PITTSBURGH:

MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 29, 1861.

THE dispatch from Harrisburg is indicative of the most vigorous action, both on the part of Pennsylvania and of the general Government. It now looks as if something worthy of a great and imperilled nation was going to be done.

THE news from Maryland, via Chambersburg, of wide spread and most decided Union demonstrations, will be read with great satisfaction. The secession movement in that State is confined mainly to the mobocrats of Baltimore. With Maryland for the Union, Western Virginia can easily be saved.

The Hagerstown Torchlight has an admirable article, the tenor of which will be seen by the following extract:

"Should Maryland go out of the Union, because Virginia has done so? Should she suffer Virginia to coerce her into an abandonment of her nationality; her memories of the past and her hopes of the present? For should she maintain her allegiance to the Federal Union, and continue to exert her influence on this side of peace and compromise? Our position is for the Union, and there we shall remain until it is declared frozen by the constituted authorities of the State to reverence the flag of our forefathers."

WESTERN VIRGINIA.

The people of north-western Virginia appear to be sternly resolved that they will not suffer themselves to be torn from the Union, and turned over, like slaves or captives, to the usurpers of the far South. Of the 223, one thousand to twelve hundred of the citizens of Harrison county, met at the Court House in Wheeling, and adopted, without a dissenting voice, a strong preamble and appropriate resolutions. After recounting the acts of the Legislature and Convention, which terminated in actual secession and war, before the people had an opportunity to vote upon the ordinance, without which it has no validity even according to secession doctrine, they say:

"The peculiar situation of north-western Virginia, separated as it is by natural barriers from the rest of the State, precludes all hope of timely succor in the hour of danger from other portions of the State, and demands that we should look to and provide for our own safety in the fearful emergency in which we now find ourselves placed by the action of our State authorities, who have disregarded the great fundamental principle upon which our beautiful system of Government is based, to wit: 'That all governmental power is derived from the consent of the governed,' and have without consulting the people placed this State in hostility to the Government, by seizing upon its ships and obstructing the channel at the mouth of Elizabeth river, by wresting from the Federal officers at Norfolk and Richmond the custom houses, by tearing from the Nation's property the Nation's flag, and putting in its place a banting, the emblem of rebellion, and by marching upon the National Armory at Harper's Ferry; thus inaugurating a war without consulting those in whose name they profess to act; and whereas, the exposed condition of Northwestern Virginia requires that her people should be united in action, and unanimous in purpose—there being a perfect identity of interests in times of war as well as in peace—therefore, be it

Resolved, That it be and is hereby recommended to the people in each and all of the counties composing Northwestern Virginia to appoint delegates, not less than five in number, of their wisest, best, and discreetest men, to meet in Convention at Wheeling, on the 13th day of May next, to consult and determine upon such action as the people of Northwestern Virginia should take in the present fearful emergency.

Resolved, That Hon. John S. Carlisle, W. Goff, Hon. Chas. S. Lewis, J. Davis, Lot Bowen, Dr. Wm. Dunkin, W. E. Lyon, Felix Sturm, and Jas. Lynch be and are hereby appointed delegates to represent this county in said Convention.

JOHN HUNTER, Pres.

J. W. Harris, Sec'y.

Our friends across the line make no appeals for help, but nobly resolve to look to and provide for their own safety in this fearful emergency. Well may they call it a fearful emergency, when they find themselves exposed not only to the traitors of their own State, but to all the ferocious hordes who may invade them from the farther South.

Although these noble-hearted people are not our fellow-citizens of Pennsylvania, yet they are OUR FELLOW CITIZENS OF THE UNITED STATES—a far higher, closer, and more sacred relation, a relation which, at such a time as this, ought to rise above all such petty distinctions. They are our brethren, and it is our duty to stand by them. They constitute our advanced guard against the advancing forces of treason; it is our interest, therefore, to make common cause with them. Western Virginia is the most accessible, and vulnerable point at which an effective blow can be struck against secession; true policy, therefore, would dictate that that should be the point where the heaviest blow shall fall.

The people of that beautiful region have a right to DEMAND protection from the national government against this great usurpation and wrong, against invasion by a lawless force from abroad, who may, and probably will, attempt to compel them to become participants in treason, and drag them unwillingly under the jurisdiction of a hostile Government.

It ought not to be as citizens of Pennsylvania, or of Ohio, that we stand by the loyal citizens of Virginia, but as citizens of the United States, and under the orders of the President. As such we all stand on one platform, we all have one interest, and are animated by a common patriotism.

One most efficient method of keeping the eastern folks from invading and crushing the loyal men of the west, would be to keep them busy in Eastern Virginia. But, as a further security for their good behavior, we hope that efficient bodies of troops will be placed within convenient striking distances, say at Steubenville or Bridgeport, and also at this city, or in Washington county. In addition to this, the true men of Western Virginia ought to have every facility extended to them for efficient military organization. And finally we would suggest that a strong encampment of regular troops be established at some suitable point in Western Virginia, as a rallying point for the Union men there.

If Western Virginia can be saved from this overflowing scourge, Maryland, and, perchance, Kentucky, may yet be saved. Maryland was borne down by a mob during the past week; but we still cling to the belief that it is not so rotten as the scandalous events of that week would indicate.

THE returns of the election for members of the House of Delegates of Maryland, held the other day in Baltimore, afforded sad evidence of the despotism now prevailing in that unfortunate city. Only about one-third of the ordinary vote was polled, and all were for one ticket—that of treason and the mob. Where secession rules, there is no freedom, and where there is no freedom there are no parties.

BARBARISM IN MARYLAND.—A Frenchman, a farmer near Havre de Grace, arrived at Philadelphia yesterday with two children, having been driven from his home by the rebels for the atrocious crime of giving shelter to two wounded Pennsylvanians and procuring for them a surgeon. The ferocity of the slaveholders toward the North seems to be absolutely without limit. In the fiercest warfare of civilized men, kindness to the wounded has never before been treated as a crime.

A REPRESENTATIVE MAN.—On Sunday evening, when it was reported in Philadelphia that Fort McHenry was shelling Baltimore, a prominent lawyer of that city, hitherto most moderate in his views, and guarded in their expression, exclaimed, "By the Eternal! I would rather that report was true than have $100,000 given me at this moment!" This is a representative man.

ARKANSAS.

Arkansas herself made a decision, sometime ago, that she must commit herself at once. Solon Borland, of Tennessee, ex-editor and ex-United States Senator, at the head of a force of 300, has seized Fort Smith. The commander of the post, Captain Stargis, with two companies of cavalry, retired at the approach of the rebels to Fort Washita.

Stocks of Seceding States.

Secession in such a State as Virginia is certain repudiation. She has seceded, and will of necessity repudiate; yet Virginia can to-day raise a million in Wall Street, (but nowhere else,) by the sale of her already depreciated bonds. These are as current, at a price, as are New York securities. It is no matter at what price the State gets off a security it never intends to pay. It would be a crowning triumph for the people of Virginia to take a million dollars out of New York, in exchange for worthless bonds, to be expended in arming and equipping themselves to attack our citizens. Yet this can be done without the least difficulty. We see no other mode by which Virginia can raise money. She can sell bonds in no other market but her own. We know that the operation described has already suggested itself to the astute compatriots of Floyd, who took more than a million of clean money out of the North for similar objects, by his fraudulent acceptances, and he is one of the honored men of the State, and quite recently its Governor.

Another mode by which a great fraud could be committed upon the North, is the issue of immense quantities of bills of their Banks, which neither possess or pretend to pay specie The North may be flooded with these bills, which are now purchased by our brokers at a discount of from 25 to 30 per cent. These bills may be issued to the extent of our continental money, without any present means of detecting the fact. Suppose the Banks of Charleston wanted to raise $500,000 in specie, to pay their levy to the Confederate States. All they have to do is to send a million of their bills North, and sell them for what they will bring. It is the plainest dictate of safety, as well as duty, for our brokers to strike from their list the bonds of every Seceding State. Such an act would be one of the severest blows that could be dealt. It would completely cripple their finances, and protect the public against the danger of a great fraud, which will certainly be perpetrated if the door to it be left open. All our bank-note brokers should at once throw out the bills of the non-specie-paying Banks of the Seceding States. This would instantly drive their bills back upon them, and destroy their credit, even in the Seceding States. Wall-street has shown itself not behind the most zealous in the present crisis. Let it put this crowning work upon their patriotism, and it will have exerted a power in the contest equal to that of twenty thousand men under arms.—[N. Y. Times.

The Slaves in Insurrection.

STARTLING RUMORS FROM THE SOUTH.

The following, from the Daily News of this morning, confirms previous reports of the commencement of slave insurrections at the South:

"Reliable information has just reached this office that intense excitement prevails throughout the rural districts of Maryland, in consequence of the imminent danger of an immediate, bloody outbreak on the part of the slave population. Slaves, on a large number of estates, have ceased to treat their masters with ordinary civility. They covertly insinuate that they expect to be speedily provided with arms, and there is no doubt that the awful horrors of Saint Domingo, in the beginning of the century, will be repeated upon an enlarged scale, unless Providence shall interfere to prevent so fearful a calamity.

"There is a slave conspiracy organized whose ramifications extend into Virginia. A lady recently arrived at Annapolis, and on her way to the North—herself a slave owner—stated that she did not dare to live among the blacks with no further security than the local authorities can afford. She says that she has not a neighbor in the district where she resides who does not consider it unquestionable that a barbarous warfare, with the hideous concomitants of the insurrection of a brutalized, inferior race, is on the eve of desolating the region in which she has resided."

Treason in Maryland—A Plot to blow up the Federal Capital.

We have seen the first copy of a new journal started in Baltimore on the 22d instant called the South, and edited by Thomas W. Hall, Jr. In the salutatory occur the words: "We recognize in the first place that the people of Baltimore and the State of Maryland are at this moment in open and unavowed rebellion against the Government of the United States."

The leading editorial of the South is headed "Ho! for Washington," and after describing the interviews of Mayor Brown and others with the President, proceeds to say:

"If it be true, as Mr. Lincoln assseverated with great earnestness, that the protection of Washington is the sole object of concentrating troops there, then the capture of Washington would remove all inducement to invade our soil. A few barrels of gunpowder would suffice to destroy all motive to attempt its recapture. Seize Washington and blow up the public buildings, and an honorable and speedy peace would be more than half conquered. Not would the enterprise be one difficult of execution. Several days must elapse before Mr. Lincoln can be reinforced. . . . . In any event, we have a breathing time allowed us, within which much can be done towards the proper organization of our, as yet, undisciplined and irregular forces, and still more towards effecting a proper understanding with the authorities of Virginia and of the Southern Confederacy. How shall we do it? . . . . Let the authorities, in some shape or other—either for the state or city—give the people a head, and beware of restricting his sphere of action to the corporation limits, which is not only giving to the enemy every possible advantage, but is forfeiting every claim to the support and sympathy of the State."

Maryland must be far gone in treason when she allows such traitorous publications as this to be issued in her chief city. Yet it is towards the leaders of such a state that our polite writer, Mr. Seward, proffers the assurance of his "distinguished consideration."

A Revolving Patriot.

Mr. Fannel Colt has, within a few days, published a card declaring himself in favor of the Union, and promising to manufacture revolvers for the Government. As he has been for a long time making them for the rebels, it is time he did something for the United States. The following letter, which he telegraphed to his agents and commission houses, shows on what terms he proposes to do it:

HARTFORD, April 24, 1861.

Hereafter all arms and cartridges will be invoiced to your house at the list prices, without discount or commission, you to sell for what price you please. Telegraph and write us at once how many arms you want on these terms.

SAMUEL COLT, President.

Mr. Colt has sold hundreds of thousands of his weapons to the South were a large discount. To the friends of the Government he is less liberal. In other words, he sells to the rebels CHEAPER than the authorities of the Republic. If he could devise any safe way of more effectually aiding the rebellion, Mr. Colt would probably embrace it.

GEORGE LAW, in a letter to President Lincoln, expresses the general sentiment of the community, when he notifies the Government that he will not submit to being cut off from communication with Washington through Baltimore. Mr. Law's word will prove as good as his bond, and that would be good for several millions. Mr. Lincoln may judge by this letter in what estimate the conservative merchants of New York hold predatic twaddle about using the troops for the protection of the Capital only. We understand Mr. Law is ready to go down to Baltimore with a fleet of his own steamers, and shell the city on his own account. He probably thinks that the thunder of his cannon would convince even Secretary Seward that there is actually war.—[N. Y. Tribune.

Senator Wade a High private.

Ben Wade writes to Columbus, Ohio, with reference to the tardiness of the Reserve, expressing his mortification that his section should appear to have fallen behind, saying that it was owing to the utter want of military organization, but now that they were all right, and concluding: "Assure our brethren in other parts of the State that we will soon be alongside, equal to the chiefest. I have just enlisted myself in the ranks, and will devote all my time to persuading others to do the same. "BEN. F. WADE,

High Private."

A GOOD EXAMPLE.—Mr. Robert Purvis, of Byberry, has placed at the service of the Government, for use in the present war, his thorough bred stallion, Major Anderson, valued at $1,000, and said to be a very noble and beautiful animal. The gentleman who is to receive and use him is a member of one of our new cavalry companies.—[Phil'a N. American.

WE HAVE positive information from Baltimore, says the New York "Tribune," that it was by order of Gov. Hicks that the railroad bridges were destroyed, and the telegraph wires cut, in order to embarrass the Federal Government in putting down the Southern Rebellion. This is the same Gov. Hicks whom Mr. Seward addresses with such courtesy and politeness.

TESTIMONY!

From the Rev Father Mazzinda Pittsburgh.—I have been troubled with Deafness for a length of time, and am consulting Dr. VON MOSCHZISKER. He operated on my Ears so successfully as to restore my hearing entirely. I think it, it erefore, my duty to those afflicted with defective hearing, as well as an acknowledgment of the Doctor's great skill and talent, to make my case publicly known, and to strongly recommend all sufferers to avail themselves of of this rare opportunity.

SCAMBLAUS PARIZYNSKEY, Pastor int.

MONASTERY, Birmingham, April 11th, 1861.

This is to certify that I have suffered for some time from Deafness, and that I have been greatly benefited by the skillful treatment of Dr VON MOSCHZISKER.

ALOYSIUS GRESG, Pastor int.

Testimonials from Home Sources!

From John McCloskey, Esq.
(Of the Firm of M'Closkey, Conaway & Co.)

Pittsburgh, Allegheny co.,
April 8th, 1861.

To Dr. VON MOSCHZISKER, 155 Third st., Pittsburgh:

I am happy to inform you that my little daughter, who has been quite deaf for four years, has, under your skillful treatment, entirely recovered. I feel satisfied that her hearing would never have been restored by natural causes, but to your ability alone is she indebted for it, and I would most earnestly recommend all afflicted with Deafness to consult you at once.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN M'CLOSKEY.

DEAFNESS

DEAFNESS.

THE ETHEREAL EAR INHALATOR,

AN INSTRUMENT INVENTED BY

DR. VON MOSCHZISKER,

Through which he has been enabled to cure the MOST OBSTINATE CASES OF DEAFNESS—cases in which every other means have failed and all hopes of relief given up. This is no idle statement. Its truth is attested by hundreds of testimonials which may be seen at his residence, and which are mostly in the handwriting of persons well known in the Union—STATESMEN, PHYSICIANS, LAWYERS, CLERGYMEN and JUDGES, witnesses to the fact.

DR. VON MOSCHZISKER

begs to say to all who suffer either from

Deafness or any Malady of the Eye, that they should AT ONCE CONSULT HIM, in order to receive the

of his treatment.

The following are some of the cases whose testimonials can be examined at Dr. Von Moschzisker's office. They have been entirely restored to their hearing by him:

PITTSBURGH:

JOSEPH PEARSON, Sellicot street, Lawrenceville;
THOMAS MOORE, First street,
H. LANGHAM, north-east corner of Diamond and Market street.

To this list hundreds more could be added and can be seen at the Doctor's Office.

Office, No. 155 Third Street.

(Between Smithfield and Grant,)

where he can be CONSULTED DAILY from 9 a. m. to 5 o'clock p. m.
