The Republican Party.

Politics are the same everywhere so far as the fidelity of men to parties is concerned. As long as a certain order of active and energetic men are permitted to enjoy the fruits and the sweets of office, they are content to support those in power having this patronage to dispense. But the moment you deprive these individuals of such comfortable enjoyments, instantly they cry lustily for a change, by which they mean that the ins shall be removed from place and the outs (themselves) put into the vacancies thus made. If this is not at once done, an agitation is begun to break up the party which dares to refuse thus to be reformed. It matters not in which direction one looks, the same aspect of affairs in this particular is presented in every direction. The history of the English people, from the period of the Norman conquest, is full of illustration of what we mean, each successive reign being a conflict of the outs and the ins, in which principle was often bent to serve personal ambition as it rose to benefit the nation, and during which conflicts—however the claimed advances of civilization may have been secured—the price which the common mass of men paid to realize such triumphs was full of blood and suffering. And we can come still closer to the present, in the condition of a people thus suffering and contending, and find in the light now raging in France a fine specimen of this struggle between the outs and the ins. The Dominicans, representing the wasteful and extravagant Empire, which was real oppression to France, have been intriguing every since the Republic was established to overthrow and destroy it. This faction is composed of the old office-holders of France, who are now the outs, and who care only for office and its emoluments. They desire power, not for the good of France, but for the enrichment of themselves; and they intrigue for the overthrow of the Republic to accomplish this. In this conspiracy the Imperialists have gathered to their ranks the bad men of all parties in France, who can only secure reward from the success of a bad cause, as they have forfeited their honor.

There is a similarity in the condition of the Republic in France and the Republican party in the United States at this present time, which is well worthy of consideration. For two years the Republicans of France have had a fierce and bitter struggle. Every evil influence that could be invoked has been hurled against them; they have been deceived by those whom they trusted; cheated by those they elevated to power, and often disgraced by their representatives, until at last they have completely triumphed over all obstacles, and the French Republic is to-day established on a foundation where it seems destined to survive for many years. Here is precisely the condition of the Republican party in the United States. There never has been a party in the Union which has withstood so many and such persistent internal efforts to destroy it. There never has been a party in America that has defeated and prostrated so many well-laid plans on the part of its professed, discarded, and disgraced adherents, to sell it out and to destroy it. There were times when it was regarded as ready to collapse, but just as its foes were prepared to trample on its fall it rose to greater strength and grandeur than it ever presented to the country. It has been betrayed by individuals, forced to the auctioneer's block by combination and factions, but it has never yet been brought to the ground where it could be shackled. If it has suffered a reverse, it was only temporary, from which it gloriously recovered at the very first opportunity that was presented. Take the election of 1874 and that of the spring of 1875 as evidence of this. In the first we were defeated because we were careless and over-confident. In the last we recovered, because we organized for victory, had good men for candidates, and aroused the confidence of the people by going into the campaign on our record as a party.

We need not remind the observer of politics in Pennsylvania that there are new combinations being formed in all parts of the State to secure the defeat of the Republican party at the next November election. It is the old story of the outs who profess to be anxious to reform the government by rejecting the ins. The leaders in this political moral movement are men to a great extent, who by their faithlessness and corruptions have forfeited the confidence and the honor of the Republican party. No man in the Republican organization has quarreled with those men. They fell from the party like decayed fruit from a healthy branch, they were purged from the body politic of Republicanism because they poisoned it, and could not be retained and at the same time preserve a healthy action. Yet these are the subjects, these influences which are now being consolidated with what is left of a corrupt and historically-deformed Democracy to overthrow the greatest, the purest, and most beneficent political organization that has ever had charge of the Federal Government since Washington transmitted it to his successors.

We entertain no fears as to the success of the Republican party, but at the same time we are not blind to the combinations now being made to destroy it. All the old political hacks in the State, all the men who have been discarded by the people as Republicans, because they are unfit to be trusted, are now organizing and preparing to unite with the Democracy to secure the control of Pennsylvania this year, in order thus to secure its electoral vote to a Democratic candidate in 1876. Be it remembered that four out of every five of these Democrats would never have left the party had they been permitted to remain and retain the official places which they disgraced. Their absence from the party was like the purging of poison from the human stomach—a matter of life and death. Their continued absence is the assurance of our present and future purity, the badge by which we will win success as long as we can retain it. The contest in Pennsylvania this year will be important in all respects to Republicans. We are to be defeated, if possible, by being unaligned. The idea is to overthrow the party, not because its measures are unpractical, but simply because its men are not fit to govern. Those men have been re-elected by the people, and they have faithfully done their duty; but, on the ground that there are others hungry for their places, they are to be defamed and turned out to make room for a horde of politicians on whom the ban of condemnation has been repeatedly placed, both during the struggle for the Union and since.

It is only right that we should understand this condition of the politics of the State, and go into the coming contest advisedly. We have the same foe to contend with in 1875 that we had in 1865. Then the corruptmen of our own party, the professed but hypocritical Republicans who could only get office by betraying their principles, as they are now ready to do, conspired with the Democracy to defeat us, but they failed. They fought for plunder but did not get it. Let us take courage from these historical and individual coincidences. They prove to us of how little force corrupt men are when contending for power in the gift of an intelligent people. Indeed there is so much truth and vitality in Republicanism that it will never be overthrown while governments are instituted among men. Nevertheless if we desire to share the full benefits of its success, we must stand by its principles. This is the point to which we now direct attention.

Every pound of cochineal contains 70,000 insects boiled to death.

A South Carolina sheriff recently levied on a monkey to satisfy a debt.

The effort to allow wives to testify against husbands in criminal cases has failed in New York.

A verdict of $8,000 has just been given in Baltimore against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, for killing an infant child.

Paris, Texas, claims 6,000 inhabitants. On one farm in Lamar county, twenty-six kinds of grapes are being successfully raised.

The compulsory education bill provided in the State of Maine proposes for clothing destitute children, as well as educating them.

In the Republican Convention at Cincinnati March 18, John Robinson, the well-known circus proprietor, was nominated for Mayor.

Four of the Indians who murdered the German family in the Cheyenne country have been identified. The remaining thirteen cannot be found.

New York is enforcing her compulsory education law. Arrests have been made at Fishkill, the constable compelling the children to enter the schools.

Extensive arrangements are being made in New York for the dedication of the new Masonic temple June 2. A large number of Masons from different cities are expected to participate.

The Roman Catholics have in the United States and its Territories, 7 archbishops, 33 bishops, 4,873 priests, 6,920 churches, chapels, and stations, and what is termed a "Catholic population" of about 6,000,000.

New York March 27.—The committee of associated coal companies have agreed on an advance of twenty cents per ton for April. The following are the prices of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company's coal on board vessels at either Rondout or Weehawken, for the month of April: Furnace lump, $4.00; steam lump $4.70; grate, $4.80; egg, $4.95; store, $5.40; chestnut, $4.40 per ton of 2,240 pounds, payable in New York funds fifteen days after delivery.

Two New Jersey councilmen had narrow escape in New York last week. After taking quarters at a hotel near Fifth street and Ninth avenue, they had not been sitting long when a nitroglycerine blast went off, and in an instant several pieces of rock, weighing from three to thirty pounds each, came crashing through the boards and wall of the hotel as if they were but so much paper. One had a cap in his hand, and a great piece of rock came whizzing so close to him that it took his cap away. The other people in the same room had similar narrow escapes. One piece of rock smashed the piano; another crushed through an oak door, and other pieces created similar deprivations. The escape was marvelous; a slight movement would have been deadly. The accident occurred between four and five o'clock.

Gov. Hartranft.

For public men have been so abused and misrepresented as Gov. Hartranft was when he was a candidate. And very few men have so bravely and completely lived down the slanders and put to rout the slanderers, as he has since he became Governor. His fame is national. The press of adjoining States are outspoken in his praise. The Rochester, N. Y., Democrat very truly says: "The Republicans of Pennsylvania are unanimous in their determination to renominate the Hon. John F. Hartranft for Governor. During his term he has made a magnificent record, carefully guarding the interests of the people and thwarting all jobs and extravagancies which have come within his purview. He entered office under something of a cloud. He emerges from it with the most searching sunlight poured upon his reputation, without revealing a spot. If he needed to vindicate himself, he has amply achieved such vindication. With Gov. Hartranft heading the ticket, the Republicans of Pennsylvania will enter upon the fall campaign assured of success."

GENERAL NOTES.

A man is in jail in Polk county, Iowa for stealing Bibles.

William Herring's tannery, at Governor, N. Y., has been destroyed by fire. Loss $20,000.

The Providence Journal says that "snuff for dipping" is boldly advertised by the stores in that city.

An official return gives 2,591,400 pounds as the quantity of horse flesh consumed in Paris in 1874.

An Iowa man advertises in the local journal that he will prosecute any saloon keeper who sells him liquor.

Church doors in New York are hereafter to be made to open outwardly. Heretofore they appear to have been afflicted with too much true inwardness in their manner of opening.

There are five pairs in the present United States Senate, the Camerons, Joneses, Ferrys, Johnsons, and Morrills. This Minister Schenck would call a decidedly good hand.

PITTSBURGH EVENING TELEGRAPH

AN INDEPENDENT REPUBLICAN JOURNAL

A LIVE NEWSPAPER,

IN ALL ITS DEPARTMENTS.

In entering upon the New Year—a year within a few months of the second anniversary of the first appearance of the PITTSMURGH EVENING TELEGRAPH—renew their expressions of thanks to an intelligent and appreciative public for its

during the year just closed. Coming into existence at a time when every kind of business was in a certain extent depressed, and when retrenchment in every direction was the rule, the TELEGRAPH has fought its way, and become, not only an established fact, but a PRIME NECESSITY IN EVERY WELL-INFORMED CIRCLE.

whether it be of the counting-room, the professional office, the workshop, or the family. Its circulation, equal to the best from the start, has grown in extent and importance daily, until now it acknowledges two equals—the Dispatch and Leader—so far as the number issued daily is concerned, and no equal as to the character of its readers. These facts are so well known and appreciated by the business community, or the shrewdest members thereof, that our columns have been well-filled by the favors of and we are glad to know that their faith in the TELEGRAPH as an advertising medium has been firmly established.

THE PITTSMURGH EVENING TELEGRAPH

has, we think, during the past year maintained its claim to the good will and support of the people, irrespective of party, inasmuch as its opposition to bad nominations within the party whose principles it favors was largely instrumental in procuring the election of the best men for the Republican party. We shall in the future, as in the past, oppose the election to office of men not fully qualified, or who shall by tricky or any unfair means manage to secure a place on the ticket. Honesty and capacity only will receive our support.

THE TELEGRAPH will continue to publish ALL THE NEWS OF THE DAY at the earliest moment, and in such a shape as to be acceptable to the most critical reader.

THE TELEGRAPH will continue to reflect the sentiments of the people on all public questions touching their welfare.

THE TELEGRAPH will uphold zealously the hands of all men honest and earnest in reform, and it will, as in the past, give all sides a hearing on the topics of the time.

THE TELEGRAPH will labor with renewed zeal for the prosperity of the city and State and the advancement of the material interests of our citizens. Its will continue to be carefully attended to, and its reports of local events will be always fresh and reliable. Its

from the Capitals of the Nation and State and from all important news centers will continue to be of the most attractive and trustworthy character. Its will receive the same careful attention that has been remarked in the past, and in this respect the TELEGRAPH will continue to be without a competitor. Its will contain an honest expression of views on all important live topics, political and otherwise. Its

MARKET AND FINANCIAL REPORTS

NEWS AND LITERARY DEPARTMENTS,

which have always enjoyed an exalted reputation, will continue to be of the same unexceptionable character. In fine, the

EVENING TELEGRAPH

IN ALL ITS DEPARTMENTS,

will be during the year 1875, superior to the past, excellent as it has been by general admission. No expense will be spared to give the paper abroad with the times, and its managers will exert every effort that experience may suggest to make it possible, more attractive to the general reader.
