THE LAST OF THE WAR.

The Report of Gen. Robert E. Lee on the Surrender of the Army of Northern Virginia-The First Published.

In the life of Gen. Robert E. Lee there is published for the first time the report of the closing operations of Lee with the army of Northern Virginia, and the particulars of his surrender at Appomatter. The report is written to Jefferson Davis: It is with pain that I announce to your Excellency the surrender of the army of Northern Virginia. Upon arriving at Amelia Court House on the morning of the 4th with the advance of the army, on the retreat from the lines in front of Richmond and Peterburg, and not finding the supplies ordered to be placed there, nearly twentyfour hours were lost in endeavoring to collect in the country subsistence for men and horses. This delay was fatal, and could not be retrieved. The troops, wearied by continued fighting and marching for several days and nights, obtained neither rest nor refreshment, and on moving on the 5th, on the Richmond and Danville railroad, I found at Jeters listened attentively, "I'd let 'Zek ville the enemy's cavalry, and learned the approach of his infantry and the general advance of his army toward Burkeville. This deprived us of the use of the railroad, and rendered it impracticable to procure from Danville the supplies ordered to meet us at points of our march. Nothing could be obtained from the adjacent country. Our route to the Roanoke was therefore changed, and the march directed upon Farmville, where supplies were ordered from Lynchburg. The change of route threw the troops over the reads pursued by the ar-tillery and wagon-trains west of the railroad, which impeded our advance and embarrassed our movements. On the morning of the 6th Gen. Longstreet's corps reached Rice's Station, on the Lynchburg railroad. It was followed by the commands of Gens. R. H. Anderson, Ewell, and Gordon, with orders to close upon it as fast as the progress of the trains would permit, or as they could be directed, on roads further west. Gen. Anderson, commanding Pickett's and B. R. Johnson's divisions, became disconnected with Mahone's division forming the rear of Longstreet. The enemy's cavalry penetrated the line of march through the interval thus left, and attacked the wagon-train moving toward Farmville. This caused serious delay in the march of the center and rear of the column, and enabled the enemy to mass upon their flank. After successive at. man to be proud of one of these days. tacks, Anderson's and Ewell's corps were captured or driven from their position. The latter general, with both of his formatory effort in that quarter. division commanders, Kershaw and Cuswere taken prisoners. Gordon, who all the morning, aided by Gen. W. F. Lee's envalry, had checked the advance of the enemy on the road from Amelia Springs, and protected the trains, became exposed to his com-bined assaults, which he bravely resisted operations; but, the men being de-

lowed the wagon trains and embarrassed their progress. On the morning of the 7th, rations were issued to the troops as they passed Farmville, but the safety of the trains requiring their removal upon the approach of the enemy, all could not be supplied. The army, reduced to two corps, under Longstreet and Gordon, moved steadily on the road to Appomattox Court House, thence its march was ordered by Campbell Court House, through Pittsylvania toward Danville. The roads were wretched and the progress slow. By great efforts the head of the column reached Appomattox Court House on the evening of the 8th, and the troops were halted for rest. The march was ordered to be resumed at one A. M. on the 9th. Fitz Lee with the cavalry, supported by Gordon, was ordered to drive the enemy from his front, wheel to the left and cover the passage of the trains, while Longstreet, who from Rice's Station had formed the rear guard, should close up and hold the position. Two battalions of artillery and the ammunition-wagons were directed to accompany the army; the rest of the artillery and wagons to move toward Lynchburg. In the early part of the night the enemy attacked Walker's artillery train near Appointation Station on the Lynchburg railroad, and were repelled. Shortly afterward their cavalry dashed toward the Court House, till halted by our line, During the night there were indications of a large force massing on our left and front. Fitz Lee was directed to ascertain its strength, and to suspend his advance till daylight if necessary. About 5 A. M. on the 9th, with Gordon on his left, he moved forward and opened the way. A heavy force of the enemy was overed opposite Gordon's which, moving in the direction of Appomattox Court House, drove back the left of the cavalry and threatened to cut off Gordon from Longstreet, his cavalry at the same time threatening to envelop his left flank. Gordon withdrew across the Appointance on the Lynchburg road and be Later observers and writers on health and disease fully approve this utterance of the faand twice repulsed; but the cavalry mous wit and divine. with the prevalence of croup and diphtheria in cold weather than many people think. City physicians in consultation over the cause and cure of diphtheria give prominence to cleanliness as the best preventive. Not long since, in a fashionable house, three children died of this fearful disease. Upon careful in-quiry it was found that the carpets of house, which was rented furnished, had not been taken up or dusted for many years. Curtains, carpets, and woolen garments which cannot be washed may be cleansed by thorough airing and beating, and however clean they may seem to the eye, they should undergo Perfect cleanliness is a luxury, and, ike other luxuries, not easily attainable by the very poor. They cannot afford the changes necessary, or the comfortable warmth and surroundings which make the bath enjoyable even in winter, and therefore it is that disease infests their dwellings. Herein is a field for the philanthropist. The bath-room is now much a part of every first-class city and country house as is the bed-room or the sitting-room, and to this improvement is in part due the diminished rate of mortality in the present and past generations. Hand in hand with personal cleanliness goes ventilation, and health follows in their train.

TRAVELERS. - A man, accompanied by his wife, baby and a small black-and-tan terrier, arrived in Branchville, N. J., having traveled in a wagon from Kansas, a distance of 1,500 miles. The trip occupied forty-nine days, and as they camped in the wagon at night the entire expense amounted to only ninety-six dollars. The woman said the trip was a long and tedious one, and had not the three plagues -chintz-bugs, drought and grasshoppers come upon them they never would have undertaken it. They started from Leavenworth on Tuesday, September 22, and were fourteen days in crossing the State of Missouri.

Premonition of Death.

Mr. Motley, in his recent volumes of of the declaration of the dogma of the infalli-bility of the Pope it is desirable that the powers of Henry IV., of France, just before h should take steps toward concerted action in death. The great monarch was bus with preparations for war with Spain He intended to strike a powerful blo for spiritual freedom in Europe, and we on the point of departure at the head of the best appointed army he had eve commanded. But he delayed for a fe days to take part in public festivities in honor of the coronance.

The festivities he dreaded, and looked forward to them with gloomy forebodings. He was haunted with fears that they involved his own life, and that he should not survive them. He said many wheat welcan find he favorite minister, Sully:

Sully asked him why he did not abandon the pro-posed festivities at the coronation, and ectually went to the queen to persuade her to countermand them. But she refused in high indignation, being, as is now supposed, in the conspiracy against his life. The result is well known; the king-was assassinated in his carriage by Ravaillac, as the festivities were in pro-

The dving hours of Cremwell and Napoleon were marked storms of terrific violence, and Shaks peare describes the earth and air as filled with omens before the murder of Julius Cresar and of King Duncan. Great men often have premonitions of death, as if nature or Providence were giving warning of dangers for them to avoid. If Henry IV. had heeded the premonitions, he might have escaped death and changed the history of Europe. -Providence Journal.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was first made known to them. A single bottle often gives delicate and suffering women more relief than months of treatment from their family than mosths of treatment from their family physician. In all those derangements causing backache, dragging down sensations, nervous and general debility, it is a sovereign remedy. Its soothing and healing properties render it of the utmost value to ladies suffering from internal fever, congestion, inflammation or ulceration, and its strengthening effects tend to correct displacements of internal parts, the result of weakness of natural supports. It is sold by all druggists.

SEA FOAM BAKING POWDER .- In another column will be found the card of the old and reliable house of GEO, F. GANTZ & CO., who have won an enviable and solid reputation as the inventors and proprietors of the "best Baking Powder in the world." All through the Eastern States it is universally used, and count-less praises are daily received from dealer and consumer. Those who have used it will have no other, and those who have not have yet to learn the delights to be derived from sweet, pure bread.—American Newspaper Reporter.

There is, probably, no way in which we can benefit our readers more than by recom-mending to them for general use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. It is adapted to almost all the purposes of a family medicine; and as a specific for coughs, colds, wlopping cough, soreness of the chest, lame stomach, rheu-matism, spitting of blood, and all lung difficulties, it has no equal that ever we saw or heard

The propriety of giving condition medicine to horses, cattle and sheep was dis-cussed and admitted by many of the agricultural societies throughout the State last fall, and we Take one bottle and you will be believe that in every case but one they decided in favor of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders. In the first place, the bonds are placed at the attainable price of $20 each, and the return of the principal is assured beyond contingency; further, the holder of each bond participates in every quarterly premium until it is redeemed-principal and interest.
