PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

FRIDAY MORNING, DEC. 24, 1852.

FROM NEW YORK.

Correspondence of the Daily Pittsburgh Gazette.

New York, Dec. 21, 1852.

Warm weather has returned and the atmosphere is as mild as April, nor is there wanting showers as frequent as generally mark this melting month. The natural effect of this weather is to cheapen coal and provisions, to the great gratification of consumers, and the discomfiture of holders. It also facilitates out door labor, and house building, and all other pursuits dependent upon mild weather are pushed onward with midsummer speed.

The Ericson steamship engines continue to work well, with an economy of fuel, equal to the anticipations of her projectors. After a few days of trial her owners mean to take her to some of the Southern cities, including Washington, to enable people to witness this revolution in propulsion, which abandons boilers and water, and produces equal results from the expansive force of an almost impalpable element.

Full one thousand passengers left in the two California steamers yesterday, and the rush seems as great as ever. It is noticeable now that a large part of the passenger lists are made up of women and children accompanying heads of families who have established themselves in California. Among the passengers is one of the proprietors of the Metropolitan Hotel, who goes to San Francisco to manage a new house there capable of accommodating one thousand persons, and which promises to be even more profitable than the new house here. The Lelands have already made, in California, a handsome fortune.

A new Crystal Palace is now in course of erection in the quadrangle of the Astor House. It is to be devoted to the purposes of a bar-room for that establishment, and will cost fifteen thousand dollars to build. Like the Crystal Palace it is to be made of iron and glass, and will be quite an imposing structure, though hidden within the Astor House. The "American Museum" is the next public building to be removed up town, and its site devoted to business purposes. The thousand daily visitors who rush to Barnum's Museum to deposit their quarters, have been crowded so far up town that the showman has been obliged to follow them to save his profits.

In Wall street, affairs are rather dull. Money, as the end of the year approaches, is in more request, and people show more inclination to settle up old affairs than to enter new ones, no matter how flattering they may appear. Stocks upon the whole, are well sustained, and a large business, with improved prices predicted for the commencement of 1853. The sub-treasury is gradually letting out its stock of gold, and by the first of April promises to be quite lean.

Railroad people here assert that a plan is seriously agitated for procuring from Congress the means of building a Railroad from Washington to New York direct, in order to secure the more regular and cheaper transportation of the mails. Such a road would be a great public benefit, and be of infinite local benefit to Philadelphia and Baltimore, relieving them, as it would, from the effects of that meanest of routes, from Philadelphia to Baltimore. It would also break up the New Jersey monopoly, and give cheap and rapid transportation in that region, a consummation devoutly to be wished by all holders of railroad stocks centering in Philadelphia.

A new pictorial paper, called the Illustrated News, under the patronage of Barnum and the Beaches, backed by sixty thousand dollars capital, made its appearance this morning, looking a good deal like its London namesake, but the engravings coarse as most American engravings are in spite of all the care taken and money expended. Barnum means to secure the printing of the Crystal Palace, which means to picturalize all the gems on exhibition. This job turned into the new pictorial must swell its renown, and make it pay.

Crystal Palace stock commands now one hundred and forty per cent, a large premium, when it is remembered that all the profits are to be earned. Two hundred per cent would not purchase much of the stock, so confident are people of its great success. C.

THE METHODIST CHURCH SUIT IN NEW YORK

It will be remembered that this case was argued in the United States Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York, at the May term, 1851, before Judges Nelson and Betts, and that, in November following, Judge Nelson pronounced a decision in favor of the complainants, who sued, on behalf of themselves and of their associate beneficiaries connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church South, for a pro rata portion of the property of the Methodist Book Concern in the city of New York. In pursuance of the terms of the decree, a reference was had before the clerk of the court to ascertain and report upon the value of the property, and upon other matters involved in the questions hereafter mentioned. The commissioners for the South, with counsel, were present at the reference in April last, and the book agents also appeared with counsel. Considerable testimony was taken on the reference, and the whole matter was argued in May before the referee, who reported thereon. As to the questions wherein the counsel differed, he decided generally for the defendants (the North.) The complainants, being dissatisfied with the report, took exceptions to it; in consequence of which the matter was brought before the court, and in October last it was again argued by Daniel Lord for the complainants, and E. L. Fancher for the defendants.

We now learn that the Judges, (Nelson and Betts,) having deliberated upon the case, are divided in opinion upon the principal questions arising on the exceptions to the report; and they have consequently, ordered the points on which they differ, to be sent up to the Supreme Court of the United States, for a decision by that tribunal. We understand that a final decree cannot be entered in the case until the direction of the Supreme Court upon the points certified to it, shall be sent back to the Circuit Court. Nor can the defendants, should they elect to appeal from the decree of November, 1851, deciding the main question of the right of the South, take such appeal, until the final decree in the cause is entered.

It was contended for the South, on the argument of the exceptions to the clerk's report, that the Southern beneficiaries were entitled to be paid their portion of dividends, according to the profits as yearly reported by the book agents to the annual conference; that the share of the South in the capital, was to be ascertained according to the value of the same in 1845; and that such share should be paid in cash, with certain additions of interest; also that the ratio should be computed according to the numbers of preachers reported in the minutes for the year 1845. On the other hand it was contended for the defendants, that the share of the Southern beneficiaries in the profits, should be rated according to what the Northern beneficiaries had actually received, and not according to reported or actual profits; that the portion of capital to be ascertained for the South, should be taken according to the value of 1851, and not of 1845; and that, whatever the share was, it should not be paid in cash, but that the capital must be portioned under the decree of the Court, by an apportionment of the specific effects to be agreed upon; and if such agreement could not be made; then that there must be a sale ordered, and a distribution of the proceeds; also that the ratio there to be regulated according to the number of preachers named in the minutes of 1844, and not of 1845.

We understand that the difference of opinion between the Judges are fundamental upon the principal points mentioned, and it is, therefore, inevitable that the case, so far as those points are concerned, should go to the Supreme Court of the United States.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

The Toledo and Cleveland road was opened on Monday, 20th inst., from Monroeville to Toledo, on the Western sections, (55 miles,) for the conveyance of passengers, and at Monroeville connecting with the Mansfield road, which at Shelby, (28 miles south) crosses the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad, thus making a continuous railroad connection from Chicago to New York. The whole line, direct, will be completed by 1st of January.

RAILROAD CHARTER.—A letter from Richmond detailing the proceedings of the Virginia Legislature, says—"A company has been chartered to construct a railroad from Independence, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, to Morgantown. An effort will be made to make the State a party to the matter."

Dr. Frances says that from the way people have taken to the growing of fat cattle, one would think that the cultivation of tallow was the chief end of man. Go to Boston, he observes, and out of every dozen men you meet, ten will be tallow gox, while the other two will be divided between the merits of Ralph Waldo Emerson and "the imported chickens" that Messrs. Cackle and Feathers have just brought from Shanghai.

The aggregate imports of last week at New York were $2,786,183, and of the month $9,135,125, against $4,612,496 same time last year. The Exports of the month reach $2,614,294.

SHIP BUILDING IN LOUISIANA.—The State of Louisiana has recently passed a law to encourage ship building in that State, and a bonus is offered to every person who shall cause to be built within the State any vessel of a tonnage exceeding one hundred tons burthen, including sea-going steamers, of five dollars a ton—and for every river or lake steamer of four dollars a ton.

Rev. Dr. Ives, the Protestant Episcopal Bishop of North Carolina, who is on a visit to Europe, is reported in the last number of Tablet to have become a Catholic. The Tablet says he has gone on a visit to Rome, but while in London had an interview with the Cardinal Archbishop. We find the extract in the New York Freeman's (Catholic) Journal.

Failures are of rare occurrence now that the healthfulness and activity of business has been so general, and money so abundant, at less rates of discount; and the wonder is, that they should occur at all. Yet Messrs. G. B. Foote & Brothers, Jobbers of Maiden Lane, New York, who commenced business in January last, with a capital of $14,000, failed last week for a sum of $370,000, of which $40,000 are confidential. They make an offer of 35 cents on the dollar, with security, payable in six and nine months.

The Directors of the Ohio Life and Trust Company have selected Mr. Charles Rockwell, of the Treasury in Washington, to succeed Mr. G. S. Coe, as Cashier to the Company. Mr. Edwin Ludlow, now in the Company's office, to be promoted as associate Cashier.

The amount of specie held by the New York City banks was counted on the 18th inst., and found to be $9,800,000, which is exclusive of the $2,500,000 received by the Illinois.

Jokes, to be appreciated, should not be written, but told. Catch the sparkling foam of the sea and bottle it, and what was a moment ago living pearls dressed in sunshine, is now a bad sample of pork pickle.
