Frick Has Retired.

The startling information has been given out at the offices of the Carnegie Steel company in Pittsburg that Henry Clay Frick, prominent for a quarter of a century as a coke and steel baron, has retired from the chairmanship of the board of managers and would hereafter remain merely as an advisory partner in the concern, occupying a position similar to Mr. Carnegie. At the same time Henry M. Curry, for years a director in the company, presented his resignation.

The development occurred at a meeting of the company's board of directors held Monday.

George Lauder and A. M. Moreland, partners in the concern, were elected to take the places made vacant by the retirement of Messrs. Frick and Curry.

Following is the statement given out for publication by the company:

"At a meeting of the Carnegie Steel company, limited, Mr. Frick informed his partners of his desire to give up the duties of chairman of the board of managers, and asked to be relieved in order to join Mr. Carnegie, Mr. Phipps and Mr. Singer as consulting partners of the company. Mr. Frick's partners assented to his request. A successor to Mr. Frick was not chosen, as it is intended to abolish the office of chairman since Mr. Frick leaves it.

"Mr. Curry, who has been long confined by illness, sent his resignation as a member of the board, which his partners were forced to accept, with great reluctance.

"Mr. George Lauder and Mr. A. M. Moreland were unanimously elected to fill the vacancies."

Reading between the lines this statement is generally accepted to mean that since Mr. Carnegie has refused to retire in order to permit Mr. Frick's reorganization plan to go through, the latter gentleman has decided to quit the company management as hitherto directed by himself in the capacity of chairman of the board of directors.

The abolition of that position with Mr. Frick's official retirement, leaves Charles M. Schwab, president of the company, as chief executive head of the concern.

Begin Work Monday.

That work will be resumed at the Sloan and Central collieries of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company on Monday next is evidenced from the fact that men are now putting things in readiness around the mines preparatory to starting up. The blacksmiths have been ordered to shoe the mules and the miners are gathering their tools from other places to resume operations.

It is nearly two years since the collieries were shut down, but the men have not been idle during that time. Many of them found employment in other workings, which have been run to their fullest capacity for some time, to meet the demands for coal.

With the resumption of work at the Sloan and Central, all the collieries operated by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company will be working full time and every day in the week, except Sunday.

This and That.

It has been decided to treble the output of the plant of the Pittston Cut Glass company.

Work on the construction of the new Cross Creek breaker at Beaver Meadow is progressing. The new structure will be much higher than the old one and will have a greater capacity. It will give employment to many more men.

One thousand mile book No. 3732, purchased Nov. 28, at Binghamton, in the name of W. H. Baker, has been lost. Conductors have been notified to lift the same and return to Superintendent Salisbury's office if presented for passage.

Passenger conductors have been ordered to provide themselves from Superintendent Salisbury's office with train register tickets, form T17. They are to be filled out and thrown off to agents or operators at register stations where their trains do not stop.

Notices have been posted calling the attention of Lehigh Valley employes to have their watches examined before Dec. 25. They are requested to call at the office of the superintendent and file a certificate showing that the timepiece has been examined.

STRIKE THREATENED.

Bituminous Miners Ask for an Advance of Ten Cents a Ton.

Philipsburg, Pa., Dec. 6.—The bituminous coal miners of central and northern Pennsylvania have asked for an advance of ten cents a ton for pick mining, twelve and a half cents for loading after machine and twenty per cent. advance for all other labor, the same to go into effect Jan. 1.

To consider the question a convention of miners will be held at Clearfield next Tuesday, and on the same day a joint conference of operators and miners will be held. A strike is certain should the operators not agree to advance effective Jan. 1, or not later than April 1.
