CITY ITEMS.

GERARD'S EMAIL DE PARIS, for imparting beauty and freshness to the complexion, clearness and whiteness to the skin, effectually removing small-pox marks and discolorations, sold by druggists, perfumers, and coiffeurs. E. Joun, 111 Tenth street, near Chestnut. Johnston, Holloway, & Cowden, Wholesale Agents. fstwsm-0t

TO INCREASE TRADE, ADVERTISE!—Advertisements inserted in all city and country newspapers, at the lowest rates of the publishers, by Wilmer & Smith's Agency, No. 611 Chestnut street, second floor. Persons intending to advertise should call at the above office, and examine the newspapers there for themselves.

JENKINS ON SEATS.—A journalistic Jenkins gives his yesterday's experience on Fairmount Starting Park. He describes Miss Grace B * * *, Miss Sally K * * *, Mr. Timothy Tarb * *, Mr. Sam*l Slk, and other fashionables, and tells how gracefully they glided about, and performed their gyrations. As regards Mr. Apoo Bol*are, he says "he moved with the grace of a swan, the speed of an arrow, and he looked especially elegant and comfortable in a bran new suit procured at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, No. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth."

VOTE EARLY AND VOTE OFTEN.—No election since the days of "Log Cabin and Hard Cider" has been fraught with such importance as the present election now going on (drawn by two horses) in our city. You don't enter at the pole to vote, but at the other end. There seems to us some injustice in the terms. It is based, we think, on something of the "property qualification," for no person is allowed to vote except he is able to pay five cents. Some we noticed voted a "scratched" ticket, which no good politician ought to do. "The price marked on all the garments," that's the ticket that runs at Chas. Stokes & Co.'s "one price," under the Continental.

SOONER or later, a neglected cold will develop a constant cough, shortness of breath, falling strength, and wasting of flesh—the avant couriers of consumption. In some instances the same cause will produce bronchitis, a disease of the branches of the windpipe. In all affections of the pulmonary organs, as well as in bronchial complaints, Jayne's Expectorant is both a palliative and curative, as the testimony of thousands and its world-wide reputation attests; while in coughs and colds it acts speedily, and, when taken according to directions, promptly removes them. Why not give this standard article an immediate trial? fel-2t

AMERICAN BELLES.—America is justly proud of her beautiful ladies; but how many mar their beauty, and lose their health and youth, become prematurely old in appearance, by neglecting to take proper care of their teeth. There can be no excuse for this, as Sozodont, pronounced by all worthy a place between the sweetest lips, can now be had in all civilized countries. Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

OBITUARY.

"Our friend is no more."

In the death of Dr. BERNARD A. MONELL we have lost a kind friend and companion.

Few men have departed this life more beloved and respected than the subject of this memorial.

The writer had the opportunity to know him intimately, and pays this last tribute to his memory. He was always kind and generous to a fault. With a helping hand to every one, he also had a kind word.

He extended the hand of charity and was one of those who overlooked the faults of others.

Of his military career we speak naught. His country knows it, and let it speak. He was always ready in his capacity of assistant surgeon of the 69th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, to render a willing hand to all that were disabled or needy in every respect.

To his bereaved mother, and mourning sister and brothers, who must feel that he has gone to a better world, I recommend them to that source from which only we can hope for consolation under our trials.

To his friends, I would say emulate his self sacrificing spirit, and are long they may all meet on the right hand of God. T. S

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31, 1865.

At a meeting of the Senior Class of the University of Pennsylvania, held January 31, 1865, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, We have heard with deep sorrow of the decease of our friend and classmate, JOHN COX BIDDLE;

And whereas, While we submit to the will of an all-wise Providence, we profoundly regret his removal at the beginning of such a career of honor and usefulness as his brilliant talents and manly character gave promise of; therefore, it is

Resolved, That we extend our warmest sympathies to his bereaved family, now bowed under the afflicting hand of God, and that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of our deceased classmate, and that they be published in the Philadelphia Press.

Ritter's Comparative Geography,

LECTURES ON

COMPARATIVE GEOGRAPHY,

BY CARL RITTER,

LATE PROFESSOR OF GEOGRAPHY IN THE UNIVERSITY OF BERLIN.

Translated by

REN. WILLIAM L. GAGE.

1 Vol. 12mo. $1 50.

Of the three eminent masters of Physical Geography—STEFFING, RITTER, and HUMBOLDT—the greatest was RITTER, whose labors alone placed the science upon a secure foundation. His profound generalizations form the basis of the works of the ablest writers upon the subject, including those of Mr. SMERVILLE and Professor GUYOT, well known to American readers. One of the latest productions of Professor Ritter was the COMPARATIVE GEOGRAPHY. This has been judiciously translated by the Rev. H. L. Gage, and brought up to the present state of knowledge. It is characterized by that marked clearness of perception and vigor of thought which the author displayed in all his works; and the translator has rendered the text in language suited to those for whom the book is intended, having carefully avoided the use of such expressions as might make it difficult to be understood except by persons familiar with the loftier reaches of geographical dissertation.

The book is described in its title. The fixed and the fluid surfaces of the earth, in all their variety of features, relations, and influences, are compared and contrasted, physically and historically. The various forms are made to appear in their essential relations to each other, and to the whole. Geographical characters become less isolated, and the student is enabled to perceive the true significance and reciprocal action of continents, islands, mountains, table-lands, slopes, low-lands, peninsulas, rivers, seas, populations, and climates.

The work is the best epitome of physical geography in the English language; and, furthermore, it is eminently practical.
