CITY ITEMS.

EXCITING NEWS FROM ABROAD would doubtless enhance the premium on gold, and inflate prices generally. Whether we have such news or not, however, the price of Coal must advance, from the great demand for it which the present change in the weather has induced. The pressure to obtain coal from the popular yard of Mr. W. W. Alter, Ninth street, above Poplar, during the whole of last week was enormous. Notwithstanding this, Mr. Alter has determined to keep down prices for his patrons, and those who send in their orders first will probably, therefore, fare best.

FRESH SUPPLY OF BISCUIT.—Messrs. Davis & Richards, (successors to the late C. H. Mattson,) dealers in fine family groceries, Arch and Tenth streets, have just received a fresh invoice of Boston Bean, Butter, Milk, Wine, and Cream Biscuit, to which we invite the attention of families.

PREPARING FOR FALL AND WINTER.—Messrs. C. Oakford & Sons, under the Continental Hotel, are preparing to offer the most magnificent stock of goods in their several departments that they have ever offered.

SPLENDID FITTING SHIRTS.—Mr. George Grant, No. 610 Chesnut street, has now ready his fall manufacture and importation of fashionable Furnishing Goods for Gentlemen—the finest stock in the city.

AN ELEGANT STOCK OF MILITARY FURNISHING GOODS, for Army and Navy officers, will be found at Oakford & Sons,' under the Continental, at moderate prices.

ELEGANCE AND COMFORT versus UGLINESS AND DISCOMFORT.—Father Adam, with his fig-leaf suit, was scarcely more behind the age than are some of the illy-dressed individuals of the present day. "Bunchy" coats, ill-fitting pants, and flat-chested vests are among the prominent peculiarities of the half-dressed people of the time; while elegant, comfortable, and substantial garments are the characteristics of well-dressed men. We will say nothing that is ill-natured and invidious, but justice compels us to remark that the best, the most comfortable and the most elegant garments extant are those that are made at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth.

MARRIAGE.—

"In choice of wife prefer the modest, chaste;
Lilies are fair in show, but foul in smell;
The sweetest looks by age are soon detaced;
Then choose thy wife by wit and loving well.
Who brings thee wealth and many faults withal,
Presents thee money mixed with bitter gall.

So sang the poet of a bygone day;
We of the present now will sing our lay:
Next to a wife to choose, since Adam's fall
Is clothing proper, good, and cheap withal.
To Stokes & Co.'s, beneath the Continental,
We recommend the gay and sentimental.

THE WEATHER.—The atmosphere for the last two days has been decidedly chilly, and already are our friends hunting over their wardrobes and selecting therefrom garments more suited for this sudden change. To those whose wardrobes are not already supplied with seasonable garments we would say that Granville Stokes, the Fashionable Clothier and Merchant Tailor, No. 609 Chestnut, has on hand the choicest assortment of Fall Goods in the country which he can furnish, ready made or made to order, at prices 25 per cent. lower than any other establishment.

GENTLEMEN'S HATS.—All the newest and best styles for Fall Wear, in Felt, Silk, and Cassimere, will be found at Warburton's, No. 430 Chestnut street, next door to the Post Office. se17 1m
