CITY ITEMS.

ECONOMIZING STRENGTH.—Scarcely anything is more important than to expend our physical strength, so as to accomplish the greatest results practicable. It is by enabling us to do this that labor-saving machines multiply human power, and promote immensurably human progress and happiness. The sewing machine sets ten stitches sooner than the human hand can set one, and makes them better than the hand. But the same economy of our strength that requires the purchase and use of sewing machines by all who have the means, requires also a just discrimination and selection in purchasing between even good machines. One machine will tire, and consume the operator's strength, twice as much in accomplishing a given amount of work as another of the same cost. The shuttle or lock-stitch sewing machines, heretofore approved and extensively used, require nearly double the outlay of strength in their use which the new and less complicated shuttle or lock-stitch machine, just produced by Mr. Grover, of the Grover & Baker S. M. Co., requires in doing the same work.

MESSRS. WENDEROTH & TAYLOR (formerly Brondbent & Co.), Nos. 912, 914, and 916 Chestnut street, have just added to their superb collection of carte de visite for the showing of visitors, those of Joseph R. Chandler, Major General Doubleday, Rev. C. W. Thompson, and others, duplicates of which can be had at their counters; also, at McAllister's, 728 Chestnut street.

WHITE BRANDY FOR PRESERVING PURPOSES.—Messrs. Davis & Richards (successors to the late C. H. Matteson), dealers in fine family Groceries, Arch and Tenth streets, have now in store a superior article of White Brandy, expressly adapted for preserving purposes.

A MAGNIFICENT full seven-octave rosewood Piano-forte for sale at a great sacrifice; elegantly-carved case and legs; round corners; all modern improvements; been in use four months; cost $600; will sell for less than half cost. To be seen at the residence, No. 1418 Lombard street. sec2-2t*

A SERENADE.

I sing beneath your lattice, love,
A song of great regard for you,
The moon is getting rather high;
My voice is, too.

The blossoms on the pumpkin vine
Are weeping diamond tears of dew;
'Tis warm, the flowers are wilting fast;
My linen, too.

And now I've done my serenade,
Farewell! my best regards to you;
My clothes are feeling rather tight,
And I am, too.

Augustus should get his clothing at Charles Stokes & Co.'s, under the Continental, and he will never be "tight" or "hard up."

OLD AND NEW STYLES.—It is generally known that Julius Cæsar, about forty-five years before the Christian era, reformed the calendar on the basis of the year, consisting of three hundred and sixty-five days and six hours. This was a marvellous approach to accuracy; but it was not quite accurate, as it made the year nearly eleven minutes too long. The error was corrected by Pope Gregory XIII., in 1752, by which time the odd minutes had accumulated ten days. The calendar up to the present day is therefore correct, as may be ascertained by calling at the mammoth clothing emporium of Granville Stokes, No. 609 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

THE BREACHES OF SUMPTER.—Everybody is talking about the breaches in Charleston harbor. Sumpter has been breached, Moultrie and Wagner have been invested, and Charleston itself has been threatened with sacking. While this wholesale war tailoring has been carried on in Charleston harbor, the good people of Philadelphia are providing themselves with elegant and practical garments, that are more comfortable than the breaches of Sumpter or the investment of Moultrie, at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth.
