TRAVERSE CASES.

Saturday being judgment day, the defendants in the several libel cases tried recently were called up for sentence, announced by the District Attorney, Thursday.

In the indictment against John W. Pittock, for libel, in publishing the petition of James B. O'Neill for divorce, and to which the defendant entered the plea of nolle contendere, Judge Stowe sentenced the defendant to pay a fine of two hundred dollars and the costs of prosecution.

On the other indictment against Mr. Pittock, for libel, contained in the publication of a card copied from the Morning Chronicle, signed James B. O'Neill, and which adored that Daniel O'Neill was "a common libeller," etc., the Court sentenced the defendant to pay a fine of fifty dollars and costs.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Daniel O'Neill, indicted for libel on Jas. B. O'Neill, the said libel being contained in the letter of the defendant from New York, alleging that J. B. O'Neill had perjured himself, the Court sentenced the defendant to pay a fine of twenty dollars and the costs of prosecution.

In the case of James B. O'Neill, convicted of libel last week, on the oath of Daniel O'Neill, the sentence was deferred, motion for a new trial pending.

DAWDY HOUSE.

Fannie Splane, indicted for keeping a bawdy house, was tried and convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $50, costs of prosecution, and undergo an imprisonment of two months in the county jail.

RELIGIOUS.

Meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Church Extension Society.

Pursuant to notice the meeting in the interest of the Methodist Episcopal Church Extension Society (one of the noblest organizations, demanding the support of the christian world,) was held last Saturday evening, in the lecture room of Christ's Methodist Episcopal Church, corner of Penn and Hancock streets, Pittsburgh. Owing to the attendance being very much smaller than had been anticipated, and the absence of Bishop Clark and Dr. Kynett, who were unavoidably detained (illness of Mrs. Clark on account of sickness in his family,) the affair could hardly be called a perfect success.

The opening devotional exercises were conducted by Rev Dr. Nesbitt, who, after the assembly had joined in a singing hymn, fled in prayer, returning thanks to the divine giver of all good for the establishment of the Christian Church, with all its precious and hallowed influences, for its rise, progress and present prosperity, and invoking the choicest blessings of Heaven upon its ministers and administrations, upon each and every laborer in all its departments, upon all its interests, and especially upon the proceedings of the present gathering, convened for the purpose of aiding in the advancement of the blessed cause.

Dr. Morgan, of Christ's Church, then explained the object of the meeting which was simply preparatory to the more particular services of the next day, to be held in the M. E. Church, in the interest of the Society; apologized for the absence of Bishop Clark and Dr. Kynett, and introduced Bishop Jones, who, although without previous notice of the contemplated meeting, yet "ever ready in good work," had consented to make a short address. The Bishop commenced by repeating the well known fable of the farmer and the coons, showing that the import of the fable was, "If you want anything done, do it yourself." He thought there was a passage somewhere which said "Vain is the help of man." So he would tell the pastors and Christian people of this great city of Pittsburgh, not to depend on human help, but if they ever wished to accomplish anything, with the help of God, to do the work themselves.

He then proceeded to give some very interesting statistics of the growth of the M. E. Church and of its present prosperity, reviewed its work in former years; explained at length the ends contemplated in the organization of the Church Extension Society by the General Conference of 1864; the expectations formed of it, he was sorry to say, that those expectations had not been realized, but that it was not by any means a "lost cause." He had faith in the church, in the people, but more in God. It was in his childhood, and is strong and vigorous manhood way yet to come. He showed the special causes which led to its embarrassment, and which could not occur in the future. Measures had been taken which, if properly carried out, would relieve it from all future trouble. He spoke of what had already been done, of the superlative importance of continuing in the work, and of the present necessities of the Society. He paid an eloquent tribute to the transforming power of religious truth, and the wonderful influence of the pulpit as the great educator of mankind, and closed with a flowing exhortation to all present, pastors and people, to think on these subjects—date it to their hearts and prepare themselves to give of their substance and labors for the advancement of the great enterprise; and prayed that, when the part assigned to each of them amid the shifting scenes of mortality was ended, that one and all might enjoy an abundant entrance into the land of eternal rest and everlasting felicity.

At the close of the Bishop's address Dr. Nesbit made a few pertinent remarks, and called upon Dr. Miller, who, after the congregation had united in a hymn of praise, closed the exercises with a fervent prayer, and the meeting adjourned.

Grand Church Ceremonies.

The feast of the Immaculate Conception, and likewise the third anniversary of the consecration of Rt. Rev. M. Domenec as Catholic Bishop of the Diocese of Pittsburgh, was celebrated with unusual pomp and ceremony in St. Paul's Cathedral yesterday. Pontifical High Mass was celebrated, Bishop Domenec officiating, Revs. Hickey and Burke acting as Masters of Ceremonies, and a large number of clergymen assisting in the solemn services at the altar. The Choir was specially strengthened and produced magnificent music. Rev. Father Denny occupied the pulpit, pronouncing a masterly and eloquent sermon, which was admirably suited for the important church festival. Under the administration of Bishop Domenec the Catholic Church has prospered in this diocese, and no praise could be more loved and admired than is he by the numerous members of his flock.

Cutting Affray.

A cutting affray of a rather serious character occurred in Allegheny, about twelve o'clock Saturday night, in which a young man named Linton received a dangerous cut in the abdomen. It appears that Linton and William Patterson, who are carpenters, and work in the shop, have for a long time been intimate friends, and on Saturday night they met, and drank together several times at Linton's house, when they got into a quarrel, which resulted in a fight. They were separated by some friends, and it was supposed the affair was settled. The party then left the house and started down town, but had not been out long when the quarrel was resumed, and they again came to blows, during which Linton was cut. Patterson was arrested by the police and taken to the lock-up, and will have a hearing this morning. Linton was conveyed to his home and a physician called in, who dressed his wound. He refuses to make an information against Patterson. The affair was doubtless the result of their drinking, as it is said by some of their friends that they were both drunk.

Abandonment.—Anna Smith appeared before Alderman McMasters on Saturday and made information against her husband, Hugh Smith, charging him with abandonment. The prosecutrix, who resides at Sharpsburgh, alleges that her husband left her several months since, and refuses to contribute to her support. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

A Pleasant Surprise.

A little piece of pleasantry occurred at the Union Depot Saturday, among the baggage men or the Western Railroad, which was the source of considerable amusement for those connected with it. Colonel J. L. Sleetz, Mail Agent at the Depot, having rendered some favors to the baggage masters on the Fort Wayne and Chicago, and Pittsburgh and Cleveland roads, they determined to acknowledge the favor in the way of a slight present to the Colonel. Having arranged the preliminaries, it was decided to have a little announcement at his expense, and accordingly a warrant was regularly written out and placed in the hands of officers Harris and Rook for the arrest of the Colonel. Mr. Butler, the dispatcher of trains, being a party to the joke, in order to help the matter on, informed the Colonel that he wished to see him at his (Butler's) office immediately, to where the two repaired at once; but ere they had time to be seated the officers came in and executed their warrant. The Colonel was taken by surprise, and Mr. Butler protested against the arrest, but to no purpose. He was conducted to the office of the General Baggage Agent, Mr. C. J. Jenkins, where a number of the baggage men above referred to were assembled, and Mr. Jenkins in a neat and appropriate address, presented him with a box of fine cigars on condition that he was not to open it until he reached his room. The Colonel received the cigars upon the conditions named, and upon reaching home opened the box, when his surprise was fully as great as when arrested by the officer. The box not only contained a hundred of very choice cigars, but between each layer was a ten dollar greenback, making the neat little sum of fifty dollars.

Change of Time.

By advertisement elsewhere, it will be observed that an important change of time for passenger trains on the Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad, Pan-handle route, went into effect yesterday. The Sunday Express train will leave hereafter at 2.50 in the afternoon, arriving in Cincinnati at 6.30 o'clock next morning. A through train leaves daily, Sundays and Mondays excepted, at 9:40 A. M., arriving at Cincinnati at 9.30 same evening. There is no change of cars between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, but one change to St. Louis, Cairo and the principal points West and South-west. When purchasing tickets be sure and find the office of the Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad, Union Depot, (south side.)

Masonic State Officers.—At the regular quarterly session of the Grand Lodge of A. F. A. M., held at the Masonic Hall, Chestnut street, Philadelphia, on Wednesday evening, December 4th, the following were elected officers of that body, for the ensuing year: Richard Vaux, R. W. Grand Master; R. A. Lamberton, R. W. Deputy Grand Master; Samuel C. Perkins, R. W. S. G. Warden; Alfred R. Potter, W. J. G. Warden; Peter Williamson, R. W. G. Treasurer; John Thompson, R. W. G. Secretary. These officers will be installed on St. John's Day, December 27th, at the Annual Communication to be held on that day.

Surety of the Peace.—Ellen Garber made information before Alderman McMasters on Saturday against her husband, Charles Garber, for surety of the peace. This is not the first time that Ellen has appealed to the law for protection from the abuses of him who should be her lawful protector. The parties reside in the Eighth ward. A warrant was issued.

Delegates Elected.—The following named gentlemen were elected delegates, on last Tuesday evening, to the Bricklayers' International Union, which meets in New York, January 13th, 1868: Geo. W. McCleary, Albert Pears, Samuel A. Steel. The Bricklayers' Union of the City of Allegheny City, elected Thomas W. Smith to represent it.

False Alarm.—An alarm of fire was sounded yesterday, about two o'clock from Box 13, occasioned by some disarrangement of the heater in McClurg's building. The fire department were promptly on the ground, but were not needed. No damage resulted.

Bold Burglary.—The grocery store of Thomas Fitzgerald, in Temperanceville, was burglarized on Friday night. The thieves stole abou tone hundred dollars worth of stock. They forced their entrance by boring out the window shutters in the rear of the store.

We have received from Mr. John W. Pittock "Harper's Bazar," which is as elegant as usual in all its departments. Also, the commencement of the re-issue of "Putnam's Magazine," which we understand should buy, to see if it is as good as the old favorite once was.

Cured and Killed.—Miss Julia Arms, of Columbia, Pa., died on Tuesday from the effects of a surgical operation. She was afflicted with a tumor weighing thirty pounds, which was removed by a number of experienced surgeons at the cost of her life.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, December 7, 1867.

Washington correspondents say that the National debt statement for November will not be made public until Friday next. It will be remembered that some twenty-three millions of gold internal, due November 1, did not appear in the last statement, and consequently goes over into the coming account. The exhibit will not be quite so favorable as the last one, as it will show several millions increase of the public debt. On the 1st of January about 12 millions in coin will be required to pay interest on 5-20s due then, and about 3 millions in coin to pay the semi-annual interest on the 6 per cent. bonds of 1881. Besides this, nearly 7 millions in coin will be required to pay the principal and interest of the 6 per cent. bonds of 1867, which mature on January 1st, 1868. The interest on the 5-20 bonds falls due on the 1st of November and May, at which times 16 millions of gold is required to pay the interest of the 1st of January and July, when 12 millions are required. There is now in the vaults of the Treasury about 100 millions in coin, of which sum 18 millions is represented by gold certificates. On the 1st of November, after the 53 millions were taken out, but 85 millions remained, consequently there has been 15 millions in coin received during the past month.

—Our Western exchanges report that the pork season has opened with much more vigor than in former years. The receipts of live hogs at Chicago during the past week were 6,700 per day, and the receipts on Tuesday were 41,629—the largest number ever marketed in the United States, or even the world, in any one day. There is a speculation as to the probable length of the season. Some of the packers figure that the present season will not last much longer, while others are of the opinion that it will certainly extend to the 1st of January.

—The Bank of France has purchased in United States in foreign ports, from the 1st of January last to the end of November, 32,147,654 gallons of oil in addition to 50,816,329 gallons in corresponding time last year. In 1865 it purchased 24,000,000 gallons, and in 1864 30,000,044 gallons. Boston and Philadelphia are the only ports which show an increase in the exports from the New York has fallen off 2,415,147 gallons.

—The thousands in this country who have suffered severely in the venture in bogus oil companies, as well as the numerous victims of speculation, will be more legitimate pursuit of producing and preparing oil for consumption. There never existed in its price, are not wholly attributable to the speculative anxiety of those interested to find some mode by which petroleum could be used as a fuel for heat is not confined to this country. England has been agitated somewhat of late years by statements from her geologists and chemists as to the possibility of driving out of her coal fields, which she has been much talk of finding some liquid fuel, more economical and adapted for steam boilers; for, besides the saving of an immense amount of bituminous coal, it has advantages of condensed bulk and steadiness, and the first number of the Chemical Journal of carbon, all additional value in intensity of heat. Scientificmen in Europe discussed that the English Admiralty have granted a sum of money to a chemist for the purpose of a comparative trial of distilled water, petroleum, coal tar, rock oil, and naphtaline. A common series and boilers, in three separate trials, with a quantity of fire grate, has been prepared for the experiment, which is to take place in the docks and at Woolwich. We are not yet too old to have another old fear, namely, that cholera, the more we know of it the better we shall be. Dead it is, and is less dangerous does it become.—Phila. Ledger.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, December 7, 1867.

CRUDE—The market has been remarkably dull during the past week, the sales in the figures being confined to small lots, and prices have still further declined, compared with last week. To-day, however, the market was much stronger, and for round lots of spot oil, an advance could probably be obtained, but last evening there was a sale one thousand barrels for immediate delivery, in tank cars, at 7, while to-day it was asserted that 7½c or even 8c could have been refined. The receipts of crude oil in the market is estimated at twenty-five to thirty thousand barrels, not more than half enough to meet the wants of our refineries, and this is all in the hands of some two or three parties. This oil was nearly all put in at high prices, ranging from 10 to 14 cents, and as these parties are not forced to sell, it is probable that they will keep it until they can get something near what it cost. It is true the Allegheny Valley Railroad is now open to Titusville, and with its present facilities, will likely bring down from three to four thousand barrels per day, but in case of a "corner," and there is some talk that such a thing is to be brought about, this would not meet the exigencies of the case, and the only alternative would be for refiners to be willing to pay "differences." In case a "corner" was established, an advance would be inevitable, and the trade would likely be temporary, the "corners" would be able to make their own price and force the "cornered" to deliver the oil or settle the differences, and it is well-known that every few cents in condition to do the former, and as a consequence, the alternative would be to accept the latter.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was considerably stronger to-day, and while there was but little done, there were more buyers than sellers, and compared with Wednesday and Thursday, prices are a shade better. For December buyers option, 28c was freely offered, and, so far as we could learn, there were but three sales, three lots of 600 each at 28c. Spot oil is quoted at 28½c to 29c; there is some inquiry for January and February, and it is asserted by some of the "knowing ones" that December oil will bring 29 to 29½c between now and the first of the month. The most noticeable feature connected with the trade just now is the very meagre shipments, and as many of our refiners are covering their future delivery contracts by purchases in the east, it is not likely that the exports will be much increased for some time to come.

ARRIVALS—The arrivals of oil during the past week were again comparatively large, and now that the Allegheny Valley Railroad is completed through to Oil City, we may expect pretty liberal receipts whenever the market gives some sign of life. The following is the reported receipts for the week:

Lockhart & Frew	2181	Jas. Wilkins	420
