OFFICE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD COMPANY,

PHILADELPHIA, August 15, 1865.

The Mortgage Bonds of the Connecting Railway Company, between the station of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in West Philadelphia and Frankford, a distance of seven miles, can be obtained at this Office, No. 238 South THIRD Street.

These bonds are in sums of one thousand dollars, with interest coupons attached, payable at said office on the 15th day of March and September in each year, at the rate of six per centum per annum, and the principal payable in five equal annual amounts, at the rate of $250,000 per annum—the first series on September 15, A. D. 1865. The principal and interest are secured by a mortgage for one million of dollars since all the railway and property of the company, and are guaranteed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. These bonds are made free of State taxes by the Company.

The railway is being constructed in the most substantial manner, and will be completed during the ensuing year. This road perfects the connection between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York lines via Philadelphia, and becomes, as it will, the main channel of communication between New York and the West, as well as a road from the National Capital, will always obtain large revenue, and be one of the most important railways of the Union.

Under a contract with the Philadelphia and Trenton Railroad Company, that company leases the road of the Connecting Railway Company, and agrees to pay an annual rent for 999 years of six per centum upon the cost of the road. Clear of taxes. These bonds are therefore recommended as a first-class security.
