The Court below confirmed a decree of an auditor, ordering the husband to pay four hundred dollars to Messrs T. J. Fox Alden and John S. Hamilton, the wife's attorneys. The Supreme Court affirmed the decision, recognizing the humane principle laid down by Judge King, of Philadelphia, in the case of Melizet vs. Melizet, Parson's equity cases, page 78, that whether the suit is brought by the husband or the wife, the husband must pay the expenses.

Mason's Challenge Blacking

MASON'S CHALLENGE BLACKING, AND SUPERIOR BLACK AND BLUE WRITING AND DRYING INK.—The subscribers, grateful for the very extensive patronage received at their Old Stand, No. 192 North Third street, Philadelphia, but leave respectfully to inform their friends in this city, and elsewhere, that, to meet promptly the constantly increasing demand for the above articles, they have erected the inimitable factory, lately removed to their spacious GRANITE BUILDING, 108 North Second street, west side, between Arch and Race streets, Philadelphia, where, by the introduction of extensive and well adapted Steam Machinery, they are fully prepared to supply the increased demand, at the shortest notice, all the demands for home consumption or exportation, and respectfully discriminate the public against worthless imitations.

The Inventor feels bound to say, that when it was necessary, by an infinite verbiage, to recommend the sterling properties of Mason's Blacking, Blacking Manufacturers, who have perhaps been earnest in a reputation which defies all trivial; and although the subscriber may be considered a partial witness, he can safely say, that his Mason's Challenge Blacking, has earned, in past time, for itself, yet they have not been able to do justice to its merits, and they have, in fact, succeeded, by the application of an important ingredient known only to themselves, which, while it gives it a more rational lustre, improves the texture and flexibility of the leather.

For sale by all respectable dealers.
