HAIL STORM. - While dinner was being served at the Fourth of July building, in the court yard last Saturday, the heaviest hail storm that the "oldest inhabitant" remembers of passed over this place. Some of the hail which we examined, was as large as a common sized hen's egg. Considerable damage was done cabbage, and other plants; and a few windows were broken.

GENE J. MILLER, Esq. of the Elk Democrat, General Advice Giver and corector of typographical errors will give attention to all calls in his line night or day. Give him a call, persons paid for taking his advice. To show that Mr. Miller is an adept in his line, we might ote several articles in late issues

FOURTH OF JULY .- The "day we celebrate" was celebrated in grand style in Ridgway this year. The procession formed at half past ten, and with the cannon. Knapp Commandery, of Knights Templars, the thirty-eight young ladies dressed in white, and the R. S. C.Band made an array worth coming to see. After the procession, the court house was occupied by the people, to hear the regular exercises, first was the Declaration of Independence, read by D. F. Brown of Brooklyn N. Y., although the document is somewhat aged yet in the fine manner in which Mr. Brown read it, it seemed like an article prepared for the occasion. Next was the oration by Rev Wm Martin, which s deserving of great praise. We are sorry that Mr. Martin, does not wish to have it published as we thought to lay the oration, entire, before our readers. The poem by G. R. Dixon, prepared especially for the occasion, was good. Af ter the exercises came the public dinner, which was not a success owing to the large crowd and want of management, and, like public dinners generally, did not give much satisfaction. The dance in the afternoon and evening, was largely attended and all present seemed to enjoy themselves. In the evening the grand (?) display of fireworks came off, a nd so far as we can learn, not having noticed them, were a decided failure. The fantastics in the afternoon created a great deal of tun, and the old organ grinder, in white beard, with the lager beer glass by his side was among the joll iest of the lot.

THE Warren county Republican have nominated Lewis F. Watson for Congress, C. W. Stone for the Senate, George W. Allen for Assembly, Myron Denham for Commissioner and Robert E. Miller for Treasurer.

MILLER issues no paper this week, owing no doubt to the severe strain or his nervous system, caused by the effort he made in last week's Democrat to say something witty about us. We advise Gene that paregoric is good for the stomach ache.

OLD FOLK'S PARTY .- O Monday evening last the old Folks had a party in the Fourth of July Building in the public square. About fifty couples attended, and we should judge had a good time. Neither age, nor previous condition of lameness detered the old boys, and girls from turning out to "trip the light fantastic toe."

A BLUNDER in the game law of 1873. allowed the killing of squirrels after the 4th of July. This has been corrected by supplment to the law approved April 17, 1874, and the squirrel law is now as follows. NEW POSTAGE RATES.-Just before the adjournment Congress settled the question of postage on printed mater. The rate on newspapers published weekly or more frequently is to be two cents per pound, on periodicals issued less frequently than once a week, three cents per pound. Prepayment at these rates is to be compulsory after the first lie documents is placed at ten cents a one cent a number; and in these cases the postage is to be prepaid. Weekly newspapers are to be carried free in the counties in which they are published. These rates are fair enough, and we con-should ever be remembered by candidates for office. The necessary and proper expenses incident to the nomination and election of candidates to various offices are defined to be; first, for printing and traveling expenses; second, for dissemination of information to the publie; and third, for political meetings, demonstrations or conventions, but nothing must be construed as payment for votes or influence at town meeting or elections. If a candidate give a man ffice in view, which runs thus; "I have not paid, or contracted, or promised to pay or contribute, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable things to procure my nomination or election (or appointment), except for necessary and proper expenses expressly authorized by law." The chances are that candidates and their "friends" will be pretty closely watched this campaign; and it will be marvelous if some of the "old stagers" do not get tripped up in the end. -Pittsburgh Telegraph.

THE ASYLUM.-The great work of building the largest Asylum building in the State is now well under way at North Warren. To say nothing of the manner as to how the work should be done, no one can overlook the ground sume people will continue to eat soup and say that Mr. Sunderland has not an as they please, notwithstanding this sage eye to business. And no one can say that the location was not well selected. The first work was to build a road for heavy drafts. It is made to last and not for temporary use alone. The sewer from the building is being made, and discharges into the Conewango. This of itself is a great work. The first business before digging the cellar was to take the surface soil and cart it into mounds, where it will remain until the completion of the building. The dirt from the cellar is then distributed over the space from which the surface soil has been taken. When all this has been done, these mounds of dirt will be used as a top-dressing, Think of a building twelve hundred teet in length! You must know it is immense. But go upon the ground and see the work already done in the way of a cellar, and then comprehend that this is but little more than half, and you will find that your imagination but pictured it faintly.

The work of laying the foundation walls will be begun within a few days. Up to this time none of the stone has been laid and but little delivered. Every thing seems to be done with careful-ness, exactness. We are informed that the building and machinery for dressing lumber is to be a fixture on the premises, and that a great saving will accrue to the enterprise in operating its own machinerya saving in handling over the great amount of lumber the building will require. Mr. Sunderland, the Superintendent, is no slouch. He most certainly understands his business and knows what to do first, and nothing out of time or place .- Warren Ledger.

WATER.

One of the essential things to human happiness is a good supply of pure water. Perhaps no place in the world has better water privileges than Ridgway, yet we notice that half the time there is something wrong with the ar rangements for conveying the water from the spring to town, and a great deal of repairing and trouble is the result. We see no good reason why this should be so, but on the other hand we see how the whole trouble, at a compara tively small expense, could be avoided as follows: First have the old frame work, that now covers the spring, and which is fast falling into decay, removed, and a stone reservoir built in its place, to hold say 500 barrels; then have a four-inch pipe communicate with the reservoir and lead to another reservoir to be located at the corner of Broad and Centre streets; also to be built of stone, to hold say 50 barrels. In order to raise means to start this en terprise let a stock company be formed and shares at, say $5 each, to a sufficient amount be issued. Of course as the spring is on Doctor Earley's land, it would require his consent before anything could be done, which we believe would not be difficult to obtain. This subject is one that interests many of our citizens, and we hope to see something done in the matter. We can raise money to build churches, celebrate the Fourth of July, and for various other things, and why can't we for this laudable purpose? 'Another creat consideration is the use of the water in case of fire. If these suggestions could be carried out every man could have water at his door; the rates of insurance would be lower, and the danger of fire greatly

THE only fires yet reported as directly raceably to 4th of July firecrackers are -East Toledo, O., $25,000, Pontiac, Ill., $200,000, Circleville, O., $25,000, Alleghany City, $600,000. The num. ber of deaths from cannon, powder, clothing taking fire, de., are not reported at above a score. The county gets off cheap with its celebration this year In our county, we have but two fatal accidents to record-that of Mr. Hein, of Waterford, by a premature cannon discharge, and that of Mr. Morrell's boy near Union, by a fire cracker igniting a package of powder. Of course such trifles as these will not interfere with the practice of "celebrating"-Eric

BUTTER PRODUCTION .- At the National Convention of Dairymen, held in Indianapolis, Hon. X A Willard, New York, read a paper on the production of butter, in which he estimated at 700,000,000 pounds. In 1850 it was less than half this amount. He said that there was no product offering better renumeration for extra care in its production, and that the quality did not depend so much upon manipulation or the proportion of ingredients as upon care of the cows, between whose health and the quality of the butter there is an intimate relation. He thinks that a common neglect of dairymen is the failure to provide fresh running water for their cows, and that this neglect is one of the chief causes of poor, thin milk, from which good butter cannot be Coggia's Comet,-Professor Swift, of Rochester, N. Y., who was the first in this county to discover the comet known as Coggia's differs widely with other astronomers who have published articles on the subjects He says there is no probability of the tail of the comet enveloping the earth or moon. The elements of the comet do not resemble those of any comet that has appeared during the last 2,000 years. Its orbit is no doubt parbolic and it is visiting us for the first and last time. In the next two weeks more will be learned of the physical nature of comets by the spectroscope than has been learned in 4,000 years. Indications are of sub-divisions of the tail. The comet is large and so is the nucleus, with a disc more planetary than stellar. Should the tail reach and envelop the earth, we should be in sensible to it, the matter composing it being so rare. The rate of motion is now thirty miles per second, and directly toward us. On the 10th of July it will be nearest the sun. The tail on July 2d, was seven or eight degrees in length, and on the side pearest the sun it had a bunchy, neblous appearance, as though there was a new tail forming,

PENSIONS.

The business of looking after pensions has become an important item in Congress, and requires the closest attention on the part of the Committee entrusted with that duty. The House Committee had, during the session just closed, 1,-160 cases under consideration, or only 135 less than the number referred to them for the three sessions of the Forty-Second Congress, when it reached 1,-

295. The cases have been disposed of sely, 200; covered by general bills re-ported, 260; and about 20 cases have committees, leaving nearly 500 cases to mittee prepared general bills, which passed both houses, as tollows;

Increasing the total first grade from

$1 25 to 50 the month; rating amputation of an arm above the clbow and a leg above the knee equal to $24 the mouth; to equalize the special act provisions with the general law in cases where the pensions are less. Also, the following, which passed the House and are now pending in the Senate: Bill giving $30 for an artificial eye; bill extending the provisions of the general law to a dependant mother, father, or relative after a widow's death or marriage; bill increasing pensions from the date of surgeon's certificate that first shows increased debility; also bill increasing the pensions of these who have lost one arm and one leg, or one hand and one foot, the annual product of the United States to the sum of ten pensions for each disability. The committee also reported a bill to extend the time for filing applications to January 1, 1875, but at present writing it is unknown whether it passed during the closing hours of the session or not,- Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin.

At Washington, the Secretary of the Treasury and Postmaster General have approved the plan of the new Phiadelphia Post Office and ordered Supervising Architect Mullett to forward the work without delay.

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors contemplates an ordiance which is intended to stop swearing in public. It imposes a fine not exceeding $1,000, or imprisonment for not more than six months, upon whover shall "utter in a public place, or in the hearing of two or more pessons, any blasphemous words or languag." It has at length been discoveed that the ubiquitous potato bug has its use. A man at Aurora, Ill., was recently "bugging" his potatoes, when, in crushing one of the insects, some of the juice struck him in the face. The result was a painful swelling. The physicians were attending him, and they consider the bug much more powerful as a blistering agent than Spanish flies.

From the Pittsburgh Telegraph, Plethera of Money-Stagnation in Business.

The cry of the inflationists in dis cussing financial bills, during the late session of Congress, was that the country needed more currency. But the facts are that at no time for many years has money been so plentiful as it now is in proportion to the business it i required to do. The rates for call loans in New York on Saturday, in the face of a rather buoyant stock market, were only from two to three per cent. It Chicago the daily papers remark a greater ease and lower rates-five and six per cent .- in the money market than have been known there in many years. In Philadelphia, Boston, Balti more, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Pittsburgh the same plentiful supply of money is reported. It is ln excess of the demand for it for legitimate busi ness purposes. Sufficient confidence has not yet been created to warrant many investments in doubtful or specu lative enterprises; but that time will come again, just as in the past it has always marked in successive steps, the progress of business from excessive dullness to buoyancy and enterprise. There are regular cycles of good times and bad times-of distrust and over confi dence-of rash speculation and the inevitable blow-up.

This disproportion in the supply and demand of money at this time is not confined by any means to the United States. All the money centers of the world are overstocked with capital, and their condition is by no means healthful. The Bank of England rate is lower than it has been in ten years, France is the only country where money commands much more than a nominal price, and this is due to the remarkably energetic and sustained efforts which are being made by the Bank of France to accumulate money enough to resume specie payments. The demand thus created, while it is exceptional in its purpose, will also be temporary in its effects. The general fact remains that in all the places throughout the world which money seeks, and where money is sought, there is a great deal more to be had than is wanted.

The fact comes from a simple cause The whole active commercial and producing world has suddenly found that its production has outrun its necessities; business droops just in proportion as this process gains until a state of general stagnation is reached. Commenting on these facts and the probable outlook for the future, the New York Times of yesterday says: There has been a surplus of production:

the surplus must be consumed before new demand and new activity arise, and those who possess little or none of the surplus ers, more or less great, out of ment, and a general discontent, are first consequences of the causes we have been reported back to be sent to other recited. These we, in common with nearly the whole of the commercial world, are go over to the next session. The com. now experiencing. But these do not ordinarily last long. They are generally followed by a gradual revival of business, of which, with us, there are already some signs. The accumulated supply down prices; low prices tempt to increases consumption; the surplus disappears, and production is again called for. The moment this can be resumed profitably it will be resumed, for nothing is more impatien than idle capital. In some branches of industry production must begin with reduced wages, to meet the lower prices, which ad vance but slowly. But once production becomes fairly profitable, wages will be raised. And this will be the course which things will take with us. The money plethora is by its nature a condition of affair that tends constantly to pass away. While it lasts prudence and patience are particu-larly necessary, but discouragement is ty no means justified.
