The gatekeepers were powerless to render assistance or advice. Their orders were to permit nobody to pass into the grounds except through the was to be done. This boy had his fifty-cent piece in his hand and demanded admission. The Department of Admissions was applied to, a hurried consultation was held, and as a last resort the heavy youth was admitted through the wagen gate.

The Women's Department at the Exhibition is one of the things not to be sneezed at. The New England interest for exhibition, which are doubly notable by reason of their novelty and age. A combination of quaint architecture, antiquated furniture, and the epochal costumes of the attendants gives one a pleasing view of life in New England a century ago. The preponderance of legal opinion and public sympathy appears to be with the Board of Finance, who have so judiciously guarded the purse-strings against the moonshine of pompous figureheads. Arrangements for the 4th of July demonstrations are in progress though there are indications that the parade won't be so large an affair as was contemplated. A disposition was manifested on the part of the commission to have the ceremonies take place within the Centennial Grounds, but good sense has prevailed to make it a free show on that day, and Independence Square has been selected as the spot. Governor Hartranft will take command. Governor Tilden will also appear at the head of the New York column. New York could turn out a splendid display but no appropriation was made by the legislature for expenses of regiments and only some of the wealthier ones will be able to come without that aid. The new bell for Independence Hall arrived from Troy a day or two ago. It is a delicate little thing weighing only 13,700 pounds and measuring seven feet in height and 231 in circumference. Some of the material of which it is cast was melted from old cannons captured from the British at Saratoga in the revolutionary war. The bell bears the modest inscription: "Presented to the city of Philadelphia July 4 1875, for the belfry of Independence Hall, by a citizen." Around the lip is the motto, Proclaim liberty throughout all the habitants thereof." now in the possession of Mr  $\Delta$  J Avery, of Weedville, Elk county, Pa., as said articles were purchased by the underand at the top, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace good will until convenient for me to remove toward men." It will be hung in the them: One sorrel mare, one black and belfry at once but will not be rung white cow, three yearling steers, one until noon on July 4th, when it will two year old buil, one two year old peal forth thirteen strokes, one for humber wagon, one pair log sleds, one each of the original states.
