THE FATAL MARRIAGE. By Mrs. Emma D. E. N. Southworth.—The author of this book is, beyond all question, one of the most powerful female writers in America, if not in the world. No one ever read a chapter of one of her works, without wishing to read the whole book, and none ever read one of her books without admiring the rare genius of its author, and wishing that she might soon write another. Her scenes are life pictures, her incidents are founded on facts, and her sentiments are characterized by a singular purity, both of conception and expression. She has the rare faculty of saying what she means, and of saying it in such a manner as that her meaning cannot be misinterpreted. In short, she possesses in an eminent degree those qualifications which are the peculiar prerogatives of a good writer; and with she delights the reader's imagination with her descriptive beauty, she applies home truths to his understanding with the force of rational conviction. The "Fatal Marriage" will be welcomed by all such readers especially; and those who have never read the works of this gifted woman, should not fail to buy and read the "Fatal Marriage." It is published and for sale by

MITCHELL'S GEOGRAPHICAL QUESTIONS.

The Publishers of Mitchell's Geographies call the attention of Teachers, School Directors, and others interested in education, to Mitchell's New Series, lately published, with all the adornments and attractions of art, and with all the perfection of compilation and engraving. These books, enumerated above, are in every particular up to the present date—the Geography of today. The Publishers also beg to call attention to a few points here stated, and to the commendations following:

1. The Completeness of the Series.—The subject is taken up at the lowest point, beginning with the "First Lessons," intended for young children who have just learned to read, and is carried forward by a regular succession of books, on a uniform plan, as far as it is ever taught as a school study.

2. The Uniformity of the Series.—This is secured by carrying through the entire series, in a uniform manner, every change or improvement adopted in any one of the books. The scholar, in passing from a lower book to a higher, has nothing to unlearn. There are no impediments growing out of discrepancies in the maps, or changes in the names and definitions. Whatever is given in one book, if given in another, is presented in the same form and order.

3. The Thoroughness with which the Series is kept up to the Times.—Geography is essentially a progressive science. At the present time this is eminently the case. There is hardly a nationality in the world which has not materially changed its boundaries in the last ten years. Scientific and commercial travellers also are yearly transferring large regions of the earth's surface from the unknown to the known. The proprietors of Mitchell's Series employ constantly a skilful geographer, with a competent corps of assistants, whose sole business is to keep up the work of continual revision, and to transfer immediately to the maps and to the texts every change required by political revolutions or by the progress of scientific discovery.

4. The Extreme Beauty and Fineness of the Maps.—This was a marked feature of the work when it was first projected. This character, thus early impressed upon the work, has been steadily maintained. The maps, in this respect, may safely challenge comparison with those of any School Geographies published in the world. The beautiful delicacy of finish not only makes them more attractive to the eye, but aids the scholar essentially in studying them. Everything is perfectly clear and plain. Even where the maps are most crowded, there is no confusion.

5. The Freshness and Beauty of the Pictorial Illustrations.—Instead of the old hackneyed subjects, half fabulous, half distorted, and wholly repulsive, the new series contain elegant pictures, made from original designs, by professional artists, often from photographs taken on the spot, and representing truthfully to the eye scenes and persons of living interest in this present age of the world.

6. The Care Bestowed upon the Pronunciation of the Geographical Names.—The pronunciation of each geographical name is given in the new series at it occurs in the body of the book. Besides this, at the end of the several volumes are Tables of Pronunciation, alphabetically arranged, containing, at a single view, for convenience of reference, the names used in the book. The pronunciation adopted is that approved by the most distinguished linguists and travellers of the day.

Mitchell's New Series of Geographies have been adopted and are Text Books in the Public Schools of the

A volume of recommendations might be furnished from influential educators, attesting to the beauty, lateness, accuracy, and real utility, as well as to their adapedness to the purposes of education, were it deemed necessary. The publishers desire to call further attention to these books, and to say to those teachers and educators who are not acquainted with them, that they would be glad to respond to any communication on the subject, and to offer favorable terms for first introductions to schools, towns, and counties.

A NEW NOVEL,

BY THE AUTHOR OF

'CHAS. AUCHESTER,' 'COUNTERPARTS,' &c.

PUBLISHED THIS DAY,

RUMOR:

BY ELIZABETH SHEPPARD,

AUTHOR OF

'CHAS. AUCHESTER,' 'COUNTERPARTS,' &c.

8vo.....PAPER.....50 CENTS.

"There is no record of any female English prose writer's ever having lived who possessed more than a portion of that genius which permeated Elizabeth Sheppard's whole being. Genius—the very word expresses her, in harmony with the great undertone of the universe, the soul suffused with light. Flower warmth and fragrance are on her page, the soft, low summer wind seems to be speaking with you as you read, her characters are like the stars impersonated, and still, however lofty her nature, always and forever genial."—Miss Prescott, in Atlantic Monthly.

"Prof. Jacobs, whose house was within the rebel lines, heard and saw accurately and has since collected together on the spot the most trustworthy details and reduced the whole to a minute and graphic record of every important movement.

Alison's account of the Battle of Waterloo does not seem so clear and precise as the accounts of each section given by the unpretending notes of Professor Jacobs. It is a small work but it will be quoted a thousand years and more from now."—Philada. Ledger.

WILL PUBLISH

NEXT WEEK:

I.—PECULIAR.

Mr. Epes Sargent's new novel, of which The Literary Gazette says: "We hear the most enthusiastic accounts of its high literary and artistic character, the interest of its plot, and the spirited character-drawing which it exhibits. It relates closely to present interests and questions of national moment, but its strength is in its story. A dramatic power of its culmination, and its vivid, intense vitality." One large 12mo., cloth bound, price $1.50.

II.—ALICE OF MONMOUTH.

Mr. Edmund C. Stedman's new IDYL OF THE WAR. In one elegant 2mo., cloth-bound volume, price $1. The story of this Poem changes from love scenes and songs in the fruit-mantled valleys of the North, to the hospitals and battle-fields of Virginia. The author's reputation as a poet is world-wider readers this one of the choice books of the season.

III.—RENAN'S LIFE OF JESUS.

A translation of that remarkable work, by M. Ernest Renan, just issued in Paris, where the excitement and sensation it is so great concerning its subject and author that already more than 100,000 copies of the costly French edition have been sold. It is characterized by the Tribune Christian Times as "Man's ablest effort." One handsome 12mo., tinted paper, cloth bound, price $1.50.

EDUCATIONAL.

THE QUAKER CITY BUSINESS COLLEGE, under the management of L. FAIRBANKS, late Principal of BRYANT & STRATTON'S Commercial College. This Institution opened on MONDAY, the 2d inst., and already contains about sixty students.

It is located at the northeast corner of NINTH and CHESTNUT Streets, comprises the entire second floor, entrance on TENTH Street. The rooms are unsurpassed in elegance and convenience, being furnished in a superior manner with the best counting-house and school furniture, made expressly to order.

The course of instruction embraces Book keeping, Commercial Arithmetic, Penmanship, Business Correspondence, Commercial Law, &c., &c., and is adapted in application to the various duties and employments of business life.

The Public are invited to call at the College and judge for themselves of the success that has already crowned this enterprise.

N. B.—$40 Scholarship will be issued for a short time, only at $30. no14 2t*

BRYANT, STRATTON, & CO.'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE, S. E. corner of SEVENTH and CHESTNUT Streets.

An important link in the international chain of colleges located in fifteen leading commercial cities in the United States and Canada, and the only commercial institution in the Quaker City, conducted on actual business principles. Scholarship issued at the point good for an unlimited period throughout the "chain."

Attention is called to the unrivalled facilities of this school. Young men are trained practically, as well as theoretically, by passing through a course of the "Theoretical Department, where they receive thorough instruction in the rudiments of Mathematics, Penmanship, Book-keeping, &c.; then through the Jobbing, Commission, Insurance, and Banking Houses. They handle money, buy and sell merchandise, correct original sets of books, and make out all the business papers involved. This new system of commercial instruction, which is unknown to any similar institution in this city, has been in successful operation in our rooms during the past three weeks, and already the students exhibit a marked proficiency in the detail of business transactions. Young men who contemplate entering upon a business career, before doing so should pass through the course of instruction given at this institution. Business men and others are respectfully invited to call and examine our publications and other facilities for mercantile instruction. no14-tf

UNITED STATES, EASTERN DISTRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA, SC:

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,
TO THE MARSHAL OF THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA, GREETING:

WHEREAS, The District Court of the United States in and for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, duly and duly proceeding on a Libel, filed in the name of the United States, and against the goods, and persons in general who have, or pretend to have, any right, title, or interest in the cargo of the steamer JUPITER, lately arrived in this port, and now moored by the United States steam gunboat Cimarron, under the command of Commander J. P. Jouett, and brought to this port per the schooner Tradewind, to be monished, cited, and called to judgment, at the time and place underwritten, to show why the same should not be condemned (as requiring). You are, therefore, charged and strictly enjoined and commanded, that you forthwith, do cause each publishing these presents in at least two of the daily newspapers printed and published in the city of Philadelphia, that the said Libel has been filed against the said cargo, or cause to be monished and cited, peremptorily to appear before the Judge of the said Court, to be held in the City of Philadelphia, on the 17th day after publication of these presents, if it be a court day, or else on the next court day following, between the usual hours of hearing causes, then and there to show cause why the same should not, by law, be condemned and lawful excuse, if any they have, why the said cargo should not be condemned, as appertaining to the enemies of the United States, and their aiders and abettors, and why the said cargo should not be pronounced to belong, at the time of the capture of the same, to the enemies of the United States, and their aiders and abettors, or otherwise, liable and subject to confiscation and condemnation, to be adjudged and condemned as lawful prize, the absence, or rather contumacy, of the persons so cited and intimated in any wise notwithstanding, and that you duly certify to the said District Court what you shall do in the premises, together with these presents.

Witness the Hon. JOHN CADWALADER, Judge of the said Court, at Philadelphia, this twelfth day of NOVEMBER
