NO MORE EXPLOSIONS.—Go to W. W. Davis & Bro., and buy a box of PROF. HORTON'S NON-EXPLOSIVE LAMP POWDERS. It is the wonder of the world! It will positively prevent your lamps from exploding, and your lamp chimneys from breaking.

Patients who take it prefer it to all others, physicians have decided it superior to any other oils in market. feb. 26, 4t.

WE are informed that the pupils of the Somerset Academy intend giving another entertainment in two or three weeks. We regret to hear it, for the exhibition given a few days ahead during the holidays, was a splendid one, and we urge upon our readers to be sure and attend the next. The proceeds is to go toward paying for an organ purchased for that school.

S. W. McKAIG & SON, the well known and justly celebrated Foundrymen and Machinists of Cumberland, Md., advertise in another column the Griffith & Wedge patent Vertical Portable Engines and Saw Mills. Many of our people who contemplate purchasing Saw Mills, will find it to their interest to call on or correspond with McKaig & Son.

THE Acme of Perfection has been obtained in the invention of the Domestic Sewing Machine.

The reason of the immense popularity of this machine, is because it is direct and easy in action and stitches anything from paper to sole leather without danger of tearing out of order.

No machine ever offered gives such perfect satisfaction in every respect.

ALLEGHENY CITY, PA. Feb. 1872.

HENRY BEYMER, BAUMAN & CO.:

It gives me pleasure to testify to the superiority of your Pure White Lead. I have been a practical painter for the last ten years, and during that time have used many brands of white lead, made in other cities, but never have I found one which was as finely ground, possessed as much surface, and gave as fine a finish as your lead.

ANAWALT & BRALLIER.

NOTWITHSTANDING the bitter cold weather, a large number of our citizens turned out on Monday evening last to hear his Honor Judge Rowe, lecture on "Homes and Homesteads." It was at the earnest request of a number of his friends that he consented to deliver this admirable lecture. We can hardly express our gratitude for furnishing our people with such an evening's entertainment. The manner in which the subject was handled, shows his Honor to be a man of most scholarly acquirements, having an eye for the beautiful in art and with a heart and mind all aglow with the pleasures and delights of home. We endorse the entire views of the lecturer and look forward to the day when every man will secure to each of her children a homestead of five acres of land.

THE GREAT HAIR PRODUCER.—Hair Preparations and Pomades have had their day. They belong to the musty past. The world understands the chemistry of hair and philosophy of its growth. Hair is a product of its kind. Instead of clogging the pores of the scalp with thick ongunts, thus suffocating the insensible perspiration which is essential to the health of the hair, we now tone the surface of the scalp with an invigorating application which penetrates to the roots of the hair and nourishes them in the same way that fertilizing agents spread over the surface stimulate the grass roots and cause them to shoot up in myriads, clothing the earth with verdure. The invigorator adapted to this purpose is Ayer's Hair Vigor. It may well be called a preservative of the hair. To the hairless it imparts vegetative power. If your hair is dropping out or becoming dry and wiry, it arrests the process of decay and restores it to health and vigor. The hair thickens under its vigorous glossy and flexible under its influence, and as a dressing it is unrivaled by any preparation that has yet graced the toilet of Fashion.

POSTMASTERS returning papers which remain dead in the office, will please state, on each paper, the name of the office from which it is sent.

THE combined Catalogues of Seeds and Plants for 1873, of Peter Henderson & Co., 35 Cortlandt St., New York, is just received—numbers 175 pages; is beautifully illustrated, and in addition, contains a colored plate of the new "Fountain Plant," and also a handsome lithograph of a group of new Fuchsias. These catalogues are mailed to all applicants by Peter Henderson & Co. on receipt of 25 cents. To their customers of last year they are sent without charge; and to all purchasers of their books, "Gardening for Profit" and "Practical Floriculture" (price $1 50 each, prepaid by Mail), they also send them annually, free of charge.

The Dale City Record ought to have its little ears boxed for being so naughty. It cries for the "pretty moon," and makes horrid faces at all by-standers because it can't get what it wants. If it only had the sense to appreciate it, we would loan it a copy of "Don Quixote," wherein it might learn how that renowned knight, like itself, tried the experiment of running a tilt against a wind-mill, and—didn't overthrow it.

When we all meet at the legal christening of the embryo city, over which it assumes parental authority, we hope its good temper will be restored. Meanwhile we must be permitted to laugh at one in its swaddling clothes, gravely proclaiming to all the world:

"He who dares these boots displace,
Must meet Bombastes face to face."

THE sociable given by the Glade Club, at the Somerset House, on Friday evening last, was a success in every respect. Quite a number were in attendance from Cumberland and other places, all of whom expressed themselves highly delighted with the entertainment. Ladies looked their loveliest, the gentlemen their handsomest. The supper was served in that admirable style so well known to the guests of the Somerset House.

The members of the club can certainly congratulate themselves on the handsome manner in which this their third entertainment passed off.

The music was furnished in part by the Somerset String Band with Johnny Long, of Cumberland, Md., as leader; it was really very good and added much to the pleasure of the occasion.

CONSUMPTION—LIFE AND LOVE.—It is an affair of duty, as well as of life and love, to point the Chronic invalid to a place or Person where he can be cured. It is the province of a newspaper to do so, and we do so the more readily for Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure, because we know of its virtues. We know of thousands who, by it, and Dr. Keyser, together, have been the recipients of its benefits, and walk with steady tread the paths of life, in health, who were fast hastening down its declivities to untimely graves. The cure of Consumption made easy by Dr. Keyser, whose name is should stand side by side with the heroes in medicine—those who have enriched the world by their discoveries in Science. An essay free by mail.

Office, 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh.—Price of Lung Cure, $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 per half dozen.

THE PRICE OF TYPE.—Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co. announce that they have at their warehouse in New York an assortment of type from one of the most celebrated foundries in the world, that of Figgins, London, England, which they will sell at 20 per cent. discount from the American scale, when ordered in fonts of 100 pounds and upwards. They also offer to import large fonts on special orders at a greater discount from the American scale, and profess to be able to fill the largest order in eight weeks from date of its receipt in New York. They supply sorts in large or small quantities from their stock on hand in New York at the American scale rate. They assert that if the present duty on type shall be removed, the price of the article, both of home and foreign manufacture, will immediately fall 40 per cent. below the present scale. Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co. are known as conducting the largest advertising business ever secured by one house, and are also extensive dealers in printing material. They are compelled to import foreign goods because American founders, governed by a close corporation or ring, keep the price vastly too high, and at the same time make it an exception to every other species of merchandise by recognizing no wholesale price; the same amount per pound being charged to the purchaser of five thousand pounds as would be paid by him who wants but fifty.

MOUNT UNION COLLEGE.—The Term just closed has been the largest Winter Term in the history of this rapidly growing College. The Term beginning next Tuesday bids fair to be larger than any former one. No College in Ohio, nor over three or four in the United States, have so many Students in full College Classes as are in this. Such are the arrangements of a Spring, Summer and Fall Term, that students can get a regular College year of study, and by Teaching in winter, can earn enough to defray their whole College expenses, without losing time, or falling behind their Classes.

Among the Characteristics of the College are the following: FULL COURSES—Scientific, Philosophical, Ancient and Modern Classical; Special courses—Normal or Teachers', Commercial, Instrumental and Vocal Music, Fine Art, Preparatory; Elective—Liberty given in the Choice of studies; Apparatus and Specimens for practically illustrating each study; Equal privileges to Ladies; Christian, but not Sectarian or Partisan; Economy in students' expenses; Superior Literary Societies; Special care for the health, morals, discipline and comfort of students; A Beautiful and moderniized College adapted to the classes, to the public school system of the country, and to the progressive spirit of the age.

In 1873, the Term being Feb. 25, May 13, Aug. 26, and Nov. 25.

Of the 8,519 students formerly in attendance (representing twenty-four States), 5,287 have been employed in teaching public schools—about one-third being ladies. The number of Graduates are:—Bachelor of Arts, 95, Master of Arts, 54, Bachelor of Science, 88, Master of Science, 52; Bachelor of Philosophy, 1; Bachelor of Commercial Science, 163; Instrumental Music, 5; Normal, or Teachers' Course, 4,174. The largest average attendance was last year's with a total in the Departments of 1,195.

Students of good character may enter at any time, at proportional rates, pursue any branches they are qualified to study, and graduate in any course when completed.

By having erected and furnished two large Boarding Halls, the College can regulate, and keep at low rates, the price of Rooms and Board, the chief expenses of Students—their total expenses being lower here than at any other institution of equal advantages. In each Department there is provision for an ample number of thoroughly qualified, experienced and reliable Professors.

Persons desiring Catalogues or any information concerning the College, can address Lewis Miller, Esq., Pres. Trustees, Akron, O., or O. N. Hartshorn, LL. D., Pres. of the Faculty, Mt. Union, or Alliance, O.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Pursuant to published notice, an Agricultural Meeting was held in the Court House, on Tuesday night of last week, February 18th, for the purpose of electing officers of the Somerset County Agricultural Society, for the ensuing year.

The meeting was called to order by the President of the Society, Mr. C. C. Muselman, who stated the object of the meeting in a brief but pointed address, referring also to the necessity and practicability of holding a county fair the coming fall.

The election of officers being in order, a motion was made to suspend the rule which requires the election of all officers by ballot, and that the meeting proceed to elect viva voce.

The Constitution and By-Laws of the Society having been destroyed by the fire in May last, it was moved that a Committee of three be appointed to draft a new Constitution and By-Laws, to be submitted to the Society at its next meeting. The President appointed Isaac Hugus, Daniel Weyand and David Husband, as such Committee.

On motion, a Committee consisting of three persons was appointed to make an examination as to the powers and liabilities of the Society, and, if necessary to the proper organization of that body, to take measures to procure a charter of incorporation. V. Hay, F. J. Kooser and J. H. Uhl, Esq'rs. constitute this Committee.

Tribute of Respect.

Hall of Somerset Lodge, No. 438, I. O. O. F., Monday evening, February 17, 1873.

Died.—At New Centreville, Somerset County Penn'a. on the 5th day of February, 1873, Mrs. Sarah Pile, wife of Peter Pile, Esq., aged 48 years.

The death of this estimable Lady was announced to the Officers and Members of Somerset Lodge, No. 438, I. O. O. F., on the evening of February 17th, 1873, whereupon the beneficial Provisions of our order were at once extended to Brother Peter Pile, husband of the deceased and a worthy member of our Order.

On motion, a committee consisting of Brothers G. M. Holdertaum, Joslah Keller, David P. Heffley and John W. Patton, were appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the feelings of this Lodge, as in sympathy with our bereaved Brother.

The Committee reported the following:

God in his Providence has removed by death, the partner and help-mate of a worthy member of our Lodge, and we deem it just and proper to express publicly our sympathy with him in this sad affliction.

In the death of Mrs. Sarah Pile, we are assured by all who knew her, that a more estimable Lady could not have been removed from a social or family circle by the relentless hand of death.

As a christian, a kind neighbor, a loving and affectionate wife and mother, her memory will ever be cherished.

Resolved, That we as members of Somerset Lodge, No. 438 I. O. O. F., deeply sympathize with our afflicted Brother and the bereaved family and friends of the deceased.

Resolved, That the Secretary of this Lodge furnish Brother Peter Pile with a copy of this record and that the same be published in the Somerset Papers.

Approved, February 24th, 1873.

F. C. SAMPSELL, Secretary. A. C. DAVIS, N. G.

Milford Items.

The Schools in this township are in a flourishing condition. Last evening we attended a spelling at the Walter School House. The spelling was nobly and well done. The crowd was large, but excellent order prevailed throughout. Several teachers from other points were present and participated with good effect. Reading and singing exercises, all of which were excellent, closed the evening session.

The teacher at this place is active, attentive, and I believe a practical temperance man. So much cannot be said of teachers everywhere. Some are better acquainted with wine, than what they are with Webster. Success to N. T. and the Walter School.

A revival meeting, held under the auspices of the Evangelical Association, at Fairview Chapel, (not Union Church, as your correspondent Shliffer stated in your former number), closed with good success, and good order throughout. The Somerset roughs happened not to get here as they did at Rhoads', of which the Democrat spoke as though this people are extra tolerant. The Democrat will please read the eleventh commandment, as in such cases is beneficial. XENOPHON.

Phillippi Weimer & Co., together with about a score of amateur hunters from this vicinity, participated in a general "Fox hunt" last Saturday. At an early hour the yelping of hounds and the roar of fire arms were heard among the favorite haunts of Reynard. Many a poor "foxy" was roused from his comfortable sleep and compelled to "git" or die.

They evidently preferred the former; for when the company reassembled in the evening, tired, sore, and hungry, one pitiable scalp was all the trophy they could boast of. But they all seemed satisfied, for they had "lots of fun."

Dr. John Meyers, from Stoystown, has purchased the Bob Walter property at Centreville, and will soon be a candidate for practice there. Well doc, we hope you will succeed. But remember we are a remarkably healthy tribe.

SCHLIFFER.

For the HERALD.

The exhibition of imported and blooded horses by Mr. Peter Heffley, on Tuesday last, was the finest ever witnessed in this county. The pedigree of his imported black stallion is known to most persons who raise stock; and much has been said of his good qualities, all of which has been more than proven by the facts. I wish to call attention to some of his colts that were exhibited along with him.

1st. A bay stallion, four years old, owned by Wm. Dickey, of Somerset township.

2d. A black filly, three years old, weighing close to fourteen hundred pounds.

3. A black colt, ten months old, and fifteen hands high, owned by Samuel Weller.

The colts were brought to town to show how much they resemble the sire in every way, as well as to show that the colts breed after the sire, more than the dam; as witness the sucking colt of Mr. Weller, which is as high as its dam. From good authority I learn that four year old stud colts out of the black horse, sell readily at from five hundred to one thousand dollars in Westmoreland county, where he was brought from to Somerset county.

The grey stallion exhibited by Mr. Heffley, is a French Percheron, bred from imported sire and dam, by Mr. Walters, of Baltimore, and promises to weigh as heavy as the black horse when he attains his full growth. He is very handsome, of unusual size, weight, and heavy boned for a three year old.

It is to be hoped that our farmers will avail themselves of the opportunity offered them to improve their stock of horses. The cost of these horses is great, and too much praise can not be given to Mr. Heffley for bringing into this county two as fine full blooded horses as the State affords.

For the HERALD.

Teacher, Parent and Pupil.

It is said that, from childhood to old age, life overflows with duties. Not a year, not a week, not a day—no, not even an hour, but that some stern reality presents itself, and at our hands demands action. What a mighty rush there is after riches—what a scrambling for wealth! And woe unto that man who stumbles and falls; he is run over and crushed to atoms. There is too much "eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth." Men follow all kinds of business, learn all kinds of trades, to make a living. I have long since learned that many kinds of business in which men are engaged, are very unthankful; and of all the occupations, trades and professions which we are called to fill, I do believe teaching school is the most unthankful. A school teacher, what is he, in the eyes of a great many? Nothing but a dog! He who has the care of children, and is dealing with immortal minds should be respected by everybody. It is to be regretted that in many localities, and I believe Confluence to be one, according to our teacher's report, for we had the pleasure of examining his report a few days ago, and to our surprise we could not find the name of a single parent; they pay so little attention to their schools, that they scarcely know they have schools; not one has shown himself inside the school-room, for the purpose of visiting the school. I believe the success of our schools depends more upon the co-operation of parents than upon any other consideration; but instead of co-operating with the teachers and helping them along, a great many will speak evil of them, and occasionally go to the school-room and quarrel with them, especially if they flog their young ones a little.

Where we find the people continually finding fault with the proceedings of the teacher, or saying evil things about him, and generally before their children, we invariably find the children disobedient and disorderly; always endeavoring to give their teacher as much trouble as they can, knowing that such conduct is approved at home. "My children," says one, "came home the other evening, and said our teacher lets us do as we please, and we do not learn anything;" another will say, "our teacher is too cross; my child came home a few evenings ago with his fingers bleeding, its arms black and blue from the teacher's rod." These reports we believe to be true in ten cases out of ten. Now, when these fault-finders are asked how often they have visited the school, they will answer, "I have not been there at all.—When asked what words of encouragement they have spoken to the teacher and pupils, "none at all." When asked how often they have given their children instructions to be kind and obedient to their school-mates and teacher, generous and amiable in their daily intercourse with everybody, they seem to be astonished that those duties belong to them. Parents, it is as necessary for you to visit your schools and watch the progress of your children, as for the teacher to give and hear daily recitations. If you, in your visitations, should discover anything wrong in the government of the school, you, as fellow citizens and christian patrons, should speak of that wrong privately, and not do as Mr. C. did, enter the school room and commence quarreling with the teacher before the pupils, and without a just cause. You ought to know and feel that your interest in the school is co equal with that of your children; and, feeling thus, you should visit the school twice a month, which would be a great stimulus to teacher and pupils. We learned a few days ago, that a certain gentleman, if gentleman he might be called, living in the suburbs of our city, became very much enraged at our teacher for punishing his daughter in school. The Mr. man, thinking this a violation of his government, proceeded at once to the school room to learn the facts in the case. The teacher told him how it was, and what he had punished her for; and, according to his statement, we believe he was right in doing so. This made the gentleman very angry; he asserted that the teacher had no right to use the rod, that he did not whip his children, and he would not allow a teacher to do it. We hope the day is not far distant, when parents and teachers will co-operate more with each other; and when parents will take more interest in the education of their children, and send them to school more regularly. There are thousands of children who attend school very irregularly—but a few days in a year; yes, thousands who do not attend any school but that of the streets; who are growing up, receiving no education at all, save that which nature furnishes them, and which vicious parents often impart. We admit that there are a few who are compelled to keep their children at home; who in early life are obliged to work in mines, factories, machine shops, &c., to provide for their parents; but many more keep their children at home when they have nothing for them to do. It is estimated that there about 75,000 children in Pennsylvania who do not attend school. Her annual expenditures for school purposes are from nine to ten million dollars. She is pouring out her money for the education of her children most generously; and it is your duty, who have children, to see that every dollar thus contributed, brings back the greatest possible return of that for which it is given—by sending your children to school.
