S. W. ROBERTS, Chief Eng. and Sup'dt.

WM. E. STEVENSON, Esq.—It has been asserted in some quarters that this gentleman, who has been nominated on the Whig ticket as a candidate for the Assembly, is a Democrat or Locofoco, and some say, a rabid Democrat and agrarian. Now the fact of a man having been a Democrat, if he chooses to come on the Whig platform, would make no difference to us. We welcome all as brothers who will join us in defeating the atrocious designs of the slave oligarchy. But it may be as well to set the matter right as regards Mr. Stevenson. He has never been a member of the Democratic party, and is as far from being an agrarian and leveler as any man in the community. He, and all his brothers have been Whigs, until he joined the Freesoil party, and since then he has usually voted with the Whigs on State issues and Municipal elections. He does not hold a political principle that has not been endorsed by the Whig State and County Conventions. He has long been an able and eloquent advocate of the Homestead principle in regard to our public lands, and this has given rise to the slander that he entertained agrarian sentiments. This principle was recognised by the Whig State Convention, and now he stands, in regard to political faith, fair and square on the Whig platform ready to do battle for the principles promulged. He has always been a friend to the doctrine of Protection to Home Labor, and being a Mechanic and Working-Man himself, he has struggled to elevate and sustain the laboring classes by promoting home manufactures, self-reliance, and free public lands for the actual settler. This much for Mr. Stevenson, as an act of personal justice. As a member of the Freesoil party, nominated by the Whigs as an act of conciliation and union in the great work of opposing Slavery, we should have supported him just the same had he been a member of the Democratic party all his life, before he united himself with the Freesoilers. Had Geo. R. Riddle or Geo. W. Jackson, well known Democratic Freesoilers, been nominated instead of Mr. Stevenson, it would have been all the same to us. We care nothing about a man's political antecedents, so he is heart'ly with us now, and will stand with us shoulder to shoulder in stemming the tide of slavery propagandism.—We say to all freemen of the free States, "come with us—we are fighting over the battle of liberty, of human rights. We are willing to lay aside all minor considerations which have divided us politically, and to meet as brothers, as Pennsylvanians, as freemen, to withstand the aggressions of the Slave-power. When this battle is fought, and victory shall have perched upon our banners—when we can proclaim that we are free from the responsibilities and the encroachments of slavery—if we have any minor political differences worth contending about, we will then fall back into our original political elements, and contend for the success of our views, when success or failure will not affect our rights as citizens, or our characters as men."

LAW AND ORDER.—No professions can be more hollow and insincere than those now made by the Democratic press of the north in behalf of "law and order." Their horror of mob law in Boston is because the mob is against, instead of with them. Circumstances alter cases.

The early existence of "locofocoism" proper, was marked by an utter defiance of law and order. Those whose political recollections go back far enough will be able to call to mind the locofoco mob which attacked the flour warehouses of New York and emptied them of their contents. Those were days when "locofocoism" was in its cradle, and in its then unadulterated form it distinguished itself by its efforts to crush what it was pleased to term "monopolies" with mob force.

When Thomas W. Dorr arrayed himself against the laws of Rhode Island and endeavored to subvert the constituted authorities of that State, he received the general endorsement and sympathy of the democratic party. "Law and order" were then terms which stunk in the nostrils of locofocoism.

In the early days of abolitionism it was a common practice to mob its adherents, stone their houses, sack their dwellings, burn their furniture, and treat them with all the indignities of which a mob is capable. In this very city of Boston Wm. Lloyd Garrison was led through the streets with a halter around his neck by men of standing and property, and a female prayer-meeting of which he was a witness was broken up and dispersed by a mob. Where was the voice of the democratic press, then! Was it on the side of law and order? We rather think not.

When Lovejoy was shot down in cold blood, in Illinois, for defending his property and the right of free utterance through the press, did the democratic party frown upon the deed? Not that we are aware of. And was not Lovejoy's life of as much value as Batchelder's?

When Amos Kendall was Postmaster General, and the country was under unbridled democratic rule, the mails, in various parts of the country, were broken open and their contents committed to the flames by infuriated mobs. What then? Did Amos Kendall, did the democratic national administration, did the democratic party step in to the support of the violated laws? Not at all. Amos Kendall, acting under the direction of a democratic President, gave his sanction to the lawless spirit then prevailing, and the democratic party sustained him. We quote, as appropriate to the present time, the following extract from a letter of his on the subject:

"By no act or direction of mine, official or private, could I be induced to aid knowingly in giving circulation to papers of this description, [abolition papers] directly or indirectly.. We owe an obligation to the laws, BUT A HIGHER ONE TO THE COMMUNITIES IN WHICH WE LIVE, and if the former be perverted to destroy the latter, IT IS PATRIOTISM TO DISREGARD THEM."

Here the broad principle is laid down that the public sentiment of any community is of higher obligation than the law, and is to be followed implicitly; and this principle would not any justify the late Boston riots, but would render the Fugitive Slave Law a dead letter on almost every inch of northern ground. It was good democratic doctrine then—but, circumstances alter cases.

To come nearer home, we might instance the Cotton factory riots in Allegheny city not many years since. The Post, then, gave what aid it could, or dared, to the Rioters, and certainly democratic sympathy was not on the side of law and order.

To come still nearer, let us put in evidence the following extract from a late speech made by Mr. Slidell in the U. S. Senate:

"One thing is certain, that, in despite of all your Statutes, your Collectors, your Marshals, your Army and Navy, if the revolutionary standard is once hoisted in Cuba, and maintained for a few short weeks, no administration can prevent our citizens rushing to the rescue in such numbers as will secure its triumph. A democratic President would not desire to do it."

This speech met the approval of the President, through his organ, the Washington Union, and was duly endorsed by the Pittsburgh Post. It was a wanton proclamation that, in a certain contingency, the President would willingly see the laws set at defiance which he has sworn to support. It is useless to adduce the late proclamation of the President against fillibusterism; the contingency named by Mr. Slidell has not yet occurred, and hence it is safe and prudent to issue a proclamation against marauders not likely to succeed. But when that contingency does occur, we have the highest democratic authority for saying that the President will not desire to see the laws of his country enforced.—And this is the party now prating about "law and order!"

But we need not stop here. While the mob in Boston was in progress, the President's organs in Washington, with his understood sanction, were using their best efforts to provoke a mob upon Senator Sumner for the purpose either of taking his life or driving him from the city.

We might go on and multiply instances, but it is unnecessary. The fact is patent to all observers of events that the Democratic press and leaders never object to mob law when it is on their side. It is only when their ox is gored that they change their tune. Their natural sympathies being with slavery and against liberty they cannot endure popular demonstrations on the side of freedom.

Let us not be misunderstood. We do not vindicate popular violence when it is on our side.—Two wrongs never make one right, nor any number of wrongs; and all the violence which Locofocos have heretofore justified or approved cannot justify an imitation of their pernicious example. But we do think that a party which has defended and justified and winked at outrages beside which the Boston mob is but a trifle, and endeavored to simulate others equally flagitious, looks particularly knavish and hypocritical in striving to make capital out of an act of violence which was wrong in their eyes only because it was not in their favor.

We leave the people of Boston to make their own vindication; and doubtless they can present many facts to show that the South had no right to ask at their hands the humiliation to which they have been subjected. They probably remember the case of Judge Hoar, one of their own fellow-citizens, who went to South Carolina to argue, in the United States Court, the constitutionality of a law of that State which oppressed the colored citizens of Massachusetts. He did not go, as Suttle did, to carry a colored man out of Charleston, but simply to bring to an issue a grave constitutional question, involving the rights of men, and he was mobbed, and not only him but his daughter with him; and those chivalrous Southrons were nothing loth to put in jeopardy the life of a venerable man and his female companion for the sake of defending their municipal laws in favor of slavery. The same treatment was accorded to Mr. Hubbard, who visited New-Orleans on a similar mission. If Charleston and New Orleans claim the privilege of mob law to defend slavery, the crime of Boston is at least not greater than theirs. We venture to say that there is not a city in the South that would permit a scene to be enacted in its streets against slavery such as has just occurred in Boston in its favor. Slavery never hesitates to resort to a mob in its own defence, nor does she regard human life of any value, if deemed necessary to take it, as witness the brutal threat of Foote, uttered on the floor of the United States Senate, that if John P. Hale would visit Mississippi, he would help hang him on the tallest tree he could find.

⇒ The Louisville Journal is becoming excited and alarmed at the muttering thunders heard all over the North, and it makes most earnest appeals to the free States to exercise the virtues of forbearance and patience. It says:

The South having done a foolish thing from which it can derive no good, the North, there is reason to fear, will now do a wicked thing, from which only evil can result to all. The future is dark and gloomy, and the old pacificators of the republic are in their tombs. May a merciful heaven watch over and protect our country.

Why did not the vile traitors and robbers in Congress think of the consequences before they proceeded to consummate their selfish conspiracy! They were warned of the consequences, but they treated all warnings, and all protests, even those of thousands of clergymen, with contempt and scorn. On their heads, then, lie the consequences of their villainy. We are ready for the consequences of opposition to such outrages on civil and political right, let it lead where it may. In the language of that noted conservative sheet, the New York Courier, we should not stop to count the loss!

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—The young men of Pittsburgh, who are members of the various Evangelical Protestant Churches, have organized an Association, whose objects are to "bring into contact and brotherly intercourse the young Christian men of Pittsburgh and vicinity; exhibiting to themselves and others their number and strength; affording facilities for mingling of mind, interchange of views and feelings, and thus liberalizing sentiment, and furnishing to each other Christian sympathy and support," and further, to extend a friendly and Christian sympathy to young men who come to the city as strangers seeking employment, extending to them the hand of sympathy and friendship, forewarning them of dangers, offering them the privileges of a good library and reading room, inviting them to the House of God, and directing them to proper boarding houses; and thus endeavoring as far as possible to counteract the adverse influences of city life to the formation of a consistent Christian character.—All young men, between the ages of sixteen and forty, who are members in full communion in any Evangelical Church, may become active members of the Association, and entitled to all its privileges, by signing the Constitution, and paying one dollar annually.

The Association has started under the happiest auspices, and fair prospects, and promises to be of great usefulness. A Reading Room has been opened on the corner of Third and Market streets. Our hearty good wishes go with the Christian young men of Pittsburgh in this enterprize.

OUR BOOK TABLE.

ROBERT CARTER AND BROTHERS, New York, whose publications always possess a moral and religious character, have laid on our table several excellent works, just issued from their prolific press. The printing and binding of these works are excellent, as befits books of the right stamp. The works are as follows:

1. DANIEL, a Model for Young Men. A series of Lectures, delivered to a Young Men's Christian Association, in New Orleans, by Rev. W. A. Scott, D. D. These Lectures are of a highly popular, practical and instructive character, breathing a pure and vigorous Christianity, and calculated to prepare the reader to battle in the world for the truth, and the faith once delivered to the saints.

2. The Wood-Cutter of Lebanon; and the Exiles of Suwassa, or the Sufferings of the Waldenses. By the author of "Morning and Night Watches." These are two deeply interesting religious stories, calculated to interest the minds of children, while they make a good impression.

3. Mabel Grant. A Highland Story. By Randall H. Ballantine. This is another beautiful religious tale; and so is the following:

4. CHARLES ROUSSEL; or Industry and Honesty. Adopted from the French of J. J. Porchat, by Rev. T. T. Haverfield, D. D., Rector of Goddington, Oxfordshire.

These pleasant and useful works, are for sale by J. S. Davison, Market street where may be found all of Carter's works.

FIRST LESSONS IN LANGUAGE; OR ELEMENTS OF GRAMMAR. By David B. Tower, A. M., and Benj. F. Tweed, A. M., New York: published by Daniel Burgess & Co. The aim of this little work has been to make Grammar an agreeable intellectual exercise, instead of loading the memory with terms which the pupil cannot comprehend. We think the effort has been successful and that this Grammar will be a successful candidate for public favor.

It is an amusing fact, that the initials of the four Congressmen from Ohio, who voted for the Nebraska bill, spell dogs, Disney, Olds, Green, Shannon.—Springfield Rep.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Derangement of the Liver, is one of the most common, as well as the most formidable of diseases known to American physicians. It had for years attracted the closest attention of the medical faculty in all parts of the United States, and yet up to the time of the discovery of Dr. M'Lane's great Specific, it was almost beyond the reach of medical skill. Thousands had perished without even a hope of relief, and although thousands may yet be destined to feel the direful effects of this most complicated disease, it is now, thanks to the research of Dr. M'Lane, most completely brought within the scope of medical control. The proprietors of the Liver Pills feel confident that they offer a remedy, which has been fully tested by time, and which has never failed of success when fairly tried.

Purchasers will be careful to ask for DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, and take none else. There are other Pills, purporting to be Liver Pills, now before the public; also, his Celebrated Vermifuge, can now be had at all respectable Drug Stores in the United States; also, for sale by the sole proprietors, FLEMING BROTHERS, Pittsburgh. Price 25 cents per box.

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye.
NATURE EQUALED BY ART!!

For ages the friesurs endeavored to rain
The hair, without scorching the fibre, to stain—
Tried this nostrum and that, but in changing the hue
They withered the hair and all sent to rue.
You may burn your gray tresses a black or a brown,
But Nature the cauterized tint will disown;
And, her judges dried up, you will soon be appalled
By finding your tit create certain baldness.
Long years, as we've said, the craft struggled in vain
A dye without caustic lime, to obtain—
A fluid innocuous—that, placed on the head, 333
Would turn a green or a black would change to red.
Many times 't was proclaimed that the end was achieved;
But the wise shook their head, though the foolish believed.
And in spite of advertisement, pleased and pay,
Of such nostrums the public had soon had enough.
At length, 'twas but lately, "Eureka!" they cried;
The want so long felt at length been supplied.
A dye was announced, that, in changing the hue,
The hair did not scorch—the announcement was true.
In an instant, o'er locks silvered, sandy or red,
Was a black or a brown the most exquisite shade—
The fibres were nourished instead of destroyed;
The pores of the scalp with no pigment were cloyed;
No odor unpleasant the liquid gave out;
The color was never one moment in doubt;
No chameleon change is to purple and green
For your money back, "Cristadoro" says "we've—"
Instanter, the tint that you asked for was there,
Like the darkness that follows the lightning's glare.
What a triumph was this! how the tidings went forth
From the East, to the West, thro' the South and the North,
Until Science and Fashion with common acclaim
On their tablets inscribed the discoverer's name,
And declared that no nostrum the place could supply
Of their own CRISTADORO'S Excelsior Dye!

Shoulder Braces and Chest Expanders.

"Be particular in procuring the kind mentioned, as many of the Braces sold are humbugs."

[From the Pittsburgh Daily Dispatch, Feb. 24, 1853.]

AN EXCELLENT ARTICLE.—Persons who have acquired a stooping position, by following a sedentary occupation will experience great relief by the use of the "Washington Surveyor Brace," made and sold by Dr. KEYSER, corner of Wood street and Virgin alley. It answers for a brace and suspenders, the weight of the pantaloons is so placed as to continually tend to bring the shoulders to their natural position, and avoid the disease. We purchased one some time ago, and have been so pleased with it that we unsolicited gave it a "puff" gratis.

Women, hundreds of whom are annually injured by the wright of enormous "skirts," should also procure these braces. Be particular in procuring the kind mentioned, as many of the braces sold are humbugs.

Dr. Morse's Invigorating Elixir or CORDIAL.—If it is inquired now this great restorative is accomplishing such extraordinary cures, we can only reply that in the Arabian herb that formats radical ingredient have been hunded by the Omnipotent Physician, a larger amount and greater varieties of curative properties than had heretofore been supposed to exist in a hundred different articles of the pharmacopœia. A whole medicine chest of remedies, so to speak, seems to have been combined in this herb; and in the ELIXIR or CORDIAL we have their concentrated essence. It is the effect, however, not the cause with which we have to deal in the practical application of the medicine. The victims of dyspepsia are cured, the nervous are relieved, the languid and dull resume their activity, the sufferers from head-ache are tormented no more the weak become vigorous, the tint of jaundice leaves the complexion of the bilious, the depressed in spirits become buoyant, the sick in sickness and in every condition of disease derive immediate benefit from the use of Dr. Morse's Invigorating Elixir or Cordial. These facts, supported by irrefragable proof, are presented to the attention of invalids, who can verify them by a single bottle of the medicine. The Cordial is put up highly concentrated, in pint bottles. Price three dollars per bottle, two for five dollars, six for twelve dollars.

Especial Notice to persons using Cod LIVER OIL—The subscriber having made arrangements with Messrs. Popplein & Thompson for a regular supply of their genuine COD LIVER OIL, put up in pint bottles, would respectfully invite the attention of the public to an examination of the article, being fully persuaded that for purity and freeness from rancid taste or smell, it is unequaled. There is now no Cod Liver Oil in this country superior, if equal, to the above. Hundreds of bottles have been sold, and given unrivaled satisfaction. In the article of Cod Liver Oil, persons taking it should be careful to obtain a genuine article and one free from a rancid taste and smell, as its virtues are greatly enhanced by its being acceptable to the stomach and not producing nausea—purity and a pleasant taste make it more readily taken up by the lacteals and absorbed into the blood, and thereby in causing the richness of that fluid giving a tone and healing impression to every organ through which it passes.—Sold by

If you are sick, the probability is that the root of your suffering is in the stomach. From a weak stomach proceed dyspepsia, languor, oppression in the diaphragm, jaundice, headache, nausea, bodily weakness, dimness of sight, heartburn, costiveness, dysentery, and a legion of other tormenting diseases. Indigestion produces thin blood, and therefore destroys the strength and vigor of the system. To restore the tone of the stomach, and enable it to throw off and dismiss forever all these tormenting and dangerous complaints, nothing is necessary but a persevering use of Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, Philadelphia. There is no mistake, no failure in their sanative effect.

Indigestion and Liver Complaint Cured

BY KIER'S PETROLEUM.—Read the following letter from Rev. O. Dickerson, a Missionary in Oregon:

MR. S. M. KIER—Dear Sir—Weeks ago I wrote you of my being benefited by the use of your Petroleum, I wish to have you send me a box of two or three dozen bottles.

Many others in this place, and several of my people are affected with indigestion and an inaction of the liver, and will, before taking your PETROLEUM, OR ROCK OIL, we took several bottles—two or three each—about a year and a half ago, and we have good reason to believe it has done us more good than all else that time. I had not taken a single bottle before that time, the wonderful effects of the Petroleum in my people was relieved, and I have felt nothing of it since that time. Some of my people had suffered from a chronic disease of the liver, which had been of several years standing, by the use of your Petroleum.

Sold by Druggists, Canal Basin, GEO. H. KEYSER, 140 Wood st., and Druggists and Medicine Dealers everywhere. Price 25 cents per bottle, or six bottles for $1.

THE LA PIERRE HOUSE, Philadelphia,

is admitted by all that have visited it to be the most magnificently furnished and beautifully located house for health and pleasure in the Union. The front of the Observatory is well worth stopping a day, the near proximity to the Railroad Stations, the comfortable and airy apartments, the well spread tables, the courtesy of the season, the reception, attention and quietness to be enjoyed in the establishment, makes the Proprietor feel with all these superior advantages and the reasonable price of Two Dollars per day, he cannot but be surprising to see it continually crowded with guests, and frown from every clime. All pains will be taken by Messrs. J. TABER & SON to have their guests comfortable and happy. jel5-7d
