THE PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS

LIBERTY WHITE LEAD!

AN EXAMPLE

JOS. FLEMING'S

Itch! Itch!! Scratch! Scratch!!

FOR SHERIFF.

J. F. WOLF.

TO ANDREW JOHNSON.

BY HAROLD ST. CLAIR.

"Faithful among the faithless," once we thought thee;
Faithless among the faithful now thou art.
To this sad depth has sad ambition brought thee,
Man of weak brain, and cold, ungrateful heart.
Recall for thee our hope once and our pride—
Fallen had it fallen when great LINCOLN died.

"Treason must be made odious!" This thy saying,
Was echoed through the land from North to South.
We feared, some of us, it would meet the praying
Of men repentant, with too stern a mouth.
For we no vengeance wanted—hate had none;
Only would keep the victory we had won.

"Treason must be made odious!" Thou hast done it
Treason to friends—to country, and to right.
More odious seems since now we gaze upon it,
A form of darkness in a place of light!
This good, at least, we owe to thee and fate,
To hate a traitor with intenser hate.

Go on! fill up thy little hour of ruling
With deeds fantastic and with phrases low.
We need perhaps such days of sad, stern schooling,
That we true men from false may learn to know.
And yet one deed it were not safe to dare—
We are but men, and that we will not bear.

As once before we said, so now we say it—
We go before the People. If we fail,
We bear the shameful verdict, and obey it.
But if we win, we'll rule—in spite of hell,
And all the powers of evil, low or high,
And though a thousand traitors live or die!

GENERAL NEWS.

—A sermon in four words. "Shrouds have no pockets."

—Virginia farmers are making molasses out of water melons.

—The latest dry goods sensation—the "Queen Emma" shawl.

—The French navy has the biggest gun yet cast—a 40,000 pounder.

—New Haven horses are dying with a mysterious throat disease.

—The Russian Prince Ouronsnow is the present lion in New York.

—In Kansas a University is being erected for the education of Indians.

—The rebel General Walker is now a commission merchant in London.

—The Chinese Empire is now open to its very centre to all who choose to visit it.

—An armorer in Springfield shot himself dead because his wife refused to live with him.

—Burying is done in Paris by a joint stock company. Thanks to the cholera, the dividends are fat.

—A Mrs. Porch, one hundred and twenty-one years of age, lives in the mountains of East Tennessee.

—A guerrilla caught and convicted of eleven murders was burned to death by a slow fire near Little Rock, Arkansas.

—Hon. Green Clay Smith, recently appointed Governor of Montana, started for his new home on Saturday, accompanied by a party of Kentuckians.

—W. G. W. Gray, murderer of old Mr. Gray, of Fayette county, Ohio, in October, 1864, has been found guilty, and sentenced to be hanged November 30th.

—San Francisco papers are making large calculations upon the success of the new steam line, to go into operation next January, between that port and Hong Kong.

—An eccentric Englishman, just dead, left a large sum of money, the interest of which is to be given quinquennially to five young maidens who are to dance round his monument.

—An English paper says there is no city in the world—not even Paris—where musical performances are so continuous as in London. The old distinctions of season and recess are now, as far as music is concerned, almost obliterated, and operas or concerts are to be heard all the year round.

—Gustave Dore has recently had a large cage of live rats fitted up in his studio for the purpose of watching the movements of these animals, which will occur more than any other in his new illustrations to the "Fables of La Fontaine." There are nearly twenty animals in the cage, which has its compartments and sly holes so constructed that the rat may show his true character.

—The hand of Providence does indeed seem to have fallen heavily upon the south. While her politicians are engaged in an insane struggle for resuming control of the National Government, a universal wail is coming up from her people, as the prospect for starvation the coming year stares them in the face. A careful examination of the crop reports from that section renders it evident that in the great zone of country which embraces most of South Carolina, with the northern and middle portions of Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, there has been a complete failure of the productions that usually sustain life; and that in the year to come, as in the one just past, public and private charity will alone save thousands from a terrible death.

ANOTHER REBELLION.—MONTGOMERY Blair, [illegible] of his speeches not long ago, [illegible] could be a rebellion in [illegible] or once; for the [illegible] me" and [illegible] dable [illegible] of [illegible]
