LITERATURE AND ART.

—The Marchioness de Boissy, some forty years ago and more "the lady of" Lord Byron's "love," now the wife of the Marquis whose oratorical Anglophobia makes Europe merry by its folly, is said to have given to the publishers a volume of unpublished verses bequeathed (?) to her by the author of "Childe Harold."

—The new opera house in Chicago will seat about 2,500 people, and the stage and dressing rooms will be so thoroughly warmed, that a Chicago journal says "we shall have no more shivering and blue-lipped Normas, Rosinas, and Countesses to chatter arias, and tenori and bassi will lose the necessity of tearing their passions to tatters to keep warm."

—A performance of the Dommondo of Alexandre Dumas, Jr., recently took place in Turin. When the actor came to the passage "Every road leads to Rome, and the longest is sometimes the safest," loud murmurs arose from some of the audience, and prolonged applause from others.

—The opera house at Baden-Baden is owned and managed by M. Benazet, the same man who hires the gambling tables, and who is, in fact, far more important than the Grand Duke himself. It is a neat little edifice, always well and fashionably attended, and enlisting the services of very good if not of the first-class singers. Colson, so well known in this city, was the prima donna last year. Both French and Italian operas are given, and the programme for the season just past—from the 15th of July to the 1st of September—included the operas "Le Desertteur," "Richard Cœur de Lion," "Joconde," "Zampa," "Dame Blanche," "La Fille du Regiment," and a few others—making in all fifteen French and five Italian operas for the season.

—The innovation of a ballet at the Italiens, in Paris, is to be inaugurated on the 25th, when a ballet, entitled "Amore d'Arte," is to be produced. Ballets will also be introduced in "Traviata," "Rigoletto," "Ballo in Maschera," and "Lucia."

—Charles Adams, the tenor, formerly of St. Louis, made his début as Lionel in "Martha," in London last month. His abilities are highly spoken of by the English critics.

—Miss Hosmer's statue of "Zenobia" has arrived in New York for exhibition, and is thus described by the Herald: "It was executed at Rome, and was sent to the London exhibition, where it extorted a high measure of praise from English critics. The impressions we had thus received of it were not disappointed by an examination of the work itself. It is a noble composition, wonderfully vigorous for a female hand, and full of grace and majesty. The position chosen is that which represents Zenobia moving in the procession of Aurelian. Nothing can be finer than the pose of the figure, which is nearly seven feet in height and magnificently modelled, the only fault being the rather sensuous expression given to the mouth. In the arrangement of the ornaments and drapery a refined taste and knowledge of effects are displayed, which could only be attained by a close study of the finest classical subjects. The work reflects great credit upon American genius, and Miss Hosmer has done well not to accept the offers she had for it in Europe until her countrymen had an opportunity of seeing it."

—Bierstadt's equisite picture, "Silver Lake in the Sierra Nevada," which had been presented by him to the Sailors' Fair, arrived at Boston on Saturday. We cannot overestimate the pleasure which it has given to everyone who has seen it. It is finished most delicately. It represents a most charming scene, different enough from the views of nature with which we are here familiar to draw every eye to it, and yet with aspects of landscape and effects of atmosphere which every lover of nature recognizes and prizes.

—Alexandre Dumas, the romancier, author of "Monte Cristo," "Les Trois Mosquetaires," and something less than a thousand other works of fiction, many of which are well known and have been extensively read in the United States, intends leaving Paris in the latter part of December or the early part of January for New York. It is the intention of Dumas to travel about four months in the United States, and he goes with the avowed purpose of writing a book, but whether a book of fact or fiction he does not state. He will take with him a private secretary and two translators, and intends having his work published simultaneously in New York, Paris, and London. Dumas is an enthusiastic friend of our country and her institutions, and, as he is an author whose books are probably more extensively read now in Europe than those of any living writer, he may perhaps be a little important that his reception and treatment while in our country should be such as to strengthen rather than diminish the favorable impression which he has of us and ours. Dumas is a dark mulatto of most unmistakable hue, with hair considerably crisped. He is now about sixty years of age, and is one of the finest-looking men in Europe. He is a reckless, extravagant man, financially speaking, receiving an immense income from his works, spending from two to three hundred thousand francs a year, always in debt and always borrowing. He is a man of great bonhommie and kindness of heart, and gives away large sums of money every year to artists, literary Bohemians, and poor devils of every description.

THE STATE.

ELECTION FRAUDS.—Our country contemporaries in some of the southwestern counties are much excited over alleged wholesale frauds by Democratic police of election. The Gettysburg Star shows that Adams has been deprived of his seat in Congress and Coffroth substituted through barefaced impudence. Soldiers' votes were thrown out ad libitum for the flimsiest reasons, although when the vote happened to be in favor of Coffroth it was always counted, though the reasons for rejection might be quite as powerful. The Somerset Herald has also complaints about Democratic dishonesty in Bedford, Fulton, and Franklin, which it utters with a good deal of energy. It says:

"More brazen, reckless frauds than those perpetrated upon Judge King, or upon Ross or Armstrong, were never conceived. Deliberately in the face of the law, without the shadow of an excuse, or the smallest pretext for the crime, the Copperhead portion (being a majority) of the District returns judges, who assembled respectively at Bedford, Chambersburg and Bedford on Friday last, threw out enough of the regularly polled and returned votes to defeat Judge King and Messrs. Ross and Armstrong, and gave certificates of election to Mac Kimmell, and to Myers and Findley as electors to the Legislature."

CHASE OF A HORSE-THIEF.—On election day the entire number of citizens assembled in Bellefonte witnessed an exciting chase after a horse-thief. At first had heard of his depredations in Lycoming county. The thief came to Bellefonte with two horses, and the officer concluded to secure the property and thief, but failed in the latter, as the ingenious thief would over hills and fields, pursued by men on horseback and foot. Being closely pressed, the thief turned and fired upon his pursuers, which of course checked their advance. He from the animal below the town, and escaped into the mountains.

A STRANGE STORY.—Forty years ago, says the Mount Joy Herald, a Mr. Reddinger, of West Donegal township, got a man to take his wife and children off Mr. J. D. Lindemuth, saying that he thought Mr. Lindemuth would keep them, but if not, they should be left on the Conoy Ridge. Reddinger then disappeared, and was not since heard from, only a few days ago, when he appeared at the house of his daughter, Mrs. Frederick Granton, an old man of eighty years. His wife had died a year or two since. While he had led his family a great deal of poverty he seemed to be ashamed them, and now when he is helpless and needs assistance he comes to be a burden to them.

FIGHT BETWEEN DESERTERS AND A PROVOST-MARSHAL'S OFFICER.—Last week a lieutenant of the provost marshal's office, of Mifflin county, accompanied by three assistants, proceeded to Keating township, Clinton county, to arrest some drafted men who had failed to report—technically deserters. About twilight in the evening they proceeded to the house of one of the Gains', a large family of desperate mulattoes, one of whom is now in the county jail under sentence of death for murder. As they approached the house the occupants escaped through a back window. Lieutenant Kress entered and found supper prepared for four persons. A gun was fired by some one outside, and a skirmish at once occurred, during which several shots were fired. The lieutenant was dangerously wounded by a rifle ball which struck him under the arm and passed up into the opposite shoulder, perforating his lungs. The provost marshal's assistants then retreated and returned with Williamsport, Kress, the lieutenant, is, however, doing well.

SALTPETRE OF SALT.—In the country between Sacramento and Ione City, Reese River country, there are a great number of salt plains, from one to two miles in diameter, and one that is at least three miles across, being an unbroken deposit of pure white salt. On these salt plains no sign of vegetation appears; neither is there to be seen the slightest trace of an animal life. There is not a bush, tree, or even a lizard to be seen. All is solitude—a perfectly silent mineral waste.

CITY ITEMS.

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.—Easterly and westerly mail lines continue to report commendable progress, and we hope to be able to give our readers from time to time improvements steadily as the openings on the line deepen. The eastern or No. 1 shaft is now down some ten feet from surface, and shows better than the present bottom than at any point above; the mineral in the lode, and heavier; in fact, more than a moiety, probably, is lump copper. Portions of the lode are of softer material than was indicated it would be at that depth, and its width is fifteen feet. Gentlemen who visited it this season assure us that they took from the centre of the shaft twenty pounds of copper at a few blows, and in product of mineral it more nearly resembles Evergreen Bluff lode than any opened in the district.

No. 2 shaft, west, is just commenced, and the product of mineral in and under the out crop is fine—better than at any other point at surface.

We will ship about two and a half tons of copper this season.—Lake Superior Miner, Oct. 29.

GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHING GOODS.—Mr. J. C. Hood, at the old stand, Nos. 1 and 3 North Sixth street, has just opened an elegant assortment of Ties, Gloves, &c. His stock of Underclothing and Gentlemen's Wrappers cannot be surpassed. Give him a call. Remember, Nos. 1 and 3 North Sixth street.

THE END OF THE WAR.—The greatest confusion is now felt that the rebellion will speedily go out, and the war close. The same assurance we have felt that the best and cheapest Coal in Philadelphia is sold by W. W. Alter, at his spendid Yard, No. 957 North Ninth street. Give him a call.

A STOCK OF GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHING GOODS is offered by Mr. George Grant, No. 510 Chestnut street, is the finest in the city, and his celebrated "Medal Shirts," invented by Mr. J. Taggart, are surpassed by any others in the world, in fit, and durability.

A VERY DESCRIPTION OF POPULAR HATS, for men and children, including the celebrated "Conqueror," for sale by Wood & Cary, 725 Chestnut Street, old hats new is also promptly attended to at this establishment.

THE FIRST UNION ASSOCIATION.—The semi-annual meeting of the Ladies' First Union Association, for the relief of the discharged disabled, as also the widows and orphans of those who have fallen in defence of the Union, will be held on Tuesday, 15th inst., at 3 o'clock P. M., at the Association Rooms, 537 North Eighth street, Lombard and Haydn Hall. Punctual attendance of members is particularly requested.

Mrs. JOHN LANE, Secretary.

PYROGRAPHIC WOOD.—Pyrographic Wood is a very fashionable for fitting up and ornamenting cabins. Pyrographic Wood is the wood that is impressed, by burning, ornamental designs and figures. The process is called fire writing. The finest design we have yet seen in this line is a view of the magnificent Brown-Stone Clothing store of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth.

AN INDISPENSABLE ARTICLE.—The superiority of the "Florence" Sewing Machine over all others in use has been so fully demonstrated that we feel bound to advise all who are in want of a machine to give the "Florence" the preference. The office of the Company, 630 Chestnut street, is at times besieged with customers, and the sale of these machines has been enormous. Every "Florence" Machine sold is warranted to give satisfaction, or the money is returned to the buyer. The "Barnum Self-Sewer," with which the machine is supplied, is also a capital feature.

AN OLD REMEDY AND A SURE ONE.—We ask no more of any one than to give Jayne's Expectorant a fair trial, to prove that it will cure the various diseases for which it is recommended. It has, it will, and can, cure coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, whooping cough, croup, and a very large majority of the most hopeless cases of consumption, where all other remedies fail to do any good. Let the afflicted give it a trial. Prepared only at 242 Chestnut street. no14-3t
