CITY BOUNTY.

Yesterday morning the Mayor issued warrants for the payment of the city bounty to twenty-eight men, who have enlisted and been credited to the quota of the city for three years, and to one man for twelve months. The four hundred dollars city bounty is not paid to a principal furnishing a substitute. Mayor Henry has stated that the increased county bounty was designed to encourage enlisting, and he would not sign warrants for the exempted volunteers in the service. Those furnishing substitutes will receive, as heretofore, two hundred and fifty dollars.

COMMITTEE ON RECRUITING.

Daniel Steinmetz, Esq., president of the Ward Bounty Fund Committee, has appointed the following gentlemen the committee to superintend the enlisting in wards at large:

Thomas Tasker, Jr., John W. Frazier, Henry Davis, Joshua Spering, and Dr. Wm. M. Uhler.

This committee will appoint five mustering lieutenants, and the object is to aid those wards which have the largest quotas to fill. These wards are as follows: First, 917 men; Second, 498; Seventh, 96; Tenth, 406; Fifteenth, 600, and Nineteenth, 19.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WEATHER AND NEWSPAPERS—A SUGGESTION.

In there dull Times, when the Mercury reaches nearly 100 degrees, we should take a hint Transcript of our business relations and proceed at once with possible Despatch to visit the cities on the North American coast. Should a Press of important matters prevent you from doing so, Telegraph at once any anxious Inquirer who may think you are behind the Age in fashionable News by remaining in the city, that as soon as the cooler balance your Ledger properly, you will close your place of business and post on the door of the same a Bulletin, announcing that you have closed for the season.

A LOYAL NEWSPAPER STAND.

A large number of our readers are perhaps acquainted with a newspaper stand located at the northwest corner of Fourth and Chestnut streets. Its kept by Mr. Samuel Barry, or (as he is more generally known) Friend Barry. He is an old man with 70 years of age, with fleecy white flowing locks of hair streaming over his shoulders. His body is newhut bent by age, but he is, nevertheless, very active. He has been located in that place for over ten years, and has attended to his business in all its ds of weather. He is unflinching in his loyalty to Government. So deeply has the love for the Union been rooted in his breast, that he has not, will he keep, any publication of a disloyal character upon his stand, and dealers after that of literature must find it elsewhere.

THE GAME OF BASE BALL.

There are now only two games of ball which, to a extent, are popular in this country. They are cket and base ball—the first of English origin; the other an American invention. Cricket is said have been played as early as the sixteenth century, while base ball is the offspring, we believe, of last century. There are great differences between these two popular games; indeed, they scarcely possess one feature in common. Cricket is the more scientific, base ball the more healthy of the two. In the one is the chess, the other the checkers of outdoors sports. In one respect, however, base ball resembles the play which Sir Walter Scott said was ver wicked—it takes chance, has sprung from its ginal very unlike its present self. Base ball owes birth to the game of town ball, a very inferior game. Cricket, in the ancient pastime of bowls, (well known three thousand years before the Christian Era,) finds its remote original.

We have said that cricket is the scientific game base ball. This will only be disputed by those who are ignorant of the former. It is well established that a good cricketer can become a proficient ball in a few seasons, while a knowledge of base ball is scarcely any aid in the acquirement of cket. A gentleman of our acquaintance, who the other cricketer, after playing base ball only four times, was placed upon the first nine of a club, and played in a first-class match with credit to himself and his side. In another case, a gentleman who had tried in vain to become skilled in cricket, took base ball and became a player of respectable skill. These remarks have been suggested to us by the base ball tournament being played this week. Yesterday the fourth game of the series came off in the presence of an assemblage of from one thousand to fifteen hundred persons, a fair proportion of whom were ladies. The grounds of Twenty-fifth and Jefferson streets were well selected, and, with the exception of the old St. George grounds, are the best ever devoted to cricket in this city. Their surroundings are quite picturesque. Far in the distance, and to the left of the winning station, are clustered several trees. To the right of these are the Spring Garden Water Works, which form a beautiful back-ground to the scene. Upon each corner of this was stretched yesterday a line of human beings, all enthusiastic and excited with the play. The game was better contested than any previous one this season, the score being quite high, by a fine inning of nine runs, to the great surprise of every one, obtained the lead, and some are enthusiastic enough to believe that they were entitled to win. Indeed, had the Philadelphians played as well in the last as in the first part of the game, the score of their opponents would have been much less than it was.

Two or three comic scenes occurred during the play. At one time a ball hit far to "left field" by a gentlemanly well-dressed player through an umbrella which a lady was holding to protect her from the intense heat of the sun.

One player knocked a ball through the open window of the club-house, and another struck a table, and took an erratic bound over the roof of the same edifice. At about half past six the game terminated in favor of the Atlantic by a score of 43 to 16.

THE TENNEL OF THE JUNCTION RAILROAD.

The work upon the tunnel of the Junction Railroad is progressing rapidly. From Chestnut to Mount street excavations have been made, and the ties have been walled up. Between Chestnut and Market streets there is a stratum of granite through which the tunnel passes, and which will have to be removed by blasting. The soil in other portions of the tunnel is clayey, and easily removed. This will be the only tunnel in Philadelphia, and when completed will be an object of interest. It will be forty feet wide and twenty-six feet deep. The top of the tunnel will be seven feet below the grade of Market street. The excavation commences at the locomotive house of the Pennsylvania Railroad, but the tunnel begins a short distance above Market street.

SUDDEN DEATHS.

The extreme heat of the weather yesterday had its usual effects, an unusual number of sudden deaths being reported, most of which seem to have resulted from the great warmth of the day.

In Rainbow street, above Blair, a woman died suddenly. The coroner was sent for and held an inquest.

A workman in Norris & Son's locomotive works was overcome by the heat, on Wednesday morning. He was taken to his residence, No. 1710 Callowhill street, where he died at three o'clock yesterday morning.

A soldier, supposed to be named George Feochter, was found dead at the corner of Broad and Prime streets. The coroner was sent for.

Another soldier died suddenly on the street Hardy was taken to the Fifth-ward station.

An unknown man was discovered lying dead at the west end of Market-street bridge. The coroner was sent for.

About five o'clock, yesterday afternoon, an old lady, sixty years of age, was brought to the Third-ward station house in a dying condition, and is since deceased. Her name is unknown. She had on a calico dress, calico frock, white straw bonnet, trimmed with purple ribbon, and black cloth gaiters. At the time of her death she had with her a brown parasol and a brown covered basket.

Another woman, name unascertained, died at No. 15 Carlton street. The coroner was notified of the occurrence.

THE FRUIT MARKET.

Already the market is glutted with all varieties of fruit of the best qualities. The prices asked for the fruit in comparison with other articles of food are remarkably low. Peaches can be bought as low as twenty-five cents by the basket. Apples, watermelons, canteloupes, plums, &c., are all to be had in great abundance at low prices. If the price of sugar were but half as reasonable, large quantities of fruit would be preserved this season; as it is, there will no doubt be immense quantities canned. These canned fruits command in winter high prices. The process is simple, and can be gone through with by any housekeeper.

APPOINTMENT OF SUPERVISORS.

The following appointments of supervisors were made by the Mayor yesterday: Twenty-first ward, Edward Spalt; Twenty-second ward, second division, Reuben Sands; Twenty-first ward, first division, Thomas Dickson.

AN EXCELLENT APPOINTMENT.

Among the list of supervisors appointed by the Mayor of Philadelphia, we find the name of Reuben Sands. This gentleman resides at Chestnut Hill, Twenty-second ward, and we are free to say that a better appointment did not have been made. The wealthy residents of the Twenty-second ward, the owners of property that beautiful section, and, of course, the heaviest taxpayers, advocated his appointment. The Mayor, in affirmatively responding to their requests, received credit upon his own judgment and gratified many of our citizens in the Twenty-second ward whose good opinion is worth having.

EFFECTS OF THE HEAT.

The heat yesterday was quite intense. A number of persons were completely overcome by it. A number of mechanics, bricklayers, carpenters, and others who were working and exposed to the sun were obliged to cease operations about noon.

George Slippy, employed in the locomotive works of Norris Sons, was overcome by the heat on Wednesday. He was taken to his home, No. 1710 Callowhill street, and died at three o'clock yesterday morning.

A number of the car horses were overcome by the heat.

FARE INCREASED.

Rates of fare on the Philadelphia, Wilmington, and Baltimore Railroad will be increased on and all connections, after the 14th inst, to 2 per cent.

TO THE BRAVE REPRESENTATIVES OF OUR FIREMEN.

Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, Col. Baxter, will reach the city at about two afternoon, and arrangements have been made to them a cordial reception at the Union Volunteer Refreshment Saloon, after which they will be escorted through the city by our firemen and citizens.

FIRE.

About four o'clock yesterday morning a fire burst out in the cotton and rag warehouse of H. S. Henry & Co., on Front street, above Vine. The flames were confined to the third and fourth stories, and were extinguished before any serious damage had been done.

Two beds in a house in Lesper, below Sellers street, Frankford, were accidentally set on fire and destroyed.

THE POLICE.

[Before Mr. Alderman Welding.]

ENLISTING MINORS.

David Graham was arraigned yesterday afternoon on the charge of enlisting minors, and attempting to swindle them out of a portion of the bounty-money. It seems that two lads, each about seventeen years old, named Gilbert Brown and Edward H. Weiser, having an idea of enlisting, were met by defendant on Chestnut street, between Fifth and Sixth. They desired to enlist in a Philadelphia regiment, but defendant explained that it would be more beneficial to them to enlist at Norristown. The boys were taken to a public house, where they indulged in two glasses of lager beer, which had an inebriating effect. Before fully accomplishing his purpose the defendant was arrested. He was required to enter bail in the sum of $800 to answer at court.

[Before Mr. Alderman Moore.]

LARCENY OF CLOTHING.

James McCormick and Cornelius Toomy were arraigned yesterday on the charge of the larceny of clothing belonging to some boys who were bathing in the Delaware, at Almond-street wharf. The parties were bound over to answer.

[Before Mr. Alderman Carter.]

ALLEGED RECEIVERS.

Mary Milton and Thomas Kelly were arraigned yesterday on the charge of receiving clothing stolen from Almond-street wharf, the property of boys who were bathing. The accused were bound over to answer.

ARREST OF A SPY.

William Dougherty, hailing from South Carolina, was sent to Fort Delaware yesterday, by order of the Government. He escaped from Washington, and his arrest was ordered by telegraph. Upon arriving at the depot, at Broad and Prime streets, on Wednesday night, he was taken into custody by Officer W. Taggert, stationed at that place.

A MEAN FELLOW.

Yesterday morning, amid the busy throng of people assembled in the seething neighborhood of Third and Chestnut streets, a man well dressed in summer attire but with dirty boots, called in the service of a boot-black. The youngster, regardless of the intense heat, anxious to make a little money for the benefit of his mother, deemed as she was, sometime since, a widow, had an incident of war, responded with promptitude. He polished the understandings of the man, and having finished the job, looked for his pay. The man walked away regardless of the just demands of the boy. The boy called the attention of Police Officers Burkhart and McCollum, who were standing near by, and the next moment the tap of the official, Mr. B., on the left shoulder of the mean man caused him to revolve at once.

"What do you want with me, sir?" said the fellow.

"I want you to pay that little boy for blacking your boots," replied the officer.

"What's that your business?" replied the man. "I did not employ the boy to do it."

"You did employ him," responded the officer.

"Do you call me a liar, sir?" retorted the man, with much warmth.

"Look here, stranger, I want no parley with you; if you don't pay that boy I land you in the station-house."

The people now began to gather round, and the man, to get rid of further trouble, imposed honesty for once upon himself, paid the money, and took his departure, amid the jeers and sneers of the crowd.

The fellow was more fortunate than another individual in that neighborhood. A short time since a man obtained a New York World from a newsboy, and refused to pay for it.

"Going to pay?" said the boy.

"No, sear out," replied the applicant for cheap literature.

"Better pay me now, or I'll spring a mine on you," replied the indefatigable youth; "pay me what you owe."

The man folded the paper up, and, walking away without having paid for it, was put to his trumps.

"Copperhead! Copperhead! Copperhead!" shouted the boy. Most of the other newsboys joined in the cry.

"Copperhead. Copperhead!" "Kill him, kill him!" made the welkin ring. The excitement increased; the boys were busy as bees; one or two men mingled in the confusion, and the assailed individual was knocked down at a single blow. He regained his feeling, and started out Chestnut street at a 2.40 rate. He dropped the paper, which was regained by the boy. The last seen of the out-generalled individual was his coat-tail at the corner of Franklin place.

It requires something more than an ordinary swindler to get ahead of the newsboys generally.

CITY ITEMS.

Slocomb, proprietor of the Eastern Market Cheese Stand, Fifth street, below Market, is now delighting his numerous patrons with the finest peaches of the season, cut up and smothered in the richest Delaware County Ice Cream. It MEAD HOLMES, Jr., SERGEANT OF CO. K, 21st WISCONSIN VOLS., With an Introduction by JOHN S. HART, LL.D., Senior Editor of the Sunday-School Times. Many of the youth of our land, through a patriotic sense of duty, have gone forth to share the hardships and self-denial of the life of a soldier. The exemplary Christian conduct of this young and promising man should be held up for imitation at every fireside where loyalty to country is a virtue. Sympathetic heart-strings will be touched by this, the most beautiful instance of filial affection and lofty Christian patriotism we have seen for years. It is the very book to send to sons and brothers in the army. PRICE 75 CENTS. J. C. GARRIGUES & CO., aug6-wfmtf 148 South FOURTH Street, Philada.
