THE POLICE.

[Before Mr. Alderman Welding.]

FEMALE PUGILISTS.

Sally Moore (white) and Cora Pearson (yellow) were arraigned yesterday morning before Alderman Welding on the charge of committing a breach of the peace. The parties are yet in their teens. Miss Moore appeared on the street, near Ninth and Chestnut, about 10 o'clock, on Wednesday evening, dressed in a fawn-colored silk, something less than a yard of which trailed on the pavement. She wore a jaunty hat, with a red feather that gracefully curled from the front. Her hair was neatly arranged, and her snowy neck was fringed with faultless lace. She was rather tall, walked with ladylike dignity, and possessed a facial expression that Hebe herself might have envied. Now it so happened that Cora, whose face was rather darker than a quadroon, appeared on the same pavement, and walking in the same direction. She was short in stature, and wore a wreath of flowers over her dark brow, under the shelving projection of an old-fashioned bonnet. The dress in which she was habited was of dilapidated silk, made to all appearances for a person as tall as Miss Moore. In order to keep too much of the skirt from dragging on the sidewalk it was absolutely necessary to introduce beneath the same the largest-size expander or hoop-skirt. This gave her a conical as well as comical appearance at first, but by passing through the crowded thoroughfares the cone was diminished considerably in breadth and the trail was consequently greatly enlarged. Thus we paint the picture of the two "walking ladies."

Sally was enjoying a stately strut near the Continental. She said "nothing to nobody." Cora, following in her wake, as though apeing the other, caused a general laugh among the spectators who flung themselves to lounge in front of large hotels. Cora dashed ahead, and her long train was trod upon accidentally by Sally; and now a scene ensued which would have been doubly interesting had it not been accompanied with remarks too profane and immoral for repetition. Suffice it to say that, in a moment, the yellow female sprang at the other with all the ferocity of an untamed tigress. A short rough-and-tumble struggle ensued, which ended in Cora going sprawling on the pave, divested of the largest proportions of her dress. Before she had time to recover she was in the arms of the police, while another officer took charge of the other. It was discovered at the hearing yesterday that Sally had her face scratched. Four finger marks down her rosy cheeks gave evidence of the feline powers of her antagonist on the evening before. The case concluded by binding the parties over to be of good behavior and to keep the peace.

[Before Mr. Alderman Welding.]

BIGAMY CASE.

A bigamy case, not possessing much interest, was heard before Alderman Welding yesterday morning. Samuel S. Hawk was arraigned on complaint of his first wife, Anna M., charging him with desertion and bigamy. The certificate of the first marriage was presented. The same document for marriage number two was not produced, but the second wife was present and admitted that the defendant was her husband, to which he subscribed. The case concluded, ordered to enter bail in the sum of $800 to answer at court.

ALLEGED RIOTER.

Martin Cracy was arraigned before the same Alderman on the charge of participating in the riot between the whites and blacks that occurred on the evening of 3d inst. The officers had been on the lookout for him since the time of the outbreak, until yesterday morning, when he was discovered. He was committed to answer.

ASSAULT WITH A KNIFE.

Charles Lindsay was arraigned yesterday on the charge of stabbing Thomas Sealy in the arm with a knife, during a personal encounter in Christian Alley, on Wednesday evening. It was stated that defendant "bantered" prosecutor to fight, and the challenge being accepted on sight, Mr. Lindsay, in the classic language of the ring, "went down." It is alleged that in regaining his footing he renewed the contest, with knife in hand, and stabbed the other in the arm. The defendant was bound over to answer.

ALLEGED HOMICIDE CASE.

Deputy United States Marshal Sharkey yesterday took into custody a woman named Margaret Clark, who was a passenger on board the emigrant ship Lady Emily Peel, that arrived at this port on Wednesday night. The prisoner is charged with killing Margaret Ward, a fellow passenger. It is alleged that the two women had a personal altercation while on the voyage, about ten days since, which resulted in a blow from the latter, which, in her weakened condition, caused her death. Thus we paint the picture of the two "walking ladies."

CITY ITEMS.

THE MOST USEFUL and economical article in every family is a Sewing Machine, and we know the Wheeler & Wilson to be the best, most simple, and most durable Sewing Machine in the world. 50,000 are sold every year. Every machine warranted, and the money returned if not entirely satisfactory. Instruction given at the residences of purchasers. Go to the Wheeler & Wilson agency, No. 704 Chestnut street, above Seventh, and examine these wonderful machines.

THE PEERLESS "FLORILINE."—Among all the other multitudinous preparations invented for preserving and beautifying the hair, there is nothing comparable to the celebrated "Lubin's Floriline." It invigorates, strengthens, lengthens, and beautifies the hair, imparting to it that rich, glossy, abundant appearance which is so desirable. The "Floriline" is put up in magnificent cartons, containing two bottles each—No. 1 for morning, and No. 2 for evening. Try it, by all means. From our own personal observation, we can endorse it as a toilet gem that should be in every lady's possession.

THE LUXURY OF RICH, RIPE FRUITS, eaten with fine ice cream, is now enjoyed daily by hundreds of Mr. W. H. Slocomb's customers, proprietor of the Eastern Market Cheese Stand, Fifth street, below Market. The luscious cut peaches covered with fine Delaware County Ice Cream make a pleasing impression upon all who try them. We may also notice that Mr. Slocomb's pure Cider Vinegar and assortment of prime Cheese are unequalled in this city.

COMMODORE FARRAGUT.—Commodore Farragut has a taking way with him. New Orleans and Mobile bear testimony to this fact. But these are not the only taking achievements of the gallant commodore; he has lately taken a fancy to a suit of wearing apparel that was made at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth. He immediately telegraphed to this city, ordering one of a similar description.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—One of the New York pilot-boats lately picked up off Sandy Hook an India-rubber bag, containing, as we are told by the daily papers, "a large number of Heralds, Times, Tribunes, Suns, and Worlds." How the bag could have remained afloat with such a lot of dead weight in it was a puzzle to us, until, having made inquiry in the proper quarter, we ascertained there was a copy of a Philadelphia paper, containing the advertisement of Charles Stokes & Co.'s "one price" Clothing Store in it, in the assortment. To this circumstance, doubtless, the happy family above referred to owed its escape.

A. S. DOTTER, 304 North Broad street, Coal dealer, would respectfully advise his friends and the public in general not to delay in buying their coal, and run the risk of paying further advances, but buy at once of his superior stock of large nut, small stove, stove, egg, &c. None to excel, for quality, durability, or cheapness. aul5-1m
