The Telegraph.

From Clearfield County.

Bigler and his Scions—Their Benevolence and their Valor—In Office and out of Battle, but full of Braggadocia and Impudence.

Correspondence of the Telegraph.]

CLEARFIELD, Aug. 18, 1862.

Having accidentally seen a copy of the Patriot and Union, of the 11th inst., to-day, in which I noticed a reference to the Bigler family of this region, and which reference contained so many falsehoods, that I at once deemed it my duty, as an admirer of truth and veracity, to set at least the good people of Harrisburg right on a matter which is a subject of ridicule and contempt among the citizens of this county. In the course of a gross attack on the proprietor of the TELEGRAPH, the writer in the Patriot insolently asks the following questions:

Does George Bergner know that at the present moment Ex-Governor Bigler, whom he denounces as a traitor, has two sons in the army, one in the First Pennsylvania Reserves, who fought for seven days in front of Richmond, side by side with the gallant and lamented Col. Simmons, and another a Captain in the Engineer Corps attached to the First California brigade?

Does George Bergner know that Ex-Governor Bigler is, at his own expense, going from hospital to hospital throughout the land, administering to the wants of our sick and wounded soldiers, alleviating their sufferings by every means in his power.

Allow me to state facts in reply to these questions:

1st. As to a son of Ex-Governor Bigler, who fought so bravely for six days before Richmond. In connection with one of our old volunteer companies, this son of Bigler was a second lieutenant, and when the company resolved to offer its services, young Bigler was of course compelled to yield and accompany his company. After the army moved, and a few hours before the commencement of the seven days fighting before Richmond, this valorious young Bigler resigned and took up a position far from the line of battle. When our exhausted troops were fighting and retreating before an overwhelming force, Bigler, like his father at Bull Run, skedaddled before the head of the retreating army reached his first place of safety, and he never stopped until he was certain of being beyond harm. So much for the son in the seven days hard fighting. This boy never smelt powder, except it was on some poaching expedition through the wilds of this region. He is a harmless, inactive, made almost imbecile by vice, and for the cowardice in him, is not responsible, because the characteristic is one that has passed through the Bigler blood from the time that their ancestors acted as camp-followers and scullions in the armies of the conquering Saxons.

The other son alluded to as being in California, and engaged as Captain in an Engineer Corps, was sent to San Francisco by the influence of his father when he disgraced the United States Senate, as the possessor of a sinecure clerk in the U. S. Assay office; and it is news to his acquaintances in this region that he is a captain, for certainly none of his family were ever heard to state the fact, and they are not the people to hide each other's honors. He is a surveyor, and in this county was regarded as a passable chain or rod bearer, but that he is a soldier, or has courage above the quality of that of a cur pup, I emphatically deny.

The declaration in the other paragraph I quote, is that ex-Gov. Bigler, at his own expense, visited the hospitals occupied by our brave boys, and administered to their wants. On this subject I can simply state that he has been at no period absent a sufficient length of time to visit any of the army hospitals, while all that is known here, of the service he performed in this respect, is that he accompanied the Hon. M. B. Lowry, while that gentleman visited some of the hospitals in Baltimore, and then the elder Bigler only acted in the capacity of an amanuensis to Lowry, having really done nothing to relieve the sick or aid the wounded. This is the impression here, and here, where William Bigler is best known, it creates a broad grin to hear the assertion that he would be guilty of doing anything gratuitously—unless it would be to fawn and falsify for the benefit of himself or his 'brave boys.'

I deem this explanation due to the truth. The Patriot and Union has woefully misstated facts, for the purpose of inflating the already over-bloated pride of the Biglers, and I give you this, a portion of their own record, that the wind may be taken out of their sails.

VERITAS.

FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

GENERAL M'CLELLAN MOVING

THE PENINSULA BEING EVACUATED.

The Army Moving from Harrison's Landing.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.

A newspaper correspondent at Fortress Monroe, under the date of the 12th inst., says that the movements of General McClellan indicate that the great body of the Army of the Potomac is about to withdraw down the Peninsula. For the last forty-eight hours transports loaded heavily with troops are coming down the James river, and without stopping at Fortress Monroe, have gone directly up the bay to some river leading into Virginia.

A private note from Fortress Monroe, dated yesterday, says:

"The army is now moving away from Harrison's Landing, and, by to-morrow, I hear the place will be cleared. They are coming down over the Chickahominy, I learn, to Yorktown, by land. The artillery has been shipped by water.

The pontoon bridges went up to bridge the river, night before last."

The steamer Adelaide, Capt. James Cannon, arrived here this morning from Fortress Monroe with a large number of passengers, including officers of the army and discharged soldiers, many of whom were musicians, who are discharged.

SECOND DISPATCH.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14.

The regular mail boat from Harrison's Landing came down the James river yesterday, and reports the greatest activity prevailing among the fleet of transports. A number of officers of the army and navy came down from the Landing, who report the Army of the Peninsula in motion, but of course are silent as to its destination. All day yesterday Hampton Roads presented a lively scene in consequence of the arrival and departure of steamers and other vessels, and the weather was such as to facilitate army movements.

Brig. Gen. Wm. H. French, U. S. A., commanding the artillery of the army, came up in the steamer. The General, who has many warm friends in Baltimore, is not in excellent health, but has been zealously engaged since the war commenced. He comes up to visit his family, and in a few days will return to his post.

Among the passengers by the Adelaide, were twenty prisoners who were yesterday discharged from the Rip Raps after an examination by Gen. Dix. Nearly all have been in the Confederate service, and some of them declare that the rations were universally furnished without salt and vegetables, and that the treatment on the part of the officers was exceedingly severe.—They were glad to fall into federal hands, as they were then sure of getting at least good and wholesome rations. They came up in the steamer Adelaide, and are now in this city.

From Culpepper Court House.

A Surgeon Captures Two Armed Rebel Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, August 14.

Letters received from Culpepper contain no news of interest not already telegraphed. On Saturday night after the action, Dr. Steele, of the Twenty-sixth New York, while endeavoring to find his way to his regiment, encountered two rebel soldiers fully armed. He sternly demanded a surrender, and they were so alarmed, being apprehensive of their proximity to our forces, that they surrendered, and he marched them both to the camp as prisoners.
