ARRIVAL OF THE NIAGARA.

Attempted Revolt in the Austrian Army.—Capture of Count Potocki, Revolutionary Agent, at Reusburg.

BOSTON, DEC. 18.

The following relating to Hungary is interesting A grave event has taken place among the Austrian du armes in Holstein.—Many of the regiments composing it consist in a great part of Hungarians, and among them are many young men of noble families who are compelled by the Austrian Government to serve as private soldiers, in spite of disasters drawn down on unfortunate Hungary by the revolution.

These soldiers cannot repress the hatred which animates them, or their desire for a new revolution. The presence in England of ex-Governor Kossuth has greatly contributed, of late, to excite the sentiments of hatred of the Hungarian soldiers, and an armed revolt, of which the consequences would have been incalculable, in the North, has been on the point of breaking out among them, but it has been prevented by the active surveillance of the superior officers of the Austrian battalions.

An agent of Kossuth and of the Revolutionary Propaganda of London, the Hungarian Count Potocki, was arrested by the military authorities of Reusburg. He had arrived from London, by way of Paris, under a false name. In his possession were found proclamations exciting the soldiers to revolt, and printed copies of Kossuth's late speeches in England.

Haynau was recently nearly burned to death at his residence in Hungary, an incendiary having set his house on fire.

EXTERMINATING THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.—The citizens of Massachusetts talk of having the chief features of the Maine liquor law adopted in that State, and petitions to that effect are numerously executed. It is a very stringent law, but not more so than some which have already been tried in Massachusetts and elsewhere, with but partial success. It possesses, however, a new feature, which is regarded by its friends as giving it peculiar efficacy. It goes immediately to the total and summary destruction of the liquor The very existence of the article is regarded as conclusive evidence against itself; and it may be leached at once without recourse to trial, or hazard of the law's delay. The law does not authorize the seizure of liquor in private houses, or wherever it may be found; but only where it has been, or obviously is intended to be sold.

JAMES BEARD, Proth'y.

Prothonotary's Office,
Sunbury, Dec. 6, 1851.—

PROSPECTUS FOR THE GLOBE.

The approach of Congress calls for the renewal of my proposals and preparations to spread its debates before the public. The success which has hitherto attended this undertaking it is hoped will continue, and enable me to perpetuate the full history of the proceedings and discussions of the body on which the destiny of the Republic depends.

The adoption of Congress has given the GLOBE an official character as the reporter of all that is said and done in the body. This sanction has been voted at every successive session for many years, and by members of all parties. The press, too, of all parties has borne testimony to the fidelity with which the duty thus confided has been performed.

The celerity with which the letter-writers for the distant press circulate through the telegraph their hurried sketches and views of the debates of Congress, renders more important than ever the full and authentic official reports of the CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE. The hasty, and in many instances EX PARTE, relations by telegraph of what occurs in Congress superseded, for the time at least, the exact records taken and revised by reporters, and which formerly, in a shape more of less abbreviated, went the rounds of the press—Now the telegraph sees more, with all their imperfections and variously colored rings, takes the run of their history, and in process but the official Congress even publishes the full debate with the proceedings of both Houses uncontracted. Indeed, it is expected even these will have to yield to the advertisements and the miscellaneous matter consulted to their existence. While, therefore, the telegraph administers to the eager appetite of the public for Congress news, and meets the necessities of the political press, by furnishing a rough, yet serviceable outline suited to the taste or the haste, perfect in the main of what passes in Congress is greatly diminished. The circulation of the official reports has been, to some extent, cut off by the crude and diversified sketches which, flying along the electric wires, satisfy a cort any, and it is only at in vain that truth pants to be heard. Still there are a great many men of balance and thought who like to see what is actually said and done in Congress, and to judge for themselves, rather than to receive unstessed or altogether false substitutes. These are those, too, who for the sake of the more, will highly esteem a work which preserves a full record of the doings of the great living and controlling powers of the Republic.

If there ever was a time when the action of Congress should be looked to and thoroughly studied, by the friends of all parties, it certainly is at present with the next Congress. The Government takes a new departure with the new session, and a work is now in the arrangements made to purify the troubles with which it has labored remainder to zero. The success in this Freedom's will find a leading combination in every section of the great west, and there will scarcely be a member of Congress, for a week made, that will not feel himself bearing on that absorbing question. It remains for every one of the respective parties are called together to nominate the candidates of each, the Congress which represents the event is always to have the decision, by inducing the Federal Administration with power now, the friends of the men hoisted to be give them effect in the administration. If the people, then, would have their share in the election of their first functionaries, they ought to study well the character of candidates to be voted by their choice. Great Heads, and their counsels in Congress. The capital will be the forum to to which the people of the United States will be addressed on the subject of the chief Magistracy, and the important topics connected with it, and the legislation of the country there will be one the theme of discussion in every State Legislature, in every country town and village meeting throughout the Union. How important, then, does it appear that full and impartial reports should be obtained of the action of a body, which will give so much weight to the public in a new course, and which, to a very great degree, influence the public mind in the election of the Chief Magistrate who is to carry out the will of the people when duly expressed.

The undersigned has made preparation on a commensurate with the increased demand. The daily Globe is made to consist of the only reported and published of the complete debates and proceedings of both Houses of Congress. The coming session will, it is highly to be extended nine in miles, and the reports will not be confined in less than 35,000 royal quarto pages of larger and more nearly two—making 17 volumes of more than 500 pages each. The report of the last long session made 2896 royal quarto pages, and were bound in 4 or 5 volumes, averaging 574 royal quarto pages each.

I will publish in the APPENDIX for the next session, all the matter that may be passed during the session, which has not been of no more use. Although this will more than double the expense of the publication, the subscription price will be the same that it has been for several years past.

The DAILY GLOBE will be published during the session on a superior double royal sheet. It will contain the debates as taken down by the reporters, and as altered by the speakers, whenever they make any alteration; the earliest news of the day and the miscellaneous matter. The main object of publishing the daily paper is, to enable Members to see their remarks in it, and alter them if they shall think proper before they are published in the Congressional Globe and Appendix.

The Congressional Globe is made up of the daily proceedings of the two Houses of Congress, and printed in a double royal paper, with small type (brevier and nonpareil) in quarto form, each number containing sixteen royal quarto pages. The speeches of the Members, in this form are sometimes abridged—the full report of the proceedings being reserved for the Appendix—All resolutions, in full and other proceedings, are given in the form of the Journals, with the yeas and nays on every important question.

The Appendix is made up of the President's Annual Message, the Reports of the principal Officers of the Government, the laws passed during the session, and all Speeches (Miscellaneous Congress, written out or revised by themselves—It is printed in the same form as the Congressional Globe, and usually makes about the same number of pages during a session.

During the first month or six weeks of a session, there is rarely more business of one than will make two numbers a week—one of the Congressional Globe and one of the Appendix, but during the remainder of a session there is usually sufficient matter to make four numbers of each issued every week. The next session will be unusually interesting; therefore, I conclude that the Congressional Globe and Appendix together will make at least 35,000 large quarto pages, printed in small type—brevier and nonpareil. Complete indexes to both will be furnished at the end of a session.

I will endeavor to print a sufficient number of surplus copies to supply all that may be miscarried, or lost in the mails; but subscribers should be very particular to file their papers carefully, for fear that I should not be able to supply all the lost numbers.

If subscribers shall not be satisfied with the work, the money paid by them for it will be refunded to them whenever they return the numbers which may have been received by them. I will give subscribers the subscription price of any of the previous volumes of the Congress and Globe or the Appendix, except for the last session, and I will thank any person who will let me have them.

I have a few copies of the back volumes of the Congressional Globe and Appendix for sale at $5 a volume bound, which is so little will be sold, and I am sorry, and when they are, they will then, in demand, commanded at least $10 a volume, as they cannot be reprinted for less than that sum. There are 25 back volumes.

TERMS.

For one copy of the Daily Globe during the session,	$5 00
For one copy of the Congressional Globe during the session,	3 00
For one copy of the Appendix during the session,	3 00

The money may be remitted by mail at my risk. Bank notes current where a subscriber resides will be received at par. Subscriptions should reach here by the 15th December, at farthest to insure the number.

The prices for these papers are so low that I cannot afford to credit them out; therefore no person need order them unless the money accompanies the order.

And a copy of the Philadelphia Art Union Reporter,

A monthly pamphlet containing a report of the transactions of the Institution, and information on the subject of the FINE ARTS

THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE WORLD.

The Art Union of Philadelphia awards prizes in its own Certificates, with which original American works of Art may be purchased in any part of the United States, at the option and selection of the person who may obtain a prize at the Annual Distribution, which takes place on the evening of the last week-day in every year.

The Executive Committee of the Art Union, when so requested, select works of Art, without charge or compensation, from their FREE GALLERY, 210 CHESTNUT STREET, for those persons in the country who may live remote from galleries or public exhibitions of the Fine Arts.

Subscriptions of membership, $5, should be made as early as practicable, to facilitate the operations of the managers, and ensure members of the "Reporter," which will be forwarded upon the receipt of the money, to any part of the country.

The Honorary Secretaries will give receipts for subscriptions, or remittances may be made to

THE GERMAN
WASHING POWDERS

IS considered by thousands who have tested it, as being the greatest Scientific Wonder of the World!

Entirely doing away with that laborious and injurious practice of rubbing the

CLOTHES UPON THE WASHBOARD,

And a great saving of

TIME, LABOR AND EXPENSE.

N. B.—To prevent fraud and imposition, (for many are trying to palm off article put up like mine) the Proprietor, I. P. HOYT, will put his WRITTEN SIGNATURE on the top label of every Package. And he only asks an enlightened public not to confound with others that are in the market.

THE GERMAN WASHING POWDERS

It is put up in Packages with full directions, and sold at the nominal price of 12½ cents.

PRINTERS will find it greatly to advantage to purchase those Powders to cleanse their

TYPES AND ROLLERS,

being a very superior article for that purpose.

Manufactured only by I. P. HOYT, at his Laboratory and Principal Depot, No. 10 South Fifth Street, Philadelphia.

Wholesale and Retail Agents: Henry Masser, Sunbury; S. B. Denormandie, Northumberland. Remember the name

GERMAN WASHING FLUID.

All letters to be post paid.

CHERRY PECTORAL:

For the Cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, CROUP, ASTHMA, WHOOPING-COUGH AND CONSUMPTION.

Among the numerous discoveries Science has made in this generation to facilitate the business of life—increase its enjoyment, and even prolong the term of human existence, none can be named of more real value to mankind, than this contribution of Chemistry to the Healing Art.—A vast trial of its virtues throughout this broad country, has proven beyond a doubt, that no medicine or combination of medicines yet known, can so surely control and cure the numerous varieties of pulmonary disease which have hitherto swept from our midst thousands and thousands every year. Indeed, there is now abundant reason to believe a Remedy has at length been found which can be relied on to cure the most dangerous affections of the lungs. Our space here will not permit us to publish any proportion of the cures effected by its use, but we would present the following opinions of eminent men, and refer further enquiry to the circular which the
