FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

THE MONEY MARKET.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct 15, 1863.

Unfavorable rumors from the army in Virginia, and the reported removal of General Meade, seemed to have an exciting effect on gold to-day, which opened at 156, rose to 157½, but fell off near the close to 156¾ bid. It is difficult to say what may be the true cause or causes of this steady advance in the price of gold. The various reasons assigned each have some weight, and the combination, perhaps, makes a powerful argument in favor of the advance. We are glad to see that no depreciation of Government paper or loans follows, for the conversions into the five-twenties are double and treble what they were when sold was 125. It is nothing remarkable for two millions to be taken in a day, and for the past week or two the average has been ten millions a week. This is pretty good evidence that an appreciation of gold is no sign of a depreciation of currency. There is no change in the condition of the money market. Capital is plenty, and lenders moderate in their demands.

The stock market was not active, but prices were firm, with some disposition to invest in the fancies. Catawissa preferred rose to 26, the common sold at 8; Schuylkill Navigation preferred rose to 29¾; North Pennsylvania was ¾ lower, selling at 2¾; Wyoming Canal rose ¾; Reading was steady at 61¾; Union Canal rose to 15; Pennsylvania Railroad fell off to 69; Beaver Meadow sold at 77; Elmira sevens sold at 79½; North Branch Canal rises at 37; Susquehanna sixes at 64½; Wyoming Bonds at 101; Reading and Pennsylvania mortgages were steady; City and State loans were firm. The market closed strong.

The New York Evening Post says:

Gold has been more steady after the excitement of yesterday. Having opened at 156 (¾), it closed dull at 155¾. Exchange is quoted at 171, with little doing.

The loan market continues easy at 6@7 per cent. There is no apprehension of coming stringency as the best authorities appear to be of the opinion that, so long as capital is pouring so abundantly into our great financial centres, an increasing amount must always be available for loan purposes, especially so long as the volume of the currency is not suddenly or seriously diminished.

The stock market opened dull and closed steady. Government securities are strong; Border State bonds heavy; bank stocks steady; railroad bonds firm; railroad shares are excited and irregular. Harlem been the most active.

Before the Board gold sold at 156; Erie at 102@102¾; New York Central at 193¼@193¾; Hudson River at 125¾; Harlem at 113@114; Reading at 122½; Rock Island at 106@108¾; Galena at 110¾@111; North Western at 46¾; Cumberland at 36¾@36¾.
