The following was offered by Mr. Server:

Resolved, That any attempt, upon the part of any officer or officers of the Board, to vote any of the inmates of the Almshouse at the ensuing election, will be regarded as the decided disposition of the Board, and subject the offender to removal.

Mr. Erety moved to amend it to read, "any action on the part." Agreed to.

The resolution as amended then passed.

The Board then went into an election of officers. It resulted in the choice of the present officers, except by a few votes where special reasons induced a change.

Mr. Maris tendered his resignation as president of the Board. He had derived much pleasure from the associations he had made; but the demands of his business were of such a nature that he could not, in justice to himself, longer retain the position he held.

Mr. Erety paid a high tribute to the conduct of Mr. Maris while discharging his duties as president of the Board. It was with feelings of regret that he moved the acceptance of the resignation of Mr. Maris.

The resignation was then accepted.

Nominations for president for the unexpired term of Mr. Maris were then made.

Mr. Dickinson nominated Mr. Geo. Erety.

Mr. Erety declined a nomination. His business would not permit him to devote the necessary time. He begged leave to nominate Mr. H. Dickinson.

On motion of Mr. Lowry, Mr. Dickinson was unanimously elected.

The Board then adjourned.

J. A. Hall, Philadelphia—2,000 yards white flannel, at 62 cents; 5,000 yards red do., at 65 cents.

And the following at the Assistant Quartermaster's office:

Robertson & Richards, for repairs at the United States Medical Laboratory, at Sixth and Oxford streets, of the steam and gas-fitting, $1,836.

Naylor & Co.—5,000 feet of lumber, at $25 per thousand feet; 130 hemlock posts, at $21.50 per thousand feet.

DEATHS AT ARMY HOSPITALS.—The following deaths were reported at the Medical Director's office:

Chester Hospital—James Welsh, Company K, 26th Pennsylvania; L. Winter, Company K, 50th Georgia.

Sixteenth and Filbert streets—Ellis Royer, Company C, 17th Wisconsin; George Batchelor, Company D, 2d Wisconsin.

South street—Michael Welsh, Company C, 69th Pennsylvania.

NEW ORGAN.—A handsome new organ will be opened at St. Patrick's Church, South Twenteenth street, on Thursday evening, when there will be an accompaniment of a sacred concert. The instrument has three sets of keys and pedals. The compass of the keys is C C to G, in alt. There are thirty-four stops (besides basses), four couplers, tremulant, and two shifting movements, and a total of 1,740 pipes. The swell organ is very large and complete (66 keys); many modern stops, as violina, dulciana (of different character), flute harmonic, hautboy, trumpet, clarion, clarionet, bourdon, &c., are in this instrument.

WHOLESALE FRAUDS.—Naturalization papers, purporting to have been issued within a short time past by the Supreme Court, are a gross fraud, and should be peremptorily rejected at the coming election. It is a notorious fact that some of them were issued when there was no judge on the bench. This can be testified by respectable citizens. It is also said that some of these papers are antedated. Such a shameless fraud has seldom come to light before the object is consummated, for which these papers are issued. Every one of them should be rejected at the polls. Let the subject be contested afterwards.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

United States Circuit Court—Judges Grier and Cadwalader.

The October session of the court commenced yesterday morning, and the list was called, but without success in obtaining a case for trial.

The case of the Pennsylvania Railroad vs. John M. Riley was then called for argument. Originally this was a bill filed in the Supreme Court of this State, praying for an injunction against the defendant to restrain him from collecting a tax levied on the manufactures of the company at their works. The company allege that the act of Assembly embraces the works of the company, as they manufacture exclusively for their own use, and were not manufacturers within the meaning of the act. The case was removed to the United States Circuit Court, and was partially argued yesterday morning by Mr. George T. Campbell, Esq., for the company.

District Court No 1—Judge Stroud.

Jury trials for the first period of the September term commenced yesterday, but most of the cases were disposed of by continuances. One case, however—an action against the late sheriff, William H. Ludlow, to recover damages for an alleged false return to a writ of fi. fa.—was put on trial, and concluded by the court entering a nonsuit.

District Court No. 2—Judge Sharswood.

Jury trials for the first period of the September term also commenced in this court yesterday, but all the cases on the day's list were disposed of by continuances. The applications for continuance were principally made on account of the absence of material witnesses in the army.

Court of Common Pleas—Judge Allison.

The October Term of the court commenced yesterday, and the Certificate List was taken under consideration during the day

Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions—Judge Thompson.

The October Session commenced yesterday, but beyond the appointment of a foreman for the Grand Jury, and the receiving of the regular returns made on the commencement of a term, nothing was done.

THE POLICE.

(Before Mr. Alderman Beitler.)

A Wife in a Quandary.

Yesterday afternoon an unusually interesting scene took place at the Central Station, in which a wife, dressed in deep black, was placed in a dilemma so as to be envied. A Mr. Engleman was called to the specified charges growing out of the following transactions:

Detective Bartholomew testified that several weeks since Mrs. Mary Cann came to the Central Station, and made affidavit that a married man, named Engleman, had run away with her daughter. In company with Mr. Henderson, of the detective force, I went to various places in Pennsylvania, and finally traced the runaways to Easton, where Engleman gave the name of Wm. Burton, and passed the daughter of Mrs. Cann off as his wife—they put up at the house of Mr. Wetzell—from Easton the parties were traced to Allentown, where they put up as Mr. Burton and wife. Here some outside parties interfered, and the fugitives escaped. They were finally traced to the house of Mr. John Rudy, at Salisbury township, Lehigh county, where Mr. Engleman was taken into custody; his wife is present, who will show that he is a married man.

Mr. George H. Earle, who appeared as counsel for the defence, now interposed.

Mrs. Engleman was called to the stand.

"You need not testify here, madam; you cannot be made a witness of."

"Take the book," said the alderman.

"You need not do anything of the kind," said Mr. Earle.

"She is his lawful wife," interposed Mr. Bartholomew.

"You cannot make a witness of a wife against her husband," responded Mr. Earle, with an unusual degree of warmth.

The lady was in a quandary; she did not exactly know what to do. The Alderman asking her if she was going to swear—he detective telling her to do so, while Mr. Earle peremptorily told her not to do any such thing.

"Well, she need not testify against her husband," said Mr. Bartholomew; "she can swear she is his lawful wife."

"Well, I advise you," said Mr. Earle, "not to interfere with my client."

The wife stood mute, the magistrate patiently awaiting her to make up her mind. What do you intend to do?" said he.

"Don't you swear at all?" replied Mr. Earle.

"I shall do what the lawyer says."

"I shall have to commit you for interfering with the course of justice."

"Let him do so, madam; I'll take out a writ of habeas corpus, and have you discharged. Here, Whitman," said Mr. Earle, "go and get me Wharton's Digest of Criminal Law."

Exit Mr. Whitman, in search of the desired volume.

The alderman, by this time, had made out a commitment against the wife, and so announced it.

She was in a worse dilemma than ever. She looked at Lawyer Earle imploringly. "Oh, let him commit you, madam; I'll take out a writ of habeas corpus, and have you liberated in a day or two."

This promise, however, did not seem to console her in the least. Prison bars, creaking bolts, and rattling chains had no music for her.

"Madam," said the alderman, "you are committed, in default of $1,000, to answer the charge of interfering in the dispensation of justice."

"Alderman," replied the lady, "I do not wish to interfere in that way; that man is my husband."

Mr. Earle. Well, madam, take my advice; you need not swear to that; the law does not compel you to swear against your husband; this is sound law, madam; let the alderman commit you; I'll take out a writ of habeas corpus; I advise you to go down, (meaning to prison.)

Mr. Whitman now re-entered with Wharton's digest under his arm.

Mr. Earle read extracts from it, showing that a wife cannot be made a witness of against her husband. Her marriage must be proven by other evidence than here.

"That's all very pretty," replied the magistrate; "in this case we simply wish, as a preliminary, to identify the prisoner. Mr. Bartholomew, when can you have the other witnesses?"

"In about a week or ten days, sir."

"The accused is required to enter bail in the sum of $1,500 to appear at this office on October 15th."

The case here closed, and the parties, lawyers, and spectators, left the office.

In a short time the wife came before the magistrate, and said that she did not wish to interfere with the course of justice; that she was willing to swear the prisoner was her husband, and would have done so if the lawyer had not told her not to do so.

Mrs. Engleman was then qualified, and testified that she was married some years since, by the Rev. Mr. Manship, to the accused; she was his lawful wife.

The case now fully closed for the present, the wife taking her departure; the husband being left in the custody of the police.

This extraordinary scene gave rise to considerable discussion as to the rights of lawyers. The law, as will be found in "Binns' Justice," page 318, contains the following section, which is rather conclusive on this point:

Section 5. An attorney has no right to interfere as advocate or otherwise for or against a prisoner charged before a magistrate with felony or indictable misdemeanor. Indeed, he has no right even to be present, for this being merely a preliminary proceeding to ascertain whether there are sufficient grounds for sending the prisoner to his trial before a jury, it is similar to the inquiry before the grand jury, and no person has a right to interfere, nor is the justice's room, upon such an occasion, deemed an open court. 1 Barn. & C., 37.

The justices may, and frequently do, allow attorneys to act for the prisoner or prosecutor, and even sometimes allow a case to stand over until the prisoner's attorney is in attendance; but this must be considered a matter of courtesy, not of right.

An Assessor Bound Over.

Adam Gamber, an assessor in the Twenty-fourth ward, was bound over yesterday afternoon in the sum of $1,000, to answer the charge of misdemeanor in office. The facts adduced in this case are, that Peter Campbell resides at the military hospital in the Twenty-fourth ward; has resided there since August, 1862; that he is a naturalized citizen, and has his papers; made application to be assessed; the defendant refused to assess me, and said that I was not a citizen, as I was a soldier; I have no other residence now than the hospital.

On the cross-examination, the witness testified the assessor said, if I was sworn to the General Government, I had no right to vote; I entered the service at the hospital; I lived in the Fifteenth ward previously; the assessor told me to go out.

On a re-examination, the witness said that he was only sworn into the service of the United States Government in August, 1863, having been employed a year before being sworn in.

Mr. Augustus C. Jones was called to the stand. He testified that Mr. Assessor Gamber refused peremptorily to assess Mr. Campbell. The case here closed, and the assessor was held to bail to answer.

Alleged Highway Robbery.

Augustus Grim was arraigned yesterday morning on the charge of highway robbery. It seems that on Friday night a man named James Gallagher was found in a stupified condition on the street, near Lombard and Seventh streets. He was restored by the police. He said that he had just arrived from St. Louis, and had fallen in with a party who had drugged and robbed him of $200 and a gold watch. On the person of the accused the sum of $77 was found. He acknowledged that he had taken $45 from Gallagher. The defendant was committed to answer.

[Before Mr. Alderman Moore.]

Rasting Time in a Restaurant.

John McGowan, M. H. Quinn, Thomas Whelan, and Joseph Meagher were arraigned yesterday morning on the charge of committing an assault and battery on James Kelly and a companion. It seems that, on Sunday night, Kelly and his companion went into the restaurant of McGowan, at Broad and Walnut streets, to get something to eat. Some conversation ensued, in which they said they were good Union men. Words ensued, whereupon it is alleged that McGowan and a party of men made an attack upon Kelly and his companion. Kelly was badly beaten. The defendants were bound over in the sum of $800 each to answer at court.

[Before United States Commissioner Hazlett.]

False Invoices.

Amos Burton, charged with swearing to false invoices, has had a final hearing before U. S. Commissioner Hazlett. The accused was required to enter bail in the sum of $2,000 to answer.

REMOVALS.

REMOVAL.—JOHN C. BAKER, Wholesale Druggist, has removed to 718 MARKET Street, below Seventh. Call for and ask for JOHN C. BAKER & CO.'S COD-LIVER OIL. Having increased facilities in this new establishment for manufacturing and bottling, and the avails of fifteen years' experience in the business, this brand of Oil has acquired a value and character for uniform excellence that no other can claim, and recommends itself. Constant supplies are now received from the fisheries, fresh, pure, and sweet, and receive the most careful personal attention of the original proprietor. The increasing demand and widespread market for it make its figures low, and afford great advantages for those buying in large quantities. aug4-4tf

MEDICAL.

JOYFUL ANNOUNCEMENT TO SUFFERING HUMANITY.

Prof. C. H. BOLLES, well known discoverer and teacher of Medical Galvanism, Magnetism, and other modifications of Electricity as a reliable therapeutic agent for the cure of acute and chronic diseases, with Dr. M. J. GALLOWAY, his former partner, have returned to their Establishment at 1220 Walnut street, Philadelphia, where they have resumed business.

They have added two new operating rooms to the Establishment, which will enable them to treat at least one hundred patients per day. The fact that Prof. B. has been in Philadelphia, at 1220 Walnut street, four years, and has in that time treated over eight thousand invalids, considered incurable by all other treatment, many of whom have been warranted by special contract, is evidence the most indubitable of the superiority of his system over all others. He has also instructed more than one thousand Medical men, and others, who use Electricity as a specialty in acute and chronic cases.

THE REBELS REPULSED.

A GREAT VICTORY.
LILLIE'S WROUGHT IRON AND CHILLED IRON TRIUMPHANT.

LEAVENWORTH, Kansas, Sept. 10, 1863.

DEAR SIR: We own the only Lillie Safe in town. Quantrel's guerillas tried to open it, in August 21st, but could not, every other safe was broken open. The Rebels tried to force, but their hammers and bars had no effect on ours. We would like to obtain the agency for this vicinity. Yours truly,

SIMPSON BROTHERS.

A GREAT CONFLAGRATION.
LILLIE'S WROUGHT AND CHILLED IRON VICTORIOUS.

BUFFALO, Sept. 16, 1863

LEWIS LILLIE, Troy, N. Y.—Dear Sir: I suppose you have seen the account in the Buffalo papers of a conflagration we had here yesterday morning about one o'clock. My office was located about the centre of one of the burned buildings, and all we had in the office safe was burned up. Our books, papers, and currency were in the Safe, and came out all right. The Safe was exposed to a terrible heat for about eight hours. The fire took in the lower part of the building of a grocery store.

Yours truly, R. I. MOE.
