A VALUABLE RAFT .- The Altoona in the Susquehanna a raft of twenty-one spars was run to market by R. H. Me. Cormick, of Cherry Tree, Clearfield county. Each stick was large enough for a main mast The largest of the lot, and the largest ever floated from Clearfield county, measured 90 feet in length and 44 moches in diameter twenty feet from the butt of the spar. It required 18 horses and 12 men two days to bank the monster preparatory to rafting. It was cut on the lands of Mr. Porter H. Kimports, a former citizen of Blair county. The twenty-one spars netted Mr. Mc. $3,200, but he could have had $700 more had he not contracted for the sale thereof.

"A New railroad is projected to run from Binghamton, N. Y., to Canton, Bradford county, and thence across Tioga and Potter counties, to connect with the Alleghany Valley low grade road at Bennett's Branch. This would open a very fine bituminous coal region to a more direct eastern market." We clip the above from a Bradford county paper, and if the Allegheny Valley road is reached, must come up Pine Creek to the mouth of the South Branch at Sherman's up that stream and down Kettle Creek, or up West Branch and down East Fork and Sinnemahoning to Driftwood-the crossing can be made at the divide known as the "Hog Back." The late John Magee said in the hearing of writer of this brief paragraph, "the time is not very distant when this point will be crossed by a Railroad leading in the direction of Pittsburg," and it seems Potter Enterprise.
