theatre could hope to draw crowded houses night after night, unless the attractions were unusually brilliant and various. These conditions are fulfilled in a rare degree at this favorite establishment. "The Peep o' Day" has proved an irresistible novelty, and its universal appreciation as a play of melo-dramatic and spectacular interest is creditable to the enterprise and liberality of the management and the good taste of our citizens. This drama, excellent in its way, is full of incident, situation, and scene, and furnishes abundant opportunity for the general talents of a very agreeable and animated company. Where all acquit themselves with so much spirit and taste, it is scarcely necessary to particularize. The effect of the play is given with entirety. In Mrs. Bowers' position as the heroine, the chief interest centres. Kathleen is in many respects an exquisite performance.

The scene of the rescue of Kathleen from Black Mullins (Mr. Charles Wheatleigh), which terminates the third act, is given with thrilling effect, and will linger in the memory of even habitual playgoers. Mr. Barrett's share in this important scene was truthful and artistic, and fully establishes his force and versatility as an artist.

ELEVENTH-STREET OPERA HOUSE.—To-night, at this well-known establishment, Dumas' work, "The Conscript," will be produced in its dramatized form. We have already referred to its merits, and there is little occasion that we should commend it to the amusement-loving public. It is destined to have a good run.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—A fire broke out at four o'clock this morning, in Willow street, near Second, at the leather manufactory of Jacob Middleton. The flames had spread widely before the engines arrived, and the whole manufactory had been consumed, notwithstanding the strenuous exertions of the firemen. An adjoining wool manufactory has also been damaged. The loss will probably reach $10,000

NOTICE FROM GENERAL DANA.—Headquarters, Philadelphia, Pa., July 5, 1863.—Citizens who have volunteered, or desire to volunteer gangs of men to work on fortifications, are notified that places can now be assigned them, and are requested to leave notice accordingly, at these headquarters.
N. J. T. DANA, Major-General.

THE PENN RELIEF ASSOCIATION.—The rooms of this association will be open during the week from 8 A. M. An urgent call is made for muslin for bandages, and also for stimulants to aid the wounded in the battles of Gettysburg.

TWENTY-SEVENTH MAINE.—The 27th Maine Regiment passed through our city on their return home yesterday. They were fed at the refreshment saloons.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—A man named Wm. Hickman, 48 years of age, cut his throat with a razor, at his residence, No. 502 St. John street. He was removed to the hospital.

The friends of the Commission, in view of the heavy drafts upon the treasury, are making generous special contributions for the present exigency, for which we are truly grateful. Never were they more needed. Large delegations with supplies of stores have been sent. Others will go; and large contributions will be needed to meet the expense. GEORGE H. STUART, jt Chairman.
