(ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS ON FIRST PAGE)

Death and Funeral of John S. Rarey. We clip the following concerning this distinguished man from the Columbus Journal: The funeral of John S. Rarey, the great horse tamer and much respected gentleman, took place at Groveport, on Sunday, October 7th. The attendance of friends from all parts of the county was very large, many persons being present from this city. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. [illegible] of this city, whose remarks were eminently appropriate. The funeral cortege was one of the largest ever seen in Groveport, and was composed almost entirely of the warm personal friends of the deceased. The following gentlemen acted as pall bearers: Col. Wm. Ewing, E. E. Seymour, M. Walton, Washington Reese, James Seymour, J. H. Sharp, C. P. Huffer, Welton Seymour, Wm. Sharp, A. Fielding, Wm. Seymour and J. L. Champ.

The remains were interred in the Groveport cemetery, where several mementos of Rarey family have been buried. From one to two thousand persons, perhaps, were in attendance.

The Rarey family is of German descent; the parents of the deceased, Adam and Catharine Rarey, were born in Pennsylvania, and all their children were born on the farm place at Groveport. John was the youngest of eleven children, and was born December 6th, 1827, being at his death nearly forty-nine years of age. Three brothers, two sisters, and his mother, now about ninety-seven years of age, survive him.

The incidents of Mr. Rarey's career as a horse tamer are so well known as to need scarcely a reference. Since December last Mr. Rarey has traveled almost constantly, in the hopes of recovering from a paralytic stroke last winter. He was accompanied by Mrs. Williams, his niece, and they went to Cleveland about six weeks ago, stopping first at the Weddell House, then procuring apartments on Euclid street, he taking one day his favorite horseback ride, and receiving daily visits from his physician.

At two o'clock, on Thursday, he walked out on the street, but returned soon after, and complained of a pain in his head. After seating a few minutes, he asked, "I am dying!" Mrs. Williams called for help, and laid him on a lounge, and immediately commenced the nearest physician, while a messenger was also sent for the regular physician. He died in a little over an hour after the latter's arrival.

Amusements.

THE ENGLISH OPERA.—The English opera continues to draw large and fashionable audiences at the Opera House. The people of Pittsburgh, as a general thing, delight in hearing genuine English music when rendered in good style. The day is not far distant when the English opera, especially when combined with talented a corps of performers as the Rudersdorf Troupe, will be considered the only legitimate opera in the country. It is to be hoped should favor the Opera House with a full share during the stay of these great and popular vocalists.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—An overcrowded house greeted Mr and Mrs. Florence last night. They are immensely popular here as well as throughout the Union, since their last visit here the Theatre has been crowded to its utmost capacity. They are well supported by the excellent stock company of the Old Drury. Saturday night will positively be the last appearance for a season of Mr and Mrs. Florence, and we advise all who wish to pay them a visit.

TRIMBLE'S VARIETIES.—The popular place of amusement continues to be as good house and it is deserving of success, since none but first class acts appear upon the stage. Onletone, the great humorist, is in demand, doubtless with good reason, for he has no superiors, and few equals.

How Will This Suit?

As we reported yesterday, David S. Hall made affidavit before the Mayor, denying that he had received any letter from Messrs Wilson, McKnery & Co. The opposite is credited at this, and yesterday Mr. Hall made another affidavit, as follows:

CITY OF PITTSBURGH, ss:

Before me, W. C. McCarthy, Mayor in and for said city, personally came David S. Hall, who upon oath, administered according to law, deposes and says that he never received a letter from Messrs. Wilson, McKnery & Co., nor had he ever shown to William McCarthy, or any other person or persons, any letter or letters purporting to have been written by said firm or firms. Nor is there now, or there ever was, to his knowledge or belief, any such letter in the city for him, or for him to receive for any purpose whatever.

DAVID S. HALL.

Sworn and subscribed to before me this ninth day of October, A. D., 1866.

W. C. MCCARTHY, Mayor.

Sad Accident.

A young man named Peter Baasman, aged 19 years, with his parents in South Wheeling, met with a sad accident, which will prove fatal. He was out hunting on the Sabbath, at a distance from his home, and had fired and fired upon a squirrel. The squirrel, Baasman thought, was wounded, but did not fall, so he loaded his gun and hung it on the limb of a tree, and began to climb up to ascertain the whereabouts and condition of the squirrel. He had got half up the tree when his gun fell, and went off. The charge entered Baasman's abdomen and lodged in his back. The young man was found lying on the ground some time after the accident, and was taken up and conveyed to his home. Physicians were summoned, but they pronounced the wound a mortal one, and decided it just not to add to the young man's suffering by extracting the ball.

Sudden Death of Wm J. Richardson. This morning we have to announce the death of William J. Richardson, Register of Allegheny county. During the two years which Mr Richardson has held the office he has, by his gentlemanly deportment and his right business capacity, endeared himself to a large circle, who will near his untimely demise with sincere regret. Death is an uncomfortable visitor, come when he may, and especially not when he claims his victim in the prime of manhood. Mr. Richardson died in his thirty-third year. This morning at two o'clock the funeral will take place from the late residence of the deceased.

Saved from the Cholera—Yesterday morning, as we learn, a man named William Goodman, in the eastern portion of the city, fearing that a slight diarrhea with which he was affected was genuine Asiatic cholera, confided to "doctor" himself. He swallowed an entire bottle of Perry Davis' Pain Killer, and followed it with a slow of laudanum. He did not take the cholera, but the remedy did the business for him most effectually. A deep sleep succeeded the heavy dose of the anodyne, from which the unfortunate man never woke. Fear that ends in death is quite as bad as a disease from which one may recover.

Davis's Trial—Official Statement to be Published—Suspension of Southern Ports—Secretary Seward's Health—Cabinet Meeting—Election Anxieties

NEW YORK, October 8—[illegible] Tribune, says: [illegible] Chief Justice Chase's statement of the conversation between the President and himself, in reference to the trial of Jefferson Davis, being in the form of a letter addressed to the President, and dated Washington, May 9, 1866, [illegible] Chief Justice Chase, in his letter, says: "I have the honor to inform you that I have received a communication from the District Attorney of Virginia, dated Richmond, April 26, 1866, [illegible] Jefferson Davis, a prisoner in the custody of the military authorities, and stating that the prisoner's health is very much impaired, and that he is in a state of great mental depression, which, in the opinion of his physicians, renders his speedy trial, if he is to be tried, dangerous to his life. I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant, [illegible]

The Secretary of War has written a letter to the President, in which he says that the Secretary of War has received a letter from the Chief Justice, in which the Chief Justice says that he has written to the President, and that the Secretary of War has written to the President, and that the Secretary of War has written to the President, and that the Secretary of War
